Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them after the manner of harlots, and after the manner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult and to the spoile.

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse.

you, and yee shall beare the finnes of your idoles,

CHAP. XXIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The pride of Ezekiels wife being a signe.

AGaine in the ninth yeere, in the tenth mo-neth, in the tenth day of the month, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the king of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the peeces thereof into it, euen eue-ry good peece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boile well, and seeke the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Wo to the bloody city, euen to the pot, if whole scum is therin, and whole scum is not gone out of it: bring it out peece by peece: let no lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: the fet it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to cover it with dust.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, * Wo to the bloodie cite, for I will make it the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire; consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty vpon the coales thereof, what the brasse of it may be hote and may burne;
and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the scumme of it may be consumed.

12 Shee hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great scum was not out of her: therefore her scumme shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thus remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would not haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe neither will I spare; neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, sayth the Lord God.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague, yet thalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shalt thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre or thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shoes vpon thy feet, and couer not thy lips, and eat & not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in the morning as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest here?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword,

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lips, neither shall ye eat the bread of men.

23 And your tire shalte vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your feet: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that hee hath done, ye shall doe: and when this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also thou sonne of man, shalt it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honor, the pleasure of their eyes, & the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters,

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shalt thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, & thou shalt speake, and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem, 8 Against Moab and Seir, Iudaea and the Philistines.

THE word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Am-monites, and prophetic against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saidst, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the hmen of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke:

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

and reioyce in heart with all thy despite against the Land of Israel,

7 Behold therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will caue thee to be destroyed out of the countries, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore behold, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities ^e of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshmoth, Baal-meon, and Kirjathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute iudgments vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offences, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, & destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the ^f Cherchims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them, with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

^g He propheseth that tyrus shall be ouerthrowne because of priuilege, and of the destruction of ierusalem. 15 The mourning and afflictions of the merchants for the destruction of tyrus.

ANd in the eleuenth yere in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath laid against Ierusalem, Ah, the ^h gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing the is desolate, I shall be replenished:

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vpon many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her: and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

6 And her 4 daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, & lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy wals shall shake at the noyle of the horsemen, & of the wheelles, and of the charrets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entry of a city that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the ⁱ pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 ¶ Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shalt not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall? 2 and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe fro their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broided garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground & be astonishd at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited ^k of the sea men, the renowned city which was strong in the sea, both thee and her inhabitants, which caue their feare to be on all that haunt therein.

18 Now shall the yles be astonishd in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate cite, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee, 20 when I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the living.

21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be fought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and siluer into thy treasures.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the c^c vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom, and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze, and the j^d diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, j^e emeraude, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy timbrals, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the appointed Cherub that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the stones of fire.

15 Thou shalt perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp, because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings that they may beholde thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middes of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth in the sight of all them that beholde thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people shall be astonied at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face againtt Zidon, and prophesie againtt it,

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come againtt thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the middes of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and she shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, & blood into her streets, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: the enemy shall come againtt her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, & despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel fro the people where they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land that I haue giuen to my seruant Iacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, & shall build houles, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely when I haue executed iudgments vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

C H A P. XXIX.

See prophesie againtt Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promisseth that hee will restore Egypt after forty yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad nezzar for the labour which hee tooke againtt Tyrus.

IN the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face againtt Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie againtt him, and againtt all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come againtt thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath said, Theriur is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hooks in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the midst of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue bin a staffe of reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou didst break and rental their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loines to stand vpright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because hee hath said, The riur is mine, and I haue made it.

10 Behold therefore, I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, & I will make the land of Egypt vterly waste and desolate from the towre of Seuench, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Moores.

11 No foot of man shall passe by it, nor foot of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourty yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate for forty yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, At the end of forty yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people where they were scattered.

14 And I will bring againe the captivity of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there as a small kingdome.

n He sheweth for what cause God will afflict him, and pre-sente it still though he destroy his enemies: to wit, that they should praise him, & giue thanks for his great mercies.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the i. euen and twentieth yeere also in the first month, and in the first day of the month, came the word of the Lord vnto me saying,

18 Some of man, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, caused his army to erie a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made bald, & euery shoulder was made bare: yet had hee no wages, nor his army for Tyrus, for the seruice that hee serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and hee shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages of his army.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mides of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt and the death thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Some of man, prophetic, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Howe and why, for vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and there shall be an Ethiopie, when the slain shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 ¶ Ethiopie and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintain Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe from the towne of Seueneth shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the mides of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mides of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in ships, to make the careless Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the rivers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, & I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idols to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will poure my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of it No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorrow, and No shall be destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes daily.

17 The young men of Auen, and of Phibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall goe into captiuitie.

18 At Tehaphnes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first month, and in the tenth day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

21 Some of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vnto bee healed, neither shall they put a roulet to bind it, nor make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will breake his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them thorow the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, & put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and hee shall cast out fightings, as the fightings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperity of Pharaoh with the prosperity of the Assyrians. 10 His prosperitie shall be like destruction to them both.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the third month, and in the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me saying, exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

2 Some of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whome art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Allur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very hie, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the fowles of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the felde bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches: and the cheffenu trees were not like his boughs: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beauty.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden that were in the garden of God enuid him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the mightiest among the heathen: hee shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I covered the deepe for him, and I did reſtraine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the found of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and at the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shal be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hel with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom I art thou thus like in glory & in greatnes among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in y mids of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XXXII.

a The Prophet is commanded to denounce vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, that he prophesie his destruction, and that he shall be cast into the sea.

And in the twelfth yeere, in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and lay vnto him, Thou art like a lion of the nations, and art as a dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers, and troubledst the waters with thy fecte, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I wil cause all the fowles of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleys with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimmest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shal put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloud, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkness vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shal bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreys which thou hast not knowne.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shal be astonied with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall bee terrible nations, and they shal destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shal be consumed.

13 I wil destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great water sides, neither shal the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to run like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shal make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shal be layd waste: when I shal finite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherwith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 In the twelfth yeere also, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

26 There is Meshech, Tubal, and all his multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layd their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall be vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

C H A P. XXXIII.

A Description of the government and ministers, 24. The strength thereof.

them that despise, and holdeth fast with the promise of mercy. 30. 7 be a word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the found of the trumpet, and wil not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the found of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiveth warning shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his iniquity, but thou shalt deliuer thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayes the Lord God, If you transgressors and sinners be vpon vs, and wee are consumed because of them, how should wee then liue?

11 I say vnto them, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, If I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnes of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that hee sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that hee shall surely liue, if hee trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, hee shall die for the same.

14 Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if hee turne from his sin, and doe that which is lawfull and right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, hee shall surely liue and not die.

16 None of his finnes that he hath committed shall be mentioned vnto him, because hee hath done that.

1 Or, of their easily. 2 A Ne sheweth that the people ought to haue continual gouernours and teachers which may haue a care ouer them, and to warn them euer of the dangers which are at hand.

b Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishment, though the watchmen be negligent: but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he will not obey, hee shall deserve double punishment.

c Chap. 3. 17. d Which teacheth that hee receiveth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spie, and not a true watchman.

e The watchman must answer for the blood of all that perish through his negligence. f Thus the wicked heare Gods indignations for their finnes, dispaire of his mercies and murmure.

g Reade Chap. 18. 23.

h Reade of this righteousnesse, Chap. 18. 23, 24.

i Herely he admonisheth all them of hypocricie, which pretend to forsake wickednesse, and yet declare not themselves such by their suites, that is, obeying Gods commandments and by godly life.

that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vinequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the ewlith yeere of our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fifth day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The Citeis is fennit.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had bene vpon mee in the euening afore hee that had escaped came, and had opened my mouth vntill hee came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumme.

23 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, * Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood; and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood: should ye then possess the land?

26 Ye lean vpon your o words: ye worke abomination, and yet desire euery one his neighbours way: should ye then possess the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layd the land desolate and waste because of all their abominations; that they haue committed.

30 Also thou son of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the wals and in the doores of houses, & speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come I pray thee, and heare what is the word that cometh from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people weth to come: and my people be before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them: for with their mouths they make i feastes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnes.

32 And lo, thou art vnto them, as a pleasing song of one that hath a pleasing voice, & can sing well: for they heare thy words, but they doe them not.

33 And when this cometh to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

21 And I will be to the shepherds that despise the flocke of Christ, and seeke their ouercharge. 7 The Lord sayeth thus he will visite his disciples, and after them together. 22 I will put the true shepherd Christ, on a white horse.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepherds of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God vnto the shepherds, * Woe bee vnto the shepherds of Israel, that feede themselves: should not the shepherds feed the flockes?

2 Ye eate the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.

3 The weakke haue ye not strengthened: the sickke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue ye sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

4 And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were disperfed, they were deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

5 My sheepe wandered throw all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea my flocke was scattered throw all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

6 Therefore ye shepherds, heare the word of the Lord.

7 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the fildes hauing no shepherd, neither did my shepherds seeke my sheepe, but the shepherds fedde themselves, and fed not my sheepe,

8 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord O ye shepherds.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouths, and they shall no more deuoure them.

10 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

11 As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe & will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

12 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, & will bring them to their owne land, & feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

13 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

14 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

15 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will bind vp that which was broken, & will strengthen the weakke, but I will destroy the fat, and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

16 Also you my sheepe, thus saith the Lord God, behold I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goats.

The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

M Oreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an end.

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate, and waste, & cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his flaine men in thine hills, and in thy valleyes, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are flaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not *re*turne, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations and these two countreyes shall be mine, and wee will possesse them (seeing the Lord was there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will euen doe according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation, which thou hast vied in thine hatred against them: & I will make my selfe known among them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy bla phemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie wast, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your wordes against mee: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

He promisseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefits done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercy of God, and not vnto their deserving. 26 God reuerech our hearts: so as we may walke in his commandmentes.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation, haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, & against all Idumea, which d haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with de pightfull minds to cast it out for a pray.

11 And I will multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring forth, and I will cause you to dwell after your owne estate, & I will bestowe benefits vpon you vpon them at the first, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon you, as my people Israel, & they shall possess you, and yee shall be their inheritance, and yee shall no more henceforth deprime them of me.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou hast deuoured vp men, and hast beene a waiter of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither wilt thou people henceforth, saith the Lord God, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt thou cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

17 Some of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were disperied throw the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 * And when they entred into the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which yee polluted among the heathen, whither yee went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I power cleane water vpon you, and yee shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 * A new heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And yee shall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and yee shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for you to come, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the field, that yee shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your own wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, & shall iudge your selues worthy to haue bin destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore. O ye house of Israel be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay wast in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste, and desolate, and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen, that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Jerusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

1 The prophesie the bringing againe of the people, being in captivity. 16 He sheweth the vision of the resurrection, and the two.

The hand of the Lord was vpon me, & carried mee out in the spirit of the Lord, and set mee downe in the mids of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And he led mee round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said vnto mee, Prophecie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O yee drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and yee shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and couer you with skinned, and put breath in you, that yee may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied, as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I behelde, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and aboue, the skinned, couered them, but there was no breath in them.

2 The prophesies that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against * Gog, and against the land of Magog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesie against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hookes in thy iawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine hoste, both horses, and horsemen, all clothed with all sorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers and shields, all handling swords.

7 Prepare thy selfe and make thee readie, both thou, and all thy multitude that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safeguard.

8 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land that hath bene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, which haue long lien waste: yett they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt bee like a cloud to couer the land, both thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke * euill thoughts.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in olde time, by the hand of my seruantes the Prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the field, and all that mooue and crepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountains shall be overthrowen, and the faires shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raie vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a fore raine, and hailestones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Herewith the destruction of Gog and Magog. 2 The prours of Gog and his hostes. 3 They all bee deuoured of birds and beasts. 4 Wherefore the houle of Israel is captiue. 5 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

Therefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, and I leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel.

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the cyles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the midis of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the stauers in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seven yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, sayeth the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for buriall in Israel, even the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall caue them that passe by, to stop their noses, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude, and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog.

12 And seuen months long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name, when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually thorow the land with them that trauaile, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it, they shall search to the end of seuen months.

15 And the traualers that passe thorow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, til the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that yee may eat flesh, and drinke blood.

18 Yee shall eat the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, men of all fat beasts of Bathan.

19 And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drinke blood till yee be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus yee shall bee filled at my table with horses and chariots with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layd vpon them.

22 So the houle of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall know, that the houle of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquities, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, & gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their vncleaneesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

d Theris, this plague is toly deuoured in my counsell, and cannot be changed. e After this destruction the Church shall haue great peace and tranquillitie and burne all their weapons, because they shall no more feare the enemies: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdom, when by their head Christ, all enemies shall be overcome. f Which declarerh that the enemies shall haue a horrible fall. g For the sinke of the caruities. h Or of the multitude of Gog. b Meaning, along time.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, even on their enemies.

k Or, multitude.

k Whereby hee significth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

l The heathen shall know that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakness of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sines.

k Meaning in the last age, and from the coming of Christ vnto the end of the world. l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36.2. and 37.28. m Herby he declarerh that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bene advertised aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath so ordained. n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe, shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shall be so terrible. o Against the people of Gog and Magog.

o Chap. 36.2. and 37.28.

a Or destroy thee with fixe plaiges, as Chap. 38.2.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word the enemies shall be destroyed where-soeuer he shall leaue his Church.

c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, soeue they neuer so farre separate 25 There ore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole houe of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwell safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many Nations,

28 Then shall they know that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the houe of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the Citie and the Temple.

IN the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth yeere after that the Citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither,

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me // Ly a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very high mountain, whereupon was as the building of a Citie, toward the South.

3 And he brought mee thither, and behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to look to, like brasie, with a linnen thred in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man said vnto mee, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon al that I shal shew thee, for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare al that thou seest, vnto the houe of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the houe round about, and in the mans hand was a reed to measure with, of fixe cubits long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reed.

6 Then came he vnto the gate which looked toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the poste of the gate, which was one reed broad, and the other poste of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And every chanell was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the channells were fixe cubits: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.

8 Hee measured also the porch of the gate within with one reed.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubits, and the posts thereof, of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure our this building.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteenth cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roof of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also posts of three score cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate, had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within, were five cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, & in their postes within the gate round about, and I knewe to the arches: and the windowes went round about with in: and vpon the posts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirte chambers were vpon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates our against the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubits Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were after this measure of the first gate: the length thereof was five cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looked toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood over against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, hee brought mee toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was five cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them, and in had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the poste thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And he brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, and hee measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was five cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches thereof were five and twentie cubites long, and five cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Again hee brought mee into the inner court toward the East, and hee measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to the measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was five cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it according to the measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was five cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the entry thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate, even eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they layd the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering, and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North,

Verse 28. The inner court G the eight steps are hid with the building, but they are like them of the East gate, for all the courts were of one measure, quantitie and fashion.

Verse 33. The inner court on the East side N. And so in all he maketh five courts, two on the East side two on the North, and two of the South side looke in the great figure.

47 So he measured the court an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, even four square: likewise the Altar that was before the house.

48 And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other houses therein belonging.

Afterward, hee brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, sixe cubites broad on the one side, and sixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites before the Temple, and he said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of every chamber four cubites round about the house, on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for 5 chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not bee fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the flaire of the house was mounting vpward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the mids.

Ver. 9. The chamber without was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

Ver. 10. And between the chambers was the wide-ness of twenty cubits round about the House on every side.

Ver. 11. And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

Ver. 12. Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was twenty cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length nineteen cubits.

Ver. 13. So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walls thereof were an hundred cubits long.

Ver. 14. Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East was an hundred cubits.

Ver. 15. And he measured the length of the building, over against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubits with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

Ver. 16. The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides over against the postes, filled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

Ver. 17. And from about the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

Ver. 18. And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was between a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

I saw also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of five great cubits.

The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

And between the chambers was the wide-ness of twenty cubits round about the House on every side.

And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was twenty cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length nineteen cubits.

So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walls thereof were an hundred cubits long.

Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East was an hundred cubits.

And he measured the length of the building, over against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubits with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides over against the postes, filled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

And from about the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was between a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

From the ground vnto about the doore were Cherubims, and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude, and forme of the Sanctuary.

The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

The doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the wall, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and upon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

Then brought he mee into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought mee into the chamber that was out against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the North doore, and it was fifty cubits broad.

Over against the twenty cubites which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

Now the chambers about were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp those, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

For they were in three rowes, but had no pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fifty cubites, and loe, before the Temple were an hundred cubits.

And under these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

And according to the doores of the chambers, that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entred.

Then said he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests, that approach vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things and the meate offerings, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

When the Priests enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things which are for the people.

Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought mee forth toward the gate, whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

Hee measured the East side with the measuring rodde, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

He measured also the North side, five hundred

CHAPTER XLIII.

2 Hee sheweth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 Hee mentio[n]eth the idolatry of the children of Israel, for the which they were punished and brought to nought. 9 Hee is comma[n]ded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel, came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me.

7 Which said vnto me, Son of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I wil dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more defile my holy Name, neither they nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of their kings in their he places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their posts by my posts (for there was but a wall between me and them) yet have they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeifes of their kings far from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the patern.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the Houe, and the patene thereof, & the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, & the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof & do them.

12 This is the description of the house, It shall be upon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the House.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, & put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullock without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shalt they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day & so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprooueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the service of the Temple, and who to be refused.

Then hee brought mee toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be a shut, and shall not be opened, & no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himself shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought hee me toward the North gate before the Houle: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord said vnto me, Sonne of man, I marke wel & behold wth thine eyes, & heare with thine eares all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, & all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, enue to the house of Israel. Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of all your abominations.

7 Seeing that vee haue brought into my Sanctuary, it angers vncircumcised in heart, & vncircumcised in flesh to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, even fat, and blood: and they haue broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For ye haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selves haue let me to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Ti us saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the Leuites that are gone back from me when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the house, & minister in the Houle: they shall lay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquity.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto mee to doe the office of the Priest vnto mee, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most Holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, & no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, & within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loyns: they shall not gird themselves in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the vtter court, men to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

22 Neither shall they take for their * wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy & prophane, and cause them to discern between the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 * And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves, except at their father or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister that hath had yet none husband: in the le may they be defiled.

Moreover, when ye shall diuide the land for Minheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an holy portion of the land, five and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentie thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Levites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad, & five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince of the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the city, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, sayeth the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to give burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts, and in the new moones and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offering and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first month, in the first day of the month, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and cleane the Sanctuary.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sin offering, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the posts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seventh day of the month, for every one that hath erred, and for him that is decciued: so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first month in the fourteenth day of the month, yee shall haue the Pascheouer, a feast of seven daies, and ye shall eate vneleuened bread.

22 And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere, without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for euery morning, the fixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle euery morning, or a continuall burnt offering.

Afterward hee brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and behold, a waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward for the forefront of the house toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vnter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, & brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, & brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

n By the land of promise, he signifieth the spiritual land whereof this was a figure.

o Or, strife.

p Meaning, that in this spiritual kingdom there should be no difference betweene Jew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

q The loss of the tribes.

r The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the cities, and of the Prince are retained.

s The tribes after which they entered into the land under Joshua, divided the land for some, what other where then is here set forth by this vision.

10 And then the 6 fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eglam, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shalbe according to their kinds, as the fish of the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But i the myrie places thereof, and the marishes thereof shall not be wholesome, they shalbe made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side and on that side shall grow all fruit-trees, whose lease shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuary, and the fruit thereof shalbe meate, and the lease thereof shall bee for medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shalbe the border, whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shal fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border* of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hethlon, as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berotah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Hauran and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: so shalbe the East part.

19 And the South side shalbe toward Teman, from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shal ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you as borne in the country among the children of Israel, they shal part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The loss of the tribes. s The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the cities, and of the Prince are retained.

NOW these are the names of the 2 tribes. From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shalbe a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the Westside, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh, from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part shalbe the oiling which they shall offer of five and twenty thousand reedes broad, & of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary shalbe in the mids of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shall be of five and twenty thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, tithes for the Priests shall bee this holy oblation, toward the North side and twenty thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, & toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South five & twenty thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shall be in the mids thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sons of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray as the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Levites shall haue five and twenty thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length it shall be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor alienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the five and twentie thousand, shalbe a prophane place for the city, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shalbe the measures thereof, the North part five hundred and foure thousand, and the South part five hundred and foure thousand, and the East part five hundred and foure thousand, and the West part five hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the city shalbe toward the North two hundred and fifty, and toward the South two hundred and fifty, and toward the East two hundred and fifty, and toward the West two hundred and fifty.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastward, & ten thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shalbe for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the city shalbe of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

b That is the portion of the ground which they shall separate & appoint to the Lord, which shalbe diuided into three parts, for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

* Chap. 44. 15.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

d Every way it shall be five and twenty thousand.

20 All the oblation shalbe five and twenty thousand, with 4 five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the cite.

21 And the residue shalbe for the prince on the one side, and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the cite, ouer against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the five and twenty thousand toward the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shalbe in the middes thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Leuites and from the possession of the cite, that which is in the midds shalbe the princes: betweene the border of Iudah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shalbe the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shalbe thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Benjamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Ithachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Ithachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side toward I Temath, the border shall bee euen from 8 Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the bruer that runneth into the maine sea.

29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the cite, on the Northside five hundred, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the cite shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side five hundred and foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, five hundred and foure thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, five hundred and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphthali.

35 It was round about eighteen thousand measures, and the name of the city from that day shalbe, The Lord is there.

f Which is heard taken for Iudaea, g Which was Iericho the cite of the palme trees, h Meaning Nilus that runneth into the sea, called Medieterraneum.

e Soethat Iudah was on the North side of the Princes and Leuites portions, and Benjamin on the South side.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most liuely here set forth, who neuer leaueth his destinate, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he aduanced with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall revelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romans. Also of the certaine number of the times when vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder their off, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead arise againe, and Christ gather him into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

x The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuseth certaine young men of the Iewes to leaue his law. 5 They haue the Iunges crumie appointed, 8 but they abstaine from it.

a Reads 2 King. 24. 1 & ier. 22. 1. b Which was a plaine by Babylon where was the temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

c Whowas master of the wards, d He called them Euanches, whom the King nourished and brought vp to be soulders of other countreys afterward.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shew himself victorious, and also by their good intray & learning of his religion, they might rather him than the Iewes, and to be able to serue him as gouernours in their land: moreover by this means the Iewes might be better kept in subiectiōe, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to the noble men.

N the third yere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim King of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which bee caried into the land of 8 Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasury.

3 And the king spake vnto 4 Aphenaz the master of his 4 Eunuches, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the 4 kings seed, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instructed in all wisdom, and well scene in knowledge, and able to vter knowledge, & such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the 3 learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them prouision euerie day of a portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, so nourishing them 3 three yeres, that at the end thereof, they might stand before the king.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Michael and Azariah.

f The king requi red three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witty and leaured, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberallitie: yet in this he is worthy praise that he esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessary meane to gouern by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrey customs, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to bee thought that Daniel did leaue any knowledge that was not godly in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, in so much that he would not eate the meate which the king appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things, h That by their good entertainment they might leaue to forget the mediocritie of their owne people. i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the manners of the Chaldees, and also their tongue. k As well to serue at the table as in other offices.

their children names, which them in remembrance of some point of religion,

a great temptation and a figure of deceit, which they were not able to resist.

thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke, (for afterward he did eate) but because the king should not entice him by this sweet poysion to forget his religion and accusation of fornication, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was and him to shewe how God from the beginning afflicted him with his Spirit, & as length called him to be a they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and there-

nable to eate dainties meates, and to live in such sobriety as God doeth call vs vnto, seeing hee will make it more profit-table vnto vs, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth. r Eby fastum magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11. I So that hee onely was a Prophet, and one of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Namb. 12. 6. t Of the three yeeres aboue mentioned, Vers. 5. u That is, he was soe esteemed as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stood.

gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Misael, Mefhach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not^m defile himself with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile him selfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fa-uour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eu-nuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayde vnto Daniel, ¶ I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: there ore if hee see your faces worke I king then the other children, which are of your fort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hana-niah, Misael, and Azariah,

12 Prooueth seruants, I beseech thee, o ten dayes, and let them giue vs p^ule to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy ser-uants.

14 So hee consented to them in this matter, and promised them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their 9 countenances appeared fayer, and inⁱ better liking then all the childrens which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, & the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them p^ule.

17 As for these four children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning r and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstand-ing of allⁱ visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time^t was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hana-niah, Misael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom, and vnder-standing that the king enquired of them, hee found them tenne times better then all the enchanters and Astrologians that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto^u the first yeere of king Cyrus.

¶ Interpretation. 24 Daniel brought out the king, and sheweth him his dreame, and the interpretation thereof: 44 Of the overruling kingdoms of Christ.

And in the second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed b dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his d^e sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the enchanters, and the astrologians, and the forerers, s and the c^a Caldeans for to shewe the king his dreames: so they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the Aramites Language, O king, lue for euer: shew thy eruants thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the king answered, and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from mee. If yee will not make mee vnderstand the dreame, with the interpretation thereof, yee shall bee drawen in peeces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, yee shall receive of me gifts and rewards, and great honor: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and said, Let the king shew his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered, and said, I know certainly that ye^t would gaine the time, because yee see the thing is gone from mee.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore telle me the dreame, that I may know, if yee can declare me
the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the king, and said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor lord that asked such things at any inchanter, or Astrologian, or Cal-dean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and in great fury, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wife men were slaine: and they fought Daniel and his fellows to be pur to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisdom to Arioch the kings chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayde vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leaue, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

¶ The dreame of Nebuchadnezzar. 12 The king commaundeth all the wise men of Babilon to be pur to death, because they could not interpret his dreame. 16 Daniel requieth leave to shew the 17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions.

18 That they should beseech the God of heaven for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret revealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel answered and said, * The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his.

21 And he changed the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise, & vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 He discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkenes, & the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed mee now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and saide thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring mee before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and saide vnto Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in heaven that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As for mee, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and beheld, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breast, and his armes of silver, his belly and his thighes of brasse.

33 His legs of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feet, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the silver and the gold broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the summer floures, and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare, before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath giuen thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art * this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdom * inferior to thee, of silver, and another * thirde kingdom shall be, of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron breaketh all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruite all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdom shall bee diuided, but there shall bee in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdom be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot bee mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdom, which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdom shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdoms, & it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the silver, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat of frings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and ¶ Daniel leaueth out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a monarchie and generally emperie, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the coming of Christ for the comfort of the elect among these wicked and licentious times. The Babylonian kingdom the golden head, because it reaped of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruel.

¶ Meaning * Persia, which were not inferior in dignitie power, and thereby were worse, touting ambition, crueltye and all kind of vice, shewing that the world should grow worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

¶ That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brasse, not including the lande, the which be to the violence in reape of silver.

¶ That is, the Roman empire shall subdue all these three forenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

¶ They shall haue civil wars, & continual discords among themselves.

¶ They shall by marriages and affinities thinke to make themselves strong: yet shall they neuer be ioynd in hearts.

¶ His purpose is to show, that all the kingdoms of the world are transitory, and that the kingdom of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

¶ A Meaning Christ, who was sent

God, and not set up by man, whose kingdom at the beginning should be small and without beautie to mans iudgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he called a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdom, which is not only referred to the person of Christ but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shall be eternal for the spirit that is in it, life eternal, Rom. 8. 10. b. Though this bombing of the king seemed to define commendation yet because he ioynd Gods honor with the Prophets. It is to be reproved and Daniel therein erred if he iudged it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

sayd,

* Psal. 113. 2. and 114. 18.

¶ He sheweth that man hath neither wisdom nor knowledge, but very darked blindness and ignorance of himselfe for it consisteth onely of God that man vnderstandeth any thing.

¶ To whom thou makest thy promise, and who liued in thy tears: whereby he excludeth other gods meaning power to interpret it.

¶ Whereby appeared that they were daime, as verse 23. and the rest at Daniels offer were preferred on condition, not that Daniel favoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie because the King proceeded according to his wicked iudgment, & not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

¶ He sheweth that man by reason and art is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods riches, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth y king with a certaine feare & reverence of God that hee might be the more apt to receiue the his mysteries, that should be reuealed.

¶ Because he had said, that God onely must reueale the figuratiou of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and there fore be sheweth that hee was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

¶ By gold, silver, brasse and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Romane kingdomes, which should successively rule all the world: till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the king that heere his affliction should not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that he should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchie.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exo. 7. 38, but his heart was not touched, as appeared some after ward.

d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this means he might relieve his poore brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captivitie, and also he received them, lest he should offend them for their private profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might have some releafe and ease, by this benefit.

f Meaning that either he had the whole authority, or that none could be admitted to buy him.

said, I know of a trueth, that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great gifts. Hee made him gouernour of the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboute all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the gate of the King.

CHAP. II.

1 The King setteth up a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 21 By his life in God they are deliuered from the fire. 28 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God, after the sight of the miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the King made a image of gold, whose height was threecore cubits, and the bredth thereof six cubits: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King let forth to gather together the nobles, the princes, and the dukes, the iudges, the receiueis, the counsellours, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image which Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes, & dukes, the iudges, the receiueis, the counsellours, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp, and they stood before the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cryed aloud, See it knowne to you, O people, of nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote fierie furnace.

7 Therefore, asloone as all the people heard the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musick, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

8 By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Chaldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that every man that shall heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcime, shall approue their religion. If the kings authoritie were alleged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit. d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to light againe the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the cruelty of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednes, did mislead them; and heere the King required not an inward conscience, but an outward shew, that the Iewes might by little and little, learne to forget their true religion.

mer, and all instruments of Musick, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the middes of an hote fierie furnace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so these men were brought before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 ¶ Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick to fall downe and worship the image which I haue made? for if ye worshipp it not, yee shall be cast immediately into the middes of an hote fierie furnace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom wee serue is able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie furnace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, be it knowne to thee, O King, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the furnace at once leuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie furnace.

21 So the men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clothes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie furnace.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commandement was straite, that the furnace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie furnace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied, and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his counsellours, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered, and said vnto the king, It is true, O King.

25 And he answered and said, Lo, I see foure men loose walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie furnace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego, e I remember that they name not Daniel, because he was greatly to the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bin deliueyed, he might haue been better perswaded to accuse Daniel: and this declareth, that this policie of erecting this image was iudged by the malicious flatterers which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying that he would receive the power and grace that they now saw at the longobey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniury to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are reuelled to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points first, on the power and providence of God out of them, and secondly, on their cause which was Gods glory, and the relieving of his true religion with their blood, and to make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth, that the more these tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew them, felicitous in inventing strange and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his servants, to whom he giueth patience and constancie to abide eternally of their punishments, or rather he deliuereth them from death, or else tortures his life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the Iannes of God, because of their excellencie, therefore the king called this Angel whom God sent to comfort him in this great torment, the Son of God.

1 This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this forsaie, till the time appointed, as Noah remembred in the Arke, till the Lord called him forth.

2 He was moved by the greatnesse of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched, And there were feare that miracles are not sufficient to connect men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned with them, which there can be no faith.

3 In this heathen King moued by Gods spirit would see the blasphemy unpunished, but made a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressors, much more ought aliey that profess religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment. o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended. f Chap. 2. 44.

4 There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

5 This was a dreame besides that which the sawe of the seare Empires, for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it meant, and here he onely expoundeth the dreame.

6 In that the great sentenace was to those whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, & left Daniel which was neuer ready at hand, it declarerh the nature of the vengeance, which neuer feeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, when they spake no flatterings.

7 This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not onely to have his name charged, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchadnezzar did to make him forget ^g the religion of God. A which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be mimbrd among the forerers and men whose practices were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By there, is signified the dignitie of a king, whom God ordaineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

the seruants of the hie God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego I came forth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counsellours came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any sinell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchadnezzar spake and said, o Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, and yielded their bodies, rather then they would serue or worship any god, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawne in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchadnezzar King vnto all people, nations, & languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you.

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward mee.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdome is an euermlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

34 Therefore, so they suffered double punishment. o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended. f Chap. 2. 44.

CHAP. IIII.

3 Another dreame of Nebuchadnezzar, which Daniel declarerh. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a prouinc King he should become as a beast. 31 After hee confessed the power of God, and was restored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchadnezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the Astrologians, the Caldeans, and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shew mee the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in lum) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the inchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, I tell mee the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed, And behold, I saw a tree in the middes of the field, and it grew vp to heauen, and the sight thereof was great. 8 A great tree, and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth. 9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh fed of it. 10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches. 12 Neuerthelesse, leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasle bind it among the grasle of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grasle of the field. 13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him. 14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiekt among men. 15 This is the dreame that I King Nebuchadnezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee. 16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee, Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies. 17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world, 18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauen did sit: 19 Is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is grown, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth. 20 Whereas the king sawe a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasle bind it among the grasle of the fildes, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the fildes, I till seuen times passe ouer him: 21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the king.

the earth, and the height thereof was great.

8 A great tree, and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches.

12 Neuerthelesse, leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasle bind it among the grasle of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grasle of the field.

13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiekt among men.

15 This is the dreame that I King Nebuchadnezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee, Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauen did sit:

19 Is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is grown, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

20 Whereas the king sawe a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasle bind it among the grasle of the fildes, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the fildes, I till seuen times passe ouer him:

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the king.

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which met her earth nor deeper, but is en ready to doe Gods will, and not listed with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he com-mandeth to cut downe this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man but by God.

h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchadnezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdome: but be like a beast. i God hath decreed this iudgement, and the whole armie of heauen as it were subscribed vnto it like as aliother desire the execution of his decree against him that lift vp themselves against God.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he saw ordained against the king: and in the Prophets vied on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiekt to Gods iudgements: it is not to be regarded then with pitee.

l Whereby he meaneth a long space of seuen years. Some interpret from months, and others from weeks, but it seemeth he meant of years.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beaſt, but that he was either ſicken and ſo aſſoyd of mans company, or was caſt out for his tyranny and ſo wanted among the beaſts, and ate herbes and graſſe.

n Daniel ſaweth the cauſe, why God thus puniſhed him.

o Caſt from promouing God to aſſoyd any longer by any ſinnes, that hee may mitigate his puniſhment, it ſhou ſhow by thine upright liſe that ſhou haſt trueſt and repentance.

p Suffer the errors or thy ſinner to be reſtored.

q After that Daniel had declared this viſion, and this pride declared that it is not in man to conſent to God, except his Spirit moue him: ſeeing that theſe terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When the terme of theſe ſeven yeeres was accompliſhed.

s Chap. 7. 14. Mich. 1. 7. Luke 1. 33.

t He conſeſſeth Gods will to bee the rule of all iuſtice, and a moſt perfect law where by he gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, fo that none ought to ſourne or ſoake a reaſon of his doings, but onely to conſent to the will and giue him the glory.

u By whom it ſeemeth that he had been put from his kingdom before. u He doth not enly praife God in his deliuerance, but allo conſeſſeth his ſaue, that God may onely haue the glory, and man the ſhame, and that he may be exalted and man caſt downe.

22 That they ſhall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe as the oxen, and they ſhall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and ſeuē times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, till thou know, that the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giue it to whomſoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they ſayde, that one ſhould leaue the ſtump of the tree rootes, thy kingdom ſhall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou ſhalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counſell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake off thy ſinnes by righteouſneſſe, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there bee an healing of thine error.

25 All theſe things ſhall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue monethes, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king ſpake, and ſayd, Is not this great Babel that I haue built for the houſe of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiesty?

28 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, ſaying O King Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee bee it ſpoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee, 29 And they ſhall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe, as the oxen, and ſeuē times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, vntill thou knoweſt, that the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giue it vnto whomſoeuer he will.

30 The very ſame houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eate graſſe as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haire was grown as egles feathers, and his nailes like birds claws.

31 And at the end of theſe daies, I Nebuchad-nezzar liſt vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderſtanding was reſtored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the moſt High, and I praized and honoured him, that liueh for euer, whoſe power is an euerlaſting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will hee worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can ſtay his hand, nor ſay vnto him, What doeth thou?

33 At the ſame time was mine vnderſtanding reſtored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glory and my beautie was reſtored vnto mee, and my counſellers: and my princes fought vnto mee, and I was eſtabliſhed in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar praife, and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whoſe works are all trueh, and his wayes iudgement, and thoſe that walke in pride, hee is able to abaſe.

King Belſhazzar made a great feaſt to a thouſand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thouſand.

2 And Belſhazzar while hee taſted the wine commanded to bring him the golden and ſiluer veſſels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ieruſalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden veſſels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords houſe at Ieruſalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, and praized the gods of gold and of ſiluer, of braſſe, of yron, of wood, and of ſtone.

5 At the ſame houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote our againſt the candleſtike vpon the plaſter of the wall of the kings palace, and the king ſaw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, ſo that the ioynts of his loynes were looſed, and his knees ſmote one againſt the other.

7 Where the king cried lowde, that they ſhould bring ſe the aſtrogians, the Caldeans and the ſoothſayers. And the king ſpake, and ſaide to the wiſe men of Babel, Whoſoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, ſhall be clothed with purple, and ſhall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and ſhall bee the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all the kings wiſe men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor ſhew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belſhazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were aſtoied.

10 ¶ Now the Queene by reaſon of the talke of the king and his princes, came into the banquet houſe, and the Queene ſpake, and ſayde, O King liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the ſpirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderſtanding and wiſedome like the wiſedome of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I ſay, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, aſtrogians Caldeans, and ſoothſayers.

12 Becauſe a more excellent ſpirit, and knowledge, and vnderſtanding (ſo hee did expound dreames, and declare heard ſentences, and diſſolved doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whom the King named Belſhazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king ſpake and ſaid vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the king brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vn-a Daniel reſpecteth this hiſtory of King Belſhazzar Eusebio de Cordoue, to theſe Gods iudgement againſt the wicked for the deliquance of his Church and how the prophetic of Ieremiah was true, that they ſhould be deſtroyed after ſeventy yeeres.

b The Kings of the Eaſt part then vied to ſit alone commonly, & diſdained that any ſhould ſit in their company and now to ſhew his power, and lowe liſe ſet by his enemies, which then beſieged Babylon, he made a ſolemne banquet, and vied exceſſe in their company, which is meant hereby drinking wine: thus the wicked are moſt diſſolute and negligent, when their diſtinction is at hand, with vnto, overcome e That it might the better be ſeene.

f So that before hee was moved by this fight to tremble for the Gods iudgement.

CHAP. V.

5 Belſhazzar King of Babylon ſet a hand writing on the wall. 6 The ſoothſayers called of the King, cannot expound his writing. 7 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth alſo. 8 The King is ſaue. 9 Darus miſeth his kingdom.

i Reade Chs. 4. 6. and this declarerh, that both his name was odious vnto him, and alſo that he did not vie theſe vile practices becauſe he was not among them when all were called. k For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like eſtimation, as they had King, thinking that the ſpirit of prophetic and vnderſtanding came of them.

derstanding, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians have bene brought before mee, that they should reade th^e writing, and shew mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and disolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet will I reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maⁱestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the matelie that he gaue him, all people, nations and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: hee smote whom he would: whom he would hee set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till he knew that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whom ouer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, 23 But hast liſt vp thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and gold, of brasſe, yron, wood and stone, which are ther ſee, neither heare nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hande thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 M^en then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath writing this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found tooo light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, & put a chaine of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius ^{us} of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being three score and two yeere old.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel made ruler ouer the gouernours. 2 An ell againſt Daniel. 3 Hee put into a den of lions by the commandement of the King. 4 He is deliuered by Iahin God. 5 Daniel accuſer is put vnto the lions. 6 Darius by a decree magnifieth the Gods. Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome a hundred and twente gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome,

2 And ouer these three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the king should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole Realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was io faithful that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and said thus vnto him King Darius lue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King, and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, he shall be cast into the denne of Lions.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the Law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that hee had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as hee did aforetime.

11 Then the men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came and spake vnto the king, concerning the kings decree, Haft thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any god or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of Lions? The king answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and saide vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with him else, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then the men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, b Or, not be troubled.

b This heathen King preſerued Daniel a ſtranger to all his nobles and familiars, becauſe the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others. c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but ſeeke by all occasions to deſtroy them: therefore againſt ſuch aſſaſſins there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue good conſcience.

d Herein is commended the wickedneſſe of the King, who would be ſet vp as a god, and paſſed not what wicked lawes hee ſpoued for the maintenance of the ſame.

e Becauſe hee would not by his ſilence ſhew that hee conſented to this wicked decree, hee let open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to ſhew his ſinceritie with the remembrance of Gods promiſes to his people, when they ſhould pray toward the Temple, and alſo that other might ſee, that hee would not conſent in heart nor deede for theſe few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

i Before hee reade the writing, hee declared to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, conſidering his wonderfull worke toward his grates father, and fo theweſt that hee doth not ſinne of ignorance, but of malice.

m After that God had ſolong time deferred his anger and patiently waited for thine amendment. n This word is twice written, for the certaintie of the thing: ſhewing that God had moſt truly counted, ſignifying alſo that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miracle ſhall come on all that aſſe themſelues againſt him. o Or, wanting. p Cyrus his ſonne in law gaue him a ſhield of honour, although Cyrus inſeſt had the dominion.

f Thus the wicked maintainc euill lawes by constancy, and authority, which is oftentimes either lightnesse, or stubbornnesse, when as the innocents thereby perishe, and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare, nor be ashamed to breake such.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h He will cause & wrought in this thing, wherein is charged is approved of God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandment to obey God, and so did no injury to the king, who ought to command nothing whereby God should be dishonoured.

k Because he committed himself wholly vnto God, whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him; wherein we see the power of faith, at Heb. ii. 23.

l This is a terrible example against the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth princes such when their wickedness is come to light though not in every point, nor with like circumstances, yet to execute true liues vpon them.

m This proueth that Darius did worship God, or els was conuerted, for when he would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatry, & not only giuen God the chief place, but also haue let him vp, and caused him to be honored according to his word: but this was a certain confession of Gods power, wherein he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not only life in himselfe, but is the only fountaine of life, and quicketh all things, to that without him there is no life.

o Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnesse after their seventy yeeres as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliverance from all troubles but a beginning, and the fore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction, till the Messiah be vtterly & reucaled, by whom they should haue a full and all deliverance and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certain token in the destruction of the Baby Ionick kingdome.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, & they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of Lyons: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruett, euē he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and laide vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained sitting, neither were the instruments of musick brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in a haile vnto the den of Lyons.

20 And when he came vnto the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel, and the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, thy seruant of the Lung God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruett) g able to deliuer thee from the Lyons?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the Lyons mouths, that they haue not hurt mee: for h my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because he k beleued in his God.

24 And by the commandment of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the den of Lyons, euē they, their children, and their wiues: and the Lyons had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare o before the God of Daniel: for he is the n Living God, & remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion p shall euerlasting.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the raigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of four beasts is shewed vnto Daniel, 8 The temes of the four beasts, 27 Of the euertlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first year of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bedde: & then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the same.

dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and beheld, the four winds of the heauen stroue vpon b the great sea:

3 And four great beasts came vp from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, & had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were plucked off, & it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon h his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a beare, & stood vpon the e one side: and he had three ribs in his i mouth between his teeth, & they said vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his backe four wings as a fowle: the beast had also four heads, and d dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I saw in the visions by night, and beheld, the f fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had g great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces, and stamped h the residue vnder his feete: and it was v unlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had o tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, behold, there came vp among them another little p horne, before whom there were q three of the first hornes plucked away: and behold, in his hornes were r eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld till the s hornes were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure woooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels, as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered vnto him, and tenne thousand thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the x bookes opened.

which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander and after him Antipater was king of Macedonia, & Ptolemeeus had Egypt. It was not of him elfe nor of his owne power that hee gate all these countries: for his army contained but thirty thousand men, as hee came in to a battell Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when he was so beaten with those, that his army were scarce open, as the histories report, therefore this power was giuen him of God. 1 That is the Romane Empire, which was a monster & could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. 2 Signifying the tyranny and grieuance of the Romanes. 3 That which the Romanes could not quietly enjoy in other countries, they would giue it to other kings and rulers, that as it seemed when they would, they might take it againe: which liberality is heere called the damping of the rest vnder the feete. 4 That is, sundry and diuers provinces which were governed by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a king. 5 Which is meant of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horse. For Mahomet came out of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, & also in this prophesie the Prophet prophesie in christians comfort the fewest vnto the reuelation of Iohn. 6 Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

g Meaning a certain person of the tenne hornes: that is, a parricide from the whole estate was plucked away. For Augustus took from the Senate the liberty of choosing the deputies to send into the provinces, and took the gouernment of certaine countries to himselfe. 7 These Romane Emperours at the first vied aequa in humanity and gentleness, and were content that others, as the Consuls, & Senate should beare the names of dignity, so that they might haue the profit, & therefore in elections and counsels would beate themselves according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is heere meant by the proud mouth. 8 Meaning the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge the wicked Menstrichers when iudgment should begin at the first coming of Christ. 9 That is, God which was before all times, and is heere described as a monarch: he is able to command some portion of his glory.

² As was the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth have, and they that patiently abide at appointment shall enjoy the promises.

³ A Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken upon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of David according to the flesh, as he was afflicted; but appeared then in a figure, and that in the clouds: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinity.

⁵ This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdome when God the father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediator, as to the intent that he should gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternal life.

⁶ Through the strength of the vision.

⁷ Meaning of the Angels, as verse 10. f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these four heires or tyrants should invade, and vnto the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length. g That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this world, that they should look up to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth. h For the other three monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane Empire by Consuls: the Romans changed their gouernours secretly, and the other Monarchies retained them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselves. i Reader ver 27. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning the Romane Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes & of the Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto him some rest, and subdained a famous name in the world, and was called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Reader the exposition hereof, verse 8. o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamation against Gods word, and send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that do professe it.

11 Then I beheld v because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 As I beheld in visions by night, behold, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of daies, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the meddies of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are four kings which shall arise out of the earth,

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very fearful, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasie: which denoued, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feet.

20 All to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, & of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose look was more flour then his fellows.

21 I beheld: and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, & persecuted against them.

22 Vntill the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall tread it downe and break it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue three kings,

25 And shall speake words against the most

High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand vntill a time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and all powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

But at length he will assuage these troubles, and shorten the time for his elect sake, which is here meant by the diuiding of time. r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this third horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s He likewise restore the beast which had been destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enjoy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospell enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words: vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in his world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue in it. t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule, although hee had many motions in his heart, which moued him to and fro to seeke out: yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vish of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a chabriel that appeared a ramme and a goat: 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

In the third yeere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto mee at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuier of Vla.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuier a ramme which had two hornes, and these two hornes were hie: but one was higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, a goat came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an horn that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: & for it came vp foure that horne, h Alexander came against Darius in two sundry battels, kingdome of the Medes and Persians. i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome the East, he thought to returne to the west, but he had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

p Meaning, that he was afflicted, when he saw these Emperours in such digmities and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchy was subdued to men of other nations.

q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time & times, for his elect sake, which is here meant by the diuiding of time.

r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this third horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s He likewise restore the beast which had been destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enjoy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospell enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words: vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in his world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue in it.

t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule, although hee had many motions in his heart, which moued him to and fro to seeke out: yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vish of the Church.

q That is, God who governeth and maintaineth his Church.

r He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to haue his Name there truly called vpon.

s He sheweth that by their finnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: & yet comforteth them; in that hee appointeth this tyrant a time, when he will not suffer vnto to abolish his religion.

t This horn shall abolish for a time the true doctrine, and so corrupt Gods seruice.

u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels saying this question of Christ, whom he calleth a certaine one, or feruore, or a marvellous one. x That is, the Iewes finnes, which were cause of this destruction. y That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people. z Christ answered mee for the consoling of the Church, a That is, vntil many natural dayes be past which make fise yeeres threemonths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophand. b Which was Christ, who in this manner declared himselfe to the old fathers, how hee would be God manifested in flesh. c This power to command the Angles, declared that he was God. d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after. e Meaning, that great rage which Antiochus should haue against the Church. f That is, out of Grecia. g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander. h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also craue that hee could not be decieued. i That is, no like Alexanders strength. k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horne; which waxed very great toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the pleasant land.

10 Yeas it grew vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And extolled himselfe against the Prince of the hoste, from whom the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And a time shall bee given him over the daily sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the yarmie vnder foot?

14 And he answered me, Vnto the evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be cleaved.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and fought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betwene the banks of Vlai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when hee came, I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto mee, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goat is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betwene his eyes, is the first King.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdoms, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdom, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of a ferce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

24 And his power shalbe mighty, but not in his strength, and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.

25 And through his policie also hee shall craue to proper in his hand, and hee shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stand vp against the Prince of princes, but he shall be broken downe without hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall bee after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke 9 certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings businesse, and I was astonied at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which hee had promised concerning the reuerence of the people on their benefactors in Babylon. 4 A true confession. 5 Daniels prayer heard. 6 Gabriel the Angel appeareth vnto him in vision of the twentieth weeke. 7 The anoynting of Christ. 8 The building againe of Ierusalem. 9 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of a Achaemenus, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the realme of the Caldeans, 2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremias the Prophet, that he would accomplish fiftie yeeres in the defolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and fought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest covenante and mercie towarde them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy Commandments,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, righteousnes bringest vnto thee, and vnto vs open shame, as appeareth this day vnto every man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs apperrest open shame, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 For compassion and forgiveness be in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his Lawes, which he had layd before vs by the ministration of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet hee daily increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.

d Hee speaketh not of that ordering, or prayer, which hee had in his heart: but hee saith, as we haue ment prayer, lest their finnes should cause God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophesied by Ieremias.

e That is, half all power in his selfe to execute thy terrible iudgements against obstinate sinners, as thou art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee.

the seruant of God, because wee haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his words, which he spake againſt vs, and againſt our iudges that I iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ieruſalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs: as it is written in the law of Moſes: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities, and vnderſtand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord † made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 * And now, O Lord our God, that haſt brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and haſt gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy † righteousnesse, I beſeech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from the citie of Ieruſalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our finnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ieruſalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, and his ſupplications, and caue thy face to † ſhine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lyeth waite for the † Lords lake.

18 O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our defolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for wee doe not preſent our ſupplications before thee for our owne † righteousnesse, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord conſider, and doe it: to deferre not, for thine owne ſake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy city, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was ſpeaking and praying, and conſidering my finne and the finne of my people Iſrael, and did preſent my ſupplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was ſpeaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whom I had ſcene before in the viſion, came flying, and touched me about the time of the cuncting of elation.

22 And he informed mee, and talked with mee, and ſaid, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderſtanding.

23 At the beginning of thy ſupplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to ſhew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderſtand the matter, and conſider the viſion.

24 Seuentie p weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finiſh the wickedneſſe, and to ſeale vp the † finnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlaſting righteousnesse, and to ſeale vp the viſion and propheticke, and to anoint the moſt Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderſtand, that from the going forth of the commandment to bring againe the people, and to build Ieruſalem, vnto Meſſiah the Prince, ſhall bee ſeuen weekes and † threeſcore and two weekes, and the ſtreete ſhall be built againe, and the wall euen in a † troublous time.

26 And after threeſcore and two weekes, ſhall Meſſiah be ſaine, and ſhall † haue nothing; and the people of the † prince that ſhall come, ſhall deſtroy the citie and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof ſhall be with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it ſhall be destroyed by defolations.

27 And he † ſhall confirme the covenante with many for one weeke: and in the midis of the weeke hee ſhall cauſe the ſacrifice and the oblation to be ceaſe, † and for the overſpreading of the abominations hee ſhall make it deſolate, euen vntill the conſummation determined ſhall bee powred vpon the deſolate.

out all hope of recovery. a By the preaching of the Goſpel hee conſumed his promiſe, ſuited to the Jewes, and altere to the Gentils. b Chriſt accompliſhed this by his death and reſurrection. c Meaning that Ieruſalem & the Sanctuary ſhould be utterly deſtroyed for their rebellion againſt God, and their idolatry: or as ſome reade, that the plague ſhall be ſo great, that they ſhall be all ſlained at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, as which ſumeth howe many ſhall be ſaued.

IN the * third yeere of Cyrus King of Perſia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whoſe name was called Belſheſazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was b long, and he vnderſtood the thing, and had vnderſtanding of the viſion.

2 At the ſame time I Daniel was in heauenes for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleaſant bread, neither came fleſh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I annoynt my ſelfe at all, til three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the ſixte and twentieth day of the * fiſt moneth, as I † was by the ſide of that great river, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I liſt vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man † clothed in linnen, whoſe loynes were girded with ſine gold of † Phaz.

6 His body alſo was like the Chryſolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightening, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to poliſhed braſſe, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alſo ſaw the viſion: for the men that were with mee, ſaw not the viſion: but a great feare fell vpon them, ſo that they fled away and hid themſelues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and ſaw this great viſion, and there remained no ſtrength in me: for † my ſtrength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I ſlept on my face, and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand touched me, which ſet me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands.

11 And he ſaid vnto mee, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderſtand the words that I ſpeake vnto thee, and ſtand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now ſent. And when hee had ſaid this word vnto me, I ſtood trembling.

12 Then ſaid he vnto mee, Feare not, Daniel: for from the fiſt day that thou didſt ſet thine heart to vnderſtand, and to humble thy ſelfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

CHAP. XI.

Apoc. of the Kingdoms, which should be mention to the Prophet of God, of the 12 of Greece, 5 of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 34 and of the Romans.

Allo Lin the first yere of Darius of the Medes when I stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold there shall stand vp y^e three kings of Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer then they all:
and by his strength, and by his riches hee shall surre^ve all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a mighty King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when hee shall stand vp, his kingdom shall be broken, and shall be divided toward the four winds of heaven: and not to his^h posterity, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdom shall be pluckt vp even to before for others besides^k those.

5 And hee raised vp all the East countreyes to fight against the Grecians, and albeit hee had in his arme nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels he was discomfited. And away with shame. 6 That is, Alexander the great.
7 For when his estate was most flourishing, hee overcame himselfe with drinke, and do fell into a disease: as most bewis, was poisoned by Callander. 8 For his twelve children prizes first divided his Kingdom among themselves. 9 After this his Monarchie was divided into four: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Callander the Indian ambition and crueltie in causing his posterity to be murdered: and of the fathers chief friends, and partly one of another.
10 None of these four shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander.
11 That is, his posterity having no part thereof.

5 And the King of the South shall be mighty and one of his princes, & shall preuaile against him, and heare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeres they shall be ioyned together: for the kings daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not retain the power of the arme, neither shall hee continue, nor his arme: but, shee shall be delivered to death, and they that brought her, and hee that begot her, and hee that comforted her in these time.

7 But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an arme, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as hee list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shall also carry captives into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold, and hee shall continue^o moe yeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great arme: and one y shall come, and ouerflow, & passe through: then shall hee returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.

11 And the King of the South shall be angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, even with the king of the North: for hee shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be gi-uen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proud, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but hee shall not fill preuaile.

13 For the king of the North shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeres) with a mighty arme, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the king of the South: all the rebellious children of thy people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong cite: and the armes of the South shall not stir, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stand against him: and hee shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Again hee shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdom, and his confederates with him: thus shall hee do, & hee shall giue him the daughter of women, to destroy her: but a Hee will content himselfe with the half hold for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefe.

 b Hee shall ouercome with treason. c Signifying his princes and chiefe about him. d Declaring that his soldiers shall braue out and venture their life to slay and be slaine for the safeguard of their prince. e The vnkle and the nephew shall take vices, and banquet together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischief one against the other. f Signifying that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot do what they list themselves. g Which hee shall take of the Iewes in destroying Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is tolde them before to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence. h That is, the Romans power shall come against him. i For P. Popilius the Ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage hee came against the people of God the second time. k With the Iewes which shall forsake the covenant of the Lord: for first hee was called against the Iewes by Isaua high Priest and this second time by Menelaus 31 And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable deolatation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the covenant, shall hee cause to sinne by flattery: but the people that doe know their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among their people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoyle many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them q faimely.

35 And some of them of vnderstanding shall fall to try them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the King shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake maruelous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe alone all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not: shall hee honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom hee shall acknowledge: hee shall increase his glorie, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaue.

40 And at the end of time shall the King of the South push at him, & the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlwinde with charrets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and hee shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe through.

41 Hee shall enter into the pleasant land, and many countreys shall be ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom & Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 Hee shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But hee shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where hee shall passe.

For we must obey f Because the Angels purpose is to shewe the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the coming of Christ, hee now speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romans which heareth by the name of a king, who were without all religion and contemned the true God. t Solong the tyrants shall preuaile as Gods wrath is appointed to punish his people but hee weareth that it is but for a time. u The Romans shall haue no certain forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures yea contemne them. s Before them hee comes to their gods. x Signifying that they should be without all humanity for the land of women is taken for singular or great love. a Sam. 1. 26. y That is, the God of power and riches, that will efface their owne power above all their gods and worlship it. z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their city with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods and worshipped them in their temples, all they should haue beene despised as Antichrist: but this was to increase their pride & riches, and when they gaue any country they fo made others the rulers thereof, that the great euill came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be ouercome. c The Angels forewarneth the Iewes that when they should see the Romanes invade them, and that the wicked should escape their handes, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would not let them see them.

d Hearing that Crassus was false, and Antonius discomfited.
e For Augustus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had lost.
f The Romanes came to sea, and in Iudaea.

44 But the tidings out of the East & the North shall trouble him: therefore hee shall go forth with great wrath to destroy & roote out moony.
45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.
46 He reigned quietly throughout all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Iudaea.

CHAP. XII.

a Of the deliverance of the Church by Christ a The Angel here noteth two things: first that Church shall be in great affliction & trouble at Christs coming, and next, that God will send his Angel to deliver it, whom here hee calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

b Meaning, all shall rise at the general resurrection, which thing hee nameth because the faithful should have ever their eyes set to that: for in the earth there shall be no religion.
c Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sore and esteeme it a treasure. f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full revelation of these things: and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

And at that time shall Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the booke.
2 And many of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake some to everlasting life, and some to shame and perpetual contempt.
3 And they that be c wise, shall shine, as the brightness of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousness, it shall shine as the starrs, for euer and euer.
4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, and seale the booke: f till the end of the time: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.
5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and beheld, there was one like the son of man, sitting upon the cloudes: and he said vnto me, I will tell thee the secret of the vision. And he said vnto me, seale the words of the prophesie, for the time is short. And he said vnto me, I will tell thee the secret of the vision. And he said vnto me, seale the words of the prophesie, for the time is short.

stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the river, and the other on that side of the brinke of the river.

6 And one said vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river, When shall be the end of the e worders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen which was vpon the waters of the river, when he held vp his right hand, & his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that lieth for euer, that it shall tarie for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished k to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 ¶ Then I heard it, but I understood it not: the said I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he said, Go thy way Daniel: for thy words are closed vp, and sealed till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, & tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue understanding: but the wise shall understand.

11 And from the time that the dayly sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there m shall bee a thousand two hundred and ninety daies.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth & cometheth to the thousand, three hundredth & sixe & thirty daies.

13 But goe: thou thy way till the end see: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the daies.

g Which was Tyrris.
h Which was assis were a double eite and did the more comfite the thing.
i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time, signifying that their troubles should haue an end.
k When Christ Church shall be scattered & diminished in each sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.
l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice of the Law.
m Signifying that the time shall be long of Christs second coming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged though it be decreed.
n In this number he addeth a month & an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs coming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.
o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that hee should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

H O S E A.
THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked & subtil counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat: & in stead of his true service commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grewe ever worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea & Amos to the Israelites: (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemn them of their iniquity: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adultery: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdom, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of twenty yeres, though they remained still in their vices & wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetness of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part be diuulged the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliverance: and for the second, be with threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maner and vices. And this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be goodly, or by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeist that the whole Law containe these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

a The time wherein Hosea prophesied. b The idolatrie of the people. To calling of the Gouernors. c Christ vsurpeth beaudo of all people.

¶ He word of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of a Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord sayde vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife c of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

a Called also Azaiah, who being a leper was despoiled from his kingdom.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings that he preached aboute three score yeres.
c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or else was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagoge, and of the people her children.

3 So he went, and tooke d Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name e Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visit the blood of Izreel vpon the house of Iehi, and will cause to cease the kingdom o: the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bow of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

¶ Somethy he called because Iudah did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, & therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was y chief cite of the ten tribes vnder Abah where Iehi died to much blood. 2 King i. 8. 11. f I will be reuenged vpon Iehi for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for Iudah did stirre him vp to execute his iudgements, yet hee did them for his own ambition, & not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for hee built vpon that idolatrie which hee had destroyed. g When the measure of their iniquitie is full and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption & Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.
e Meaning, that they should be no more called Izreelites of the which name they were as bastards, & therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was y chief cite of the ten tribes vnder Abah where Iehi died to much blood. 2 King i. 8. 11. f I will be reuenged vpon Iehi for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for Iudah did stirre him vp to execute his iudgements, yet hee did them for his own ambition, & not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for hee built vpon that idolatrie which hee had destroyed. g When the measure of their iniquitie is full and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.

h That is, not obtaining mercie: whereby the figural Church of God was depatured from them. i For the realities never returned after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians. k For after their captivity he returned them in mercy: but by his means of Cyrus, Ezra, &c. l That is, not any people. m Because they thought that God could not have been true in his promise except he had preferred the Jews: he declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the inner of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes and the Gentiles. Rom. 9.26. n To wit, after the captivity of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. o The calamity and destruction of Israel shall be so great, that therefore them shall be as a miracle.

a Seeing I have pronounced you de-linate, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same consoling that ye are my people on whom I will have mercie. b God because that the fault was in him but in their synagoge, that he reioiceth in their idolatries, that he reioiceth them, Isa. 50.1. c Meaning, that their idolatry was far greater than they were not allowed, but boasted of it. Ezek. 16.25. d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries yet he had left them with their apparell and dwelt & certain signes of his fauor, but if they continue in their idolatry he would utterly destroy them. e I will thoughtless out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4. f That is, bastards and begotten in adultery. g Meaning the Idoles which they feared & by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance. h I will punish thee then thou wast false, when thou hadst hope to be rich to play the wanton. i This is the speaker of the faithful, which are truly converted, and also sheweth the vice and profit of Gods rods. This he declareth that idolaters disdain Gods honor, when they attribute his benefits to their idols. i Signifying, that God will take away his benefit when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them. n That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions whereby she worshipped her idoles.

6 She conceived yet againe, & bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name b Loruhamah: for I will no more haue pitty vpon the house of Israel, but I will utterly take them away. 7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and I will k keepe them by the Lord their God, and will not smite them by bowe, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen. 8 Now when she had wiued Lo-ruhamah, she conceived, and bare a sonne. 9 Then said God, Call his name l Ammi: for ye are not my people, therefore will I not be yours. 10 Yet the number of the m children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor told: and in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be sayd vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God. 11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be n gathered together, and appoint them selfe one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great u the o day of Izrael.

CHAP. II.
1 The people is called to repentance. 2 He sheweth their idolatry and threatneth them except they repent. S Ay vnto your a brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah, 2 Plead with your b mother: plead with her for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband, but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries from between her breasts, 3 d Left I strip her naked, and let her as in the day that she was e borne, and make her as a wil-dernes, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst. 4 And I will haue no pittie vpon her children: for they be the i children of fornications. 5 For their mother hath played the harlot: for she that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my s louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll, and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke. 6 Therefore behold, I will stoppe h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not find her paths. 7 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall the say, i I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now. 8 Now shee did not knowe that I k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal. 9 Therefore will I returne, and take away j my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe k sent, to couer her shame. 10 And now will I d couer her m lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

trees, whereof she hath sayd, These are my reward that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beastes shall eate them. 13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes of Balaam, wherein he burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her o eareings and her iowels, and she followed her louers, and forgate mee, sayth the Lord. 14 Therefore behold, I will pasture her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her. 15 And I will giue her her vineyards for thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt. 16 And at that day, sayth the Lord, thou shalt call me i (his), and shalt call me no more c Baal. 17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their s names. 18 And in that day I will make a couenant for them with the x wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sword and the battell out of the earth: and will make them to sleepe safely. 19 And I will marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion. 20 I will euen marrie thee vnto me in y. faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord. 21 And in that day I will heare, sayth the Lord, I will euen heare z the heauens, and they shall heare the earth. 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare I zee. 23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to her which were not my people, a Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

he will so blesse them that all creatures shall fauour them, that neuer shall be broken. z Then shall the heauen desire which shall bring forth for the vice of man. * Rom. 9.25. 1. p. 1.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease: her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her Iohelme feasts. 12 And I will destroy her vines and her fig-
trees, whereof she hath sayd, These are my reward that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beastes shall eate them. 13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes of Balaam, wherein he burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her o eareings and her iowels, and she followed her louers, and forgate mee, sayth the Lord. 14 Therefore behold, I will pasture her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her. 15 And I will giue her her vineyards for thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt. 16 And at that day, sayth the Lord, thou shalt call me i (his), and shalt call me no more c Baal. 17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their s names. 18 And in that day I will make a couenant for them with the x wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sword and the battell out of the earth: and will make them to sleepe safely. 19 And I will marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion. 20 I will euen marrie thee vnto me in y. faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord. 21 And in that day I will heare, sayth the Lord, I will euen heare z the heauens, and they shall heare the earth. 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare I zee. 23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to her which were not my people, a Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

he will so blesse them that all creatures shall fauour them, that neuer shall be broken. z Then shall the heauen desire which shall bring forth for the vice of man. * Rom. 9.25. 1. p. 1.

CHAP. III.
1 The Iewes shall cease to be for their idolatry. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord. T Hen said the Lord to me, a Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and b loued the wine bottels. 2 So c I bought her to mee for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley. 3 And I sayd vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be vnto thee. 4 For the children of Israel shall remaine and payed a small portion for her, lest they perceiving the earnestness of my loue should haue abused me and not bene due duties for fifteen pieces of siluer: but halfe the price of a flaxe, Exod. 31.2. d I will trie thee a long time as in the wilderness whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning not only all the time of their captivity, but also vnto Christ.

he will so blesse them that all creatures shall fauour them, that neuer shall be broken. z Then shall the heauen desire which shall bring forth for the vice of man. * Rom. 9.25. 1. p. 1.

n I will punish her for by shewing how heinous their themselves are, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holy dayes. p By my benefits in offering her grace to my enemies, euen in thar place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernesse, as Iosh. 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing fro death and an entrie into life. r Shee shall then praise God, as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt. s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuoluable couenant. t That is, my mar-ter: which name was applied to their idoles. u Noidolatrie shall come once into their moorth, but they shall ferme me purely according to my word. x Meaning that, with a couen-ant made for the earth.

a Herein the Prophet representeth the people of God which loved her Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the same while shee was her selfe to idoles. b That is, gaue themselves wholly to pleasures, and could not take vp any thing that was giuen to drunkennesse. c Yet I loved her earnestly of my loue should haue abused me and not bene due duties for fifteen pieces of siluer: but halfe the price of a flaxe, Exod. 31.2. d I will trie thee a long time as in the wilderness whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning not only all the time of their captivity, but also vnto Christ.

1 That is, they should have policy nor religion, and their idols also where in they put their confidence, should be destroyed, 2 This is meant of Carols kingdom, many dayes without a king & without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel come and seeke the Lord their God, and David their king, and shall feare the Lord and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

which was promised vnto David to be eternall. Psal. 71. 17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people and the priests of Israel.

Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a contrerisic with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and every one that dwelleth therein shall be cut off, with the beasts of the fildes, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Yet I let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the day: and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They ate vp the finnes of my people, and lift vp their minds in their iniquity.

9 And there shall be like people like a priest: for I will visit their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eat, & nor haue enough: they shall commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.

12 My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall bee p harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visit their daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses, when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou Israel, play the harlot, yet I let not Iudah finne: come not yet vnto Gilegal, neither goe yet vnto Beth-aten, nor sweare, The Lord heareth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as a vnruely heifer. Now the Lord will feed them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idols: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye.

19 The winde hath bound them vp in her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices, cleaue in the house of God, Beth-aten, that is, the house of infirmitie, because of their abominations let vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped. 20 God will disperse them, yet they shall not remaine in any certain place. 21 They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. 22 To carry them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vain.

O Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because you haue bin a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabar.

2 Yet they were profound to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their minds to turn vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in y^e mids of them, and they haue not known the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doeth resist to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes, to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children, now shall he a month deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shauime in Ramah: crie out at Beth-aten, after thee, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused you to know the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that remoue the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim law his sickness, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Assyria, and sent vnto king Sennacherib, yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lions whelp to the house of Iudah: I will spoile and geue away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, til they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

Rom. 1. 28. q I will not corre & vnto shame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and telleth them to learn by their example to reforme in time. 1 For albeit the Lord had banished this place in time past by his preiudice, yet because it was abused by their idolatry, he would not that his people should retort thence. t He calleth Rebucers, because of their abominations let vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped. u They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. v To carry them suddenly away. a The Priests and plices earched the poore people in their finnes, as the sowlers do the birds, in their reare high mountaines. b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuicall together to holines, and to sacrifices, which heere hee calleth slaughter in contempt. c Though had admonished them continually by my prophesies. d They baselitt themselves not only to be Israelites, but also B. pharimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe. e Meaning, that concerning of all admonitions. f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them. g Their defrudition is not care of. h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying, that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed. i By the success they shall know that I haue surely determined this. k They haue turned upside downe all political order and all manner of religion. l To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction is a way to turne to God. 2 The wickednesse of the Priests.

Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for hee hath piouly, and he will heale vs: hee hath wounded vs, and he will bind vs vp.

2 After two dayes will hee reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, & in due season our felicitie to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, & he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I inreat thee? for vnto your goodnesse as a morning cloude, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets: I haue flaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired^a mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.

7 But they s like men haue transgressed the covenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theues waite for a man: so the company of Priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue fene villeny in the house of Israel: that there is the whoredome of Ephraim, Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

a That is, like light and weak persons. b Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should haue beene destroyed in my word. c That is, doth imitate thine idolatry, and hath taken graues of thy trees.

a Of the vices and manners of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquity of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely, and the chiefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inventions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very couen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, and from kneading the dough vntill it bee leauened.

5 This is the day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: hee stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepe all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hore as an ouen, and haue deuoured their Iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath mixt himselfe among the people: Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth, not turned.

a That is, he counterfeited the religion of the Gentils, yet is burnt as a cake on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hote, nor thorow cold, but partly a lew, and partly a Gentile.

9 Strangers haue denoued his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, & gray haire is here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testified to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seek him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a dowe deceived without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Ashtar.

12 But when they shall go, I will spread my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the fowles of the heauen. I will chastise them as their Congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fledde away from mee: destruction shall come vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against mee.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto mee with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assembe themselves for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound and strengthened their arme, yet do they imagine mischief against mee.

16 They returne, but not to the most Hie: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatry.

Set the trumpet to thy mouth, he shall come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my covenant, and trespassed against my law.

2 Israel shall cry vnto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a king, but not by mee: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their fluser and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against thee: how long will they be without innocencie!

6 For it came euen from Israel, the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no stalk: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is denoued, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Ashtar: they are as a wildaffe alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hid her idoles.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorow a little, for the burden of the king and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offrings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

a Which is taken of his manly field afflictions. b That is, without all iudgement, as they cannot tell whether it is better to cleane only to God, or to seeke the helpe of man. c According to my curses made to the whole Congregation of Israel. d That is, diuers times redeemed them, & deliuered them from death. e When they were in affliction, & cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe. f They only seek their owne commodity & wealth, & pass not for me their God. g Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psal. 73. 9.

a God encourageth the Prophet to signifye the speedy coming of the enemy against Israel, which was once the people of God. b They shall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare. c That is, Ierobam by whom they sought their owne liberty, and not to obey my will. d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life. e Meaning, the calfe was invented by themselves, and of their fathers in the wilderness. f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in itselfe is but vanity. g They neuer cease, but run to and fro to seeke helpe. h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meaneth the Lord vnto bringing to repentance. i That the idolaters count ydolatry of God as strange in respect of their owne intentions. k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which hee himselfe hath not appointed,

g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet they shall be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who challenge to them selves to be their prophets and spiritual men.

i The Prophets diuinity is to bring men to God and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

k These people is rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt, Iud. 19. 23.

l Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delighted in them.

m They were as abominable vnto me as their louers the idoles.

n Signifying, that God would destroy their cities by their iniquity means and so consume them by liues and liue.

o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus to preserve them from the cold aire of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will giue him to the slaughter.

p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, praeth to God rather to make them barren, then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.

q The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

R Eioyce not, O Israel, for ioi y as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast lous'd a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 c The floore, and the wine presse shall not feede them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vnclane things in Ashtur.

4 They shall not offer d wine to the Lorde, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof shall be polluted: for their bread e for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lorde.

5 What will ye doe f then in the solemne day and in the day of the feast of the Lorde?

6 For loe, they are gone from d destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall bury them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall bee in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shall know it: h the Prophet u a foole: the spiritual man u mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim i should be with my God: but the Prophet u the snare of a fowler in all his waies, & hated in the house of his God.

9 They k are deeply leere: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like l grapes in the wilderness: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figge tree at her first time: but they went to Baal Peor, and separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to m their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth n and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will deprime them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, u as a tree in o Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderer.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? p giue them a barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse u in q Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inventions, I will cast them out of mine Houe: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euery the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, becau e they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

Against Israel and her idols. 14 His destruction for the same.

I Srael is an e emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the b goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is c diuided: now shall they be found faulty: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We haue no d King, becau e we feared not the Lord: and what should a king doe vnto vs?

4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsly in making e a covenant: thus f iudgement groweth as wormewod in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall f beare becau e of the calf of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the h Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, becau e it is departed from it.

6 It shall bee also brought to Ashtur, for a prent vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the fome vpon the water.

8 The high places also of i Auen shall bee destroyed, and the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast k sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there thy i blood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not m touch them.

10 It is my desire n that I should chastise them, and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two o furrowes.

11 And Ephraim u as an heifer vied to delight in p threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iakob shall breake his colles.

12 Sow to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercie: b reake vp your fallowe ground: for s u time to seeke the Lord, till hee come and raine righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednes: yee haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of liues becau e thou diest trust in thine owne waies, and in the multitude of thy strong men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall bee destroyed, as c Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day

1 The benefits of the Lord toward a child. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

When I called my child then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they went thus from them : they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes; but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords of a man, with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and layed the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Ashur shall be his King, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsells.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most high, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee Israel? how shall I make thee, as Admah? or shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not enter into the city.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lion: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall feare as a sparow out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Ashur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet reacheth with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

Ephraim is fed with the wind, and followeth after the East wind: hee increaseth daily lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Ashur, and boyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visit Iacob, according to his wayes according to his workes, will hee recompence him.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had power with God.

4 And had power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 Hee is as Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall find none iniquity in me, that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in the dayes of the folsome feast.

10 I haue alioe poken by the Prophets, and I haue mult pl ed visions, and vied similitudes by the ministry of the Prophets.

11 Is there iniquity in Gilead? surely they are vanity: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, & their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 And Iacob fled into the country of Aram, and Iacob serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee rescued.

1 The accusation of Israel, 9 and cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: hee exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, & is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their filtery, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calves.

3 Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewind out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but mee: for there is no Saviour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of dought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled they were tilled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Ashur.

8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of their whelps, and I will breake the caule of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beaust shall reare them.

IOEL

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly hee threatneth greater plagues, because they grew dayly to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be ear-est, and proceed from the heart, because they had grossly offended God. And fowling, hee promisth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his Couenant that hee made with their fathers, but will send his CHRIST, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

He word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pechuel.
2 Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken yee all inhabitants of the land, whether b such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your child-en of it, and let your children heare to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worrne, hath the grahopper eaten, and the residue of the grahopper hath the canker worrne eaten, and the residue of the canker worrne hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye c drunkards, & weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine, for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, d a Nation cometh vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a Lion, and hee hath the iawes of a great Lion.

7 Hee maketh my Vine waste, and pilloeth off the barke of my figge tree: hee maketh it bare, and tasteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourn like a Virgine girded with sackcloth for thee husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests

10 The field is wasted the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the new wine is dried vp, and the oile is decayed.

11 Be ye afahmed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye Vine dressers for the wheat and for the barley, because the haruett of the field is perished.

12 The Vine is dried vp, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees o the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 h Gird vour selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye m nisters of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a Fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the i day of the Lord is at hand, and it cometh as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The feed is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the heards of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee wil I cry: for the fire hath deuoured

He propheseth of the comming and earnestness of their enemies. 13. And he exhorteth to moue them to conuert. 18. The loue of God toward his people.

Blow the ^a Trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy Mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A day of darkeenes, and of blacknes, a day of clouds, and of obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountaines, ^b so ^c there a great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeeeres of many generations.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land ^d is as the Garden of Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderness: so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him ^e is like the sight of hories, and like the horsemen fo shall they runne.

5 Like the noise of charres in the tops of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces ^f shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men; and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one ^g thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the city, they shall run vpon the wall: they shall climbe vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the thiefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the ^h Sun and the Moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall vtter his voice before his host: for his host is very great: for ⁱ he is strong that doeth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord saith, Turne you vnto mee with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And I rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindeesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth if hee will ^k returne and repent, and leaue a blessing behind him, ^l when a meat offering and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the Trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the Congregation: gather the Elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegrome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bridechamber.

17 Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord, weepe betwene the porch and the Altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch, that the heathen should rule ouer them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord bee ^m ieiuous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you come and wine, and oyle, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen.

20 But I will remooue farre off from you the ⁿ Northern army, & I will driue him into a land, barren & desolate, with his face toward the East sea, and his end to the vtmost sea, and his stincke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to doe thus.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are Greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Bee glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God, for hee hath giuen you the raine of prighteousnes, and he will cause to come downe for you the raine, ^o even the first raine, and the latter raine in the first month.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine and oile.

25 And I will render you the yeeeres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worrne and the caterpillar and the palmer worrne, my great host which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eate and be satisfied, & praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt maruailously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also know that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh, and your sonnes & your daughters shall prophesie: your old men shall dreame & dreames, and your yong men shall see visions.

29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maides in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will shew wonders in the heauens & in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The Sunne shall be turned into darkenes, and the Moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But who ouer shall call ^p on the Name of the Lord, shall be saued: for in mount Zion, & in Ierusalem shall be deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the ^q remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

24. 29. ^r Gods iudgements are for the destruction of the iniquitous, and to moue the godly to call vpon the Name of God, who will giue them saluation. ^s Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10. 13.

A M O S.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God rayed up to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednesse and idolatry, hee stirred up Amos, who was an herdman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gave him both knowledge and confidence to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againt them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had lined as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their finnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfeigned repentance. And finally hee comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfect deliue-rance and saluation.

Against Moab, Iudah and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the ^a bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of ^c Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they fold the righteous for siluer, and the poore for ^d shoes.

7 They gaze ouer the head of the poore, in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a make to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes laide to pledge: by euery altar: and they ^e drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the ^f Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from above, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorow the wilderness to possess the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prom Henoteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the household of Abraham.

CHAP. III.

Here propheth the house of Israel of Iugurathide. 11 For the which God will punish them.

Heare this word that the Lord pronounce against you, O children of Israel, ueny against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You ^l only haue I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

5 Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth where no fowler is? or will he take vp the ⁿ snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or shall a trumpet be blown in the cite, and the people be not afraid? or shall there ^o bee euill in a cite, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he ^p reueileth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lion hath roared: who will not bee afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but ^q prophetic?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at ^r Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, & say, A tiemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they stole vp violence, and robbrie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An adulterie shall come euen round about the country, & shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepheard taketh ^m out of the mouth of the Lyon two legges, or a peece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bedde: and in ^s Damascus as in a couch.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Isakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes.

Ye contemned my benefits and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.
k You haue wearied me with your finnes liars.
l None shall be deliuered by any means.

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people and yet you haue forsaken me.
b Heret the Prophet signifieth that hee speake h not of himselfe, but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.
c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?
d Can any thing come without Gods providence? Shall his threatenings be in vaine?
e Shall the prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?
f Doth any aduersity come without Gods appointment?
g Also I destroyed not with the Israelites, as he doth with other people: for hee euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.
h Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit moued them to speake as they did.
i He calleth the Gods iudgements & gainst the liuelies for their cruelty and oppression.
j The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses.
m When the Lyon hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge, or a tripe of an eare, to shew that the sheepe hath beene worried.
n Where they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue bene in safety.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Bethel, and the hornes of the altars shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, saith the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

Hear this word, ye a kinge of Basan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needy, and they lay to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that he will take you away with c^e thornes, and your posteritie with fist hooks.

3 And ye shall goe out at the breaches euerie way forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiply transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three yeeres.

5 And offer a thanksgiving of leauen, publish and proclaim the free offerings: for this I liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenes of bread in all your places, yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And al^o I haue with-holden the raine from you, when there were yet three months to the haruest, & I caused it to raine vpon one city, and haue not cau^d it to raine vpon another city, one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting and mildew: your great gardens, and your vineyards, & your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the manner of I Egypt: your young men haue I slaine with the sword, & haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the funke of your tents to come vpon you into your noistrels, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowne you, as God ouerthrew Sodom & Gomorah: and ye were as a firebrand plucked out of the burning, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For Ioe, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the wind, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darknes, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hosts is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captivity of Israel.

Hear ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, heare a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The virgin Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The cite which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an hundred: and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captivity, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall liue, lest he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, & there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turned iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousness in the earth.

8 He c^e maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and hee turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night, he call^{eth} the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mighty, and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vpon right.

11 For a much then as your treading vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue, and the Lord God of hosts shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hosts will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shall be in all streets, & they shall say in all the hie waies, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shall be lamentation: for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you that k^e desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darknesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a Lyon and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darknesse, and not light, euen darknesse and not light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assembles.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings & meat offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melody of thy viols.)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as in waters, and righteousness as a mighty riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto mee sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty yeeres, O house of Israel?

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saved.

c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which alosome time served for the true honor of God: therefore he saith that they shall not see them, & that they shall be as if they were not. d In stead of iudgement and equity they execute cruelty and oppression. e He describeth the power of God, Job 9. 9.

f They hate the Prophets, which reprove them in the open assemblies. g Ye take both his money, and also his food, where with he should liue.

b God will so plague them that they shall not utter his name: therefore godly once to open their mouths to admonish them of their faults.

i So hat all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

k Thus he speaketh, because the wicked and hypocrites said they, were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30. 7. Joel 2. 1. 1. zeph. 1. 15.

l Because ye haue corrupted my true service & remaine obstinate in our vices, I will not accept of your offerings, Iere. 6. 10. m Do not draw to God, & to your neighbour: & so ye shall cleave his grace plentifully if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods word.

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence:
and though they be hid from my sight in the bot-

ARGVMENT.

The Idumians, which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iakob, and therefore did not onely vexce them continually with sundry kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, for as much as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so fore vexce them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Mesiah, which he had promised.

He vision of Obadiah. Thus faith the Lord God against Edom, ^aWe have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen: arise, and ^blet vs rise vp against her to battell.

² Behold, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

⁴ Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

⁵ Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue follen til they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue ^dsome grapes?

⁶ How are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

⁸ Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

⁹ And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because eury one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

¹⁰ For thy crueltye against thy brother Iacob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

¹² But thou shouldest not haue beholde the they were enemies to his Church, whom he now comforteth by punishing their enemies. ^h When Nebuchadnezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioyneidst with him and hadst part of the poize, and so didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brether, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

day of thy brother, in the day that he was made ^aa stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

¹⁴ Neither shouldest thou haue stood in the crosse ways to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

¹⁵ For the day ^k of the Lord ^l is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

¹⁷ But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall be holy, and the house of Iacob shall possesse their possessions.

¹⁸ And the house of Iacob shall be ⁿa fire and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau ^ostubble, and they shall kinde in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

²⁰ And the captiuitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the ^rCanaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

²¹ And they ^sthat shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

In the day of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and Head of this kingdome.

ⁱ When the Lord deigned them of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie. ^k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

^l That is, reioyced and triumphed. ^m The Edomites shall vtterly be destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will restore my Church and restore it.

ⁿ God attributeth his power to consume his enemies to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa 10. 17. deut 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

^o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged & haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder

Christ when the faithful are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

^p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

^q Meaning, that God will rise vp in his Church as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and Head of this kingdome.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little professed, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe cite of the Assyrians, because hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mighty power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligen preaching. Hee prophesied vnder Iosiah, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

¹ Ionah fled when hee was sent to preach. ² A tempest arises, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

The word of the Lord came ^aalso vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

² Arise, and goe to ^bNineueh, that is great cite, and crie against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

³ But Ionah rose vp to ^dflee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to ^eIapho: and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord.

⁴ But the Lord sent out a great winde into hee shoulde nothing at all profit there, seeing hee had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 3. ^e Which was the haven, and port to take shipping thither, called also Iope. ^f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and whereto he would haue assisted him.

the

^a God hath certainly promised to ^bbring them out of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

^c Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

^d Which despised all others in respect of his selfe, and yet set out a handfull in comparison of others, and are thus vp among the hills as separate from the rest of the world.

^e God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though thees come, take but till they haue enough, and they that gather grapes, gather leaue some behinde them, ler 49. 9.

^f They in whom thou diddest trust for to haue iudge and friendship of them, shall be thine enemies, and destroy thee.

^g That is, thy familiar friends and guests haue by secret practices destroyed thee.

^h He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished, to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom he now comforteth by punishing their enemies.

ⁱ When Nebuchadnezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioyneidst with him and hadst part of the poize, and so didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brether, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

^a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel after that for a time he had prophesied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon, Ezekiel.

^b For seeing the great oblation of the Iudites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might promise them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: For Nineueh was the chiefe cite of the Assyrians.

^c For as authors write, it contained in circuit about eight and foure mile, and had a thousand and five hundred towers, and at that time there were an hundred and twenty thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed every man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Iona was gone downe s into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and sayd vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God wil thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they sayde every one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Iona.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Hebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and sayd vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fledde from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.)

11 Then sayd they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought, and was troublous.)

12 And he sayd vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: for shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuer thelesse the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and sayd, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Iona, and cast him into the sea, and the sea calmed from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Iona: and Iona was in the belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

18 And Iona prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly, 19 And sayd, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

20 For thou hast cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

21 Then I sayde, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet wilt I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

22 The waters compassed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weeds were wrapt about mine head.

23 And I cryed vnto thee, O Lord, and thou answeredst me: and thou saidst, I will not destroy thee, neither will I be angry with thee: for thou art my servant, and thou art my holy 6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiving, and will say that thou art Ioued: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Iona vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Iona's sent against Nineueh, 5 The repentance of the King of Nin.

And the word of the Lord came vnto Iona the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go vnto Nineueh that great city, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Iona arose, and went to Nineueh, according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes journey.

4 And Iona began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourty dayes, and Nineueh shall be overthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the king of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and sayd thorow Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and crying mightily vnto God: yea, let every man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turne and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that he had said that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The great goodness of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased Iona exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I prevented it to flee vnto Babilon: for I knew, that thou art a gracious God and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from mee: for it is better for mee to die then to liue.

neither might he be blamed, as though hee sent his Prophets forth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.

e They that depend vpon any thing but on God alone, they refuse their owne felicitie, and thy goodness which they should esteeme of God.

MICAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah ſeemed in the worke of the Lord concerning Iudah and Iſrael at the leaſt thirty yeeres : at what time Iſaiah prophesied. He declareth the diſtinction firſt of the one kingdome, and then of the other, becauſe of their manifold wickedneſſe, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this end hee noteth the wickedneſſe of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permiſſion of the falſe prophets, and the delighting in them. Then hee ſetteth forth the coming of Chriſt, his kingdom, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah which reſiſted Ahab and all his falſe prophets, as 1. King, 22. 8. but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

He word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the ^a Moraſhite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which he ſaw concerning Samaria, and Ieruſalem.

2 Hear ^b all ye people: hearken thou, O earth and all that therein is, and let the Lord God bee wigneſſe againſt you, ^c when the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come ^d downe, and tread vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines ſhall melt ^e vnder him, (^b ſhal the valleys cleaue) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downward.

5 For the wickedneſſe ^f o: Iaakob ^g all this, and for the finnes of the houſe of Iſrael : what is the wickedneſſe of Iaakob? Is not ^d Samaria? and which are the high ^e places of Iudah? Is not Ieruſalem.

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will caſt the ſtones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will diſcouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof ſhall be broken, and all the ^h ⁱ giftes thereof ſhall be burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I deſtroy : for the gathered in of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhall returne ^g to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle : I will goe without clothes, and naked : I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the othriches.

^g The gaine that came by their idoles ſhal be conſumed as a thing of nought, for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

9 For her plagues are grievous : for it is come into Iudah the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ieruſalem.

10 Declare yee it not at ^h Gath, neither weepe yee : for the houſe of ⁱ Aphrah roule thy ſelfe in the duſt.

11 Thou that dwelleſt at ^k Shaphir, goe together naked with ſhame : ſee that dwelleſt at Za-anan, ſhall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel : the enemy ſhall ^l receiue of you for his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but eull came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ieruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, bind the char-ret to the ^m ⁿ of price : ſee ^o is the beginning of the ſin to the daughter of Zion : for the tranſ-greſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou giue preſents to Moreſeth ^p Gath : the houſes of Achiz ^q ſhal be as a liſe to the kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an ^r ^s vnto thee, O inhabitant of Maraſhah, he ſhall come vnto Adul-lam, ^t the glory of Iſrael.

16 Make thee bald, and ſhaue thee for thy delicate children : enlarge thy baldnes as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

^a To flee away : for Saneherib layd ſiege firſt to that citie, and remained therein when he ſent his captiues and an armie againſt Ieruſalem. ^b Thou ſhalt receiueſt the idolatrie of Ieroboam and ſo diſſidelt inſect Ieruſalem. ^c Thou ſhalt bribe the Philiftines thy neighbours, but they ſhall decline thee, diuelt as they of Ieruſalem.
^d He prophetiſeth againſt his owne city, and becauſe it ſignified an heritage, he ſignifieth that God would ſend an heir to poſſeſſe it. ^e For ſo they thought themſelues for the ſtrength of their citie.

^f The gaine that came by their idoles ſhal be conſumed
as a thing of nought, for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

b Thus the Iewes lament & say that there is no hope of redelicion, fearing their posselions are diuided among the enemies. c Ye shall haue no more lound to more lound as you had in times past and as times past to measure them in the fables. d I haue the people waste the prophesies that they speake to them no more, for they cannot abide their threatnings. e God saith that they shall not prophesie, nor receive no more of their reuokes nor taints. f Are these your words according to his law? g Do not the godly finde my words comfortable? h That is foretime.

i The people can haue no commonity by them, but they spoyle them, as though they were enemies. k That is, their substance and living, which is Gods blessing, and as it were, part of his glory.

l Jerusalem shall not be your safeguard, but the cause of your destruction. m That is, how himselfe to be a Prophet. n Hee lieth with what Prophets they delite in, that is in flatterers which tell them pleasant tales, and enemies shall breake their gates and walls, and leade them into Caldea. q To drine them forward, and holpe their enemies.

a That thing which is just & lawfull both to gouerne my people right, and also to discharge your owne conscience? b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours not onely of couetousnesse, theft, and murder, but compareth them to wolves, lions, and most cruell beasts. c That is, when I shall visite their wickednesse, for though I heare the godly before they cry, Ie. 6. 24. yet I will not heare the godly when they cry, Ie. 1. 15. Ezck. 18. 10. 13. 1. pet. 3. 12. 12.

2 And they couet fieldes, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euery man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold against this family haue I deuised a plague, whereout ye shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not goe so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, b Wee be vtterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath hee taken it away to restore, it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a cord by lot in the congregation of the Lord.

6 d They that prophesied, Prophecie ye not. e They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortened? are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him that walketh vprightly?

8 But he that was yesternay my people, is risen vp on the other side, a against an enemy: they spoyle the beautiful garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their plea and houses, and from their children haue ye taken away k my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euery with a sore destruction.

11 If a man walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsly, saying, I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen bee the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather o thee wholly, O Iakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euery as the flocke in the mids of their fold: the cities shall be full of brute of the men.

13 The breake vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shal goe before them, and the Lord shall be vpon their heads.

14 They shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shal goe before them, and the Lord shall be vpon their heads.

CHAP. IIII.

a As in the many of princes and selfe prebys.
Nd I said, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iakob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know i iudgment?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke of their skinnies from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skin from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in peeces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then shall they cry vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: hee will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, & cry peace, as if a man put not into their mouth, they shall prepare waite against him,

6 Therefore night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkness shall be vnto you for a adumination, and the sunne shall goe downe vnto the prophets, and the day shall darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the seers bee ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their appes, for they haue none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strenght to declare vnto Iakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, heads of the house of Iakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement and peruert all equity.

10 They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewardes, and the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet wil they keane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? so euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee k plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest, 13 I will cause him to see himselfe alone against the wicked, shewing how God buildeth him selfe in ability and knowledge to discern betweene good and euill, and as a constancy to reprove the finnes of the people, and not to flatter them. d They build them houses by bribery, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie. e They will say, that they are the people of God, and abate his Name, as a pretence to cloake their iniquitie. k Ie. 40. 18.

CHAP. IIII.

a Of the long time of Chri. and in his Church.
Vt in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall bee prepared in the top of the mountaynes, and the floues shall exalt about the hillies, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come, & say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iakob: and he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Lawe shall geet forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mighty nations: faire off, and they shall breake their iwordes into mattocks, and they shall peare into fishes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his fige tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke, euery one in the name of his god, and wee will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, sayth the Lord, will I gather her that hath ben, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue assified.

7 And I will make her that hath ben, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mighty nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in idolatrie. h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one almost destroyed, shall increase againe, and grow into a great people.

d They deuoure all their substance: and their flatter, from confounding that shall be well, but it shall be as a fire that shall consume them. e As you haue loued to walke in darkness, and to prophesie lies, so God shall reward you with griefe, and ignorance, so that when all ouer, shall bee the light, because by your graces, ye shall as blinde men goe as in the night. f When God shall shew them to the world, they shall attain to speake: for all shall know that they were brutish prophets, and did lie by the word of God. g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, shall cause him selfe to be a constancy to reprove the finnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses by bribery, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie. i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abate his Name, as a pretence to cloake their iniquitie. k Ie. 40. 18.

8 And thou, O towre of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen ^a the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou cry out with lamentation? ^a Is there no king in thee? is thy counsell perished? for sorow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile for now shall thou go forth of the city, and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, ^a but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they ^a know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsel, for he shall gather them as the sheaves in the barne.

13 Arise and thresh, ^a O daughter Zion: for I will make thine home yron, and I will make thine houses braffe, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I wil consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem, 2 The exultation of Beth-lehem.

NOW assemble thy garisons, O daughter ^a of garisons: he hath laid siege against vs: they shall imite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art ^b little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me, that shall bee the ruler in Israel, whose ^c goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that ^d he which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall stand, ^e and feede in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestic of the Name of the Lord his God, & they shall dwell firm: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he ^f shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him ieuon shepherds, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy ^g Asshur with the sword, & the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee cometh into our land, and when he shall tread vnto our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iacob shall be among many people, as a dew from the Lord, and as the snows vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iacob shall be among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the Lion among the beastes of the forest, and as the Lions whelp among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall liue vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, faith the Lord, that I will cut off thine ^h horses out of the mids of thee, and I will destroy thy charrets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy strong holdes.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also I will cut off, and thine images out of the mids of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the mids of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath & indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumb creatures to beare the iudgement against Israel being vnkinde, 6 What wanteth of sacrifices doe people God.

HEarken ye now what the Lord sayth, Arise thou, and contend before the ^a mountaines, and let the hills heare thy voice.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and hee will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? refuse against mee.

4 Surely I ^b brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruantes, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuided, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from ^c Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the ^d righteousnesse of the Lord.

6 Wherewith ^e shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the high God? Shall I come before him, with burnt offerings, and with calves of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my ^f first borne for my transgression, euen the fruit of my body, for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewd thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voice crieth vnto the ^g city, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 The Prophet in few words telleth them to the oblation of the second Table, to know if they may God aright or no, saying, that God hath prescribed them to doo this. ^h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiestic, and consider that the mortall man that bringeth their offering, but God that feedeth it.

k I will destroy all things wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatry, and so will helpe thee.

c That is, remember my benefices from the beginning how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

d That is, I trust of his promise and his manifold benefices toward you.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 2 The wickedness of the times. 3 The prosperitie of the Church.

WOe is me, for I am as the Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my ioule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lie in wait for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, & the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his ioule: so that they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as a briar, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abomineth from no wickednesse nor iniquity.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Ashur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuier, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of their inventions.

15 According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew vnto him marvellous things.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? Hee retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their finnes into the bottome of the Sea.

g Meaning, of his elect. h The Church is assured that God will declare in effect the truth of his mercifull promise, which he had made of old to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shall be restored, they that were enemies aforesaid, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, for that neither holts, riuers, seas, nor mountaynes shall be able to let them. m Afore this grace appeare, hee sheweth how generously the hypocrites themselves shall be punished, seeing that the earth itselfe, which cannot sinne, shall be made waste because of their wickednesse.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitary places in Babylon and to be beneficial vnto them as in time past.

o God promiseth to be favourable to his people as he had bene aforesaid.

p They shall be as dumbe men, and dare bragge no more.

q They shall be astonished and amazed.

r They shall fall from the ground and forsaue.

THE ARGUMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselves prompt and ready to receiue the word of God, at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time, rather giuing themselves to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begonne, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomie, and provoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Merodach-baladan king of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath continuall care of his Church, hee stirrith up his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophesied aboue the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God conſidering the great ſilicite of the wicked, and the miſerable oppreſſion of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can ſee none ende. Therefore hee had this reuelation ſhewed him of God, that the Caldeans ſhould come and take them away captiues, ſo that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, becauſe of their ſubbornneſſe, and rebellion againſt the Lord. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire, ſeing this horrible conſuſion, hee comforteth them by this that God would puniſh the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie ſhall bee at height: wherefore he exhorteth the ſuſtfull to patience by his owne example, and ſheweth them a ſourme of prayer, wherewith they ſhould comfort themſelues.

THE ARGUMENT.

Being the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their country should be utterly destroyed, and they carried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yes for the comfort of the faithfull he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continual care o- uer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercy by reason of the fire promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God send them the fruit of that grace, whereby in the end they should bee gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the seventy yeeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi, to comfort the Jewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellency flood in Christ. And because that all were given to their owne pleasures and commodious, hee declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honor, who had deliuered them. Yet hee comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that hee hath begun, and send Christ whom hee had promised, by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 2 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of king ^a Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the month, came the word of the Lord ^b (by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai) vnto ^c Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come ^c that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for you to dwell in your defiled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 Ye haue sown much, and bring in little: ye eat, but ye haue not ynough. ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Go ^a vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this House, and ^b I will be fauourable in it, and I will ^c be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blow ^a vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you staid it selfe from dew, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, & vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, & vpon the oyle, vpon ^a that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon me and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, with all the remnant of the people, heard the voice of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp ^a the spirit of Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke of the House of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee sweeth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the oure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

2 In the seuenth ^a moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the son of Iehozadak the high Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you that sawe this a House in her first glory, and how doe you see it now? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now bee of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and bee of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and be strong all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and ^b doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes,

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: is my spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, ^c Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the drie land.

8 And I will moue all nations, and ^d the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The siluer ^a mine, and the golde ^b mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last House shall be greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue ^c peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the law, and say, 13 If one beare ^a holy flesh in the kirt of his garment, and with his kirt do touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered, & said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the a According to the people according to Ia 33 11 and Ezek 41. 16, had prophesied, though this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians but the Prophets meant the spiritual Temple, i.e. the church of Christ.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorted them to patience, though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

d Meaning Christ, whom all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire hee may signifie all precious things, as riches, and such like.

Therefore when his time cometh, hee can make all the treasures of the world: to erre his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doth not stand in material things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spiritual blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil 4. 7.

g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices whereby hee signifies that the thing which of it selfe is good, cannot make another thing good: and therefore they ought not to trust themselves by their facades and ceremonies: but contrary her that is vncleane, and not pure of heart, doth corrupt the things, and make them deceitable vnto God, which else are good and goodly.

a Who wasthe sonne of Hysaltis, and the third king of the Persians, as some thinke.
b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had need to be stirred vp, & admonished of their duties, what shall we thinke of other go. acruors, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?
c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred pollice and priuate profit to Religion, being content with small beginnings.
d Shewing that they sought not only their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.
e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to his religion: and because ye seeke not him first of all.
f Meaning, that they should cease off their owne commodities, and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.
g That is, I will heate your prayers according to my promise, i. Kings 8. 31. 30.
h That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.
i And I And I bring it to nothing. k This declared that God was the Author of the doctrine, and that hee was but the minister, as Exodus 14. 17. Judges. 2. 23. 15. 23.
l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to leaue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers, before God reioiceth their hearts, and giue them new spirits, Iohn 6. 44.

Pr efts answered, and said, It shalbe vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before mee, saith the Lord, and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes from this day, and afore, euē afore a stone was laid vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord.

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the winepresse, for to draw out uissels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I mote you with blasting, and with mildeu and with haile: in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euē from the day that the foundation of the Lordes Temple was laid:

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is before the building of the Temple was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promised that God would blisse them: and albeit as yet the house was not yette coforth, yet in the gathering they should haue plenty.

consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the feed yet in the barne? as yet the vine and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree h. th. not brought forth: from this day will I blisse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai, in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen, and I will overthrow the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day saith the Lord of hostes will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

l He exhorteth them to patience, and to abide till the harvest come, & then they should see Gods blessings. m I will make a change, and renew all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel heris a figure.

n Hereby he sheweth that there shall be no let or hindrance when God will make this wonderful restitution of his Church.

o Signifying, that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

This moneth after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore, hee putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repents unfeignedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deluerance, which was a figure of that true deluerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse, and could see so fit soorth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he reueluketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euen mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this means be prepared to receive Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

a He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to shew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 He figuratiue the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

N, the eight moneth of the second yeere of ^a Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto ^b Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, faid, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath he dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth ^h Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and behold, ⁱ a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottom, and behind him were there ^j red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees, answered, and said, The ^k are they whom the Lord hath sent to go thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the ^l Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with mee, w. th good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the mediator prayed for the saluation of his Church, which when all the cuntrye about them were at rest.

Lord

h Which containeth part of January and part of February.

i This vision signifieth the reuoluzion of the Church: but as it should not appeare to mannes eyes, which is here meant by the night, and by the bottom, and by the myrrhe trees which are black, and giue a darke shadow, yet hee compareth God to a King, who hath his palace and messengers abroad, by whom hee still watcheth his people, and bringeth his masters to passe.

k Who was the chief among the rest of the hostes.

l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels, by whom God sometimes punisheth, & sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his works in diuers forms. m Thiers, Christ was now troubled a Though for a time God do restore his helpe and comfort from his Church yet this declareth that he loveth them still most dearly. ^a a most mercie, ^a as their children, or as husbands his wife, & when it is expedient for them, his helpe is ever ready. ^b In destroying the reprobate I shewed my selfe but a little angry toward my church, but the enen to would have destroyed them also, & considered not the end of my chastisements. ^c To measure out the buildings. ^d The abundance shalbe so great that the places of Iherusalem shall be able to containe the blessings that God will send, but shall even breake for falsehe. ^e Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South. ^f These Carpenters or Smithes are Gods instruments, which with their wailles and hammer breake these hard and strong hornes, which would overthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies home is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

Lord of hostes, I am jealous over Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale.

15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 There are thus faith the Lord, I will re- vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shalbe builded in it, faith the Lord of hostes, and a line p shalbe stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Cry yet, and speake, Thus faith the Lord o hostes, My cities shall yet e be broken with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then li t I v mine eyes and saw, and be- hold: four horns.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure carpenters.

21 Then saide I, What come these to doe? And he answered and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man dur not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne over the land of Iudah to scatter it.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe, and looked, and be- hold, a p man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then saide I, Whither goest thou? And he said vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold the Angel that talked with me went forth, and another Angel went out to meete him,

4 And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this yong man, and say, Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, faith the Lord will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and will bee the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth & flee from the land of the North, faith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the four winds of the heauē, faith the Lord.

7 Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus faith the Lord of hostes, After this glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the kape of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand I vpon them: and they shal be a poe le to those that serued them, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me.

10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, faith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, & thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me to thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 I et all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

Apophetie of Christ and of his kingdom.

And hee shewed me Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord laid vnto Satan, The Lord reprove thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprove thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquity to depart from thee, & I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I saide, Let them bring a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus faith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also budge mine house, & shalt also keepe my courts, and I will g u e thee place among the chief that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: they are monstrous perions: but behold, I will bring forth the Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seven eyes: behold, I will cut out the graining thereof, faith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquity of this land in one day.

10 In that day, faith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call every man his neighbour vnder the vine and vnder the figgetree.

Church. ^a Hee heareth of what apparell he speaketh, which is when our filthy finnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spiritual refection. ^b The Prophet prayeth that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue a tiar for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthood might be perfected: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King and here all such are condemned that can content themselves with any means reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtaineth it. ^c That is, haue rule and government in my Church, as thy predecessors haue had. ^d Whereby hee meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministry of the Church. ^e That is, the Angels, who represented the whole number of the faithful: signifying that all the godly should willingly follow him. ^f Because they follow him, they are concerned in the world, and esteemed. ^g As the Lord saith, This is Christ who doth humble himselfe, that he may exalt him, that he may be the servant of God, but also the servant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned. ^h Iai. 1. c. 1. c. 23. 5 and 27. 14. 15. ⁱ Hee sheweth that the ministers cannot build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because hee giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him. Chap. 4. 10. ^j O That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as it was wrought by the hand of God. ^k Though I haue purified this land for a time, yet I will euen now be purified, and visit it: times no more. ^l Ye shall then live in peace and quietness, that is, in the kingdom of Christ. Iai. 2. Micah. 4. 4. 2. 1. c.

n This must necessarily be vnderstood of Christ, who being God equal with his Father, was sent as he was Mediator to dwell in his church and to gouerne them.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church. b Which declareth that the faithful haue not only ware with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe & spiritual wickednesses. ^c Iai. 6. 1. 2. ^d That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his church that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continual preferer of his church.

e Meaning that Iehoshua was wonderfully preferred in the captivity, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office. ^f In respect of the glorious garments, & precious stones that the Priests did wear before the captivity: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restoration of this

CHAP. III.

The vision of the golden candlestickke, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angell that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a candlestickke all of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seven lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof,

And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

So I answered and spake to the Angell that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

Then the Angell that talked with me, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an army nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thus shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying Grace, grace vnto it.

Moreover, the worde of the Lord came to me, saying,

The hands of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and he shall know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioice, and shall see the stone of the time in the hand of Zerubbabel: the seven are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two oliue branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empty them cluses into the gold?

And hee answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I saide, No, my Lord.

Then said he, these are the two oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

Though the enemies thinke to bring this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and say it reedification, so that all the godly shall reioice, and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

Meaning, that I am Christ sent by my Father for the building and preservation of my spiritual Temple.

Signifying that all were discouraged at the small and pome beginning of the Temple.

Whereby he signifieth the plume and line, that is, Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see no things pleasant to the eye.

That is, God hath euery eyes: meaning, a continual providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring anything to passe to hinder his worke, chap. 2. 9. I Which were euer greene and full of olue, that shall thus be powdered forth by the lampes: signifying that God will continually maintaine and preferre his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

The vision of the flying bookes, signifying the curse of the heathen, and such as abhorre the law of God. 6. Is the vision of the maner how signified the bringing of Judahs affliction vnto Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked and behold, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

3 Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth out of the whole earth: for euery one that b Releth, shall be cut off asfall on this side as one that: and euery one that d sweareth, shall be cut off, asfall on this side as one that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of a thiefe, and into the house of him that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I aide, what is it? And hee saide, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. Hee saide moreouer, This is the sight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a talent of lead and this is a woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And hee said, This is wickednes, and hee cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork), and they lift vp the Ephah betwene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee said vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and let there vpon her owne place.

as in the next verse. 1. Signifying, that Satan should not haue such power against the ieiues contrary to them, as hee had in time past, but that God would thus vp iniquity in a measure as in a prison. k Which declared that God would reuenge his iudgement by the means of weeke and soft meenes. l To remoue the iniquity and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

b By the brazen mountaines he meaneth the eternal counsell, and prouidence of God whereby hee hath from before all eternity decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

c Which signified the great cruelty and preferences that the Churche had endured vnder the Babylonians.

d Signifying, that they had endured great affliction vnder the Babylonians.

e These represented them that were under the Persians, which relieved them to liberty.

f Which signified, that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and pouer his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in deffowing Nineue, and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods spirit which according to his vouchangeable counsell hee causeth to appeare through all the world.

e So that their returne shall not be in vain: for God will accomplish his promise, and there no poverty shall be sure and stable. f Let neither respect of your private commodious neither counsel of other, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which encourage you thereto. g For God cursed your worke, for that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

8 And I will bring them, & they shall dwell in the midst of Ierusalem, & they shall be my people, & I will be their God in truth & in righteousness. 9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I let all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not entreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the residue shall be prosperous: the vine shall give her fruit, and the ground shall give her increase, and the heavens shall give their dew, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O House of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliver you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked mee vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do, Speake ye every man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly & vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah joy, and gladnesse, and prosperous high feasts: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, Vp, let vs goe & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will go also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, in those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Tew, and say, Wee will goe with you for we haue heard that God is with you.

1 The breauing of the Gentiles. 2 The coming of Christ.

The burthen of the word of the Lord in the land of Madrach: and Damascus shall be his breast: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border & thereby:

3 And when the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies. 4 That is, by Damascus: meaning, that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the Iane rod and plague.

Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp silver as the dust, and golde as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her power in the Sea, and shee shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressor shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I sene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King cometh vnto thee: mee is iust, and saved himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the chariots from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall be from sea vnto sea, and from the riuer to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt be saved through the blood of thy covenant, I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein uo water.

12 Turne you to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render thee double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bow for mee: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a giants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be sene ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlwinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noise as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliver them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall be able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word. p That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum: & by these places which the Iewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compass ouer the whole world. q That is, from Euphrates. r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church which is laide by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the covenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and Ierit with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliver his Church out of all dangers, seeing they neuer forget. t That is, into the holy land where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defende euery side. And yee lived in hope that God would restore them to liberty. u That is, double benefice and prosperity in respect of that which your Fathers enioined from David time to the captivity. v I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee here meaneth by the Grecians.

z He promitteth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies, and haue abundance and excess of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperance, but to sobriety, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality.

e Hee secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deuicied all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloaked with this name of wisdom.

f Though they of Tyrus think themselves invincible by reason of the sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgement.

g Meaning, that all should be destroyed, save a very few which should remaine as strangers. h He promitteth to deliver the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their cruelty & wrongs done to them.

i As the Iebusites had bin destroyed, so should Ekron & all the Philistines. k He sheweth that Gods power and holiness shall defend his Church against all aduersaries as they neuer can, or can remember their power neuer to forget.

l That is, God hath now sene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue bin afflicted, by their enemies.

m That is, he hath righteously and iustly in himselfe for the vice and commodity of his Church.

n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be humble, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliver his: and this is meant of Christ, as Matthe. 21. t. u. No power of man or creature.

u No power of man or creature.

v I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee here meaneth by the Grecians.

z He promitteth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies, and haue abundance and excess of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperance, but to sobriety, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality.

a The shafts shall be preferred, and reuerenced of all, but the very enemies that be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Ioseph declareth of Alexander the great, when he met Iudas the high Priest, b For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! come shall make the young men chearefull, and new wine the maides.

CHAP. X.

a The vanitie of Idollarie. b The good promise of a wife and comfort to the house of Irah.

a The Prophet reuerenced by the Jewes because by their own inuidie they put backe Gods graces promised, and to increase by Gods iudgement therefore to avenge this plague he will punish them to turne to Iud, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.

A Ske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: for shall the Lord make white clouds, and giue you shoures of raine, and to eury one graite in the field.

2 Surely the Idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the footlappers haue: eene Ie, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled againe the shepheards, and I did visite the goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull horie in the battell.

4 Out of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the nayle, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him eury appoyment of tribute also.

5 And they shalbe as the mighty men, which treade downe their enemies in the myre of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preferre the house of Ioseph, and I will bring them again, for I pittie them: and they shalbe as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and I will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shalbe as a gyant: and their heart shal reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and bee glad: and their heart shal reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will blisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will knowe them among the people, and they shall remember mee in faire countries: and they shall liue with their children, and I turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe all out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he shall goe into the sea, with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depths of the riuier shall dry vp: and the pride of Asshur shalbe cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord,

CHAP. XI.

a The destruction of the temple. b The ara of the shafts is commended to Christ. c A glorious vision against Ierusalem and Iudas.

a The Prophet reuerenced by the Jewes because by their own inuidie they put backe Gods graces promised, and to increase by Gods iudgement therefore to avenge this plague he will punish them to turne to Iud, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past because they trusted not in him, but in their Idoles and force-reuers whoe deceiued them.

c That is, the lower went into captiuitie.

d Meaning the cruell gouernours which did oppress the poore people, Ezek. 33. 1-17.

e He will be merciful to his Church and cherishe them as a King or Prince doth his best beloved which shall be for his owne vfe in this warre.

f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceed, who shalbe as a corner to uphold the building and as a stile to liden it together.

g Over their enemies.

h That is, the ten tribes, which shalbe gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

i Whereby he declareth the power of God winnes: doth no great preparation when he will deliuer his: see with a becke of his he can call them from all places suddenly.

k Though they shall yet be scattered and seeme to be lost: yet shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached.

l Not that they should returne into their country, but bee gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.

m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, where as the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

O Pen thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, by fire trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: howle yee, O oaks of Bashan, for the defended forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them: and sinne not: and they that sell them, cry: Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their own shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but loe, I will deliuer the men eury one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, even the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me two ftaues: the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my ioule lothed them, and their foule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feede you: that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, eury one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beauty, and brake it: that I might disanul my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I did vnto them, if ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirty pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at the price. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter, in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bands, that I might disolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah, and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto me, Taketo thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp, but hee shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O Idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke, the sword shalbe vpon his arme, & vpon his right a Because I fewe thought the cedars to being by reason of this mountaine, that no enemy could come to hurt them: the Prophet teacheth that when God deliuereth his enemies, it shall be as it were to receive them.

b Showing that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were notable to resist.

c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed which was the strongest mountaine, the weakest places could not thinke to hold out.

d That is, the remnant of Iudah and Israel should perish.

e Which being now defined to be lame, were deliuered as out of the Lyons mouth.

f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they do euill.

g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouths, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing which cometh of the ipeyle of their brethren.

h I will caille one to destroy another.

i Their gouernours shall execute cruely on them.

k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought would be his strength.

l God sheweth his great benefite toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude which would neither be ruled by his most benefiull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bands of his mercy.

m Whereby he sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue.

n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge their real benefites of God.

o He sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements.

p Besides their ingratitude, God accuseth them of malice and wickedde, which did not only forget his benefites, but esteemed them as things of nought.

q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages which could cause suffice to make a few tyles to couer the Temple.

r Signifying, that they should haue a certain kind of regiment and order, and shewe of gouernment, but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolves, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards.

s And is in health and sound.

t By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doth wisdom and iudgement by the eye, that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lord vpon ^a Israel, with the Lord, which spred the heavens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem ^a a cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will hee be in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heafty stone ^a for all people: all that lye it vp shall be to me, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will imite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will imite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the Princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem ^a halbe my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem ^a halbe inhabited againe in her owne place, ^a in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall persue the tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid ^a halbe as Gods house, and as the Angell of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of grace, and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pierced, and they shall lament for him as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sory for him as ones sory for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megaddon.

12 And the land shall bewaile euery family apart, the family of the house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of Shimei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that remaine, euery family apart, and their wiues apart.

15 Which was the name of a town and place neere to Megiddo where Ioshaf was slaine. 2 Chron 35. 22. ^k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. 1 Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremony: but euery one touched with his owne griefe, shall lament. ^m Vnder these certaine families hee containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priesthood by their finnes pierced Christ. ⁿ Called also Simeon. ^o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserved from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of Idolatry & the gain of the godly against false prophets.

In that day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 And in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will cut out the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will caute the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that beget him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not lye: for thou speakest lyes in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that beget him, shall smite him through, when he prophesie.

4 And in that day shall the prophet be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied. ne ther shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught mee to bee an husbandman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Arise, O word, vpon my shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes. I will imite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, sayth the Lord, two parts therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and will refine them as the silver is fined, and wiltry them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

10 They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be contented labour for their sinne. ^a Hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt meely with them, and put them not to death, yet they would punish their children, that became false Prophets: that the markes and signes should remaine for euer. ^b The Prophet was not the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be a horrible dissipation among the people: for their gorgeous and paltournes should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applyeth this to Christ because he was the head of all Pastors, Math. 25. 31. ^c The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enuy them, shall be tried with great afflictions. ^d To that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercies doe piteuise them.

CHAP. XIII.

Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the reformation thereof.

Behold, the dawe of the Lord cometh, and they poile shall be diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the cite shall be taken, and the houses poyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the cite shall go into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the cite.

3 Then shall the Lord goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when hee fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day vpon the mount of Oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of Oliues shall cleaue in the midles thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shall be a very great valley, and halfe

^a He sheweth what shall be the fruit of their repentance, to wit, immunitie of sinnes by the blood of Christ, which shall be a common running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleannesse. ^b He prometh that God will also purge them from all superstitious, & that their religion shall be pure.

^c Meaning the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

^d That is, when they shall prophesie lyes, and make God who is the author of truth, a coile hereto.

^e He sheweth what shall be the goodly thing that shall come vnder the Kingdom of Christ.

^f God shall make them ashamed of their errors, and hee shall bring them to repentance: and they shall no more weare Prophets apparel, to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

^g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be contented labour for their sinne. ^a Hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt meely with them, and put them not to death, yet they would punish their children, that became false Prophets: that the markes and signes should remaine for euer. ^b The Prophet was not the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be a horrible dissipation among the people: for their gorgeous and paltournes should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applyeth this to Christ because he was the head of all Pastors, Math. 25. 31. ^c The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enuy them, shall be tried with great afflictions. ^d To that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercies doe piteuise them.

^a Hee armeth the godly against the great tentations that should come, before they enjoyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ: that when these dangers should come they might know that they were warned of them self.

^b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at the first, and at all other times, ^c By this manner speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how hee will as it were by miracle saue it. ^d So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall fee Ierusalem, which was before bid with this mountain: and this he meaneth of the spiritual Ierusalem the Church.

e Yee receive all mine offer in vain your own greed eat, and doe not examine whether they are according to my Law or no.
 g Note that they said chine, not thy duty they declared so led.
 h You make it no fault, whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to sacrifice to serve God partly: as he hath commanded, and partly utter fantastic, & to come not to that purpose of religion which he requirith, and therefore in reproach hee sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so served.
 i He derideth the Priests who bare the people in hand that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these evils came upon the people.
 k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so cou-rous and wicked?
 l Before the Le-uites who kept the doores did not tice whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God witheth that they would rather do the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect.
 m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and heere the Prophet that was under the Law, framed his words to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar an sacrifice hee meaneth the spiritual service of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an end should be made to all these illegall ceremonies by Christs only sacrifice.
 n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the forme, as with the fact: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which he required, and so committed both impiety, and also heved their contempt of God, and contemned his. o The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.
 p That is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will leave him according to his covetous minde.

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: other it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, sayth the Lord of hostes?

9 And now I pray you, pray before God, that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will he regard k your persons, faith the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euill among you, that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, faith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayth
 the Lord of hostes.

12 But yee haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit ther-of, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said alio, Behold, it is a wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, faith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an othing: should I accept this of your hand, faith the Lord?

14 But cursed bee the deceiver, which hath in his flocke p a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

Lord of hostes.

5 My b covenant was with him of life and peace, and I b gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was afraide before my Name.

6 The law of k truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquity found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lippes should preferre knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for he is the m messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the covenant of Leui, faith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be de-feipt, and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one o father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the covenant of our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel, and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the p daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iakob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and c ouer-reed the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye say, Wherein? Because the Lord hath bin witness betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed: is she thy c companion, and the wife of thy u couenant.

15 And did not x he make one? yet had he y a boundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee fought a godly z feede: therefore keepe your felues in your a spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, b put her away, faith the Lord God of Israel, yet hee couereth c the iniurie vnder his garment, faith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your felues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Yee haue d wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him?
 When ye fay euery one that e doeth eu ill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delieth in them.
 Or where is the God of iudgement.

because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine. f This is another fault whereby hee accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of matrimony. t As the one half of his selle u Shere that was ioyned to thee by a lokenne covenant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name. x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many? y By his power and verbe he could haue made many women for one man. z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no excess of lustes. a Con-taine your felues within your bounds, and be sober in minde, and bridle your affections. b Not that hee doth allow diuorcement, but of the o a fault hee sheweth which is lesse. c Hee thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault. d Ye murmured against God because he heard not your foolishnes ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath not respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iudice because hee judged not according to their iustities.

CHAPTER II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being laden of the people.

And now, O ye a Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory b vnto my Name, faith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse you c blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because yee doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt d your feede and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the dung of your solemne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it.

5 And yee shall know, that I haue f sent this commandment vnto you, that my covenant, which I made with Leui, might stand faith the Lord. The Priests objected against the Prophet that hee could not pronounce them, but must speake against the Priesthood, and the office (stablished of God by promise, but he sheweth that the office is nothing vnderdred when these villenies and dung are called by their owne names.

g Hee sheweth what were the two conditions of the covenant made with the tribe of Leui on Gods part that hee would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part,
 that they should faithfully serue him according to his word.
 h I prescribed Leui a certaine lawe, yee me, i Hee turned me and set forth my glory with all hu-militie and sab-dition.
 k Hee sheweth that the Priests ought to haue knowlege to instruct other in the word of the Lord.
 l Hee is as the first house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their ne-cessitie, and not to refuse it for himselfe.
 m Shewing that

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets unto the new Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not received by a common consent to be read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither yet served to prove any point of Christian Religion, save in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were received to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly manners: which bookes declare, that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers, and meane to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesseth that these calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophet, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the trial of his children.

CHAP. I.

1 Josias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passover. 7 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Josias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Joachaz appointed king. 53 The destruction of Jerusalem.

And Josias kept the * Passover to his Lord in Jerusalem, and offered the Passover in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their daily courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Salomon the sonne of king David had built,

4 And said, Yee shall no more beare the Arke upon your shoulders: now therefore serve the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the Maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passover, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passover: after the Lords Commandement given to Moyses.

7 And Josias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambs and kids, with three thousand calves.

8 These were given of the Kings possessions according to the promise to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Hilkias and Zacharias and || Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passover, two thousand sixe hundred sheep, and three hundred calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brethren, & || Sabias, and || Chielus, and || Ioram captaines gaue to the Levites for the Passover five thousand sheep, and seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, having vneleavened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passover with fire, as * appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, 13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves, & for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the sacrifice the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, & for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy fingers the sonnes of Aisaph, were in their orders, according to their appointed ordinances of David, to wit, Aisaph, & Azarias, and || Eddinus, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at every gate, so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things that appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer, 18 And offer the sacrifices vpon the Altar of the Lord, according to the commaundement of king Iofias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer and the feast of vntleuened bread seven dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer as did Iofias, and the Priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iofias was this Passeouer kept, 23 The works of Iofias were vpriht before his Lord with a heart full of godlineffe.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, about euery nation and kingdome, & grieved him with || sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iofias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iofias went out against him.

26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lorde God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth mee forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iofias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himself to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he sethimselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megeddo, & the princes came downe to king Iofias.

30 And the king sayd to his seruants, Conuey mee out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So hee gate vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem, hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iofias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iofias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kingdome of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, and euery one of the actes that Iofias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iofias, and made him king in stead of his father Iofias, when hee was three and twentie yere old.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt depofed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of filuer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Ioachim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernors: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fure yeere olde was Ioachim when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasfe, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his temple of Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Ioachim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, he was eigheteene yeere olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and tenne dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yeere old, and he reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that hee was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his neck and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priestes committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of al nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheless, the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call shem back, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that he being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man nor maiden, neither old man nor child among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lorde, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and carried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, hee caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Jeremias, 58 And that the land might enjoy her Sabbaths all the time that it was desolate, till seuentie yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leave to all Jewes to returne. 2. He sent the holy vessels. 3. The names of those that returned. 4. This aduises what they brought, and the Kings letters for the Jewes.

IN the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and hee made Proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made me king ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded mee to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him go vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: hee is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe them with gold and silver,

7 With gifts, with horses, and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, & the Priests and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lord had moued to goe vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things, with silver and gold, horses and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minde were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were giuen to || Abassai the gouernour of Iudea.

13 Whereof this was the number: A thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices, nine and twentie, vials of gold thirty, and of silver two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and silver, which they caried away, were five thousand, foure hundred threefcore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captivity of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, || Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabelius, and Rathumus, and Beelthimus, & || Semellius the secretary, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places wrote vnto him this Epistle heere following, against them that dwell in Iudea and Ierusalem, to the King Artaxerxes, Ouer Lord.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest of their counsel and the Iudges which are in Celsolyna and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowne to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked cite, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this cite be built, and the wals be finished, they will not onely not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meet to passe ouer such a thing.

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may be brought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this cite did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also the cite was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the king, we declare it, that if this cite be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Celsolyna, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beelthimus, & to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria, and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle which yesternight I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this cite hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Celsolyna and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the cite, and that it bee taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speed to Ierusalem, with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, & king Darius went into his chamber, & slept till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three young men of the guard, keepers of the kings body, laid one to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wisest then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victory,

6 As to wear purple and to drinke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tire of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke,

7 And he shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shall be called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence, & sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of king Darius,

9 And said, when the king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king, and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but Truth ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings, and gaue them to him, & he read them,

14 And sent, and called all the noble men of Persia, and of Media, and the gouernours, and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And fate him downe in the councell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the young men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then hee said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said on this manner, O yee men, how strong is wine! it deceiueh all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the mind of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bondman and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no manner of sorrow nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by jollities.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or bretheren, and a little after they draw out swords, 23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee held his peace, when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women 34 Of the strength of iustice, which sentence approoueth, 47 and his power is giued.

Then the second, which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commaundeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if hee send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines, and walies, and towres.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commaundement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles at all other things.

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but til the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if hee bid, Kill, they kill: if he lay, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them Make desolate, they make desolate: if hee bid, Build, they build.

9 If hee bid, Cut off, they cut off: if hee bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeh.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse: neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, how should not the King bee strongest seeing he is thus obeyed! so he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the Truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, neither I mighty king, nor many men nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer the? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King and all the people which bare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments, and make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things, and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then gold, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father, which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman hee ieopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother, nor country.

22 Therefore by this yee may know that the women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword, & goeth forth to kill and to sleaie, and to faile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a lion, and goeth in darknesse, and when he hath stolen, ransied and spoiled, hee bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his own wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Now therefore doe you not beleuee needis not the king great in his power do not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Tel I sawe him, and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Batracus, sitting on the right hand of the King,

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand, 31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, hee laughed: and if she were angry with him, hee did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O yemen, are not won en more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the king & the princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the truth.

34 O yemen, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is hie, and the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the truth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for truth, and the heauen blesteth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vnjust thing with it.

37 The wise is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked works are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and absteineth from vnjust, and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vnjust thing in her iudgement, and shee is the strength and the kingdom and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So hee ceased to speake, & then all the people cryed, and sayd, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the king laide vnto him, Aske what thou wilt beside that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue liberty to sit by mee, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then hee said to the king, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdom, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus let apart when hee made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iuda was destroyed by the Caldeans.

46 And now, O Lord the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the king of heauen.

47 Then king Darius rising vp kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way with him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Cætolynia and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and builde the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdom vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores.

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held.

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twenty talents vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer teuteene other ten talents euery yeere, 53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the kniesses that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges & the Priestis garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Iewes their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the king of heauen,

59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wisdom, & of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant, 60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen me wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters and went out, and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedom and libertie.

63 To goe vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musick and ioy, seuen dayes.

44 And there were of their gouernors after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Ieruſalem, vowed to build the houſe in his owne place according to their power,

45 And to giue to the treaſure of the workes, a || thouſand pound in golde, and five thouſand pound in ſilver, and an hundred Prietly garments.

46 And the Priests and the Leuites, and the people dwelt in Ieruſalem and in the cuntry, and the holy fingers and the porters and all Iſrael in their || villages.

47 ¶ But * when the ſeuenth moneth was neere, and when the children of Iſrael were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the firſt gate, which is toward the Eaſt.

48 Then Ieſus the ſonne of Iofedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the ſonne of Salathiel and his brethren, riſing vp, made ready the altar of the God of Iſrael, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.

50 Whicher alſo there were gathered againſt them of all nations of the land: but they dreſſed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered ſacrifices according to the ſeaſon, and burnt offerings to the Lord morning and evening.

51 They kept alſo the feaſt of Tabernacles, as it is * ordered in the Law, and offered ſacrifices euery day, as was requiſite, 52 And afterward, the continual oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the new moneths and of all holy feaſts.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vow to God, began to offer ſacrifice vnto God in the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue alſo money to the maſons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladneſſe, 55 And chariots to the Sidenians and to thoſe of Tyrus to bring cedar wood out of Libanus, which ſhould bee brought by ſhoates to the haven of Ioppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Perſia.

56 And in the ſecond yeere and ſecond moneth came into the Temple of God in Ieruſalem, Zorobabel the ſonne of Salathiel, and Ieſus the ſonne of Iofedec, and their brethren, and the Priests, and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ieruſalem,

57 And * layd the foundation of the houſe of God in the firſt day of the ſecond moneth of the ſecond yeere after their returne into Iudea and Ieruſalem, 58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere old ouer the work of the Lord, and Ieſus and his ſonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the ſonnes of Madiabon with the ſonnes of Ioda, the ſonne of Heliadon, with their ſonnes, and brethren, even all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the houſe of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests ſtood clothed with their long garments with muſicall inſtruments, and trumpets, and the Leuites the ſonnes of Aſaph with cymbals, 60 Singing and bleſſing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Iſrael.

61 And they ſung with lowd voyce ſongs to the praiſe of the Lord, becauſe h s merce and glory is for euer in all Iſrael.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with a loud voyce, praiſing the Lord for the raiſing vp of the houſe of the Lord.

63 Alſo ſome of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had ſeene the former houſe,

64 Came to ſee the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioy cried with loud voyce,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, becauſe of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, ſo that they were heard faire off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noyſe of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Iſrael.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Ieſus, and the chiefe of the families, ſaid vnto them, Let vs build alſo with you.

69 For we obey your Lord as you doe, and ſacrifice vnto him ſince the dayes of || Abaſareth king of the Aſſyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Ieſus, and the chiefe of the families of Iſrael ſaid to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an houſe to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God of Iſrael, as it becometh vs, and as * Cyrus the king of the Perſians beaues.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them ſluggiſh that were in Iudea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their abuſements and ſeditious and conſpiracies hindered the finiſhing of the building, 73 All the time of king Cyrus life: ſo that they were let from the building two yeere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

5 But the Ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord after that he had visited the captiuitie.

6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 ¶ The copy of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: Sirs IN N O U S gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainly to vnderstand that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, we found in the citie of Ierusalem the Ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord, great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already layd vpon the walles.

10 And these works are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then wee asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandment build you this house, and lay the foundation of these works?

12 We asked them these things, to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this house was built vp many yeeres agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to || Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should carie away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar being come hither, layd the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the king, let it bee sought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it bee found that the building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to search in the kings libraries, that were in Babylon, & there was found in Ecabane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were layd vp for memorie.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded, where they did factice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should bee of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payed out of the house of king Cyrus,

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should bee restored to the house, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also hee commanded that Sisinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constituted captaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, & that they bee diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Cælosyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oyle continually every yeere without faile, as the Priests, which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to be spent euery day:

31 That offerings may bee made to the high God for the King, and his children, and that they may play for their liues.

32 Furthermore hee commanded that whosoener should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate anything thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods should bee the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy euery king, and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

34 * I Darius the King haue ordeined that it should bee diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the three and twentieth day of the month Adar, in the sixe yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, & the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses,

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambes,

8 And twelue goats for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests and the Leuites stood according to their kindreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie, were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and fought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vniuersaledge bread seven dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their handes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Eldras cometh from Babylon to Ierusalem. 10 The copie of the commission given by Artaxerxes. 29 Eldras giueth thanks to the Lord. 33 The number of the heades of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

And after these things, when Artaxerxes king of the Persians reigned, Eldras the sonne of Saraias the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Ezias, the sonne of Vemeroth, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Sauias, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron was the hie Priest.

3 This Eldras went out of Babylon, and was a scribe well taught in the Law of Moyses, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 And the king gaue him great honour, and he found grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites, and of the holy fingers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

6 In the seuen yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fift moneth this was the seuenth yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their journey.)

8 For Eldras had gotten great knowledge, so that hee would let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the commandments, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by king Artaxerxes was giuen Eldras the Priest and reader of the law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Eldras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pittie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellers,

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And cary the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the gold and siluer, which shall be found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as gold, for buls, and rammes, and lamber, and things therunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the gold or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Eldras, the Priest and Reader of the Law of the highest God, shall find for, they should giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God according to the law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the Kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy fingers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, tribute nor tax be taken, nor that any haue power to tax them in any thing.

24 Thou also Eldras, according to the wisdom of the Lord, ordaine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Law of thy God, and teach those which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Law of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Eldras the Scribe said, Blessed bee the onely Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the king and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernors.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the king.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called * Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbered them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites,

43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came || Maasman, and Alnathan, and Samaian, and || Ioribon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mossollamon the chiefe and best learned.

49 ¶ And there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

50 For I was athamed to aske the king footemen, or horsemen, or conduct for safegard against our enemies, 51 Becauie we had said to the King, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, whom we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, || Elebrias and Assanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer & the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lorde, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them fixe hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, & siluer vessels of an hundredth talents, and an hundredth talent of gold, 56 And twenty golden baltins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the siluer is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the gold, and the vessels, and carried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mighty power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the gold was deliuered in the house of our Lord to || Marmoth the Priest the sonne of Iouri,

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them Iosabad the sonne of Iesus, and || Moeth sonne of Sabbanus Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, asse twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteen,

65 Lambs threescore and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord, 66 And they presented the commandements of the king to the kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Cadoiynia and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to mee, saying, The people of Israel, the princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites & Hezites, & Pherefites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seed is mixed, mixed with the strange people of the land, & the governors and rulers have bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, & the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off my head, and off my beard, and fate me downe sorrowfull and very sad.

71 Then also they that were mooued with the word of y Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I fate very sad till the euening Genesice.

72 Then I arose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heaven.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinns therefore, and our fathers wee with our brethren, with our kings & Priests haue bene given vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy been, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote, and name in the place of this holiness!

78 And that thou should reueile to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall wee say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, laying,

82 * Because the land which ye goe to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse,

83 Therefore now ye shall not ioynethir daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may bee made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore al that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great sinnes: yet Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy lawe, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldst neither leaue vs roote, nor seed, nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And as Efdras praied and confessed, and wept, & lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and young children: for there was a great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of || Ieel of the sonnes of Israel crying out, said, O Efdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of y land, 92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an oth concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seem good to thee, & to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Efdras arose, & made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests & Leuits of all Israel to sweare, that they would do thus: and they swore.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Efdras had read the Law for the strange wiues, & they promised to put them away.

Then* Efdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Ioannan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, he did eat no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, & he cast cut from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Efdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out, and sayd with a loud voyce, We wil do so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude was great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the work is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our families tarie:

13 And let the Priests and iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Asaels sonne, and || Execias sonne || of Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam, and Sabbateus did helpe them.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things,

34 And of the ſonnes of || Maani, Ieremias,

35 And of the ſonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Za-badias, Ethes, Inel, Banaſias.

36 All theſe married ſtrange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Prieſts and the Leuites dwelt in Ieruſalem, and in the countrey, the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, & the children of Iſrael in their owne houſes.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude aſſembled together with one conſent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the Eaſt,

39 And ſpake to Eſdras the Prieſt and reader that hee ſhould bring the Law of Moyſes, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 Then brought Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt, the Law to all the multitude both man and woman, and to all the Prieſts, that they might heare the Law the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the firſt broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkned to the Law.

42 So Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the Law, ſtood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there ſtood by him || Matgathias, Sam-mus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balalamus at his right hand,

44 And at his left hand || Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothaſaphus, Nabataius.

45 Then Eſdras tooke the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (for he ſate honourably before them all.)

46 And they all ſtood vpright when hee expounded the Law, and Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the moſt high God, the moſt mighty God of hoſtes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Ieſus and || Anus, and Sarabias, and Aſimus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioazabbus, and Ananius, and Biatas the Leuites liſt vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worſhipped
the Lord,

49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and ſtood alto earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then ſaid || Aththarates to Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt and reader, and to the Leuites that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Lawe.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates, and drink the ſweet drinks, and ſend preſents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lords, and be-neſſory: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all theſe things to the people ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſad.

54 Then they departed all to eat and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue preſents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were inſtructed, when they were aſſembled together.

which Eſdras was priſoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Perſia.

4 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me,

5 Goe, and shew my people their finnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against mee, that they may tell their childreus children.

6 For the finnes of their fathers are increased in them because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked mee vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Law, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbear them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 *Many kings haue I destroyed for their sake: Pharaoh with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: * I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreyes Tyrus and Sidon, and haue shone all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, 13 * I haue led you thorow the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure way since y^e beginning: * I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 * I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The quails * were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for safeguard, wherein ye murmured.

16 And yet triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but yet yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you? when ye were hungry in the wilderness, * did ye not cry vnto me, 18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

19 I had pity vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eat: * so ye did eat Angels food.

20 * When yee were thirstie, did not I cleare the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you? from the heate I couered you with the leaues of the trees, 21 And I gaue you fat countries: I cast out the Canaanites, the Phereites, and Philistims before you: * what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord?

22 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, * When ye were in the wilderness at the bitter waters, being ashirrit, and blaspheming my Name, 23 I gaue you not fire for the blaphemies, but cast a tree into the water, & made the riu^er sweet.

24 What shall I do vnto thee, O Iacob? thou * Iuda wouldest not obey: I will turne mee to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

25 Seeing ye haue forsaken me, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercy of mee, I will not haue pity vpon you.

26 * When ye call vpon mee, I will not heare you: for yee haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit murder.

27 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Haue I not praied you as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes, 29 That yee would bee my people. as I am your God, and that ye would be my children, as I am your Father?

30 * I gathered you together as a henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will cast you out from my sight.

31 * When you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your new moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom yee haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whole blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doeth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commaundement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleue me though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will do for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnes, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Ionas, Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commaundements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them saith vnto the, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorrow and heavinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: go ye, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a poyse, that there kinred be not continued.

10 ¶ Thus saith the Lord vnto Eldras, Tell my people that I will giue them the kingdome of Ie-rusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euertlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for thole.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life smelbe weary.

13 Goe ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good:
for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feet as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue known my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will lend thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue san-ctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits,

19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked:

21 Heale the wounded and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorn: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my clearenesse.

22 Keepe the old and the yong that are within thy walles,

23 * Wherefoer thou findest the dead, take them, and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still: O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse:
stablish their feete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse cometh, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt bee merrie and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee and shall doe nothing against thee saith the Lord.

29 Mine handes shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deiuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercy vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

Ysa. 17.

33 Eldras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horib, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast mee off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepherd, who shall giue you euertlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome:
for the euertlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifiemy Saviour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Eldras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a yong man higher in stature than the all, and vpon euey one of their heads he set crownes, and was higher than the others, which I much marueled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and sayd, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortal, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, & giveth them the palmes in their handes?

47 And hee answered and said vnto mee, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then beganne I greatly to commend them, that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Go thy way and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous works which God did for the people, are recited.
31 Eldras nameth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

I In the thirtieth yere after the fall of the city as I was at Baby'on, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon

3 So my spirit was fore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull words to the most High, and sayd,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam, without foule, who

who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, to that he liued before thee,

8 Cor. meut forward.

6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but hee transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whome came nations, tribes, people and kindreds out of number.

* Gen. 6. 12.

8 * And euerie people walked after their owne will, and did wonderful things before thee, and despised thy commandements.

* Gen. 7. 10.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them,

10 So that by the flood that came to euerie one of them, which came by death vnto Adam,

* 1. Pet. 3. 20.

11 Yet thou ledest one, euen * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

* Gen. 12. 1.

* Gen. 17. 5.

13 Nowe when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou didst choose thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewest thy will,

15 And madest an euermoluing Covenent with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

16 And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, * and didst choose Iacob, and cast off Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude.

* Exod. 19. 2.

Gen. 4. 10.

17 And when thou ledst his seed out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, 18 And inclinest the heavens, and bowdest downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glory went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and cold, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Iacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Lawe might bring forth fruit in them.

* Gen. 3. 6.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenes, ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednes of the root: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

* 1. Sam. 16. 13.

23 * O the times passed away, and the yeeres were brought to an ende, * till thou didst rayse thee vp a seruant called Dauid,

* 2. Sam. 5. 1.

and 7. 5. 13.

24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When * his was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preferred thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue how this cometh to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleueed thy testimonies as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and therethroughout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath loyed thy Commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reprimoth Esdras, because hee seemed to enter into the profane iudgements of God.

And the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and said, I am sent to shew thee three waies, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Wherof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shewe thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I said, Tell on my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne that can do that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the mids of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth; or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peradventure thou wouldest say vnto mee, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer climbe vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and wind, & of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 Hee said moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, & such as are grown vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 How shouldest thou see all that bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and now outwardly in this corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption,

* Jud. 9. 8.
Gen. 2. 31.
Gen. 1. 13, 14.

corruption, that is evident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that wee should liue in wickednes, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered mee, and said, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees helde a counsell, 14 And said, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that wee may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and said, Come, let vs go vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that wee may get another country for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it, 17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the land flood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuiled: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgment: but why iudgest thou nor thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heuens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine hie things, but of such as we daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world, as the grasshoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered hee me, and said, The more thou sear chest, the more thou shalt maruile: for the world hathest fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrightheousnesse and weaknes.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is lowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is lowen bee not turned vp side downe, and if the place where the euill is lowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is lowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seed hath bene lowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vnrightheousnesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shall he bring forth vntill the harvest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednes the corne of euill seed bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shall bee cut downe which are without number, how great an harvest must be prepared, 33 Then I answered, and said, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeres few and euill?

34 And hee answered me, saying, Hasten thou to bee about the most High: for thou labourst in vaine to bee about him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

35 Did not the foules also of the righteous aske question of the things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of the leedes is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number: and they shall not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peradventure the harvest of the righteous is not witheld, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and said, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, Lord, he cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the travell, so do these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet thereto, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come, then is past, or more things shall beare to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come I know not.

47 And he said vnto mee, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, & behold, a hore burning ouen passed before me: & when the flame was gone by, I looked, & behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watie cloud, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said hee vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the drops, and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed and said, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered mee, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not fent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times such shall be hid. 2 To the righteous and all who in these times shall be hid. 3 To the righteous and all who in these times shall be hid. 4 To the righteous and all who in these times shall be hid. 5 To the righteous and all who in these times shall be hid.

Neuer

Neuerthelesse, concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth shall be taken in a great number, and the way of the truth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren from faulb.

2 And ^{*}iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall see in foot, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third tran pet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the moone threentimes a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the fowles shall change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voice thereof.

8 There shall bee a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beasts shall change their places, and monstrous women shall beare monsters.

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall vnrigheteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weep as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my mind was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held mee, comforted mee, and set mee vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not as the shepherd that leaueth his flocke in the hands of the cruell woules.

19 Then said I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not nere mee: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning & weeping, as Vriell the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very greiuous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most high againe,

23 And sayd, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the earth, & of all yeres thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the world thou hast choien thee one pit, and of all the floures of the grownd thou hast choien thee one lily.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one river, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one dewe, and of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gouden thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou loudest, thou gauest a Lawe that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one robe thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They tread them downe, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didst so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punnished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, & I will teach thee, & hearken that I may in fit & thee further.

33 And I said Speake or my Lord. Then said hee vnto mee, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. I ouersit thou them better then he doth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines paine mee euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most high, & to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not sene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the elings that are not yet come, or, gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open mee the places that are closed, and bring me forth the winde, that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voice, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest, and labourdest to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto mee, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefit y I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, & what shall they doe that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And hee said vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slackenesse of the last: so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Couldst thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then

* 2 Thim. 3. 13.

44 Then answered he mee, The creature, said hee, cannot prevent the Creatour, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall bee created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy servant that thou which givest strength to all, hast given life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And he said vnto mee, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely thee cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto mee, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times, when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast told me is yong, draweth the nere vnto age?

51 He answered mee, and said, Aske a woman that trauaileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that yee are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now begin to bee old, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew thy servant, by whom doest thou gouerne thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath fire, sent all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children. 23 The felicitie of the age to come.

And he said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the world were set, and before the winds blew one against another.

2 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the mooueable powres were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneys in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present yeeres were fought out, and before the afflictions of them that now sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layd vp the treasure of faith, were sealed.

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shalbe ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shalbe the diuision of times: or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he said vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him,

* Iacobs hand held first the heele of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing Eldras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee make an end to shew thy servant thy tokens, whereof thou thewest mee part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feet, and heare a mighty sounding voice:

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be moued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, bee not afraid: for of the end shall bee the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feet, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it said, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.

19 And when I begin to inquire of them who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shalbe fulfilled,

20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shalbe sealed, then will I shew these signes: the books shalbe opened before the heauens, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere old shal speake with their voices: the women with childen shall bring forth vtinely children of three or foure moneths old, & they shall liue that are raise vpon.

22 Then suddenly shall the sown places appeare as the vnswollen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found emptie.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the wells shall stand still, and in three hours they shall not runne.

25 Whoso euer remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shalbe saved, and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are reuerend, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shalbe changed and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shalbe put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shalbe ouercome, and the truth which hath bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these words said hee vnto mee, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe & fast seuen daies more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastity, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe and fasted fouen dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed with him againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should bee made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkness was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heavenly ayre, and commandedst it, that going betwene, it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst that the waters should bee gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: sixe parts diddest thou dry, and kept them to the intent that of these waters should bee that should serue thee, beeing sowed of God and tilled.

43 As soone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinentely made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowres of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderful smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres, 46 And gauest them a charge to doe * seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou diddest vnto the seventh part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, as fowles and fishes, and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praife thy wonderous workes.

49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leviathan, 50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seventh part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leviathan thou gauest the seventh part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell, and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam whom thou made lord ouer all the workes, which thou hast created, of him came we all, and the people also whom thou hast created.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto pittie, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.

57 And now, O Lord, beholde, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And wee thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruient lower) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

1 With tribulation none can come to saluacion. 2 God aduertieth all in time. 3 The coming and death of Christ. 4 The resurrection and last iudgement. 5 The which all corruption shall cease. 6 As for Adam. 7 The resurrection. 8 The resurrection and goodnesse of God.

And when I had made an end of these words, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto mee, Vp Eldras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto mee, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppoise that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and let vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this city were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my Statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorrow and cruell: they are but few, and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore-world were wide and sure, and brought immortal fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why thinkest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortal?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordained in thy Law, that the righteous should inherit the things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for larger things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto mee, There is no Iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should offerue, to auoyd punishment.

22 Neuerthelesse, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake ag ainst him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceived themselves by their wicked deeds, and denied the power of the most High, and egarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Eldras, vnto the empty are empty things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and shee shall come forth, and be seene, that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, hee shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres, shall my Sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore-iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be auailed vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the foules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seat of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice only shall continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deeds shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel, in the time of Achaz and Samuel.

38 And * David for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuary, 39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 * And Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers other for many.

41 Euen to now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly. wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end, oftentimes honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperance shall passe away: incontinencie shall be cut off: righteousness shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauenesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee, 49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortal life, when wee doe the works that bring death?

50 And that an euermlasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that wee betide our selues to deadly vanity?

51 And that there should be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if wee haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should bee kept to defend them that haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should be shewed, whose fruit remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For wee haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them which haue ab stained, should shine more then starrs, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while wee liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he mee, and said, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth shall fight,

58 That if he bee cuercome, he should suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victory, he should receiue the thing that I said, 59 For this is the life whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while hee liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue.

60 Neuerthelesse, they beleued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor mee also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauenesse should not so bee to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then, & said, I know Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Law, reth those that haue sinned as his creatures;

much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercy: for he ouer-commeth in mercy those that are present, and that are past, and them that are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue
the possession thereof,

68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euil, might be relieved from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliuie.

69 And if hee, being Iudge, forgave not those that be healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of finnes,

70 There should peradventure be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

cellent. ^c Elias prayeth for him & for his people. ^d The promises of Iesu Christ to the iust. ^e The destruction of the uniuers.

AND he answered mee, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the world to come, for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude. O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that gold commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

Maith. 20. 16.

3 There be many created, but few shall bee saued.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, & thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life given thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may inuite thee, that thou mayest giue sede vnto our heart, & prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, wherety euer one which is corrupt, may liue, who can let himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one worke-manship of thine hands as thou hast said.

8 For when the body now is fashioned in the wombe, & thou hast given it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doeth suffer nine months the creature, which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, and that which is containede shall both bee preferred, and when time is come the wombe, being preferred, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commaunded the members, euen the beasts, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breasts.

11 That the thing which is created may be nourished for a time, til thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousness, nourtest it in thy law, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou sayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy Commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generall thou shalt rather pro-uide) tye concerning thy people, for whose sake

I am sorry,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieved,

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden coming of the Iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, & vnderstand my words which I will speake before thee. The beginning of 7 wordes of Esdras, before he was taken vp.

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whole throne is insatiable, and his glorie incomprehensible, before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is tuned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast: whose commandement is strong, & gouernment terrible,

23 Whose looke drieth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away, as the thing beareth witness,

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answer.

26 Look not vpon the finnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Think not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that re-uerence thy will,

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beasts, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure, with them which ap-peare worse then beasts, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickness: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no workes of righteousness.

33 For the righteous, which haue laid vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortal generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved towards it?

35 ¶ For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any doth confesse thee, which hath not done amiss.

36 For in this O Lord, thy righteousness, & thy goodnes shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto thee, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered hee mee, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aught, and according vnto thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not utterly consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But I will reioice in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe,

1. King. 3. 46.
2. Chron. 6. 36.

Gen. 4. 4.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowed, cometh not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted take root: so neither shal they all that are brought into the world, be sated.

42 I answered them, and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perissheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perissheth man, which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his parente, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wrath with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, & haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off that thou shouldest loue my creature about me: but I haue oft times drawn neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vorighteous.

48 In this also art thou marueilous before the Highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becometh thee, & hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plentifulnes made ready: the citie is builded: & rest is prepared, perfect goodnes, and absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euil is lealed vp from you, the weaknesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell flyeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortallitie.

55 Therfore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had liberty, they despised the most high: they contemned his Law, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as y^e thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered and sayd, 63 Behold now, O Lord, thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

4 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end, to Y^e.

measur for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked: least more than of the good. 29 The fates iugitimate. 38 Therefore they perish, 38 The wisdom of a woman lamenting.

He answered mee then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shalbe seene an earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest,

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleueed,

8 Shall be prelerued from the said perils, and shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shal they haue pity of themselves, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my Lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand, but despised it,

12 I they must be taught it after dearth by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more careless, to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire how the righteous shall be sated, and whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore sayd, that which I say now, and will speake it hereafter, that there bee many moe of them which perish, then of them that shal be sated, 16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And hee answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seede: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is the husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now time, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the manners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall feed, & by a Law, whereout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and behold there was perill, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease feneu dayer moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eat onely of the floures

Math. 24. 9.

Chap. 9. Math. 20. 14.

of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely, 25 And pray vnto the most high continually) then will I come and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way as hee had commanded me, into the field, which is called Ardah, & there I sate among the flowers, and did eat of the herbs of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen daies, as I sate vpon y^e grasse and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore, 28 I opened my mouth, and beganne to talke before the most high, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldst shew thy selfe vnto vs,* thou declaredst thy self vnto our fathers in y^e wilderness, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And exprefly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israell, and marke my words; thou seed of Iacob.

31 For behold, I sowe my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that yee may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Lawe, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appear, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 * For they that receiued it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, & the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, & vpon the right side* I saw a woman which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voice, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And sayde vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in mind?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorow: for I am forevexed in my mind, & brought very low.

42 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 And she said vnto mee, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie yeeres, I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmaide, and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my country, and wee gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.
47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

C H A P. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commeth together.

But when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbors rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field, as thou test,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the city, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angrily, and sayd, 6 Thou foolish woman above all other, seekest thou not our heauinesse & what cometh vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull, and is sore afflicted, and meureth extremely.

8 Seeing we be all now in heauinesse, and make our moane (for we be all sorrowfull) are thou sory for one sonne?

9 Demand the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee that ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who shouldst then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sory but for one?

12 But if thou wouldst say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth in to her as it came.)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauel, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receivest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goethy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and sayd, 20 Do not so, but be counselled: for how many fallies hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is layd waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

22 Our palterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, & the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, & the Name that is called vpon our vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are bunte, and our Lewites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weakke,

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the feeble hath lost her worship: for thee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauynesse, and put away the multitude of sorowes that the Almighty may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beauey shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and muted what it might be.

26 And behold immediately shee cast out a great voyce, very feareful, so that the earth shook at the noile of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraide, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd, 28 Where is Vriell the Angel * which came to me at y first? for he hath caused mee to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feet and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorry?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according to thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my mind, being hautie, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will informe thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraide: for the most High hath reueiled many secreet things vnto thee.

39 He hath teene thy good purpose, that thou art sorry continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litle while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likeness of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a city builded.

43 And whereas he told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the s^c lution,

44 This woman which thou sawest, she is Sion, and whereas he told thee (euen thee which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that shee sayd vnto thee, that shee was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas hee told thee that shee nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But whereas hee told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when he came into her chamber, that is the fall y is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her, of these things which haue chanced there are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For how the most High seeth, that thou art sorry in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearnesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beauty.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed, 55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beauey and greatnes of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 Betwixt morrow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as hee had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an eagle coming fourth of the sea, and of her sea's there. 37 Of a lyon coming out of the forest.

Then saw I a dream, and beh^{ld} there came vp from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

2 And I saw, and behold, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the winds of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the Eagle flew with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the Eagle stood vp vpon her claws, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe eury one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last.

10 Neuertheles, I saw that the voice went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her bodie.

11 Then I numbered her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one leaſer, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next flood vp, & reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that haſt kept the earth so long: this I ſay vnto thee, before thou beginneſt to appeare no more.

17 There ſhall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, & behold, in proceſſe of time the feathers that followed, flooꝝ vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were ſet vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelve feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles body, but two heads that reſted, and fixe wings.

24 Then ſawe I also that two wings diuided themſelues in on the fixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right ſide: for the ſoure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnder-wings thought to ſet vp themſelues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one ſet vp, but ſhortly it appeared no more.

27 And the ſecond was ſooner gone then the fiſt.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought alſo in themſelues to reigne.

29 And when they ſo thought, behold, there awoke one of the heads that were at reſt, which was in the miſds: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I ſaw, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, & bare rule in it, ouer all thoſe that dwelt vpon earth, with much labour; and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the miſds, ſuddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which alſo ruled liſe wiſe vpon earth, & ouer thoſe that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right ſide, deuoured it that was vpon the left ſide.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which ſaid vnto mee, Looke before thee, and conſider the thing that thou ſeeſt.

37 So I ſaw, and behold as it were a Lion, that roareth, running haſtily out of the wood: and I ſaw that he ſent out a mans voyce vnto the eagle, and ſpoke, and ſaid,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the moſt High ſhall ſay vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the ſoure beaſts remaineſt; whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beaſts that were paſt, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulneſſe, and ouer the whole compoſe of the earth with much wicked oppreſſion, and that dwelleth ſo long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou haſt neejudged the world with truth.

42 Seeing thou haſt doubted the mecke, thou haſt hurt the peaceable, and thou haſt leued hiers, and deſtroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and haſt caſt downe the walls of ſuch as did thee no harme;

43 Therefore iſtly wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the moſt high: & thy pride vnto the mighty.

44 The moſt High alſo haſt looked vpon the preſent times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou eagle nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, nor thy wicked claws, nor alſo thy vaine body, 46 I hat, all the earth may be reſtored, and come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that ſhee may hope for the iudgment and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the ſeueral viſions.

And when the Lyon ſpoke theſe wordes to the Eagle, I ſaw,

1 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, neither did the ſoure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and ſet vp themſelues to reigne, whole kingdome was ſmall and full of vproares.

2 And I ſaw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt, ſo that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my mind, and from the great feare, and ſaid vnto my ſpirit,

3 Loe, this haſt thou done vnto mee in that thou ſearchest out the wayes of the moſt High.

4 Loe, yet am I weary in my minde, and very weak in my ſpirit, and little ſtrength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

5 Therefore now will I beſeech the moſt High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

6 And I ſaid, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy ſight, and if I am iuſtified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deed be come vp before thy face,

7 Comfort me, and ſhew me thy ſeruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible ſight, that thou mayeſt perfectly comfort my ſoule,

8 Seeing thou haſt iudged me worthy to ſtew me the laſt times.

9 ¶ Then he ſaid vnto mee, This is the interpretation of this viſion,

11 The eagle whom thou ſaweſt come vp from the ſea, is the kingdome which was ſene in the viſion of thy brother Daniel,

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there ſhall riſe vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it ſhall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it ſhall twelve kings reigne one after another.

15 Whereof the ſecond ſhall begin to reigne, and ſhall haue no more time then the ſeue

16 And this do the twelve wings ſignifie which thou ſaweſt,

17 As for the voyce that thou hearest speake and that thou sawest not goe out from the heards, but from the middes of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in dangerto fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be reitored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder-wings, which thou sawest hang vnder her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres twiſt, and two of them shall perſh.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be ſoure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads reſting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his laſt dayes shall the moſt High raiſe vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things vnto them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of thoſe that dwell therein, with much grieſe aboute all thoſe that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle:

25 For they shall accompliſh his wickedneſſe, and ſhall finiſh his laſt end, 26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it ſignifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the ſword ſhall deuoure them.

28 For the ſword of the one ſhall deuoure the other: but at the laſt ſhall hee fall by the ſword himſelfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnder-wings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right ſide, this is the interpretation, 30 There are they whom the moſt High hath preferred for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lyon whom thou sawest riſing vp out of the wood, and roaring, and ſpeaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteouſneſſe with all the words that thou haſt heard, 32 This is the wind which the moſt High hath kept for them, and for their wickedneſſe vnto the end, and hee ſhall reſproue them, and caſt before them their ſpoiles.

33 For he ſhall ſet them alie in the iudgement and ſhall rebuke them, and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the reſidue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon my borders, and hee ſhall make them ioyfull, vntill the coming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue ſpoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and theſe are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely haſt bene meet to know this ſecret of the moſt High.

37 Therefore write all theſe things that thou haſt ſeen in a booke, and hide them, 38 And teach them the wiſe of the people, whose hearts thou knoweſt may comprehend and keep theſe ſecrets.

39 But waite thou here yet ſeven dayes moe, for it may be ſhewed thee whatſoever it pleaſeth the moſt High to declare vnto thee, and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that theſe ſeven dayes were paſt, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the leaſt vnto the moſt, and came vnto mee, and ſpake vnto me, ſaying, 41 What haue we offered thee? or what euill haue we done againſt thee, that thou forſakeſt vs and ſieſteſt in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art leſt vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as an haven or ſhip preferred from the tempeſt.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs ſufficient?

44 If thou then forſake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt alſo as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a lowd voyce. Then answered I them, and ſaid, 46 Be of good comfort, O Iſrael, and bee not heauie, thou houſe of Iacob.

47 For the moſt High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation, 48 As for me I haue not forſaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the deſolation of Sion, & I might leeke mercy for the low eſtate of your ſanduary.

49 And now gee your way home euery man, and after theſe dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them.

51 But I remained ſtill in the field ſeven dayes, as he had commanded mee, and did eat onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbes in thoſe dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The viſion of a mind coming forth of the ſea, 3 which became a man. 5 His propertie and power againſt beaſtes. 21 The declaration of ſlow viſion.

ANd after the ſeven daies, I dreamed a dreame by night,

2 And behold, there aroſe a winde from the ſea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and behold, there was a mighty man with the thouſands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were ſcene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth ſmelteth when it feelteth the fire.

5 After theſe things I ſaw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the ſoure windes of the heauen, to fight againſt the man that came out from the ſea.

6 And I looked, and behold, hee graued himſelfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue ſene the cuntry or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I ſaw after theſe things, and behold, all they which came to fight againſt him, were fore afraid, and yet they durſt fight.

9 Neuertheleſſe when hee ſaw the ſierceneſſe of the multitude that came, hee liſted not vp his hand: for hee held no ſword nor any inſtrument of warre:

10 But onely, as I ſaw, he ſent out of his mouth as it had bene a blaſt of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue hee caſt out ſparkes and ſtormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and let with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 ¶ Afterward, sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruante these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew mee now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Woe vnto them that shall bee left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind:

17 For they that were not left, were in heauenne.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are laid vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and vnto those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier that hee that is in danger should fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered hee mee, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shall beare the danger in that time hee shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most Mightie.

24 Know therefore, that they which bee left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea,

26 The fame is he whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them, that are left behind,

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme,

28 And that hee neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will beginne to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, city against city, and place against place,

* and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my sonne be reuealed, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But hee shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen toorth without any hands.

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, of those for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were carried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Oleeas the King, whom Salmanassar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and carried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt:

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates, 44 For the most High then shewed them signes * and staid the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

45 For thorow the countrey there was a great journey, euen of a yeere and an halfe, and the same region is called I Arareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shall hold fill the springs of the riuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord shewe mee this, wherfore haue I seene the man comming vp from the mids of the sea?

52 And he said vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon the earth see my Sonne or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreames which thou sawest, and whereby thou only are lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Lawe, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, & sought it.

55 Thy life hath thou ordered in wisdom, and hast colled vnderstanding thy mother,

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most High: and after these other dayes I will

I will ſpeake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, gloryſying and praying the moſt High for the wonders which he did in time.

58 Which hee gouerneth, and ſuch things as come in their ſeaſons and there I ſate three dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

How God appeared to Moſes in the buſh, 10 All things decline to age, 15 The laſter times were then the former, 29 The ingrainde of life: 35 The reſurrexion and iudgement.

Vpon the third day I ſate vnder an Oke, and behold, there came forth a voice vnto me out of the buſh, and ſaid, Eſdras. Eſdras.

2 And I ſaid, Here am I, Lord, and ſtood vp vpon my feete.

3 Then ſaid hee vnto me, * In the buſh I reſcued my ſelfe, and ſpake vnto Moſes, when my people ſlauered in Egypt:

4 And I ſent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long ſeaſon,

5 And I told him many wonders, and ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, ſaying,

6 Theſe wordes ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide.

7 And now I ſay vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the ſignes that I haue ſhewed, and the dreames that thou haſt ſeene, and the interpretations which thou haſt heard.

8 For thou ſhalt be taken away from all, and thou ſhalt remaine henceforth with my counſell, and with ſuch as bee like thee, vntill the times bee ended.

9 For the world hath loſt his youth, and the times begin to waxe old.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore ſet thine houſe in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort ſuch of them as be in trouble and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: caſt away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weakeneſſe, 14 And ſet aſide thy moſt grievous thoughts, and haſt thee to depart from theſe times.

15 For greater evils then thoſe which thou haſt ſeene now, ſhall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reaſon of age, the more ſhall the evils be increaſed vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lyes are at hand: for now haſteth the viſion to come, that thou haſt ſeene.

18 Then answered I, and ſaid before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou haſt commanded mee, and reforme the people, which are preſent; but they that ſhall bee borne afterward, who ſhall I admoniſh them?

20 Thus the world is ſet in darkeneſſe, and they that dwell therein are without light.

21 For thy Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the wordes that ſhall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, ſend the holy Ghoſt into me, and I will write all that hath beene done in the world ſince the beginning, which was written in thy Lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And hee answered me, ſaying, Goe, and gather the people, and ſay vnto them, that they ſeek thee not for fortie dayes.

24 But prepare thee many box tables, and take with thee theſe ſiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selema, Scanus and Aſiel, which are ready to write ſwiftly.

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderſtanding in thine heart, which ſhall not be put out till the things bee performed, which thou ſhalt begin to write.

26 And then ſhalt thou declare ſome things openly vnto the perſon men, and ſome things ſhalt thou ſhew ſecretly vnto the wiſe: to morrow this houſe ſhalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and ſaid, 28 Heare theſe wordes, O Iſrael.

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were ſtrangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

30 And receiued the Lawe of life, * which they kept not, which yee alſo haue tranſgreſſed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye alſo haue done vnrighteouſly, and haue not kept the waies which the moſt High commanded you.

32 And forſomuch as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that hee had giuen you.

33 And now are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if ſo be that ye will ſubdue your owne vnderſtanding, and reforme your heart, ye ſhall be kept aliue, and after death ſhall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death ſhall the iudgement come when we ſhall liue againe: & then ſhall the names of the righteous bee maniſeſt, and the workes of the vngodly ſhall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto mee, nor ſeekeme theſe forty dayes.

37 So I tooke the ſiue men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, ſaying, Eſdras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth and behold, hee reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderſtanding, and wiſedome grewe in my breaſt: for my ſpirit was ſtrengthened in memory, 41 And my mouth was opened, & ſhut no more.

42 The moſt High gaue vnderſtanding vnto the ſiue men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderſtood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I ſpake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In foure dayes they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the moſt High ſpake, ſaying, The firſt that thou haſt written, publiſh openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it:

46 But keepe the ſeauenty laſt that thou haſt giue them to the wiſe among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderſtanding and and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuier of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophetic of venus u. rerrane. 2 The euil that shall come on the world. 3 The Lord will avenge the innocents blood. 12 Egypt shall amene. 16 Sedition, 20 and punishment upon the king of the earth. 24 Curst are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres opene in the earth. 33 God is the reuenger of his euil.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophetic, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord,

2 And cause them to bee written in a letter: for they are truthfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaitfulness of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For every vnfaitfull shall die in his vnfaitfulness.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked works are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,* the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt:

11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, & will destroy all the land therof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall bee smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible storie.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword and their destruction draweth nere; and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shall besedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regarde their king, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be afraid, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no peticie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall bee spoiled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompence them in their bofome: thus saith the Lord God,

22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath; and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandments, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: desire not my sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, & ye shall remaine in them: for God will not deuier you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth from the East.

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many chaets, and the multitude of them shall be carried as the wind vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Even the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the bores of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the euenie besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their host shall be feare and dread, and strite among their kings.

34 Behold clouds from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another, & they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their own starre, and the blood shall be from the sword vnto the belly.

36 And the dung of man vnto the camels litter.

37 And there shall be great fearefulness and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath shall bee afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, & part from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise, and shall open it with the cloud which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West winde, shall be destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shall be lit vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may poure out euery his place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation.

41 As fire and baile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all riues with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall beake down the cities and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course, vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

63 Thy children shall they cary away captiue, and shall spoile thy substance, and marre the beau-tie of thy face.

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can

26 And the earth shalbe left walte, & the fields thereof cheret of shall waxe old, and her wayes and all her pathes shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauell there through.

27 The virgins shall mourne, having no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, having no husbands: theu daughters shall mourne, having no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, yee seruants of the Lorde, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lorde, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lorde speaketh: behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke,

31 As a traouling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when 5 houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they tary not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles bee euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that wil lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as he that winneth it: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reap: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry net, to as the widows.

38 Therefore, they that labour, labour in vain:

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more wil I be angry against them for their finnes, sayth the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest & vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquity, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when she shall come that shall bridle the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like therevnto, nor to the workes thereof: for ouer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which sayth, I haue not sinned before the Lorde God and his glory.

46 Behold the Lord * knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts.

47 * For assoone as he sayd, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them.

49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vault: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to poure out floods from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 He made man, & put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life and vnderstanding,

54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, and hath feared all the hidde things in the secretes of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your finnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and fought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sins are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne finnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What wil ye doe, or how wil ye hide your finnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your finnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idoles:

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tryed by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord, behold, the daies of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepe my Commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your finnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift thee felues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their finnes, and covered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with thornes, and the path thereof covered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Tobias was merciful.

3 I Tobias haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren which were of my nation, and came with me to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne country in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthahim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated and built vp for all ages.

2 And when I saw abundance of meat, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man fouer thou shalt finde of our brethren which hath remembered God, and loe I will tarry for thee.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner those which feare God.

3 But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

Tobit leauing his sheils, taketh vp the dead body into his house to bury it.

CHAP. III.

1 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto hir. 12 Her prayer heard. 17 The Angel Raphael iours.

Then I, being sorrowfull, did weepe, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercy and trueth, and thou iudgetst truly and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my finnes or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy comandements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs. * for a spoile and vnto captivity, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom wee are dispersed, and now I| thou hast many and iust causes,

5 To doe with me according to my finnes, nd my fathers, because we haue not kept thy comandements, neither haue walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with me as I meritt best vnto thee, & command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for mee to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: command therefore that I may be dissolued out of this disfreite, and goe into the euerslasting place: turne not thy face away from mee.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day, that in Ecabatae a cite of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maids.

8 Because the hrd beene married to seven husbands, whom Almodes the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doeſt thou not know, I said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doſt thou I| beat vs for them? If they be dead, ge thy waies hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, she was very sorrowfull, so that shee thought to haue strangled herselfe. And shee said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shal slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorrow.

11 Then shee prayed toward the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy wo k es praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any manchild to be his heire, neither any I| neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seven husbands are now dead, and why should I liue?

But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, and to pitie me that I doe no more heare reproch, 16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the Maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that vs, to take away the whiteness of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Almodes the euill spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came down from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

In that day Tobit remembered* the fluer which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a city of Media,

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wisied for death, whereto doe I not call for my ionne Tobias, that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when hee had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, and despiſe not thy mothe, but I| enour her all the daies of thy life, & do that which shal please her, & anger her not.

4 Remember, my ionne, how many daies shee suffered when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when she dyeth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 I| yence, let our Lord God alwaies before thine eyes, as thou shalt be set to sinne, or to transgresse the comandements of God. Doe vp rightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vngiftednesse, for it thou deale truly, thy doings shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue* almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turneth thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8* Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of needfullnesse, 10 * Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come to darkenesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most Hie, to all them which vte it.

12 Beware of all * whoredome my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strangewoman to wife, which is act of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob are our fathers fro the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they married wies of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.

13 Now therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despiſe not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, & much trouble, and in fiercenes is scarcity and great pouertie: for I| fiercenes is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary w thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou fere God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect my sonne, in all things that thou doest, & be wel instructed in all thy conuersation.

CHAP. V.

Tobias ſent to Rages. 4. Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conſole him.

Tobias then answered, & ſaid, Father, I will doe all things which thou haſt commanded mee.

2 But how can I receiue the ſiluer, ſeeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand-writing, & ſaid vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to ſeek a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and ſaid vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knoweſt thou thoſe places well?

6 To whom the Angel ſaid, I will go with thee, for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias ſaid to him, Tary for me till I tell my father.

8 Then he ſaid vnto him, Goe, and tary not: ſo hee went in and ſaid to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will goe with mee. Then hee ſaid, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they ſaluted one another.

10 Then Tobit ſaid vnto him, Brother, ſhew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he ſaid, Doeſt thou ſeek a ſtocke or family, or an hired man to goe with thy ſonne? Then Tobit ſaid vnto him, I would knowe brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he ſaid, I am of the kindred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit ſaid, ¶ Thou art welcome, brother: be not thou angry with me, becauſe I haue inquired to know thy kindred and thy family: for thou art my brother, of an honeſt & good ſtocke: for I know Ananias and Ionathas, ſonnes of that great Samaias: for wee went together to Ieruſalem to worſhip, and offered the firſt borne, and the tenth of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great ſtocke.

14 But tell me, What wages ſhall I giue thee?

wilt thou a groat a day and things neceſſary, as to mine owne ſonne?

15 Yea moreouer if ye returne ſafe, I will adde ſomething to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then ſaid he to Tobias, Prepare thy ſelfe for the iourney, & goe you on Gods Name. And when his ſonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father ſaid, Goe thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen proſper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both and departed, and the dog of the yong man with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and ſaide to Tobit, Why haſt thou ſent away on ſonne? is hee not the ſtaffe of our hand to miniſter vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not laid money vpon money, but that it had bene ſo away in reſpect of our ſonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth ſuffice vs.

20 Then ſaid Tobit, Be not careful my ſiſter: hee ſhall returne in ſafety, and thine eyes ſhall ſee him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney ſhalbe proſperous, and hee ſhall returne ſafe.

22 Then hee made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fiſh. 7 Raphael ſtrength him certaine medicines. 10 Hee conſolatieth him to ſerue Sarra.

And as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, & there abode.

2 And when the yong man went to waſh himſelfe, a fiſh leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angels ſaid vnto him, Take the fiſh. And the yong man tooke the fiſh, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel ſaid, Cut the fiſh, and take the heart and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp ſurely.

5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had roſted the fiſh, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man ſaide to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fiſh?

7 And he ſaid vnto him, Touching the heart, & the liuer, if a deuill or an euil ſpirit trouble any, we muſt make a perſume of this before the man or the woman, and he ſhalbe no more vexed.

8 As for the gall anoint a man that hath white- neſſe in his eyes, and he ſhalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 the Angel ſaid to the yong man, Brother, to day we ſhal lodge with Raguel, who is thy colin: he alſo hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will ſpeak for her that ſhe may be giue thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth the right of her pertaine, ſeeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred.

12 And the maid is faire and wife: now therefore heare me, & I will ſpeak to her father, that we may make the marriage when we are returned frō Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another according to the Law of Moſes: els he ſhould deſerue death, becauſe the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maid hath bene giuen to ſeuē men, who all died in the marriage chamber:

Tobias goeth

Chap. 1. 4.

Tobias ſuaded of a fiſh, is deliuered by the Angel.

* Num. 27. 8.
and 36. 8.

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which burneth no body but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of mee to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doeſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marry a wife of thine owne looke, wherefore heare me, O my brother: for thou beſt thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill ſpirit: for this ſame night ſhall he be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou ſhalt go into the marriage chamber, thou ſhalt take of the hot coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fiſh.

17 Which if the ſpirit ſee ſmell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou ſhalt come to her, riſe vp both of you, & pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pity on you, and ſaue you: feare not, for he is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, & thou ſhalt keepe her, and ſhe ſhall goe with thee: moreover I ſuppoſe that ſhe ſhall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard theſe things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marryeth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the houſe of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had ſaluted one another, ſhee brought them into the houſe.

2 Then ſaid Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my couſin!

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they ſaid, that they were of the tribe of Nephthaliſim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he ſaid to them, Doe ye know Tobit our kintman? And they ſaid, We know him. Then ſaid he, Is he in good health?

5 And they ſaid, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias ſaid, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped and kiſſed him, and wept,

7 And bleſſed him, and ſaid vnto him, Thou art the ſonne of an honeſt and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, he was ſorrowfull and wept.

8 And likewiſe Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover they receiued them with a ready mind, and after that they had killed a ſcarpe of the flocke, they ſet much meate on the table. Then ſaid Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth thoſe things whereof thou ſpakeſt in the way, that this buſineſſe may be diſpatched.

9 So hee communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel ſaid to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou ſhouldeſt marrye my daughter. neuertheleſſe, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to ſeuſen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheleſſe be thou of a good courage and merrie. But Tobias ſaid, I will eate nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel ſaid then, Marry her then according to the cuſtome: for thou art her couſin, and ſhe is thine. God which is mercifull, make this propitious to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and ſhe came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, ſaying, Behold, take her after the * Law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he bleſſed them, 14 And called his wife Edna, and hee tooke a book, and wrote a contract, and ſealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and ſaid vnto her, Siſter, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when ſhe had done, as he had bidden her, ſhe brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And ſaid vnto her, Bee of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy ſorrow: be of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill ſpirit. 4. He prayeth to God with his wife. 11. Raguel prepareth a graue for him ſonnes law. 16. Raguel bleſſeth his Lord.

AND when they had ſupped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as hee went, hee remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fiſh thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which ſmell when the euill ſpirit had ſmelled, he fled into the || vmoſt parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both ſhut in, Tobias roſe out of the bed, and ſaid, Siſter, ariſe and let vs pray, that God would haue pity on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to ſay, Bleſſed art thou, O God of our fathers, and bleſſed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens bleſſe thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madeſt Adam, and gaueſt him * Eue his wife for an helpe, and ſtay: of them came mankind: thou haſt ſaid, It is not good, that a man ſhould bee alone: let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himſelfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my ſiſter for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And ſhe ſaid with him, Amen.

9 So they ſlept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead alſo?

11 But when Raguel was come into his houſe,

12 Hee ſaid to his wife Edna, ſend one of the maids, and let them ſee whether hee bee aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both ſleepe, 14 And came forth, and told them that hee was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praized God, and ſaid, O God, thou art worthy to bee praized with all pure and holy praiſe: therefore let thy Saints praiſe thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praiſe thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praized, O Lord: for thou haſt made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I ſuſpected: but thou haſt dealt with vs according to great mercy.

Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias.

Tobias prayeth.

* Gen. 2. 7. 18. 25.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

Raguel praizeth God for Tobias.

Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

17 Thou art to bee praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health with joy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an oath, that hee should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired,

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods & returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead,

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne & I shal not depart.

4 But my Father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sorry.

5 So Raphael went out & came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand-writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, & gaue them to him,

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his wife tarry long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the journey were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very fory.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he carieth: and he began to bewaile him, and laide,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: bee not careful, for he is safe.

7 But the said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead, and the went out euery day by the way which they went, neither did the eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourteene daies of & wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that hee should rarie there.

Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see mee.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with mee, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let mee goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and monney.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And hee said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kiissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not intreat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How hee met receiued. 10 His father bath his sight restored and praises the Lord.

After these things Tobias went ^{the} way, praising God that he had giuen him a pleasant journey, & blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haite before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dogge followed them.

5 Now Anna fate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she saw comming, shee said to his father, Behold thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him,

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, hee shall rub and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from hencefoorth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore and stumbled, but his sonne ran vnto him, 11 And toke hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Bee of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell on his necke.

14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pittie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, and told his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, maruelled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pittie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God bee blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed bee thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

Tobias declares to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, & the which hee would recompense. 11, 15 Raphael declares that he is an Angel of God.

Then

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

Tobias care for his sonne. The Angel goeth on Tobias messenger.

The father and mother are in heaviness for Tobias tarrying.

Chap. x. v.

Raguel giueth Tobias, and his wife leaue to depart.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and saide vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieve mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For hee hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the old man said, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in frairie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and said vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, & praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a king, but it is honourable to reueale the workes of God: doe that which is good & no euil shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousness. A little with righteousness, is better then much with varietie of almes: it is better to giue almes then to lay vp gold.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousness, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I said it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueale the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memory your prayer before the Holy one, and when thou diddest butie the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieved to rise vp and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deed was not hid from mee: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seven ho'y Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vp on their faces: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praye him in all ages.

19 * All these daies I did appeare vnto you: but I did neither eat nor drink, but you saw it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderful workes of God, & how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiving of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

Then Tobit wrote a prayer of reioicing, and said, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome,

2 * For he doeth scourge, and hath pitie: hee leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoid his hand.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles. ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatness, and extoll him before all the liui g: for hee is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 He hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercy againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vpiquely before him, then will he turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what he will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the euerlasting king: I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power and greatness to a full nation. O ye sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercy, and haue pitie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the king of heauen, & shall reioyce in his greatness.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousness.

9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, hee will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lord due, and praise the euerlasting king, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, euergifts to the king of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and bee glad for the children of the iust: for they shall be gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bin sorrowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shall be built vp with saphires, and emerauds, and thy walls with precious stones, and thy towres, & thy bulwarks with pure gold.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall be paved with berall, and carbuncle and stones of Ophir.

18 And all her streetes shall say || Halleluiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed bee God which hath extolled || it for euer.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne, 4 Hierophrophie of the destruction of Ninene, 7 and the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple, 13 The death of Tobit and his wife 14 Tobit aged and dead.

SO Tobit made an end of praising God.

2 And hee was eight and fiftie yere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and he gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when hee was very aged, hee called his sonne, and fixe of his sonnes sonnes, and saide to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.)

He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with temptation.

4 Goe into Media my sonne: for I surely be-lieue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather bee in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered, in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall bee desolate, and the house of God in it shall bee burned, and shalbe desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, untill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished they shall returne from euery place out of capti-uitie, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spokē therof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shall burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the Commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury mee honestly, and thy mother with me: but tary no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of sight he brought him into darkenesse, and how he rewarded him again, yet Achiacharus was saved, but the other had his reward: for hee went downe into dark-nesse. Manasse gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliuer.
When he had said these things, I see gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundredth & eight and fifty yeere old, and he buried him honourably.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife & children to Ecobatane to Raguel his father in law.

13 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father & mother in law honourably, & he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecobatane in Media, being an hundred and seuen and twenty yeere old.

15 But before hee died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

C H A P. I.

2 The building of Ecabatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad and Iouer came him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecabatane the wall's round about, of hewen stone, three cubits broad, and sixe cubits long, and made the height of the wall feuenty cubits, and the bredth thereof fifty cubits,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof in the foundation three score cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on his feuenthy cubits, & the bredth of them forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen.

5 Then in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coasts of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, & all that dwelt by Euphrates, & Tygris, & Hydaspes, & the countrey of Arioch king of the Elimeans, & very many nations assembled themselues to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galilee, and the great field of Egipt, and

9 And to all that were in Samaria, & the cities thereof, & beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, & Betane, & Chellus, and Cades, & the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, & Ramesse, & all the land of Gesem,

10 Vnto Ilone came to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one came to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of his countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassa-dours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and swore by his throne and kingdome, that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, & that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against king Arphaxad in the feuenth yeere, and he prevaild in his battell: for he ouer-threw all the power of Arphaxad, and all his hor-men, and all his chariots.

14 And he wan his cities, and came to Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame,

15 He rooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thorow with his darts, and destroyed him utterly that day.

16 So he returned after ward to Nineue, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time and banquetted both hee, and his armie an hundredth and twenty dayes.

C H A P. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commended presumptionally that all people should be brought in subjection, & and to destroy the cities disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes against him. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

And

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was take in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

1 So hee called vnto him all his officers, and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

2 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

3 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

4 Thus saith the great king, the lord of the whole earth, behold thou shalt goe forth from my presence, & take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundred and twentieth thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand.

5 And thou shalt goe against all the West country, because they disobeyed my commandement.

6 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land & the water: for I wil goe forth in my wrath against them, & wil couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I wil giue them as a spoile vnto them.

7 So that they wounded shall fill their valleys, and their riuers, and their flood shall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

8 And I wil bring their captiuitie to the utmost parts of all the earth.

9 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their country: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for mee vntill the day that I rebuke them.

10 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wherefoeuer thou goest.

11 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdom, whatfoeuer I haue spoken, that wil I doe by mine hand.

12 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

13 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the army of Assur.

14 And hee mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundred and twenty thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

15 And hee let them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

16 And hee tooke camels and asses for the burdens a very great number, & sheepe, and oxen, and goats without number for their prouision.

17 And vitale for euery man of the army, and very much gold and silver out of the kings house.

18 Then he went forth and all his power to go before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, & to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

19 A great multitude also of sundry forts came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

20 And they went forth of Nineueh three daies journey toward the country of Beelileth, and pitched from Beelileth, neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

21 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footmen and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines.

22 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Assies, and the children of Imael, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

23 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were vpon the riuier of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.

24 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

25 He compailed also all the children of Median, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

26 Then he went downe into the country of Damascus, in the time of wheat haruest, and burnt vp all their fields, and destroyed their flocks and the herds, he robbed their cities, and spoiled their country, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

27 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon & Tyrus, and them that dwell in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwell in Iemnaan: and they that dwell in Azotus, and Acalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people submit to Olofernes. 2 He destroyed their gods, that Nabuchodonosor might rule in the world.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying.

1 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great king: wee lie downe before thee: vie vs as shalbe good in thy sight.

2 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flocks, and our herds, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vie them as it pleasest thee.

3 Behold, euen our cities, and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

4 So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

5 Then came hee downe toward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the high cities, and tooke out of them cholen men for the warre.

6 So they and all the counrey round about receiued them with crownes, and daunces, and with timbrels.

7 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was enioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, & that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

8 Also he came against Edraelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great fruit of Iudea.

9 And he pitched betwene Geba, & a city of the Scythians, and there he taried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid, and fledde their country. 2 Hee com the Priest writeth to Beelshazzar, that they should forsake him. 3 They cryed to the Lord, and lauded themselves before him.

NOW the children of Israel that dwell in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought,

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captivity, and loe late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethora, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Efora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the high mountaines, and walled the vill. ges that were in them, and put in victuals for the prouision of warre: for their fields were of late ruyid.

6 Also Ioachim the high Priest which was in those dayes in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Efdraelon toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Iudea, and it was easie for let them that would, come vp, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioachim the hie Priest had comanded them with the Ancients of all y people of Israel which dwelt at Ierusalem.

9 Then cried every man of Israel to God with great seruencie, and their soules w great affection.

10 Both they and their wiues, and their children, and their cattel, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar, 12 And cried to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Ioachim the hie Priest, and all the priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their miters, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Aschiy the Animonie death declare 100 officers of the meener of the israelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for war, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the high hills, and had layd impediments in the champaigne country.

2 Wherewith hee was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast,

3 And hee said vnto them, Shew mee, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meet mee, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then * said Achier the captaine of all the sons of Animon, Let my lord heare y word of the mouth of his seruant, & I wil declare vnto thee the truth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou emanist: & there shal no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant,

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chalda.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan where they dwelt, and were increased with gold and siluer, and with very much cattell.

10 But when as famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so y one coul not number their linage.

11 ¶ Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vied deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, & he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

13 And * God dried the red sea in their presence,

14 And * brought them into mount Sinaa and Cades-barne, and call forth all that dwell in the wilderness.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Efebon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Phereisites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichen, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull fort, * and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But * now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, & haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there there be any fault in this people, so that they have sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, leaſt their Lord defend them, and their God before them: and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the Sea side and in Meab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mighty armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O Lord Olofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. vii.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 24 Achior is deliuered into the hands of sheua of Bethulia. 28 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the councill was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, laid vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Meab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, because their God will defend them: and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

3 Hee will ſend his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but wee his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For wee will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, and their fields shall bee filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall venterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth hath said, euen hee hath sayd, None of ny words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hirſling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that ſeue me, passe thorow thy ſides, and thou shalt fall among their ſlaue, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the high cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fail: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruantsooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: & they went out from the middle of the plaine into the mountaines, & came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with stings, and kept them from coming vp by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foute of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him, and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie.

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Charanis the sonne of Goethuſiel, and Charanis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly, and they let Achior in the midst of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered, and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the midst of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the heuſe of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cried vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, I beheld their pride, and haue mercy on the babies of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias took him out of the assembly into his house, & made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel at that night for help.

CHAP. vii.

Olofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Judeans and others against the Iſraelites. 23 The Bethulians murmur against their gouernours for lacke of water.

¶ He next day Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people which were come to take his part, that they should remove their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the freits of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then the strong men removed their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of war was an hundred thousand and ſeuentie footmen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage & other men that were aloofe among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim vnto Beibaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Bſadraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and layde euery one to his neighbour. Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the high mountaines nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of war, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the fight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and let garions of men of warre ouer them, and reasonned toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Eſau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the Sea coast, and said,

9 Let our captaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie,

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not truſt in their ſpeares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, becauſe it is not eaſie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not againſt them in battell aray, and there ſhall not ſo much as one man of thy people periſh.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe ſtill the water of the cuntry, that cometh forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: ſo ſhalt thiſt kill them, and they ſhall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will goe vp to the tops of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children ſhall be conſumed with famine: & before the ſword come againſt them, they ſhall be ouerthrowen in the ſtreets where they dwell.

15 Thus ſhalt thou render them an euill reward, becauſe they rebelled and obeyed not thy perſon peaceably.

16 And theſe words pleaſed Olofernes and all his ſouldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had ſpoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, & with them fue thouſand of the Aſſyrians & they pitched in the valley, & took the waters, & the fountaines of the waters of the children of Iſrael.

18 Then the children of Eſau went vp with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer againſt Dothaim, & they ſent ſome of themſelues towards the South, & toward the Eaſt, ouer againſt Rebel, which is neere vnto Chui, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the reſt of the army of the Aſſyrians camped in the field, and covered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Iſrael cried vnto the Lord their God, becauſe their heart failed: for all their enemies had compaſſed them about, & there was no way to eſcape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Aſſur remained about them, both their foot men, chariots and horſemen, foure and thirty dayes: ſo that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia, 21 And the ciſternes were empty, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by meaſure.

22 Therefore their children ſwooned, and their wiues & yong men ſailed for thiſt, and fell downe in the ſtreets of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no ſtrength in them.

23 Then all the people aſſembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loud voyce, and ſaid before all the Elders,

24 The Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that you haue not required peace of the children of Aſſur.

25 For now we haue no helper: but God hath ſold vs into their handes, that wee ſhould be thrown down before them with thiſt and great deſtruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a ſpoile to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a ſpoile vnto them, then to die for thiſt: for wee will be his ſeruants that we may liue, and not ſee the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witneſſe againſt you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers which puniſheth vs, according to our finnes and the finnes of our fathers, that yee lay not theſe things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one conſent in the middes of the aſſembly, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a loud voyce.

30 Then ſaid Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: Let vs wait yet five dayes, in the which ſpace the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he wil not forſake vs in the end.

31 And if theſe dayes paſſe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So hee ſeparated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their citie, and ſent their wiues and their children into their houſes, and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life & conuerſation of Iudeth, &c. She rebuketh the ſauineſſe of the gouernours. 12 She ſheweth that they ſhould not tempt God, but waite vpon him for ſuccour. 33 Her enterpriſe againſt the enemies.

Now at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the ſonne of Ox, the ſonne of Ioseph, the ſonne of Oziel, the ſonne of Elcia, the ſonne of Ananias, the ſonne of Gedon, the ſonne of Raphaim, the ſonne of Acito, the ſonne of Elihu, the ſonne of Eliab, the ſonne of Nathanael, the ſonne of Samael, the ſonne of Salafadai, the ſonne of Iſrael.

2 And Manafſes was her husband, of her ſtock and kindred, who died in the barley harueſt.

3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bound ſheaves in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and hee fell vpon his bed, and died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her houſe a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And ſhe made her a tent vpon her houſe, and put on ſackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And ſhe faſted all the dayes of her widowhood, ſauethe day before the Sabbath, & the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feaſts and ſolemne daies of the houſe of Iſrael.

7 She was alſo of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Manafſes had left her golde and ſiluer, and men ſeruants, and maid ſeruants, and cattell, and poſſeſſions, where hee remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for ſhe feared God greatly.

9 Now when hee heard the euill words of the people againſt the gouernour, becauſe they ſuained for for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the word that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had * sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiewe dayes.)

10 Then the sent her maid, that had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris & Charmis the ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and she sayd vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this oth which yee made and pronounced betwene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now yee seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, & know his mind, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he wil not helpe vs within these fiewe dayes, he hath power to defend vs when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore bind the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatened, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For these appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath been aforetime.

19 For * the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God, therefore we trust if he wil not deſpise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shalbe taken, shal Iuda be so famous: for our Sanctuary shalbe ſpoyled, & he wil require the profanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the country, and the deſolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, whereſoeuer we shal be in bondage, and we shal be an offence & a reproch to all them that poſſeſſe vs.

23 For our ſeruitude shal not be directed by fauour, but by Lord our God shal turn it to diſhonor.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs ſhew an example to our brethren, becauſe their hearts depend vpon vs and the Sanctuary, and the Houſe, and the altar reſt vpon vs.

25 Moreover, let vs giue thanks to God our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to * Abraham, and how hee tried Iſaac, and all that hee did to * Iacob in * eſtopotamia of Syria, when hee kept the ſheep of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For he hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord puniſheth for inſtruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then ſaid Ozias to her, All that thou haſt ſpoken, haſt thou ſpoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to reſiſt thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wiſedome is knowne, but from the beginning of thy lile all the people haue knowne thy wiſedome: for the deuce of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirſtie, and compelled vs to doe vnto them as wee haue ſpoken, and haue brought vs to an othe which wee may not tranſgrefle.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, becauſe thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may ſend vs raine to fill our ciſternes, & that we may ſaue more.

32 Then ſaid Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing, which ſhall be declared in all generations to the children of our nation.

33 You ſhal ſtand this night in the gate, & I will go forth with mine hand: aid & within the daies that yee haue promiſed to deliuer the citie to our enemies the Lord will viſit Iſrael by mine hand.

34 But inquire not of myne after: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finiſhed that I doe.

35 Then ſaid Ozias and the princes vnto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

Iudeth humbleth her ſelfe before the Lord, & maketh her prayer for the deliuerance of her people, 7 againſt the pride of the Aſſyrians. 12 God is the helpe of the humble.

Then Iudeth ſell vpon her face, and put aſhes vpon her head, and put off the ſackcloth wherewith ſhe was clothed. And about the time that the incenſe of the evening was offered in Ieruſalem in the houſe of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voyce, and ſayd,

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gaueſt a ſword to take vengeance of the ſtrangers which opened the wombe of the maide, and deſiled her, and diſcovered the thigh with ſhame, and polluted the wombe to reproche (for thou haſt commanded that it ſhould not ſo be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gaueſt their Princes to the ſlaughter, for they were deceived and waſhed their beds with blood) and haſt ſtriken the ſeruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And haſt giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to be captiues, & all their poyle for a booty to the children of thou loudeſt: which were moued with thy zeale, & abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me alſo a widow:

5 For thou haſt wrought theſe things afore and theſe, and the things that ſhal be after, and thou conſiderſt the things that are preſent, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doeſt purpoſe are preſent, and ſay, Behold, wee are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are fore-knownen.

7 Behold, the Aſſyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themſelues with horſes and horſemen: they glory in the ſtrength of their footmen, they truſt in ſhield, ſpeare and bowe, and ſling, and doe not knowe that thou art the Lord that breakeſt the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their ſtrength by thy power, and breaketh their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceived.

10 * Smite by the deceit of my lips the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men, but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weak, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the Saviour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer.

13 And grant me words & craft, & a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew evidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Judeh hideth her selfe, and goeth forth of the citie, 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Olofernes.

NOW after she had ceased to cry vnto God of Israel, & had made an end of all these words.

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maid, and went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherwith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, and anointed it with much oynment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of glasse. wherewith she was clad during the life of Manassas her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feet, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and eareings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely, to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maid a bottel of wine, and a pot of oyle, & filled a scrip with flour, and with drie figs, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beauty, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprise to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto mee, that I may go forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commanded the gates to be opened, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her maid with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chief captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without loosing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beauty, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hastened to come down to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, & he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a charet for her and her maid, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro thoroughout the campe: for her coming was bruited among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for she stood without the tent of Olofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marvelled at her beauty, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes gard went out, and all his seruants and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopy, which was woven with purple & gold, and emeralds, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they carried lamps of silver before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth, 2 and saith the causes of her coming, 3 She deceiveth him by her faire words.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would true Nabuchodonosor for the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for salegard; be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth sayd vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shalbe made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the field, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall lue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisdom and thy prudent spirit, and it is declared thorow the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdomes, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feats of warre maruelous.

9 Now * as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy councill, wee haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them a l that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but let it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the word preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore, lett my lord should bee frustrate, and voyd of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne, whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not beleeuing,

12 (For because their victuals faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things, that God had forbidden them to eat by his Lawes.

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheat, and the riches of the wine, and of the oile which they had reserved and sanctified for the Priestes that Ierue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreover they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate.)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, & God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and wot shippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant go out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuile vnto me when they shall commit their finnes.

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine army, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will lead thee thorow the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will let thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dog shall not bark with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto mee according to my foreknowledge, and I am tent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her word pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they manleued at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beauty of face, and wisdom of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes sayd vnto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowned thorow out the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute herself with the meat of the Gentiles.
5 She maketh her request that wee might goe out by night to pray. 12 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then hee commanded to bring her in where his treasures were laide, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth said, * I may not owe of this, lest there should bee an offence, but I can Iuffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes laide vnto her, If the things that thou hast should faile, how should wee giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord work by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmaide may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his guard that they should not slay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herselfe in a fountaine, even in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So shee returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge ouer all that he had, Go, and perswade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eat and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we do not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and sayd, Let not this faire mayd make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs joyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gain say my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleasest him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her mayd went and spread forth her skinnies on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vie, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Now when Iudeth came and sate downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merry with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then shee tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things that her mayd had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then hee had drunken at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Olofernes necke.
10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOW when the evening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 ¶ Now Iudeth had commanded her mayd to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her coming forth as she did daily: for she said, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in his heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, & to execute mine enterprises to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen mee, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And shee smote wife vpon his necke, with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after the went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maid.

10 And she put it in her scrip of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and praessing thorow the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then said Iudeth as she off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voice, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their city, and they called the Elders of the city.

13 And they ranne all together both final and great: for it was about their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, & made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then she said to them with a loude voyce, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrip, and shewed it, and said vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, and behold the canopie wherein hee did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord Iudeth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and he hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villeny.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed bee thou, O our GOD, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God about all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a strait way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 21 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

THEN said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your wall.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shal goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before fore your face.

4 So you and all that inhabit the coastes of Israel, shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come & saw the head of Olofernes, in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths feet, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, & in all nations, which, hearing thy name, shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forth vntill that houre she spake vnto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeuing in God vnfaignedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 As soone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, & euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, & found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Iudeth where she vied to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people, and cried.

18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians army heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, & there was a cry and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

2 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 3 The Itraclites pursue them. 4 Iudeth the Itraclite commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth, and to praye for her.

And when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in sight of his neighbor: but altogether amazed they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountains.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warrior among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomalthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, & Cholia, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galilee chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus, and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almightie Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it and laid it on her nules, and made ready her charrets, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, & made a dance among them for her, and she took branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with Oliues, & her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouths.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praiseth God with a song. 19 Shee offereth vnto the Lord Olofernes iustly. 21 Her continuance, life and death. 25 All Israel loueth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voice.

2 And Iudeth said, Begin vnto my God with timbrels, sing to my Lord with cymbales: tune vnto him a Psalm: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battells, and pitched his campe in the mids of his people, and deliuered mee out of the hand of the persecutors.

* Chap. 2. 17, 18.

4 Affur came from the mountaines south of the North: he came with thousands in his army, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their hostien have couered the valleys.

5 He said that he would burne vp my borders and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, & make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the young men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high gyants invade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beauty of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with oylment, and bound vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beauty took his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed through his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardnesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble one shouted, then they feared, they lifted vp their voice and turned backe.

12 The children of maids feared them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I wil sing vnto the Lord a song and praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marueilous, and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast lent thy Spirit, and hee made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete saour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinned: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in fending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, & assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Iudeth also offered all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopy which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuary, for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the country.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to || his people.

23 But she increased more and more in honor, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundred and five yeere olde, and made her mayd free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neere of kinned to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neere of her kined.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

Or, her people.

ESTHER.

Certaine portions of the story of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations:

Which follow the tenth Chapter.

Then Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the Sunne, and as much water: this flood was Esther whom the king married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Amn.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God and are saved for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs fro all these euils, and God hath wrought signes & great wonders, which haue not been done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shalbe vnto them in the moneth Adar, the fourteenth and fiftenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

In the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who sayd hee was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of || Phuray, which they said Lyfimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted,

2 In the second yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first day of the month Nisan, Mardocheus the son of Iarus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne son of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame,

3 A few dwelling in the cite of Susis, a noble man that bare office in the kings court,

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias,

5 And this was his dreame, Behold a noise of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and vproarie in the land.

6 Behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darknesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, a little wel grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and denoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings court with Bagathas, and Thara, the kings eunuches, and keepers of the palace.

2 But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, hee perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the king to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles, Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the king commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

9 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honor and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copy of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THE copy of the letters was this, The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentleness to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely goe thorow on euery side, and to renewe peace againe which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellors shewe these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdom and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, even Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, & haue alwayes despised the commandments of kings, and so that this general Empire, that wee haue begun cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceive, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange & other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children be destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without al mercy, and that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue euer bin rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the works of the Lord, & made his prayer vnto him,

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, a King almighty (for all things are in thy power) & if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man y can withstand thee

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen, 11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feet.

14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God, and king, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance y hath bin thine from y beginning

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorow into ioy, that wee may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shew not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto y Lord, because y death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her and her people.

QUEENE Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And laid away her glorious apperell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious oymment, she scattered ashes, & dongue vpon her head: & she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy hid she with the haire that she plucked off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our king, helpe me delolate womā, which haue no helper but thee

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in ſ kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookeſt Iſrael from among all people, & our fathers from their predecessors for a perpetual inheritance, and thou haſt performed that which thou diſt promiſe them.

6 Now Lord, we haue ſinned before thee: therefore haſt thou giuen vs into y hands of our enemies,

7 Becauſe we worſhipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheleſſe, it ſatisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue ſtroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they wil abolith ſ thing that thou w thy mouth haſt ordeined, & deſtroy thine inheritance, to ſhut vp the mouth of them y praife thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, & of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praife the power of the idoles, and to magnifie aſteſhly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy ſcepter to them ſ be nothing, leſt they laugh vs to ſcorne in our miſerie: but turn their deuce vpon theſe idoles, & make him an example, that hath begun the ſame againſt vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and ſhew thy ſelfe vnto vs in the time of our diſtreſſe, and ſtrengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent ſpeech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemies, to deſtroy him, and all ſuch as conſent vnto him, 14 But deliuer vs w thine hand, & helpe me, y am ſolitarie, which haue no defence, but onely thee.

15 Thou knoweſt all things, O Lord: thou knoweſt, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumciſed, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knoweſt my neceſſitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I muſt ſhew my ſelfe, and that I abhorre it as a menſtruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my ſelfe,

17 And that I thine handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleaſure in the kings feaſt, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy ſince the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboute all, beare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Eſther to goe into the Kings and make interceſſion for her people, 2 And ſhe performeth his requeſt.

Mardocheus alſo bade Eſther to go in vnto the King, & pray for her people & for her coutry

2 Remember ſaith he, the dayes of thy loweſtate, how thou waſt nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king, hath giuen ſentence of death againſt vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & ſpeake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when ſhee had ended her prayer, ſhe laid away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And deckt her ſelfe goodly, after that ſhe had called vpon God, which is the beholder & ſauour of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one ſhe leaned her ſelfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her veſture.

8 The ſhine of her beautie made her face roſe coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was ſorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then ſhee went in thorow all the doores, and ſtood before the king, and the king ſate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold and precious ſtones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee liſt vp his face, that ſhone with maieltie, and looked hercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned her ſelfe vpon the head of the maiide that went with her.

11 Neuertheleſſe, God turned the kings mind that he was gentle, who being careful, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till ſhee came to her ſelfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and ſaid.

12 Eſther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou ſhalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come neere.

14 And ſo he held vp his golden ſcepter, and laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kiſſed her, and ſaid, Talke with mee.

16 Then ſaid ſhe, I ſaw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maieltie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as he was thus ſpeaking vnto him, ſhe fell downe againe for faintneſſe.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his ſeruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copy of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee rnaketh choſe which he ſiſt ſent forth.

The great king Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia,ouer an hundred and ſeuene and twenty prouinces, ſendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodneſſe of Princes, and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And inducours not only to hurt our ſubiect, but not content to liue in wealth, doe alſo imagine deſtruction againſt thoſe that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfullneſſe away from men, but in pride and preſumption, as they that be vnmindfull of benefites, they thinke to eſcape the vengeance of God, that ſeech all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many which be ſet in office, and vnto whom their friends cauſe are committed, by vaine inteiſements doe wrap them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuſe the ſimplicitie and gentleneſſe of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not only by old hiſtories, but alſo by thoſe things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of ſuch peſtilences as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we muſt take heed hereafter, that we may make the Kingdome peaceable for all men, what change ſoeuer ſhall come,

9 And diſcerne the things that are before our eyes, to withſtand them with gentlenes.

10 For Aman a Macedonian, the ſon of Amadathus, Joſeph. Antiq. xx. cap. 6.

athus, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, & far fro our goodnes, was reueiled vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that wee beare toward all nations, so that hee was called our father, and was honoured of every man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vie himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath hee desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which had done vs good in all thinge, and innocent Else the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his mind was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meane to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man, that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but vie most iust lawes.

16 And that they bee the children of the most High and Almighty & euertlasting God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well; if ye doe not put in execution those letters, that Arian the son of Amedathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that requiried them, hapeth at Suffs before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deservings.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.

20 And ye shall aide them, that vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged on them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreover, among other solemne dayes ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both now and in time to come, this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs, and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly be destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beaſts and foules for euer.

THE WISEDOME OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 How wroughtest thou starre and arguist after God, 2 Who be those that finish vs: 5 The holy Ghost. 8. 11 Wee eue; 10 Be thou backbiting and murmuring. 12 If beest of death commeth. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrightheousnesse.

Loue * righteouſnesse, yee that bee Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

2 * For he will be found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: & his power when it is tried, reprooueth the vnwise.

4 Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deuite, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is reuoked when wickednesse commeth.

6 For the Spirit of wisdom * is lowly, & will not abſolute him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: and the same thing maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrightheous things, cannot bee hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall be made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of ielouſie heareth all things, and the noise of the grudgings shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profereth nothing, and refrain your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret, that shall goe for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lies, flayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the error of your life: * destroy not your selues through the workes of your owne hands.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For hee created all things, that they might haue their being: & the generations of the world are preserued, & there is no payson of destruction in them, & the kingdome of hel is not vpon earth.

15 For righteouſnesse is immortal, but vnrightheouſnesse bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call * it vnto them both with hands and words, and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their confession against the faithfull.

In the vngodly lay, as they falsely imagine with themselves, * our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any known that hath returned from the grave.

2 For wee are borne at all aduerture, and wee shall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrils, and the words as a sparke raised out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the spirit vanisheth as the softe ayre.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the myſte that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heate thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall laude our workes in remembrance.

5 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fastealed, so that no man commeth againe.

* 1/2. 2. 1. 2. and
36. 1. 2. 1. 2. 3. 4.

6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures that are present, and let vs cheerefully vie the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fil our selues with costly wine, & ointments, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppress the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence y^e white haire of the aged that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength bee the Law of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reprooued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressors of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God, & he calleth himselfe the son of the Lord.

14 He is mad to * reprove our thoughts.

15 It grieueth vs also to looke vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 Hee counteth vs as bastards, and hee withdraweth himselfe from our waye as from filthinesse: hee countemeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his Father.

17 Let vs see then if his words bee true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man bee * the sonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs examine him with rebukes and torments, that wee may know his meekenesse, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death: for he shall be preferred as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things do they imagine, and go astray: for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousness, nor can discern the honor of the fowles that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the image of his own likeness.

24 * Neuertheless, through enuie of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his side, proue it.

CHAP. III.

1 The commendation and assurance of the righteous. 2 The reward of the faithful. 3 Who are miserable.

Bv the * foules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

2 * In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous.

3 And their departing from vs destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortality.

5 They are punished, but in few things, yet in many things that they be wel rewarded: * for God proueth them, & findeth them meet for himselfe.

6 Heer yeth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiuen them as a perfect fruit offering.

7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and run thorow as the sparkes among the stubble.

8 They * shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shall reigne for euer.

9 They that trust in him shall vnderstand the truth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 But * the vngodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wifedome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their works vnprofitable.

12 Their wives are vnderreer, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndeified, and knoweth not the sinful be: * she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the fowls.

14 And the eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall bee giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the root of wifedome shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall bee without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of trial.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commendation thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the commendation of the vnfaithfull.

Better is barrennesse with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortal. for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the buttell and the vndeified rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable, and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, yet they shall be shaken with the wind, for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the wind they shall be rooted out.

5 For the vnprofitable branches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sowe to eat, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witness of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wifedome is the gray haire, and an vndeified life is the old age.

10 * He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 He was taken away lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his mind.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the for her, & sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes, & the keeping of lawes is the assurance of immortality, 19 And immortality maketh vs nere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdom.

21 If your delight be then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisedome is, and whence it cometh, & will not hide the nysseries from you, but will seke her out frō the beginning of her natuities, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23 Neither will I haue to do with consuming enuy for such a man shall not be partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of wife is the preservation of the world, & a wise king is a stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my wordes, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortal & man like all other, & am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to bee flesh in ten moneths: I was brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.

3 And whē I was borne, I receiued the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying & weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I praid, & vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, & the spirit of wisdom came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all gold is but a little grauell in respect of her, and siluer shall be counted but clay before her.

10 I loued her about health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the author thereof, and I knew not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfaignedly, and communicated without enuy, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who soeue, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisedome and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both we and our wordes, and all wisedome & the knowledge of the workes.

17 For hee hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the world was made, and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning & the end, and the mids of the times, how many times alar, & the change of seasons.

19 The course of the yere, & situation of the stars,

20 The nature of fliying things, & the furrowes of beaues, & power of winds, & the imaginaries of men, & diuersities of plants, & the vertues of roots.

21 And all things both secret and knowne doe I know: for wisedome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the only begotten, manifold, subtil, mouable, clere, vnderstanded, euident, not hurtful, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing thorow all intellects, pure, and subell spirits.

24 For wisedome is nimble then all nimble things: shee goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence, that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For shee is the brightnes of the euerlasting light, the vnderstanded mirror of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being orse, she can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, reneweth all, & according to the ages shee encretheth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisedome.

29 For shee is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

Shee also reacheth from one end to another mightily, & comely doeth the order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In shee is conuersant with God, it comendeth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the choolemistress of the knowledge of God, and the chuser out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possibill to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, & worketh all things?

6 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then the?

7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are veruuous: for she teacheth sobernesse and prudence, righteousness and strengthe, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that shee woulde counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be young.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue they that abide my leisure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortallitie, and leaue an euertlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and joy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdom is in mortallitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the works of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, and glory by communing with her, I went about seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a witty child, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vnde-fil'd body.

21 Neuertheles, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her except God gaue her, (and that was a point of wisdom also, to know whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Solomon to obtaine wisdom.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordeined man through thy wisdom, that he should haue dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousness, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 Give mee that wisdom, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

5 For I thy seruant, & son of thine handmaid, am a feeble person, and of short time, & yet liue in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes.

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

7 Thou hast chosen mee to be a king of thy people, and the Iudge of thy sons and daughters.

8 Thou hast commaunded me to build a Temple vpon thine holy Mount, & an altar in thy city where I should dwell, a likeness of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy wisdom is with thee, which knoweth thy works, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commaundments.

10 Send her out of thine holy heavens, and send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that she may be with me and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For thee knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and she shall leade me soberly in my works, and preferre me by her glory.

12 So shall my works be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and bee meet for my fathers throne.

13 For what man is he that can know the counsell of God? or who can think what the wil of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are scarce, and their heartes are vnstable.

15 Because a contemptible body is heaue vnto the world, and the earthly man on kepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things which are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdom, and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, & men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserved through wisdom.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdom.

He preserved the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And gaue him power to rule all things,

3 But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie,

4 For whose cause the earth was overflowen, but wisdom preserued it againe, governing the iust men by a little wood.

5 Moreover, when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, thee knew the righteous, and precluded him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure, because shee loved him tenderly as a sonne.

6 Shee preserved the righteous, when the vnrighteously perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the five cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth pillar of asait.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdom, had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behind them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisdom deliuered them that serued her.

10 When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnesse of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 Shee saved him from the enemies, & defended him from them that lay in wait, and she gaue him the prize in a mighty battell, that he might know that the feare of God is greater than death.

13 When the righteous was sold, shee forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne, shee went downe with him into the dungeon.

14 And sailed him not in the hands till shee had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him: and then that had accused him, shee declared to be liars, and gaue him a perpetual glory.

15 Shee deliuered the righteous people from the hands of the nations that oppressed them.

16 Shee entered into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and stood by him in wonders & signes against the terrible kings.

17 Shee gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marvellous way : on the day time she was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * Shee brought them thorow the red sea, and caried them thorow the great water.

19 But she drowned their enemies, & brought them out of the bottom of the deepe.

20 So the righteous took the spoiles of the vngodly,* and praised thine holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand with one accord.

21 For wisdom openeth the mouth of the dumbe, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 21 The punishment of the ungodly.

He prospered their works in the hands of thine holy prophet

2 * They went thorow the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

3 * They stood against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

4 * When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the high rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to reuenge the commandment of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnto looked for,

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries

8 For when they were tried & chastised with mercy, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them : but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou didst examine che.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double w mourning, & the remembrance of this g past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto che, they left the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whom afore they had calld out, denied and derided : for they had another thirst then the iust

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednesse wherewith they were decieued, and worshipped * serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beasts : thou sendest a multitude of unreasonable bestes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might know, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

14 For vnto thee almighty hand that made the world of nought, it was not vnpossible to send among them a multitude of beares or fiercelions.

15 O furious bestes newly created, and vnknown, which should breache out blais of fire, and cast out smoke at attempt, or those horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only destroy them with burning, but also kill them w their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit : but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number and weight, 18 For thou hast euer had great strength, and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the final thing y the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, & as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, & makest as thoug thou lawest not the sins of men, because they shuld amend.

21 For thou lovest all the things that are, and hast none of them whom thou hast made : for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will ? or how could any thing bee preferred, except it were called of thee ?

23 But thou sparest all : for they are thine, O Lord, which art the loue of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercy of God toward sinners. 12 The works of God are vnsearchable. 19 God quickeneth the seuer.

1 Of thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of their things, where in they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 * As for those old inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them.

4 For they committed abominable works, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying their owne children without mercy, and eating the bowels of man : flesh in banquetting, where the raging Priests had abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the families destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That y land which thou lovest aboute al other, might be a meet dwelling for y child of God.

8 * Neuertheless, thou sparest them also as men, and sendest the forerunners of thine holie, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little,

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little & little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an vnrighteous nation and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For there was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not feared them when they sinned, because thou fearest any man.

12 For who dare say, * What hast thou done ? or who dare stand against thy iudgement ? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made ? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men ?

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them : who thou hast punished

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke they not to bee of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and reprovest he boidnetie of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equitie, and governest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest thou thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hath thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hath made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou givest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place, that they might change from their wickednesse,

21 With how great circumspectiō wilt thou punish thine own children, vnto whole fathers thou hast sworne, & made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented y wicked that have liued a disoluit life by their own imaginatiōs

24 *For they went astray very far in the wayes of error, and esteemed the beast, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused alter the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishement that they should bee in derision as children without reason, 26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom alone they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

All things be vaine except the knowledge of God. 13 Idolaters and isles are mocked.

Surely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God,* and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the worken after.

2 *But they thought the fire, or the winde, or the swift ayre, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouernours of the world and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought their gods, yet should they haue known how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marvelled at the power, & operation of the, yet should they haue perceived thereby, how much hee that made these things is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creatour being compared with them may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse then these, y seek God and would find him, yet peraduenture doe erre,

7 For they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene,

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused,

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discern the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is there hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold, and silver, and the thing that is moued by art, and the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the bark thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vie of life,

12 And the things y are cutt off from his worke, he bestoweth to create his meete to fill him with,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood, & full of knots) he carueth it diligently at his leisure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man.

14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron.

16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his gods, and for his marriage, and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requirerth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his tourney him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, he requirerth furtherance of him, that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction and abomination of iuges. 8 Answer of them and of him that maketh it ch. 14 What of idolaters proceeded.

A Gaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waves, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carrieth him.

2 For as for the couetousnesse of money hath found it out, & the craftsman made it by cunning,

3 But thy providence, O Father, governeth it: *For thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path amongst the waves,

4 Declaring thereby, that hee hath power to helpe in all things: yea, though a man went to the sea without meares.

5 Neuertheless thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisdom should bee vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship, and are saued.

6 *For in the olde time also when the proud gyants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and to left seede of generation vnto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnesse cometh.

8 But that is cursed y is made with hands,* both it, & he y made it: he, because he made it, & it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

both like hated of God: In cruelly the worke and he that made it shall be punished together.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the idols of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, and flaming blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feete of heauenlye.

11 For the increasing of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his servants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome prevailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were faire off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeite the visage that was faire off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had beene present.

17 Again the ambition of the craftsman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so thorow the beauty of the worke the multitude was allured, & so took him now for a god, which a litle afore was but honored as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when being in seruitude, through calamity and tyranny ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreover, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, those to great plagues called they peace.

22 For either they slewe their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging diffultences by strange rites:

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one flew another by treason, or els vexed him by adultery.

24 So were all mixed together, blood, and slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumults, perjuries, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adultery, and vnchastity.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause, and the end of all euill:

27 For either they be mad when they be merie, or prophesies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forsweare themselves.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, adding themselves vnto idoles, & because they sweare vniuently to deceits, & despite holines:

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The wisdome of the wisest king, Salomon, touching the grace they receiue not idoles.

1 Yet thou, O our God, art gracious & true, long suffering, and goernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne yet are wee thine: for we know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee is perfect righteousness, & to know thy power, is the roote of immortallitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked invention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labor of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours,

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that hee couereth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worshipp them.

7 The potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessel with labor to our vse: but of the same clay hee maketh both the vessels, y^e serue to cleane vses, & the contrary likewise: but whereof euery vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same clay. euen he which a litle afore was made of earth himselfe, & within a litle while after goeth thither againe, where hee was taken,

9 While he shall make account for the loue of his life.

10 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labor he taketh, nor that his life is short, but he striveth with the goldsmiths and silversmiths, and counterfeith the copper smiths, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiuaible things.

11 His heart is ashes, & his hope is more vile than earth, & his life is lesse worthy of honor then clay.

12 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

13 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a marker, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to bee getting on euery side, though it be by euill means.

14 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels & images knoweth himselfe to offend about al other.

15 All the enemies of dry people, that holde them in subiection are most vniue, and more miserable then the very fooles.

16 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to gripe, and their feete are slow to goe.

17 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them, but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

18 For seeing hee is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands, he himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

19 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

20 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired, in respect of other beasts: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

22 Moreover, the snow and yce abod the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies.

23 Again it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof.

26 That thy children, whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, * that it is not the increase of frutes that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, which preserveth them that trust in thee.

29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

TOr thy iudgements are great, and cannot bee expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkness, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rooffe, did lie there to escape the euill lasting providence.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darknesse, they were scattered abroad in the darke covering of forgetfulness, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the dennes hath hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorrowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them only a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw, to be worse.

Thine night visions.
Exod. 7. 12.
and 8. 12.

7 * And the illusions of the magicall arts were brought downe, and it was a most shameful reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearfull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beasts that passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents, so that they did not feare, and did they saw not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoyded.

10 For it is a fearfull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimonies: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecall cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succour which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe.

14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometimes they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them; for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoever fell downe, hee was kept and shut in prison, but without chains.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, he must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoid:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenesse were they all bound) whether it were an hilling wind, or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hasty running water, 18 Or a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not be seene, or the noise of cruell beastes, that roared, or the // found that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to twone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was bin d in his labour, 20 Onely vpon them there fell a heauy night, an image of that darkenesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenesse.

3 The scriepillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuance of the faithful. 10 The Lord most the Egyptians, 20
The fume of the people in the wilderness. 21 Aaron flood betweene the liuing and the dead with his cenfer.

BVethy Saints had a very great * light, whose voice because // they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 * Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnkknown way, and madeest the funne that it hunted not them in their honourable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to be deprived of the light, and to be kept in darknesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the Law should be giuen to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, and preferred to reprove them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, & destroyed them all together in the mighty water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen cred't, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a Law of righteousness by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing prayes.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * maffer and the seruant were punishment with like punishment and the common people suffered alike with the King.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were y hanging sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could be eene nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, & the night was in the midst of her twitt course,

15 Thine Almighty word leapt downe from heaven out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of warre in the mids of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnained Commandment as a sharp sword, and flood vp and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreams vexed them suddenly, and fearefullnesse came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous also, and * among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministratiō, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and fo brought the miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued them that punished, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stood in the middes, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foue rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maieste in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

3 For while yet sorrow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they desired another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had cast out afore with prayer.

forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by cōments,

5 Both that they people might try a marvellous poffesse, and that they might find a strange death.

6 For every creature in his kinde was fashioned of new; and serued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud ouershadowed their tents, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a great field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous maruelles.

9 For they || neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praising thee, O Lord, which haddest deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindfull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought fourth flies in stead of cattell, and how the river scrawled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 * But at the last they law a new generation of birds, when they were enticed with lust, and desired delicate meats.

12 * For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the || sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednes, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one sort would not receive them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things, some would not suffer, that any regard should bee had of them: for they handled the strangers deliuitfully.

15 Others that had received them with great banquetting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict the with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness as in old times certaine were at the doores of the * righteous, so that every one being compassed with darkenesse fought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument: of musick, and the melody still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kind to quench.

20 Again the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be yce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and halt not deliuid to afflict them in every time and place.

Gen. 19. 11.

¶ The Wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

This Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather as he himselfe writteth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not only gather the graine sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but hee himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So the first Iesus died, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who took it, and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISEDOMES, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisedome to allure the Reader to reade this booke with more great desire and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, men of men that were approued of God, and certaine Prayers and songs of the author himselfe: moreover what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues hee had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deed.

Whereas many, and great things haue bin giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be cōmended by the reason of doctrine & wisedome. whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable vnto strangers, both by speaking & writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, & had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, hee purposed also to write something pertaining to learning & wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attain to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be exprest: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue haue another force in themselves than when they are translated into another tongue, & not only those things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, & other books haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt, vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copy full of great learning, & I thought it necessary to bestow much diligence gence and trauel to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, & are desirous to learne, might apply the same to good maners, & lue according to the Law.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.
15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right wayes, & are turned back into froward wayes:] for what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you?
16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: and they that loue him, will keepe his wayes.
17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his Law.
18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.
19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandments, and will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, if we doe not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

CHAP. III.

22 To our father and mother ought wee to giue double honour. 10 of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer-crowly to, scarce out the secrets of God.

THE children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, and their off-spring is obedience and loue.]

1 Hcare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.
2 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, & hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer the children.
3 Who so honoureth his father, his finnes shall be forgiven him, [and hee shall absteine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.]
4 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.
5 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, hee shall be heard.
6 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.
7 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.
8 Honour thy father and mother in deede and in word [and in all patience] that thou mayst haue Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]
9 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.
10 Reioice not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.
11 Seeing that mans glory cometh by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.
12 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.
13 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.
14 For the good intreaty of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against finnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founded for thee in righteousness.]
15 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy finnes also shall melt away as the yce in the same weather.
16 He that forsaketh his father shall come to shame, and he that angreth his mother is cursed of God.

17 My sonne perourne thy doings with meekenesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.
18 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.
19 Many are excellent and of renoume: but the secrets are reueiled vnto the meeke.
20 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.
21 Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are to mightie for thee.
22 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee thinke vpon that with reuerence, [& be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not needful for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.
23 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee about the capacitie of men.
24 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, & an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgment.
25 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.
26 A stubborne heart shall fare euill at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.
27 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart shall stumble therein.
28 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.
29 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steps shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and hee shall not be esteemed.]
30 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentive eare is the desire of a wise man.
31 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will absteine from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousness.]
32 Water quencheth burning fire, and almes taketh away finnes.
33 And hee that rewardeth good deeds will remember it afterward, & in the time of the fall, he shall finde a stay.

MY sonne, defraud not the * poore of his liuing and make not the needy eyes to wait long.
2 Make not an hungry soule forswill, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.
3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and deferre not the gift of the needy.
4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore.
5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.
6 For if he curse thee in bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.
7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humbly soule vnto the Elder,] and bow downe thine head to a man of worship.
8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore [but pay thy debt,] and giue him a friendly answer.

10 Be as father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto thy mother, so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, and recei-ueth them that seeke her, [and will goe before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, & they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherit glory: for vnto whom she entreateth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the holy One, and them that loue her, the Lord doeth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations: & he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithful vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first he wil walke with him by crooked wayes, & bring him vnto feare, & dread, and torment him with her discipline, vntill he haue tried his soule, & haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will she returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [& heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousness.]

19 But if he goe wrong, she wil forsake him, & giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 ¶ [My sonne,] makemuch of me, and eschew the thing that is euill,

21 And be not ashamed [to say the truth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth shame, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne confidence, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decay: [& forbear not thy neighbor in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knowne, and learning by the words of the tongue. [and counsell, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, and steadfastness in the works of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of truth, but be ashamed of the lyes of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy finnes, and resist not the course of the riuier.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Strive so: for the truth vnto death, [and defend justice for thy life.] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not halfe in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a Lion in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor op-presse them that are vnder thee.]

31 ¶ Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and that when thou shouldst giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and vengeance may not be erred.

T rust not vnto thy riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Follow not thine one minde, and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [Howe haue I had strength?] or who will bring me vnder for my workes? for God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, & what euil hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient re-warder, but he will not leave thee unpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercy of God is great:
hee will forgieue my manifold finnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy security thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in y day of punishment [& vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery wind, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord:] and haue but one manner of word. [and follow the word of peace and righteousness.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true an-swere with wisdom.]

12 ¶ Bewise to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [lest thou be trapped in an vndiscreet word, and be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [& repentance] follow the thief, & an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but hee that is a backbiter, shall be hated, enuied, and confounded.]

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 This is the property of a sinner to be euill tongued, & Offend-ship 33 Discretion taught.

Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infamy as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proud in the deuce of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eat vpon thy leaues, & destroy thy fruit, & so thou be left as a dry tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorn of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 A old friend liueth with many, neuertheless, haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend proue him first, and be not halfe to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his own occasion, and wil not abide in the day of thy trouble, 9 And there is some friend that turneth to enimity, & taketh part against thee, & in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Again, some *friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction hee continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperity he will be as thou thy selfe, and wil vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, hee will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold and silver] is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortality,] and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: to shalt thou finde wisdom [which shall endure] till thine old age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but little labour in her worke: but thou shalt eat of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is thee to the vnlearned? hee that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one thee is as a finetouchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wiseome, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare, my sonne, receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell,

25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine, 26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and searce her, and she shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters bee a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious rayment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught & if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou shalt be witty

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioiue with him that is wise.

36 ¶ Be sure to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou wilt a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy loore weare the slepes of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinaunces of the Lord, and be continually* occupied in his commandements: so shall he establish thine heart, and giue them wisdom at thine owne desire.

CHAP. VII.

¶ We must forsake euill, and yet not in the seruice of sinne. 23 The behaviour of the wise toward his wife, his friends, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

Do no euill: so that no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, loe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnes, lest that thou reape them seuen fold.

4 Aske not of the Lord preheminece, neither of the King the seat of honour.

5 * Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the king.

6 Seeke not to be made a iudge, lest thou be not able to take away iniquitie, and lest thou, fearing the person of the mighty, shouldst commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 * Binde not two signes together; for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most High God, he will accept it.

10 Be not taint hearted when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauines of his soule: for [God which teeth all things] is he * that can bring downe and set vp againe.

12 Sow not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any manner of lie; for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many wordes whē thou art among the Elders, neither * repeat a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious worke, neither the husbandry which the most High hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy mind greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wife and good woman, [that is faile vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord,] for her grace is aboute gold.

20 ¶ Whereas thy seruant worketh truly, intreat him not euill, nor the hireling that belongeth himselfe wholly for thee.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraud him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a pouer man.]

22 * If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, & if they be for thy profit, keepe them with thee.

23 * If thou haue sommes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodies, and shew not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, and so shal thou performe a weighty matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy mind, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to behauiour.

27 * Honour thy father truly thy whole heart, and so get not the sorowes of thy mother.

28 Remember that thou wast borne of them, & how

CHAP. VIII.

Wee must take heed with whom we haue to doe.

Strienot with a mighty man, lest thou fall into his hands.

2 * Make not variance with a rich man, lest he on the other side weigh downe thy weight: * for gold [and siluer] hath destroyed many, and hath subuerted the hearts of kings.

3 Strienot with a man that is full of words, and lay no sticks vpon his fire.

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, lest thy kinned be dishonoured.

5 * Despise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sin, nor cast him not in the teeth with all, but remember that we are all worthy blame.

6 * Dishonour not a man in his old age: for they were as we which are not old.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember that we must die all, [and so enter into ioy.]

8 * Despise not the exhortation of the [Elders] that be wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisdom [and the doctrine of vnderstanding] and how to serue great men [without complaints].

9 Goe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answer in the time of need.

10 Kindle not the coles of sinners: when thou rebukest them, * I left thou bee burnt in the fiery flame [of their finnes].

11 Rise not vp against him that doeth wrong, that he lay not wait as a spie for thy mouth.

12 * Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

13 Be not surety above thy power: for if thou be surety, thinke to pay it.

14 Goe not to law with the Indge: for they will giue sentence according to his owne honour.

15 * Trauele not by the way with him that is rash, lest he doe thee iniurie: for he followeth his owne wilfulness, & so shall thou suffer through his folly.

16 * Strive not with him that is angry, and goe not with him into the wilderness: for blood is a nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe, he will ouerthrow thee.

17 Take no counsell at a foole: for hee cannot keepe a thing close.

18 Doe no secret thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, lest he be vnthankful to thee, [& put thee to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of ieioune. 12 An old friend is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

Benotielous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, neither teach her by thy meane an euill lesson.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, lest she ouercome thy strength, [and so thou be confounded.]

3 Meete not an harlot, lest thou fall into her sinates.

4 Vse not the company of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] lest thou be taken by her craftinesse.

5 Gaze not on a * maid, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.

6 * Cast not thy minde vpon harlots [in any manner of things,] lest thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thine heritage.

7 Goe not about gazing in the streetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the secret places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many * haue perished by the beautie of women: for through it loue is kindled as a fire.

9 [Euery woman that is an harlot, shall be troden vnder foot as dung, of euery one that goeth by the way.

10 Many wondering at the beauty of a strange woman, haue bene cast out: for her words burne as a fire.]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neither lie with her vpon the bed,] nor banquet with her, lest thine heart incline vnto her, & so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 ¶ Forake not an olde friend: for the new shall not be like him: a new friend is as new wine: when it is old thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honor [& riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall be hiend.

14 Delight not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, lest he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the middes of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the tores of the citie.

16 Tlie thy neighbour as neere as thou canst, * and aske counsell of the wise.

17 * Let thy talke be with the wise, and all thy communication in the Law of the most High.

18 Let iust men eate and drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing be in the feare of the Lord.

19 In [the hands of the craftsmen] shall the works be commended, and the wisprince of the people by his worde, [and the word by the wisdom of the Elders.]

20 A man full of words is dangerous in his citie, and he that is rash in his talking shall be hated.

CHAP. X.

Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and conuersion must be abhorred. 18 Labour is praised.

A Wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what manner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are they that dwell therein.

3 * An vnwile king destroyeth his people, but where they that bee in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, the citie prospereth.

4 The government of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to bee abhorred,] and when time is, hee will set vp a profitable ruler euer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the Scribes will he lay his honour.

6 * Bee not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practices.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both coeth one committ iniquity.

8 * Because of vnrighteous dealing, & wrongs, and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man [why art thou proud, O earth & ashes? there is not a more wicked thing then to loue money:] for such one would euen sell his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of small endurance, and the cicatrice that is hard to heale, is grievous to the Physician.]

11 The Physician cutteth off the sore disbase, and he that is to day a king, to morrow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proud, seeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of man-pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his Maker.

14 For pride is the originall of sin, and he that hath it, shall pouer out abomination, till at last hee be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the pertwasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them, in the end.

15 The Lord hath * cast downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lardes of the heathen, and destroyeth them: vnto the foundations of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth the memorial of the proud, and leaueeth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seed of man, which is an honourable seede: the honourable seede are they that feare the Lord: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commandements of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loueth him: but they are a seede without honour that despise the Law, and a deceiueable seed that breake the commandements.

21 He that is the chiefe among the brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by cruelty and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meet to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man, and the iudge and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then he that feareth the Lord.

26 * Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free do seruice: * he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when hee is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.]

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest doe thy worke, neither bee ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

28 * Better is he that laboureth and hath plentifulnesse of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My sonne, get thy selfe praise by meekenesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge, [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 Hee that is honourable in pouertie, how much more shall hee bee when he is rich? and hee that is vn honest being rich, how much more will hee bee so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearancee ought wee not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgements. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into the bouise.

W Ildesome * listeth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither despise a man in his viter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the fowles, yet doeth her fruit passe in twetiefele.

4 Be not proud of clothing and raiment, and * exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the works of the Lord are wonderful, [and glorious] secret [and vnknown] are his workes among men.

5 Many tyrants haue sit down vpon the earth, * and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne.

6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands.

7 * Blame no [man] before thou hast enquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reforme [righteously.]

8 * Goe no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not bee blamelesse, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more hee wanteth.

12 Again, there is some that is slothfull, and Job 12. 7.

Eccl. 10. 4.

15 Wisdome and knowledge and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good works come of him.

16 Error and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, waxe old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueh prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages, Eccle 11. 10.

19 In that hee saith, * I haue gotten rest, and now will I ease continually of my goods, yet lee considereth not, that the time draweth nere, that hee must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, & exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the fight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? & what good thing shall I haue hereafter?

24 Again say not, I haue enough and possesse many things, and what euill can come to mee hereafter?

Eccl. 8. 24.

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death, to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discovered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe known by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thy house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like sto-macks that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a Partrich is taken vnder a basket, [and the hinde is taken in the snare:] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise he will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man, for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine own.

CHAP. XII.

2. ¶ Unto whom we ought to doe good, to euery one whi not to be trusted.

When thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou dost it, so shalt thou bee thanked for thy benefite,

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

* Gal. 6. 10.

3 Hee cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueh no almes, [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath merie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinuer.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, & giue it not vnto him, lest hee ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twice as much euill for all the good that thou dost vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot bee knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vpknownen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet acquie thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt bee to him as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest hee seeke thy roume, and thou at the last remember my words, and be pricked with my sayings.

15 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth companie with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his finnes.

16 For a season will hee bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

17 * An enemie is sweet in his lips: he can make many good words, and speak many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit, and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.

* Eccl. 4. 1. 6.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt find him there first, and though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shall hee vndermine thee: hee will shake his head, and clap his hands, and will make many words, and disguise his countenance.

2 As an [honourable] mother shall she reete him, and she as his wife married of a virgine, will receiue him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shall she feede him, and giue him the "water of [wholefome] wisdom to drinke.

4 He shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded,

5 Shee shall exalt him aboute his neighbours, and in the mids of the Congregation shall she open his mouth [with the spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladdnesse, and an euerslasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meet her:] for the sinners shall not see her.

8 For she is farre from pride [and deceite] and men that lie cannot remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of G. d.]

9 Praise is not seemly in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdom, [and bee plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, Hee hath caused mee to erre: for he hath no need of the sinful man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error: and] they that feare God, loue it not.

14 "He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell, [and gaue him his commandments and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandments, and tellise thy good will.

16 Hee hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 "Before man is life and death, [good and euill] what him liketh shall be giuen him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and hee is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 "And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and hee knoweth all the workes of man,

20 Hee hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath hee giuen any man licence to sinne [for hee desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of unhappy and wicked children. 2 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiving of instruction.

Desire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon the multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behind him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the cite be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, & mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 "In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire bee kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.

7 "Helped not the old gyants, which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength.

8 "Neither spared hee wheras Lord dwelt, those whom hee horrified for their pride.

9 Hee had no pittie vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their finnes:

10 "And to hee preferred the sixe hundred thousand footemen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them, and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy and with chastisement.

11 Therefore if there be one stiffnecked among the people, it is maruell if hee escape vnpunished: for mercy and wrath are with him: he is mightie to forgine and to powere out displeasure.

12 "As his mercie is great, so is his punishment: also he iudgeth a man according to his workes.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall find according to his workes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that he should not knowe him, and that his workes should be known vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowne to all creatures: hee hath separated his light from the darkenesse: with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboute? I shall not bee known in so great a heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Behold the heauen, and the "heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shall bee moued when hee shall visite.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousness? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is farre off, & he trying out of all things faileth.

23 Hee that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and errouseous man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My f. n. hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my words with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weightie doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning. g. & part of them hath hee sundred from the other when hee first made them.

27 He hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings to long as they shall endure: they are not hungry, nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all manner of liuing beasts hath hee covered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodnesse that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of aimes, 22 and repentance.

THe * Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe,

2 He gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had need, and made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that he had the dominion ouer the beasts and foules.

5 [* He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion & tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and firstly he gaue them a spirit, and teuenthly he gaue them speech to declare his works,

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill,

7 Hee fit his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble works,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his works, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Lawe of life for an heritage, that they might know that they were mortall.

10 Hee made an euermolde Councant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes sawe the maiestie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voyce.

12 And hee said vnto them, Beware of all vn-righteous things * He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour,

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes, 14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stony hearts cannot become flesh.

15 Hee appointed a ruler vpon euery people, when hee diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom hee nourished with discipline as his first borne, and giueh him most louing light, and doeth not forsake him.

17 All their works are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hid from him, but all their finnes are before the Lord, 19 And as hee is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 * The aimes of a man, is as a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deeds of man as the apple of the eye, and giueh repentance to their finnes and daughters.

21 * At the last shall he arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, he giueh them grace to returne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the verities.]

23 * Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy finnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence, 24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for hee will bring thee from darkenesse to wholsome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousnesse and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, and goe in the parts of the holy world with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

26 * Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the error of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankewlesse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and he that is found of heart, praiseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the louing kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortal, [and they take pleasure in the vanity of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, shall be reprobued.]

33 Hee seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marvellous workes of God. 6. 7 The misery and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God amongst men is to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

HE that liueth for euer, * made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious King for euer.]

2 Hee ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he governeth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his works? who will seeke out the ground of his noble actes?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatness? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lord, there may nothing bee taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, he must begin againe, and when he thinketh to come to an end, he must goe againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? wherefore createth hee? what good or euill can hee doe?

8 * If the number of a mans dayes be an hundred yeere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the land, so are * a thousand yeeres to the dayes euerlasting.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and povereth out his mercy vpon them.

11 He saw and perceived, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercy vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousness.]

13 Hee hath mercy on them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reprove not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the dewe aswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Lo: is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the eniuous putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or cuer thou be sicke.

19 * Examine thy selfe, before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercy.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou besicke, and whilst thou mayest yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and desire not vnto death to be reformed: [for the reward of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the * wrath, that shall be at the end, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face, 25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Every wise man knoweth wisdomes, and knowledge, and praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousnesses,] and poure out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 ¶ Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee to laugh thee to scorn.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, & entangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankers of that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse, els thou shouldest slanderously lie in wait for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Wine and whoredoms bring vnto pouertie. 6 In thy wordes vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdomes of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest knowe a true man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkennes, shall not be rich: and hee that contemneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

2 * Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to reprove.]

3 And hee that companieth adulterers, shall become impudent: rottennesse and wormes shall haue him to heritage, and he that is too bold, shall be taken away, and be made a publike example.

4 * Hee that is hasty to giue credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shall be punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of words, quencheth wickednesse:] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that restraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublefome man, and he that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another, that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Declare not other mens manner, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 For hee will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, hee will hate thee.

10 * If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and bee sure, it will not burst thee.

11 A foole traueleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrow that sicketh in onestigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

13 * Reproue a friend lest hee doe euill, and if he haue done it, that hee doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend that hee may keepe his tongue: and if hee haue spoken, that hee say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is hee that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threatenst him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdomes obteine his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruit of immortality.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisdomes, and performing of the Law is perfect wisdomes, and the knowledge of his almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward hee doe it, hee shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wisdomes, neither is there prudence whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voyd of wisdomes.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, & feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdomes, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bow downe themselves, and are sad, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceit: hee looketh downe with his face, and faimeth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, hee will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

28 ¶ A mans garments, and his excessive laughter, and going, declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in sinne. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Oflyng. 24 The thiefe and the murderer. 28 Gifs blind the eyes of the wise.

T Here is some rebuke that is not comely: a gaine, some man holdeth his tongue, and hee is wife.

2 ¶ It is much better to reprocue then to beare euill will: and hee that acknowledgeth his fault, shall be preferred from hurt.

3 ¶ As when a gelded man through lust would defile a maid, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reprooued, to shew repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becometh hateful.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because hee hath not to answer: and some keepeth silence, waiting a convenient time.

7 ¶ A wife man will hold his tongue till he see opportunity: but a trifler and a foole will regard no time.

8 He that vseth many words, shall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is sound, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humbles lieth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

13 ¶ A wife man with his words maketh himselfe to be loued, but the merry tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gifte receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for he looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth litle, and he vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne-crier: to day hee lendeth: to morrow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole saith, I haue no friend, I haue no thanke for all my good deeds: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall he be laughed to scorn? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pavement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale, which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wife sentence loseth grace when it cometh out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone, 21 Some man there is that destroyeth his own soule because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promisseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for naught.

23 ¶ A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A theefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liars are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wife man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 ¶ Hee that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape [hee that worketh righteouesnesse, shall be exalted,] and he that pleaseh great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

28 ¶ Reward and giftes blind the eyes of the wife, and make them dumme, that they cannot reprove faults.

29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdom.

31 The necessary patience of him, that followeth the Lord, is better then hee that goeth with his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To be to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

M Y lonne, halt thou sinned? doe so no more, but pray for the fore sinnes [that they may be forgiven thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion, to slay the foules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sworde, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and injuries wast riches: so the house of the proude shall be desolate.

5 ¶ The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, cometh vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 Aneloquent talker is knowne a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his gane.

9 ¶ The congregation of the wicked is like towee drapp together: their end is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darkenesse and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, || ruleth his owne afflictions thereby: and the increase of wisdom is the end of the feare of God.

12 Hee that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that encreaseh bitterness.

13 The knowledge of the wife shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, hee will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he wil disallow it, and call it behind his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelnesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As in an house that is destroyed, so is wisdom vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in his [neighbours] shoule: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nurtured, wil stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will be grieved with such dishonour.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the suggested. 12 Not to speake much as a foole, 16 A good conscience is precious.

A slouthfull man is like a filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the dung of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: & the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wife daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but the chaste liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband [and is not interior to the vngodly] but they both sh. ill despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as music in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole is as one that gleweth a pecheard together, and as he that waketh one that slepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, & haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with liuities and foolishnes they defile y nobilitie of their kined.

10 Who so telleth a foole of Wisdom, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 *Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for hee wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the too'le is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation of the foole, and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life, 13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding: Beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and least thou bee defiled when hee shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorrow by his foolishnesse.

14 What is heauy then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

Chap. 22: 12.

15 *Sand and salt, and a lump of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly] man.]

Prov. 17: 5.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire plaiting on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on high, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurtheth the eye, bringeth fourth tears, and he that hurtheth the heart bringeth forth the affliction.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friend, yet despair not: for there may bee a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation to that vpbraiding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets or a traitorous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, & thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alway to bee contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euil words [rebukes and threatnings] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not bee ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe me harme: whoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shall see* a watch before my mouth, & a seale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I will not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 12 Of fathers, blasphemie, and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kinde of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceed of adulation. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by them.

1 Cor. 13: 8.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let [their] faults passe?

|| That is, of the tongue and lips.

3 Least mine ignorances increase, & my finnes abound about to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersary, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [I leaue mee not in their imagination] neither giue me a proud looke that turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from me vaine hope, & concupiscence, and retaine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hole me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 ¶ Hear, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish though his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked works.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

9 * Accustom not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many talles.] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the holy one: [for thou shalt not be vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some leasure, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, and the plague shall neuer go from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, shall chew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father & thy mother, where thou art sit among great men, lest thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou haddest not been borne and curse the day of thy nativity.

15 * The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction]: a mind hot as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweet to a whore-monger: he will not leaue off till he perish.)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh this in his heart, * Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkness: the walls couer me: no body seeth mee: whome neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my finnes.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are a thousand times brighter then the Sun, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 He knew al things or euer they were made, and after they were brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

21 * The same man shall be punished in the streets of the citie, [and shall be chased like a yong horse foale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of every man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it go also with every wife, that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 * For first she hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly she hath trespassed against her owne husband: and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 She shall be brought out into the congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall she leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, & that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commendment of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A prayer of wisdom, proceeding forth of the mouth of God, of her wayes and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

Wisdom (shall praise her life, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the midst of her people)

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, & triumph before his power

3 [In the midst of her people shall she be exalted, and wounded at in the holy assembly.]

4 In the multitude of the chosen she shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be prayesd, and shall say,

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.]

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, [and couered the earth as a cloud.]

7 My dwelling is about in the height, & my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compass of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waves of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nation, [and with my power haue I troden down the heaues of all, both high and lowe.]

10 In all these things I fought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and root thy selfe among my chosen.

12 * He created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: * In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I established in Sion.

13 * In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honorable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am fet vpon hie like a cedar in Libanus, & as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Harmon, 17 I smelled as a cinnamon, and as a bag of spices. I gave a sweet odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweet storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 * As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] of sweet labour, and my flowers are the fruits of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all yet that be desirous of me, and fill your felues with my fruits.

23 * For the remembrance of me is sweeter then honie, and mine inheritance [is sweeter] then the honie combe: [The remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [They that make me to be known, shall haue euerslasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life,] and the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Law that Moses [in the precepts of righteoulnesse] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]

27 Be not weary to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that he may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord Almighty is but one God, and besides him there is none other Saviour.

28 [Out of David his seruant he ordained to raise vp a most mighty King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisdom, as * Phylon, and as Tygris, in the time of the new fruits.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not known her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdom [haue caust out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I run into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I said, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for ever.

37 [I will pearce thorow all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon a] such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet poure out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 * Behold that I haue not laboured for my felicitie onely, but for all them that seeke wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

1 of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 of nine things that be not to be justified. 14 of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God and men: the vnty of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

2 ¶ Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I utterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that dotheth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou find in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crown of old men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 ¶ There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth prudence, & he that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdom: yet is there none about him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in cleareness.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God,] vnto whom shall he belikened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioy ned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greatest heaviness is the heaviness of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague saue only the plague of the hart, & any malice saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance saue the vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath about the wrath of an enemy.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman changeth her face, & maketh her countenance black as [a sick-]

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbors: because of her he flieth fore or he beware.

21 All wickednes is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a fyny way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the iurib. 6 Of the stiel and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth to wrath.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be giuen for agife vnto such as feare ³ Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, hee hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart seareth, and my face is afraide of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers waies: he that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for she cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredom of a woman may be knowen in the pride of her eyes, and eye-lids.

10 ¶ If thy daughter bee not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest shee abuse her selfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she crespasse againt thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shall she open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiver againt euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast & faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the Sunne when it riseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candle-sticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feet with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetual are the foundations that be laid vpon a strong rock: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fields, low it with thine owne seed, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall grow, trusting in the great liberaltie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a wre againt death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a doge: but she that is shamed reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wife of all: but shee that despiseth him, shall be blased for his pride.

28 A loud crying woman and a babler let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuertant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the thirde maketh me angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouerty: and men of vnderstanding that are not fit by: and when one departeth from righteounesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things which me thinke to be hard and perillous] A marchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The prolation of the man that seareth God. 13 The vnconstancie of a foole. 16 The secret of friends are not to be trusted. 26 The wicked imagination euill which turneth vpon him selfe.

Because of pouerty haue many finned: and * he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betwene the ioints of the stones, so doeth sinne stick betwene the selling and the buying.

3 If hee hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone be ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sitteth, the stile inesse remaineth in the sieue, to the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornice proueth the potters vessell: * to doeth [temptation] triueth thoughts.

6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteounesse, thou shalt gether, and put her on as a faire garment. [And shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find it fastnesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doth the truth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a cole, hee changeth as the moon.

12 If thou be among the vnchristeene, obserue the time but haue full the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, and their sport

17 Loue thy friend and be faithfull vnto him : but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird goe out of his hand, so if thou giuest thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too far off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his foules wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may bee bound vp againe, and an euill word may bee reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his owne head: and hee that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

* Psal. 7, 15. pro 26, 27. ecclesi. 10, 8.

26 Who so * diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon.] and hee that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockery and reproch follow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despite and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offender.
13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

* Dent 32, 35.
* Prov. 12, 19.

HE * that seeketh vengeance shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his finnes.

] Man ought not to seek vengeance.

2 || Forgive thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall thy finnes be forgiven thee also, when thou prayest.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and * desire forgiveness of the Lord?

* Math. 6, 14.

4 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiveness of his owne finnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred [& aske pardon of God,] who wil intreat for his finnes?

6 Remember the end, & let enimity passe: imagine not death & destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbor [consider diligently] the councail of the most High, and forgive his ignorance.

8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy finnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife.

* Chap. 3, 1.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

* Prov. 26, 22.

10 As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, & the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheddeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 || * Abhorre slanderer & double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

] The tongue.
* Chap. 22, 28.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and beene the decay of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer find rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Wel is him that is kept from an euil tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawn in that oke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of braile.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burne with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 I-edge thy possession with thornes, and make doories and bares for thy mouth.

25 Bindevp thy siluer and gold, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a forebridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that heth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable euen vnto death.]

C H A P. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money and doe aduise. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poor mans life.

LEt that will shew mercy, || lendeth to his neighbour: & he that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

] Of well doing.

2 Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour again in due season.

* Dent 15, 7, 8.
* Mat. 5, 42.
* Luke 6, 35.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckened it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, and make excusis by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, and reckoneth the other as a thing found: else he deceiueh him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deede.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and desire not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his poverty.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 * Bestow thy treasure after the commandement of the most high, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 || Lay vp thine * almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and paye euery man his reward vpon his head.]

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mighty.

15 An honest man is || surety for his neighbor: but he that is impudent forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy surety: for he hath laid his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his surety.

18 The wicked will not become surety, and he that is of an vnthankfull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honesty, he will forsake him.]

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the waues of the sea, mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord, shall fall into suretiship: and he that medleth much with other mens businesse, is entangled in controuersies.

22 * Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thyselfe fall not.

23 * The chiefe thing of life is - aser. & bread, and clothing and lodging to couer thy shame.

24 || The poore mans life in his own lodge is better then d'licates fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou dar'st not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feede vnthankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast ready.

29 Giue place thou stranger, to an honorable man: my brother cometh to be lodged, and I haue neede of my house.

30 These things are heauie to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commodity of breath. 17 Death is better then a froward lip. 22 Of the ioy and sorrow of the heart.

Hee that loueth his sonne, * cauleth him oft to feele the rod, that he may haue ioy of him in the end.

2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 He that teacheth his sonne grieveth his enemy: & before his friends he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for all he hath left one beind him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sory in his death, [neither was hee ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieved at euery crye.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubborne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee afraid: and if thou play with him he shall bring thee to heauineffe.

10 Laugh not with him, lest thou be sory with him, and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the end.

11 * Giue him no liberty in his youth, and winke not at his folly.

12 Bow down his necke while he is young, and beare him on the sides while he is a childe, lest he waxe stubborne, & be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorrow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, and be diligent therein, lest his shame grieue thee.

14 * || Better is a poore being whole & strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is about all gold, and a whole body about infinite treasures.

16 There is no riches about a sound body, and no ioy about the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long rest, then continual sicknesse.]

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth that vp, are as messes of meat set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquity.]

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like a gelded man: that lieth with a virgin and sigheth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde vnto heauineffe, and vex not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 I oue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorrow farre from thee: for sorrow hath slaine many, and there is no profit therein.

24 Enuie and wrath shorten the life, and carefulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet, WAking after riches pineth away the body, & the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sicknesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

9 Who is he, and we will commend him? for wonderful things hath he done among his people.

10 Who hath been tried thereby, and found perfect? let him bee an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods bee established, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

Temperancie.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, // open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold much meate.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a fawre, and wharthing created is worse than a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand wherefoeuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and make euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not, lest thou be hated.

17 Leave thou off first for natures sake, and be not insatiable, lest thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

* Chap. 37. 29.

19 * How little is sufficient for a man well taught? & thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feelth any paine.]

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: he riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholerike diseases, and pangs of the belly are with an insatiable man.

21 If thou hast been forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomit, and then take thy rest [so thou shalt bring no sickness vnto thy body.]

22 My sonne, heare mee, and despise mee not, and at the last thou shalt find as I haue told thee: in all thy works be quicke, so shall there no sickness come vnto thee.

* Prov. 22. 9.

Liberalitie.

29 But wine drunken with exceffe, maketh bitterness of minde with brawlings and foldings.

30 Drunkennesse encreaseh the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

1 An exhortation to modestie. 5 Let the euill speake. 14 To giue thanks after the feast. 15 Of the feast, feast, and confidence in God.

IF thou be made the master of the feast, // lift not thy selfe vp, but be among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so fit down.

Humblenesse.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duty, sit downe, that thou mayest bee merry, with them, and receive a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musike.

7 [Giue care and bee still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be loved.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if neede be, and yet fearely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprehend much in few words: [in many things be as one that is ignorant: be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet hold thy tongue.]

10 If thou be among great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

* Job 32. 8.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefull mangoe his fauour.

12 Stand vp beimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euill, or vse proud words.

14 But aboute all things giue thanks vnto him // hath made thee. & replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lord, will receive his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall find fauour.

16 He that seeketh the Law, shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.

17 They // feare the Lord shall find that which is righteous, and shall kinde iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a lewd and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne] doe nothing without aduise-ment: so shalt thou not repent thee after the deede.

21 Go not in the way where thou maiest fall, nor where where thou mayest stumble among the stones; neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heed of them that be thine owne household.]

23 In euery good worke be of a faithful heart: for this is the keeping of the commandements.

24 Who fo beleuech in || the Lord, keepeth the Commandments: and hee that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliverance of him that feareth God. 2 The inference of the wife. 3 Man in the hand of God, as the clay in the hand of the potter. 4 Of such servants.

There shall no euill come vnto him that || feareth the Lord: but when he is in reuerence, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wife man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou be heard: bee sure of the matter, and so answer.

5 The heart of the foolish is like a cart-wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axle tree.

6 As a wilde horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and hee hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath he blessed & exalted, and some of them hath he sanctified, and appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them low, & put them out of their estate.

12 * As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that he may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euill I is good, and against death is life: for is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all thy workes of the most hie thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another 15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my wine-press, like a grape gatherer.

16 Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for myselfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

17 Heare mee, O yee great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne & wife, thy brother and friend power ouer thee, while thou liuest; and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldst looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden be long vnto the asse: and meat, correction, & worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt find rest: but it should let him goe idle, hee shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whippe bowe downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour that he goe not idle: for idleness bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to work, for y belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, || put on more heauie fetters.

28 But be not excediue to ward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne loue: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreate him as thy brother: for thou hast neede of him, as of thy selfe. If thou entreate him euill, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Of dreames. 2 The praise of them that feare God. 3 The offering to the wicked. 4 The bread of shame. 5 God doeth not allow the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

The hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, || and dreames make fooles, to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with the appeerings of dreames, as the likeness of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cleansed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, & a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that traualleth.

6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to try thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue decieued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shall be fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed vnderstandeth much, & he that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 Whē I wandred to & fro, I saw many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oftentimes in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare God, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth hee his trust? who is his strength?

16 * For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them that loue him: he is their * right protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from humbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and blessing.

20 The most High doeth not allow the || offerings of the wicked, * neither is hee pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifices.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the son before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore, he y defraudeth him thereof, is a murderer, 23 He that taketh away his neighbours living, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodthredder.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, & another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voyce will the Lord heare?

26 * Hee that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 of the true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fisher, and the widow, and him that humbled himselfe.

W^ho so keepeth the Law, bringeth * offerings enow: he that holdeth fast the commandements, || offereth an offering of saluation.

2 He that is thankfull to them that haue well deserved, offereth fine flour: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praise.

3 To depart from euill, is a thankfull thing to the Lord, and to forsake vnrighteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 * Thou shalt not appeare empty before the Lord.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement.

6 * The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, * and the smell thereof is sweet before the most High.

7 The Sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer bee forgotten.

8 Giue the Lord his honour with a good and liberal eye, and diminish not the first fruites of thine hands.

9 * In all thy gifts shew a ioyfull countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnesse.

10 Giue vnto the most High according as hee hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able giue with a cheerefull eye.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will giue thee foure times as much.

12 * Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receive it, and abstaine from wrongful sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge, and regardeth no * mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 He despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse nor the widow, when the powereth out her prayer

15 Dost not the teares run down the widows cheeks? & her cry is against him y causeth them: [for from her cheeks do they go vp vnto heauen, & the Lord which heareth them, doth accept them]

16 Hee that serueth the Lord, shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the clouds.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth throw the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come nere, and will not depart till the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almighty will tary long from the, till he hath smitten in tunder the loynes of the vnmerefull, and aunged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till he giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuiles, till hee haue iudged the cause of his people and comforted them with his mercy.

19 Oh how faire a thing is mercy in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloud of raine that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of a faithfull man, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The prayer of a good woman.

H^ue mercy vpon vs, O Lorde God of all things, and behold vs, and [shew vs the light of thy mercies,]

2 And send thy feare || among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes,]

3 Lift vp thine * hand vpon the strange nations that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as we know thee: for there is none other God, but only thou, O lord

6 Renew the signes and change the wonders: shew the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous actes,

7 Raise vp thine indignation, & powre out wrath: take away the adueriary, and smite the enemy.

8 Make the time short: remember thine othe, that thy wonderous workes may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of thy fire consume them that escape, & let them perish that oppress the people

10 Sare in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, & say, There is none other but we.

11 || Gather all the tribes of Iacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but only thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes:] and inherite thou them as from the beginning.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, * whome thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh be mercifull vnto Ierusalem the city of the Sanctuary, the city of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witness vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, & raise vp the prophecies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to § * blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousness,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth may know that thou art the Lord the eternal God.

18 ¶ The belly deuoureth all meats, yet is one meate better then another.

19 As the throat tasteth venison, so doth a wise minde discern false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will reſtit it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereeth the face, and a man louth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentleneſſe, meekneſſe, and whoſome ſpeech, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath || gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a poſſeſſion: ſhe is an helpe like vnto himſelfe, and a pillar to reſt vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the poſſeſſion is ſpoiled: and hee that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will truſt a thiefe that is alway ready and wandereth from towne to towne? and like wiſe him, that hath no reſt, and lodgeth, whereſoeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man ſhould know friends and counſellers. 12 To keepe his company that ſeuereth God.

¶ Of friendſhip. Euery friend ſaith, || I am a friend vnto him alſo: but there is ſome friend, which is onely a friend in name.

2 Remaineth there not heauineſſe vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemy?

3 O wicked preſumption, from whence art thou ſprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 * There is ſome companion which in proſperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is againſt him.

5 There is ſome companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies ſake, and taketh vp the buckler againſt the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, & thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke || no counſell at him of whom thou art ſuſpected, and diſcloſe not thy counſell vnto ſuch as hate thee.

8 * Euery counſeller praiſeth his own counſell: but there is ſome that counſelleth for himſelfe.

9 Beware of the counſeller, & be aduiſed afore || whereto thou wilt vſe him: for hee will counſell for himſelfe: leſt he caſt the lot vpon thee.

10 And ſay vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he ſtand againſt thee, and looke what ſhall become of thee.

11 [A ſke no counſell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of a ſtice, of him that hath no iuſtice,] nor of a woman touching her of whom ſhe is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the tale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulneſſe, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindneſſe, [nor of an vnhoneſt man of honeſtie,] nor of the ſlouthfull for any labour, nor of a hireling for the finiſhing of a worke, nor of an idle ſeruant for much buſineſſe: hearken not vnto theſe in any matter of counſell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whom thou knoweſt to keepe the Commandements of the Lord, whoſe minde is according to thy minde, and is ſorry for thee when thou ſtumbleſt.

13 Take counſell of thine own heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is ſometime more accuſtomed to ſhew more then ſeuē watchmen that ſit aboute in an high towre.

15 And aboute all this pray to the moſt High that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reaſon goe before euery enterpriſe, and counſell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a ſigne of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is witty, and hath inſtructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himſelfe.

19 Some man will be wiſe in words, and is hated, yea, he is deſtitute of al || food, 20 Becauſe grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is deſtitute of all wiſedome.

21 Another is wiſe for himſelfe, and the fruits of vnderſtanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wiſe man inſtructeth his people, and the fruits of his wiſedome ſhall not.

23 A wiſe man ſhall be plentifully bleſſed, and al || they that ſee him, ſhall like him bleſſed.

24 The life of man ſtandeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Iſrael are innumerable.

25 A wiſe man ſhall obſeine credit among his people, and his name ſhall be perpetual.

26 My ſonne, proue thy ſoule in thy life, and ſee what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery ſoule pleaſure in euery thing.

28 Be not || greeued in al || delights, and be not too haſtie vpon all meates.

29 * For exceſſe of meates bringeth ſickneſſe, and gluttony commeth into cholericke diſeaſes.

30 By ſurfeit many haue periſhed: but hee that || dieteth himſelfe, prolongeth life.

1 A Phyſician is commendable. 16 To lery the deed. 24 The wiſedome of him that is learned.

Honour the || Phyſician with that honour that is due vnto him, becauſe of neceſſitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the moſt High commeth healing, and he ſhall receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Phyſician liſteth vp his head, and in the ſight of great men he ſhall bee in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wiſe will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made ſweet with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might be glorified in his wondrous works.

7 With ſuch doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of ſuch doeth the Apothecary make a confeſſion, and yet he cannot finiſh his owne works: for of the Lord commeth proſperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

17 Make a grievous lamentation, & be earnest in mourning, & vie lamentation, as he is worthy, and that a day or two, lest thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 * For of heauinesse cometh death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affliction of the heart cometh sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: drine it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember the iudgement: thine also shalt be likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 * Seeing his dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdom of a learned man cometh by vng well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdom.

25 How can he get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the good, and in driving oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullocks?

26 He giueth his mind to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter and workmaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundry diuerties, and giue themselves to counterfeite iagerie, & watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anvil, and doth his diligence to labour: the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, and hee must fight with the heate of the furnace: the noyle of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: he setteth his mind to make vp his works: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth his wheele about with his feet: he is careful away at his worke, & maketh his work by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feet hee tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one bestoweth his wisdom in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsel of the people, neither are they high in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not meet for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation,

1 A wife may. 16 The workes of God, 24 Vnto the good, good things profit, but vnto the euill: then good things are euill.

Hee onely that applyeth his minde to the Law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the || wisdom of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophecies.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entrench in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mystery of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall scue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile thorow strange countreys: for he hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 Hee will giue his heart to reforme early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his finnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 || He shall direct his counsel and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 Hee shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and covenent of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memory shall neuer bee put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 * The congregation shall declare his wisdom, and shew it.

11 Though he bee dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, hee shall get the fame.

12 Yet will I speake of mee things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hee ken vnto mee, ye holy children, and bring forth fruit as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field.

14 And giue a sweet smell as || incense, and bring forth flowres as the lillie: giue a smell & sing a song of praise: bleste the Lord in all his works.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, & shew forth his praise with the songs of your lips, and with harpes, and ye shall say after this maner, 16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time convenient they shall all hee fought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euertlasting to euertlasting, and there is nothing wonderful vnto him.

21 A man need not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall run ouer as the streame, and mooylen the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the water into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blocks vnto the wicked.
25 For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance which in their iugour lay on iust strokes: in the time of destruction they shew fourth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made the.

29 Fire and haire, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde bestes, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandments: and when need is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandment.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 All the works of the Lord are good, & he giueth euery one in due season, and when need is?

34 So that a man need not to say, This is: worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 2 Of the blessing of the righteous and of the curse of the sinner.

Reat || trauell is created for all men, and an heauy yoke vpon the sons of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day they returne to the mother of all things.

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death.

3 From him that sitteth vpon his glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blue silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigor, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping hee is as in a watch-tower in the day: he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is life, he awaketh, and maruelleth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beest, but seven fold to the vngodly.

9 Moreouer, death, and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the flood also.

11 All things that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the waters, shall returne into the sea.

12 All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but faithfulness shall endure for ever.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall be dried vp like a river, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When hee openeth his hand, hee reioyceth: but all the transgressions shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane oeces are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalks by what water soeuer it be or water banke, it shall be guiled vp before all other herbes.

17 Friendlinesse is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for ever.

18 To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but hee that findeth a treasure is at ouer then both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and nusiicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisdom is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth labour and beautie: but a greene feede time is rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunity: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends & helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliver more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feet: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches & strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, & it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 My sonne, lead not a beggars life, for better it were to die then to beg.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he tormenteth him selfe after other mens meat: but a wifen an and wellnourished, will be ware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in it is belly there burneth a fire.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 2 Death is not to be feared. 3 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 4 Gods house and fire. 5 An exhortation to giue herte vnto wisdom. 6 Of what things a man ought to be possessed.

Of Death, how better is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth a rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing, owke him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate.

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bin before thee, & that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldst thou be against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be tenne or an hundredth or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee above a thousand treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbered: but a good name endureth euer.

14 My children, keepe wisdom in peace: * for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisdom.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to be ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother, be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Offence before the King and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrightheousnesse before a companion and friend,

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the truth of God and his covenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the bread, or to be reuered for giuing or taking,

20 And of silence vnto them that talke thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans maid, or to stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friends with words, 23 Or to vpbraid when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reucale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt find fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Law of God must be taught: 2 A daughter, 3 A woman, 4 God knoweth all things: yea, then the secrets of thine heart.

Of these things bee not thou || ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his covenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy compulsion, and of transgression: or of distributing thy heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true ballance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, & weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vndern, and the vniuersity, and the aged that conend against the young: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approoued of all men liuing.

9 ¶ The daughter || maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carelesnesse that hee hath for her, take away his sleepe in the youth, lest she should passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, lest she should be hated:

10 In her virginity, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and when she is with her husband, lest she mischaue herself & when she is married, lest she continue vnfruitfull.

11 ¶ If thy daughter be vniuersally kepte her straightly, lest shee cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the cite, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

12 ¶ Behold not euery bodys beauty, and company not among women.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: * so doth wickednesse of the woman.

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saines should declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hath established to confirme all things by in his maiestie?

18 Hee seeketh out the depth, & the heart, & he knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 Hee declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 ¶ No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

21 Hee hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished: hee hath no need of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparks of fire!

23 They liue all, and endure for euer: and whensoever need is they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one || commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can be satisfied with beholding Gods glory?

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

His hie ornament || the cleare firmament, the beauty of the heauen so glorious to behold,

2 The Sunne also a marvellous instrument when it appeareth, declareth, as his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a furnace with continuall heat: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandment he causeth it to runne hastily.

6 ¶ The moone also hath hee made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

7 ¶ The feastes are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe putched on high, shining in the firmament of heaven: the beautes of heaven are the glorious starrs, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the Holy one, they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

11 ¶ * Look vpon the raine-bowe, and praise him that made it: very beautiful is it in the brightness thereof.

12 ¶ It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commandement he maketh the snow to haile, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the fowles.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South wind bloweth according to his will.

17 The found of his thunder beateh the earth: so doeth the storme of the North: the whirlwind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof, is as the grasshoppers that light downe.

18 The eye maruileth at the beautes of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is: astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the cold North winde bloweth, an yce is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clootheth the waters as with a breasteplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wilderness, & desciyeth that is Greene, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dew commeth vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word he stilleth the winde] by his counsell hee appeaseth the deepe, and planteth ylands therein.

24 They that saile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we maruile hereat.

25 For there be strange and wonderous works, diuers manner of beasts, & the creation of whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are established by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we cannot attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praise him? for he is aboue all his works.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very * great, and maruolous is his power.

30 Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as yee can, yet doeth hee farre exceed: exalt him with all your power, and be not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 ¶ Who hath seene him, that hee might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is?

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, and we haue seene but a few of his works.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisdom to such as feare God.

C H A P. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

Let vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers of whom we are begotten.

1 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

2 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

3 ¶ They gouerned the people by counsell and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences.

4 They inuented the melodie of mulicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

5 They were rich and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

6 All these were honorable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

7 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shalbe spoken of.

8 There are some also which haue no memoriall, * and are perished as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

9 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousness hath not ene forgotten.

10 For whose posterity a good inheritance is reserved, & their seed is contained in the covenant.

11 Their stocke is contained in the covenant, and their posterity after them.

12 Their seed shall remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

13 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euer more.

14 ¶ The people speake of their wisdom, and the Congregation talke of their praise.

15 ¶ Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was hee translated for an example of repentance to the generations.

16 ¶ Noe was found perfect, and in the time of wrath hee had a reward: therefore was hee left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

17 An euerlasting covenant was made with him, that all flesh should perish no more by the flood.

18 ¶ Abraham was a great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him.

19 He kept the Law of the most High, and was in covenant with him, and hee fed the coucane * in his flesh, and in tentation he was found faithfull.

20 Therefore he assured him by an * oath, that hee would blesse the nations in his seed, and that hee would multiply him as the dust of the earth, and exalt his seed as the starrs, and cause them to inherit from sea to sea, and from the riuer vnto the end of the world.

21 ¶ With Isaac did he confirme likewise for Abraham his fathers sake, the blessing of all men and the coucane.

22 And caused it to rest vpon the head of Isaac, & made himselfe known by * his blessings, and gaue him an heritage, and diuided his portions, * and parted them among the twelue tribes.

23 And hee brought out of him a * mercifull man, which found fauour in the sight of all flesh.

12 And with a crowne of gold vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

* Deut. 17. 10.

* Num. 16. 1, 2.

18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wilderness, euen the men that tooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the company of Core in furie and rage.

19 This the Lord saw, & it displeased him, and in his wrathful indignation were they consumed: hee did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fiery flame.

* Num. 17. 8.

20 * But he made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of 25 And according to the covenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his son of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the only son of his sonne, and to his seed. God giue vs wisdom in our heart, to iudge his people in righteousness, that the good things that they haue be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posteritie.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

Iesus || * the sonne of Naue was valiant in the warres, and was the successour of Moyses in prophecies, who according vnto his name was a great Sauiour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rofe vp against him, and to set Israel in their inheritance.

* Iosue 10. 12.

7 * In the time of Moyses also hee did good worke: he and || Caleb the son of Iephunne stood against the enemy, and withheld the people from murmuring, and appeased the wicked murmuring.

14 By the Law of the Lord he iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Iacob.

15 This Prophet was approued for his faithfullnes, and he was knowne faithfull in his wordes and visions.

16 * He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies pressed vpon him on euery side, when he offered the sucking lambe.

17 * And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noise.

18 So hee discomfited the princes of the Tyrrians, and all the rulers of the Philistims.

19 * And before his long sleepe he made protestation in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, and hee tooke no substance of any man, no not so much as a shooe, and no man could accule him.

20 * After his sleepe also hee told of the kings death, and from the earth list he vp his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednesse of the people should perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, Dauid and Salomon.

After him role vp || * Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

2 For as the lat is taken away from the peace offering, so was || Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

3 * Hee plaied with the Lyons as with kids, and with beares as with lambes.

4 * Slew hee not a giant when hee was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when hee list vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliath?

5 For hee called vpon the most high Lord which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warrior, and that hee might set vp the borne of his people againe.

6 * So || hee gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with || great praises, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

7 * For he destroyed the enemies on euery side, and routed out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their borne in sundry vnto this day.

8 In all his workes hee praised the holy One, and the most high with honourable wordes, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

9 * Hee set fingers also before the altar, and according to their time hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God daily with their songs.

10 Hee ordeined to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appointed the tunes perfectly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 * The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his borne for euer: hee gaue him the couenant of the kingdom, & the throne of glory in Israel.

12 After him rose vp a wife sunne, whoby him dwelt in a large possession.

13 || * Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about him, hee mighte walke in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer.

14 * How wise was thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

15 Thy minde ouer the whole earth, & hath filled it with grace and darke sentences.

16 Thy Name was abroad in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloved.

17 * The countreys maruelled at thee for thy songs, and proverbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

18 By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast gathered gold as tinne, and hast had as much filer as lead.

19 * Thou diddest bow thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy body.

20 Thou didst flatter thine honour, and hast desired thy posteritie, and hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorrow for thy folly.

21 * So the kingdom was diuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome.

22 * Neuerthelesse, the Lord left not off his mercie, neither was he destroyed for his workes, neither did hee abolsh the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Iacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede hee left behind him || Roboam, euen || the foolishnes of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, * who turned away the people through his counsell, and || Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, which caused Israel to sinne, & shewed Ephraim the way of sinne:

24 So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

25 For they fought out all wickednesse, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Eliseus, Elisha, and Jesai.

Then flood vp || * Elias the Prophet as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe.

2 Hee brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale he diminished them: [for they might not away with the commandmentes of the Lord.]

3 By the word of the Lord hee shut the heauen, & three times brought hee the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honorable art thou by thy wordes, & how many who may call thee blessed like thee.

5 * Which hath raised vp the dead from death, and by the word of the most high out of the graue:

6 Which hath brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their seate:

7 Which heardst the rebuke of the Lord in Sinai, & in Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance:

8 * Which didst anoint Kings that thy might || recompence, and Prophets to be thy successors:

9 * Which wast taken vp in a whirlwinde of fire, and in a chariot of fierie horses:

10 Which wast appointed * to reprocue in due season, & to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Iacob.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue for we shall like.

12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, || Eliseus was filled with his spirit: while hee liued, hee was not named for any prince, neither could any bring him into subjection.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his bodyd opofied.

14 Hee did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes maruailous.

15 For al thisthe people repented not, neither depuited they from their sinnes: * till they were caried away prisoners out of their land, and were caried throug all the earth: so that there remained but a very few people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp stones, 17 ¶ Ezekias made his city strong & conueied water into the mids thereof: he digged thorow the rocke with yron, and made fountaines for waters.

18 * In his time came Sennacherib vp and sent Rabfaces, and lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and handes, so that they sorrowed like a woman in trauell.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is merciful, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediately the holy One heard them out of heauen.

21 [He thought no more vpon their finnes nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Esai.

22 * Hee smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lord, and remained stedfastly in the wayes of Dauid his father, as ¶ Esai the great Prophet, and faithfull in his vision had commanded him.

24 * In his time the Sunne went backward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 Hee law by an excellent Spirit what should come to passe at the last, and hee comforted them that were sorrowfull in Sion.

26 Hee shewed what should come to passe for euer, and secret things or euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, & Ezekias, Dauid, & Ieremie, & Ezechiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, & Neemias. Enoch, Joseph, Sem and 11.

THe remembrance of ¶ Iosias is like the composition of the perfume, that is made by the arte of the Apothecary, it is sweete as honie in all monthes, and as musike at a banquet of wine.

2 Hee behauid himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 Hee directed his heart vnto the Lord, and in the time of the vngodlye established religion.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednes: for euen the kings of Iuda forooke the Law of the most High, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue them ¶ horne vnto other, and their honour to a strange nation.

6 Hee burnt the elect cite of the Sanctuary, and destroyed the streetes thereof according to the ¶ prophesie of ¶ Ieremias.

7 For they ¶ intreated him euill, which neuertheless was a Prophet, ¶ sanctified from his mothers wombe, that he might roote out and afflicke, and destroy, and that he might also build vp, and plant.

8 ¶ * Ezechiel law the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the chariot of the Cherubims.

9 * For hee made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.

10 ¶ * And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourish out of their place, and let their memory bee blessed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 ¶ * How shal we praise ¶ Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was ¶ Iesus also the sonne of Iosif: these men in their time builded the house, and set vp the Sanctuary of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euermlasting worship.

13 ¶ * And among ¶ elect was ¶ Neemias, whole renowe is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, and set vp the gates and the bars, and laid the foundations of our houses.

14 ¶ But vpon the earth was no man created like ¶ Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto ¶ Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the vepholder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 ¶ * Sem and ¶ Seth were in great honour among men: and so was ¶ Adam about euery liuing thing in the creation.

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 22 An exhortation to praise the Lord. 27 The author of this booke.

Simon ¶ the son of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the ¶ Temple.

2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height laide, and the high walles that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasse was about in measure as the sea.

4 He tooke care for his people that they should not fall, and fortified the city against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when hee came out of the house couered with the vail!

6 Hee was as the morning starre in the mids of a cloud and as the moone when it is full.

7 And as the Sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most Hie, and as the rainbow that is bright in the faire clouds.

8 And as the floure of the roses in the spring of the yere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer.

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessell of massie gold, set with all manner of precious stones.

10 And as a faire oliue tree that is fruitfull, & as a cypres tree which groweth vp to the clouds.

11 When he put on the garments of honor, and was clothed with all beauty, he went vp to ¶ holy altar, & made the garment of holines honorable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priestes hands, he himselfe stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministry vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almighty.

15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good flavour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hastned, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty, and most high.

18 The fingers alloting with their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melodie sweete.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high high with prayer before him that is merciful, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his service.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his name.

29 For if he doe these things, he shal be strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord which giueth wisdom to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore. So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God my Sauour: I wil giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy Names sake from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, & out of the hands of such as fought after my life, & from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the middes of the fire, that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vnclenane tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the king, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, and there was no man to help me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine actes of olde, how thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and faulteth them out of the hands of the // enemies.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, & in the time of the proud without help.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and wil ling praise with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou savedst me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks and praise thee, and blesse thy Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto far countries, and the was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foot walked in the right way, and from my youth vp I sought I after her,

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gave me much wisdom:

17 And I profited by her: therefore wil I ascribe the glory vnto him that giueth wisdom.

18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be ialous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my works: I lifted vp mine hands on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in purenesse: I haue had my heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath given mee a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw neere vnto mee yee vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slow? and what say you of these things seeing your soules are very thirsty?

25 I opened my mouth and said, * Buy her for you without money.

26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shal receiue instruction: she is ready that ye may find her.

27 Behold with your eyes, * how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto mee much rest.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your dutie betimes, and hee will giue you a reward at his time.

BARUCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captivity of Babylon, which he read before Iechonah and all the people. 10 The Iewes saw the booke with ioy, vnto Ierusalem to their father brethren, so that intent that they should pray for them.

¶ These are the words of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasis, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of // Afadaias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon,

2 In the fifth yeere, and in the seueneth day of the month, what time as the Caldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioaquim king of Iuda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the river || Sud.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collect on also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioachim the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other priests, and to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

8 When he had receiued the vessils of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, one tenth day of the month || Siuan, to wit, silver vessils, which Sedecias the sonne of Iosias King of Iuda had made,

Or, Siuan.

9 Also that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had taken away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles prisoners, and the people and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they said, Behold, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shal buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a || meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

Or, Masse, for Sinne, which was the evening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may bee vpon earth as the dayes of heauen,

12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that wee may long doo them struce, and finde fauour in their sight

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lord and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And read this booke (which we haue sent to you to be cheared in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast daies, and at time conuenient.

Chap. 2.6.

15 Thus shall yet say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but vnto vs the confision of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And o our kings, and to our princes, & to our priests, & to our prophets, and to our fathers,

Dan 9.5.

17 Because wee haue * sinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandments that he gaue vs openly.

Deut. 28.15.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euē vnto this day, we haue bin disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heere his voyce.

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant, at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appa-reth this day.

21 Neuertheless, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom hee sent vnto vs

22 But every one of vs followed his wicked imagination of his own heart, to serue strange gods, and to do euil in the sight of the Lord our God,

1 The Jewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinne. The true confession of the Christian. 11 The Jewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 22 He promitteth that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and euermolting Testaments.

Therefore the Lord our God hath performed his word which hee pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our kings, and against our prince, and against the men of Israel and Iuda, 23 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were written in the Law of Moyses,

Deut. 28.53.

3 That some among vs should eat his flesh of his owne son, and son the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreover he hath deliuered them to bee in subiection to all the kingdomes that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and detolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not above, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

Chap. 1.15.

6 * To the Lord our God appeareth sinne, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not praised before the Lord, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his works, which hee hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walk in the commandments of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

Dan 9.15.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, & an hie arme, & with signes and with wonders, and with great power, & hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, & our petitions, and deliuer vs from thine own sake, & giue vs fauour in the sight of them which haue led vs away.

15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God: and that thy name is called vpon Israel and vpon this posterity.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and direct vpon vs: incline thine care, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lord, neither || praise, nor righteousness.

indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy servants the Prophets saying.

21 * Thus sayth the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, & serue the king of Babylon: for he shall ye remaine in the land that I haue vnto our fathers.

22 But if ye will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the king of Babylon.

23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the king of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the words that thou spakest by thy servants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers should be carried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great misery with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs, according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercy.

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou didst command him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 * If ye will not obey my voyce, Then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I know that they will not heare me: for it is a stiff necked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselves, 31 And know I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and praise me in the land of their captiuitie, & thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill works: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land which I promised with an oath vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And will make an euerlasting Couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer, becaus for their deliuerance.

2 He prayeth wisdom vnto the people shewing, that so great aduersities are come vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 One y God was the founder of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, & the spirit that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pittie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, & we vterly perish.

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God:

wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednesse of our fathers that sinned before thee.

8 Deloed, we are yet this day in our captiuitie where thou hast scattered vs, to bee a reprob and a curse, and subiect to payme nts, according to all the iniquities of our fathers which are departed from thee the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandments of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen old in a strange country?

11 And art defiled with the dead? and art connected with them that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountain of wise men.

13 For if thou hast walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They had then pastime with the fowles of the heathen, that hoarded vp silver & gold, wherein men trust, and made no end of their gathering?

18 For they ycoined silver, & were so careful of their worke & wholement: had none end.

19 Are come to nought, & gone downe to hel, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 Whenthy were yong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge.

21 Neither perceiued the paths therof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were far off from that way.

22 It hath not bin heard of in the land of Canaan: neither hath it bene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines: that fought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Naran, & of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue known the way of wisdom, neither do they thinke vpon the paths therof.

24 O Israel, how great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is big, and vnumefurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning: that were of so great stature, & so expert in warre, 27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, & perished thorow their own foolishnes.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen to take her, and brought her downe from the clouds?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her rather then fine gold?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and hee hath found her out wth his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euer more, & hath filled it with fourefooted beasts.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him wth feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefullnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward hee was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A consoling of the people being in captivity. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof, the Church. 25 A consolation and consoling of the same.

THis is the booke of the Commandements of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take hold of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which are the memorials of Israel.

6 Yee are sold to the nations, nor for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Yee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euermlasting God, and ye haue grieved Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When he saw the wrath comming vpon you fro God, he said, Hearken ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the euermlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer mee a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sins of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not knowe his righteousness, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come ye, that dwell about Sion, & cal to remembrance the captiuitie of my sons & daughters, which the Euermlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language.

16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pity the yong: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing mee alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, & put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I liue I will call vpon the Euermlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation through the Euermlasting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercy which shall quickly come vnto you from our euermlasting Saviour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping & mourning: but with ioy and perpetual gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now y^e neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory, and brightnesse from the Euermlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God, for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your mind to go astray from your God, so endeavour your selues ten times more to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euermlasting ioy again, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for hee which gaue thee that name will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflicte thee, & such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is she that hath taken thy sons.

33 For as shee reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall the besoy for her owne delolation.

34 For I will take away thereioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the euermlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the ioy y^e commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof, the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, & thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousness, that commeth from God and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euermlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, auer. The peace of righteouſnes, and the glory of the worſhip of God.

5 Ariſe, O Ieruſalem, and ſtand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the Eaſt, and behold thy children gathered from the Eaſt vnto the Weſt by the word of the holy one, reioicing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God wil bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery hie mountaine, & the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valles, to make the ground plaine, that Iſrael may walk ſafely vnto y^e honor of God.

8 The woods and all ſweet ſmelling trees ſhall ſhadow Iſrael at the commendement of God.

9 For God ſhall bring Iſrael with ioy in the light of his maiſtie, with the mercy and righteouſneſſe that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPY OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias ſent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the king of the Baby- lonians. to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

BECAUSE of the finnes, that ye haue committed againſt God, ye ſhall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, king of the Baby- lonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye ſhall remaine there many yeres, and a long ſeaſon, even ſeuē generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now ſhall ye ſee in Babylon gods of ſiluer, and of gold, and of wood, born vpon mens ſhoulders, to cauſe the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wiſe be like the ſtrangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye ſee the multitude before them & behinde them worſhipping them,

5 But ſay ye in your hearts, O Lord, we muſt worſhip thee.

6 For mine Angel ſhall be with you, and ſhall care for your ſoules.

7 As for their tongue, it is poliſhed by the car- penter, & they themſelues are gilted, and laid ouer with ſiluer: yet are they but lies, & cannot ſpeake.

8 And as they take gold for a maide that loveth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: ſometimes alſo the Priests themſelues con- uey away the gold and ſiluer from their gods, and beſtow it vpon themſelues.

10 Yea, they giue of the ſame vnto the harlots, that are in their houſes: againe, they decke theſe gods of ſiluer, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preſerued from ruſt and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with cloth- ing of purple, and wiſe their faces becauſe of the duſt of the temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a ſcepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the cuntry: yet can hee not ſlay ſuch as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defend himſelfe from battell, nor from thees: ſo then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not for as a veſſell that a man yeſeth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be ſet vp in their temples, their eyes be full of duſt by reaſon of the feete of thole that come in:

17 And as the gates are ſhut in round about vpon him that hath offended the king: or as one that ſhould be led to be put to death, to the priests keepe their temples with doores, and with locks, and with barres, leſt their gods ſhould be ſpoiled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before theſe yea, more then for themſelues, whereof they cannot ſee one: for they are but as one of the poſts of the temple.

19 They confeſſe that euery their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the ſmoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, & allowes, & birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats alſo.

22 By this yea may be ſure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithſtanding the golde that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the ruſt, they cannot ſhine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a moſt high price.

25 They are borne vpon mens ſhoulders, be- cauſe they haue no feet, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worthe yea, and they that worſhip them, are aſhamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot riſe vp againe of themſelues, neither if one ſet them vpright, can they moue of them- ſelues, neither if they be bowed downe, can they make themſelues ſtraight: but they ſet gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them their Priests ſell them, and abuſe them: like- wiſe alſo the women lay vp of the ſame: but vnto the poore and ſicke they giue nothing.

28 The menſtruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their ſacrifices: by theſe things ye may know that they are no gods: ſeare the not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods? becauſe the women bring gifts to the gods of ſiluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priests fit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whoſe heads & beards are ſha- uen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare, and crie before their gods, as men doe at the ſeaſt of one that is dead.

32 The priests alſo take away of their gar- ments, and clothes their wiues and children.

33 Whether it be euill that one doth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompence it: they can neither ſet vp a king nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor mouey: though a man make a vow vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can ſaue no man from death, neither deliuer the weak from the mighty.

36 They cannot reſtore a blinde man to his ſight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can ſhew no mercy to the widow, nor doe good to the fatherleſſe.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and ſiluer are as ſtones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say that they are gods?

40 Moreover the Caldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sente.

42 Furthermore, the women girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne || straw.

43 And some of them be drawn away, and lie with any such as come by, these casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her cord broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among the, is lies: how may it thebe thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither bee they any other thing, but euen what the workman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there cometh any war or plague vpon them, the priests imagine with themselves, where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre nor from plagues?

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations and kings, that they bee no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no king in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preferre fro iniurie, they haue no power, but are as crows betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When therefore falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, the priests will escape and saue themselves, but they burne as the balikes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any King or enemies: how can it then bee thought or said, that they be gods?

56 Moreover these gods of wood, of gold, and of siluer, can neither defend themselves from thees nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest take away their gold and siluer, and apparel, wherewith they bee clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shew his power, or ellee a profitable vessel in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profite, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the stars that shine, when they are lent downe for necessary vyes, obey.

60 Likewise also y lightning, wher it shineth, it is euident: & the wind bloweth in eury countrie.

61 And when God commaundeth the clouds to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hills & woods, it doth that which is commaunded: but these are not like any of these things, neither informe, nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they bee gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.

64 For so much now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse nor blesse kings:

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beafts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, & doe themselves good.

68 So ye may be certified, that by no manner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scar-crow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and gold and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard; that eury bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is call in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse, which faderth vpon them, ye may vnderstand that they be no gods: yea they themselves shall be consumed at the last, and they shall be a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery fornaice.

CHAP. I.

25 The prayer of Acrias. 45 The cruelty of the King. 48 The flame deuoreth the Caldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornaice. 51 The three children praise the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, and magnified the Lord.

25 The Azarias stood vp, & praised on this maner, & opening his mouth in ymids of fyre, said

26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praised and honoured for evermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy city of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equity hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing fro thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou hast commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and most hateful traitors, and to an vnrighteous king, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now wee may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy names sake, we beseech thee giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant.

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake.

36 To whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply their seed as the flax of heauen, & as the sand that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For wee, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, & be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our finnes:

38 So that now wee haue neither Prince nor Prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that wee might find mercy.

39 Neuerthelesse, in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be excused.

40 As in the burnt offering of rams and bullocks, and as in ten thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnes, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they that doe thy seruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know that thou only art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now thy kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the oven hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with tow, & with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the furnace fortie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the furnace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the furnace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the furnace,

50 And made in the mids of the furnace like a moitt hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieved nor troubled them.

51 Then the three (as out of one mouth) praised & glorified & blessed God in the furnace, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praised, and exalted about all things for euer, and blessed be thy glorious and holy Name, and praised about all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest the depths, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed bee thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised about all things, & glorified for euer.

57 All ye works of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

58 O heauens, blesse ye the Lord, praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

59 O Angels of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

60 All yee waters that bee about the heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

61 All yee powers of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

62 O sunne and moone, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

63 O stars of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

64 Euery shewe and dew, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

65 All yee windes, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

66 O fire and heate, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

67 O winter and summer, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

68 O dewes and storms of snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

69 O frost and colde, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

70 O yce and snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

71 O nights and daies, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

73 O lightnings and clouds blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

74 Let the earth blesse the Lord: let it praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

75 O mountaines, and hills, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

76 All things that grow on the earth, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

77 O fountaines, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

78 O sea and floods, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that moue in the waters, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

80 All yefowles of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

81 All ye beastes and cattell, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

82 O children of men blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

83 Let Israel blesse the Lord, praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

84 O Priests of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

87 O Saints and humble of heart, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, & Mifsael, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs from the hel, & saued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the mids of the fornice, and burning flame: & euen out of the mids of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confesse vnto the Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercy endureth for euer.

90 All yee that worship the Lord, blesse the God of gods: praise him, and acknowledge him: for his mercy endureth world without end.

THE HISTORY OF || SVSANNA, which some ioyned to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

Or, Sufanna.

1. The two gouernours are taken with the lone of Sufanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednesse. 21 Shee sheweth rather to pray God, though it be to the danger of herselfe. 22 She is accused. 23 Daniel doeth deliuer her. 24 The gouernours are put to death.

Here dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioachim.

2 And he tooke a wife, whose name was Sufanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyses.

4 Now Ioachim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because he was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to bee Iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquity came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These hated Ioachims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Sufanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders saw her that shee went in daily and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their mind, and cast down their eyes, that they should not see heauen, nor remember iust iudgements.

10 And albeit they were both wounnen with her loue, yet durst not one shew another his grieffe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one anoher the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might find her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a convenient time, that shee went in, as her maide was, with two maides onely, and thought to wash her selfe in the garden (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, save the two Elders that had hid themselves, and watched for her.

17 Shee said to her maides, Bring me oile & sopes, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me,

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselves at a backe doore, to set the thing that shee had commanded them: but they saw not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp, and ran vnto her, saying, 20 Behold, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and we burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, wee will beare witness against thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou shalt send away thy maids fro thee.

22 Then Sufanna sighed, & said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I do it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, & not doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Sufanna cried with a loud voice, and the two Elders cried out against her.

25 Then ran the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the crye in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Sufanna.

28 On the morrow after, came the people to Ioachim her husband, & the two Elders came also, full of malicious imagination against Sufanna, to put her to death.

29 And sayd before the people, Send for Sufanna the daughter of Helcias Ioachims wife. And immediately they sent.

30 So shee came with her father and mother, her children and all her kindred.

31 Now Sufanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for shee was couered): that they might so be satisfied with her beauty.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stood vp in the mids of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head.

35 Which wept and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders said, As wee walked in the garden alone, we came in with two maids, whom we sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ran vnto them, and we saw them as they were together.

39 But wee could not hold him: nor bee was stronger stronger then wee, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now when he had taken this woman, wee asked her what young man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assembly beleued them, as those that were the Elders and Idges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out wth a loud voyce, and said, O euerglasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things before they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest that they haue borne false witness against me, and behold, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord railed vp the holy spirit of a yong child, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cried with a loud voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these words that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and said, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the truth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside one tarrre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy finnes which thou hast committed aforetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgments, and hast condemned the inncent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, all cite the Lord saith, ¶ The inncent and righteous shall thou not slay.

54 Now then if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentiske tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verely thou hast liyed against thine owne head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So hee put him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seed of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath deceived thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue yee dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Now therefore tell mee, vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a ¶ Prime tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also liyed against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cryed with a loud voyce, and praised God which laweth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth.)

62 ¶ And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was sued the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Iocann her husband, and all the kindred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of all the people.

65 And king Astyages was layd with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE HISTORIE OF BEL AND of the Dragon; which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Now when king Astyages was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Now the Babyonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were set vpon him euery day twelue great measures of fine flour, and fourtie sheepe, and fixe great pots of wine.

4 And the king worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the king laid vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands: but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen & the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then said the king vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O King, be not deceived: for this is but clay with us, and brasie without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for the priests and laid vnto them, If ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shall die.

9 But if yee can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the priests of Bel were threefoure and ten besides their wives and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels priests said, Behold, we will goe out, and let thou the meat: here, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet.

12 And to morrow when thou commeff in, if thou findest not the Bel hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death: or else Daniel that hath lied vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselves sure enough:

Zz for ¶ Called Metretas, and euery one of these measures contained about ten gallons, which in all make threefcore.

for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there they went in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out and shut the dore, and leaue it with the kings signet, & so departed.

15 Now in the night came the priests, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes the king arose, and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel, Are the scales whole? Who answered, Yea, O king, they be whole.

18 And as soone as hee had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not goe in, & said, Behold now the punishment, and marke wel whole foote steps are these.

20 And the king said, I see the footsteps of men, women, & children: therefore was the king angry, 21 And tooke the priests, with their wiues and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him, and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreover in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the king said vnto Daniel, Sailest thou, that this is of brass? also loe, he tueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing god: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the king, I wil worship the Lord my God: for hee is the liuing God.

26 But giue mee leaue, O king, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king said, I giue thee leaue, 27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and tar, and haire, and did seeche them together, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst asunder. And Daniel said, Behold, whom ye worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the king, saying, The king is become a lew: for hee hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the king, and said, Deliuer vs Daniel, or els wee will destroy thee and thine houle.

30 Now when the king saw that they pressed sore vpon him, and that necessity constrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lions denne, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iury a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Goe, cary the meat that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, & bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, & thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Vpon the seuenth day the king went to be-waile Daniel: and when hee came to the denne, hee looked in, and behold, Daniel sat in the midst of the Lyons.

41 Then cryed the king with a loude voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And hee drew him out of the den, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction, into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE OF the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdom. 12 Many of the children of Israel made covenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus forbiddeth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus felleth apostates.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip went forth of the land of Chettrijm, and slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia,

2 He tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to the ends of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, inasmuch that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hautie.

4 Now when hee had gathered a mightie strong holte,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations, and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things hee fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roume.

10 And they all caused themselves to be crowned.

ned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wakenesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote euon Antiochus; Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus which had bene an hostage at home, and he reigned in the hundredth and seven and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Greeces.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entred many, slaying, Let vs goe, and make a couenant with the heathen, that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this deuile pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the king which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen, 16 And made themselves vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy couenant & ioyned themselves to the heathen, and were sold to doe mischief.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mightie company, with chariots, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great naue, 19 And moued warre against Ptolemus king of Egypt: but Ptolemus was afraid of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus had many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the poyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundredth fortie and three yeere,

22 And went vp toward Israel and Ierusalem with a mighty people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden altar and the candlestick for the light, and all the instruments thereof, & the table of the shewbread, & the powing vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins, and the vails, and the crownes, and the golden apparel, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the silver and gold, and the precious jewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that he found, and when he had taken away all, he departed into his owne land,

25 After hee had murdered many men, and spoken very proudly,

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the young women and the young men were made feeble, and the beauty of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourne, and she that sat in the marriage chamber was in he unlesse.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Jacob was covered with confusion.

30 After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe taxemaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude, 31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceit and they gaue credite vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when hee had spoiled the citie, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walled the citie on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of David with a great and thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified the nelues therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and victuals, and gathered the spoile of Ierusalem, and laid it vp there.

38 Thus became they a fore snare and were in an budment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary, 40 Inasmuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, & it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom shee had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorrow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, & to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countrey,

47 And y^e they should forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the self offerings in the Sanctuary,

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feast,

49 And pollute the Sanctuary & the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars, and groves and chapels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleanness, & pollute themselves, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances, 52 And that whosoever would not doe according to the commandement of the king should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote he throughout all his kingdome, and let ouerleers ouer all the people for to censure them to doe these things.

54 And hee commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifice, city by city.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by he: per euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.

56 And they droue the Iudaes into secret places, euⁿ wh^osoever they coulde see for succour.

57 The fiftieth day of Calice in the hundredth and five and twentieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the freetees they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Lawe which they found they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoever had a booke of the testament found by him, or whosoever consented vnto the Lawe, the Kings commandement was, that they should put him to death by their authoritie.

61 And they executed these things euery moneth vpon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the five and twentieth day of the moneth they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement, they put certaine women to death, which had cauled their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged vp the children at their neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and stewe the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselves, that they would not eate vncleane things, 66 But choler rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meates, so because they would not breake the holy couenant, they were put to death.

67 And this tyrannie was very fore vpon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy city. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idoles. 21 The rage of Mattathias for the Law of God. 33 They are slaine and with their right againe because of the Sabbath day. 40 Mattathias dying commaundeth his sonnes to stand by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

In those dayes floode vp Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Ioannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sons of Ioabab of Ierusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And he had five sons, Ioanab called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi,

4 Iudas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Now hee sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem,

7 And he said, Woe is mee, wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy city, & thus to sit still? it is deuised into the hands of the enemies,

8 And the sanctuary is in the hands of strangers, her Temple is as a man that hath no renouew.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the freetees, and her yong men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoiles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary and our beauty, and honour is desolate, & the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpe is vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, bee, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the king to the citie of Modin to compell them to forsake God and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together, 17 Then spake the Commissioners of the king, and said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the kings commaundement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, and such as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy family be in the kings fauour, and thou and thy children shall bee enriched with silver and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and said with a loud voice, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion obey him, and fall away every man from the religion of their fathers, and content to his commaundements, 20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren walke in the couenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that wee forsake not the Law and the ordinances.

22 We wil not hearken vnto the kings wordes to transgress our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commaundements.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, hee was so inflamed with zeale, that his reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore he ran vnto him, and killed him by the altar.

25 And at the same time hee slew the kings commissioner that compelled him to doe sacrifice and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare hee a zeale to the Lawe of God, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loud voice in the citie, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Law, and wil stand by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So hee and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the citie.

29 Then many that sought after iustice, and iudgement,

30 Went downe into the wildernesse to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues, and their cattell: for the afflictions increased sore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was tolde vnto the kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the citie of David, that men had broken the kings commandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernesse, 32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing overtaken them, they camped against them, and let the battell in array against them on the Sabbath day.

33 And said vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commandement of the king, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered, We wil not goe forth, neither will wee doe the kings commaundement to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any stone at them, or flopped the priuie places:

37 But said, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that yee destroy vs wrongfully.

101, 148.

101, 148.

101, 148.

101, 148.

101, 148.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cartell, their wiues and their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, It wee doe all as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our lawes, then shall they destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, wee will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselves vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger; but the rest fled vnto the heathen and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proud men: and this acte prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue no place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drew neere that Mattathias should die, hee said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Law, and giue your liues for the Couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what ads our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

52 * Was not Abraham found faithfull in temptation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness?

53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandment, and was made the lord of Egypt.

54 * Phinees our father, because hee was zealous and feruent, obtained the couenant of the euerlasting Priesthood.

55 * Iesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel.

56 * Caleb, because he bare witness before the Congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

57 * David because of his mercy obtained the throne of the kingdome for euermore.

58 * Elias, because he was zealous and feruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

59 * Ananias, Azarias, and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

60 * Daniel because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lyons.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that whosoever put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 * Feare not yet then the words of a ffull man: for his glory is but durg and wormes.

63 To day he is set vp, and to morrow he shall * not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 ¶ Whosoever my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue care vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Macabees hath bin mighty and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him bee your capitaine, and fight you the battell for the people:

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that obtruse the Law, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandment of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was layde with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundreth, fourtie and sixe yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 12 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The conquest of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas receiueth his fight against Lyfias, whom Antiochus had made capitaine ouer his host.

Then Iudas his sonne, called Macabees, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that held with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gaue his people great honour: he put on a breastplate as a gyant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his adies he was like a Lyon, and as a Lyons whelp roaring after the pray.

5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people,

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And hee grieved diuers kings, but Iacob reioyced by his adies, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.

8 He went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was hee renowned vnto the ends of the earth, and he assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great host out of Samaria to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Iudas perceived, hee went forth to meet him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I will get mee a name, and will bee glorious in the realme: for I will goe fight with Iudas and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.

15 So he made him ready to go vp, & there went with him a mighty host of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when hee came nere to the going vp of Bethoron, Iudas went forth to meet him with a small company.

17 But when they saw the armie comming against them, they said to Iudas, How are we able, being so few, to fight against great multitude and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue tasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of few, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength cometh from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruel & proud multitude to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to rob vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes, 22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Bethoron vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, and the rest fled into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about,

26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his minde: wherefore hee sent forth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong army, 28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his hoste a yeeres wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yeeer for all occasions.

29 Neuertheless, when hee saw that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the country were small, because of the disfection, and plagues that hee had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of old time,

30 Hee feared lest hee should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie hee farre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So hee left Lyfias a noble man and of the kings blood, to oversee the kings businesse, from the river of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreover, hee gaue him halfe of his horse and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done.

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy and rout out the power of Israel, and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king took the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yeeer an hundredth fourtie and seuen, and passed the ruer Euphrates, and went thorow the high countreys.

38 Then L. lias cho'e Ptolemeus the sonne of Doriminius, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourtie thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to go into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power: and came and pitched by Emmaus in the plaine country.

41 Now when the merchants of the country heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much silver and gold, and seruants, and came into the campe, to buy the children of Israel for slaves, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Now when Iudas and his brethren saw that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew nere vnto their borders, considerng the kings words, whereby hee had commanded to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them, 43 They sayd one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuary.

44 Then the Congregation was sone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuary was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Iacob was taken away, the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselves together, and came to Maipha before Ierusalem: for in Maipha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the Law, wherein the heathen sought to print the likeness of their idoles, 49 And brought the Priests garments, and the first fruits, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cried with a loud voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall we doe with these? and whither shall we cary them away?

51 For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priests are in heauines, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can wee stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loud voice.

55 And after this Iudas ordeined captaines ouer the people, even captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundredths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearful that they should returne euery one to his owne house, according * to the Law.

Emmaus.

Dn. 10. 5.
1. 7. 3.

57 So the hoste remooued, and pitched vpon the fourth side of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas saide, Arme your selues, and be valiant men and be ready againt the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together againt vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuary.

60 Neuertheless as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. II. III.

1 Iudas goeth againt Gorgias which setteth in waite. 14 Hee putteth Gorgias and his host to flight. 28 Lysias innadeth Iudas, 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple, and dedicateth the altar.

Then tooke Gorgias five thousand foote men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To invade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the foresaies were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, he remooued, and they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and when he found no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

6 But as soone as it was day, Iudas shewed himselfe in the field with three thousand men, which had neither harness nor swords to their minds.

7 And they saw that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, & that these were expert men of war.

8 Then said Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare yee not their multitude, neither be afraid of their assault.

9 Remember, how our fathers were deliuered * in the red sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an armie.

10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercy vpon vs: and remember the covenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shall all the heathen know, that there is one which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming againt them.

13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Iudas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto || Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Iudas turned againe with his host from pursuing them,

17 And said vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoiles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast againt your enemies and ouercome them: then may yee safely take the spoiles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines,

20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, and that Iudas souldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene declared what was done.)

21 When they saw these things, they were fore afraid, and when they saw also that Iudas and his hoste were in the field ready to see themselves in aray,

22 They fled euery one into || land of strangers. 23 So Iudas turned againe to spoile the tents where he gate much gold and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea and great riches.

24 Thusthey went home, and sung Psalmes, and praised toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercy enoureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victory in the day.

26 ¶ Now all the strangers that escaped, came, and told Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard the things, was fore afraid, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as he would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following gathered Lysias threescore thousand chosen foote men, and fower thousand horsemen to fight againt Ierusalem.

29 So they came into || Idumea, and pitched their tents at || Beth sura, where Iudas came againt them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw the mighty armie, he praised, and said, Blessed be thou, O Saviour of Israel, * which diddest destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruant David, * & gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armoure bearer:

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them bee confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and confound their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee, then shall all they that know thy Name praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, five thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the mannetie of Iudas souldiers, & that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antichia and gathered strangers, and when hee had furnished his armie, hee thought againe (being prepared) to come againt Iudea.

36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let us now goe vp to clerit, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the host gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they sawe the Sanctuary layde waste, and the altar deniled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe, 39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads.

40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commaunded certaine of the men to fight againt those which were in the castle, till he had cleared the Sanctuary.

42 So hee chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the Law,

43 And they cleaned the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vnclean place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And laid vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shew what should bee done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Lawe, and builded a new altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuary, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, & brought into the Temple the candlesticke, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the Table, and hanged vp the vailles, and finished all the workes that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the five and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Challeu, in the hundred and eight and fourtieth yeere they rose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offered sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harps, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnes and offered sacrifices of deliuerance with praise, 58 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnes among the people, and thereproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel, ordained that the daies of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the five and twentieth day of the moneth Challeu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with high walles, and strong towers round about, lest the Gentiles should come and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

1 Iudas vanquished the heathen, that hee goe about to destroy Israel, and is helpe of his brethren Simon and Jonathan. 50 He ouerthroweth the city of Ephron, because they denied him passage throuout.

NOW when the nations round about heard that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were fore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at Ij Arrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and hee smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straits, and tooke their spoiles.

4 Hee thought also vpon the malice of the children of Ben, which had bene a snare and an hindrance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towers, and besieged them, and destroyed them vterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward went hee against the children of Ammon, where hee found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in the quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castles of Datheman,

10 And sent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs, 11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the foretresse, whereunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine, 13 And all our brethren that were at Tubia are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galilee, with their clothes rent, which tolde the same tidings,

15 And saide, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galilee of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them

16 When Iudas, and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then sayde Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee our men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galilee, and I and my brother Jonathan will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So he left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea,

19 And commanded them, saying, Take the oversight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, untill we come againe, 20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men to goe into Galilee, and to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galilee, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so he tooke their spoiles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galilee and in Arbattis, with their wives and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Jonathan went ouer Iorden, and trauailed three dayes iourney in the wilderness.

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and told them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad.

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosorra, & Bosor, in Aleimis, Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong & great.)

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, & to morow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Bosorra, and wanne the citie, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoile, and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he removed from thence, and went toward the forresse.

30 And besides in the morning when they looked vp behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, and had assailed them.

31 When Iudas saw that the battell was begun, and that the crie of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he said vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the host of Timotheus knew that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, and laid siege vnto it, & wan it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoiled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chasbon, Maged and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great.

39 And hee hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Iudas and his hoste come neere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shal not be able to withstand him: for he wil be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernors of the people to remaine by the flood, & commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to y battell.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, & all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Iudas wan, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Iudas.

45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad from the least vnto the most, with their wives and their children, & their baggage, a very great hoste to come into the land of Iuda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

47 But they y were in the citie, shut themselves in, & stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your land, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but only goe thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoste, that euery man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, & destroyed it, & tooke the spoile thereof, & went thorow the city ouer them y were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethshan.

53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behind, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Iuda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnesse vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safety.

55 ¶ Now whilest Iudas and Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galilee before Ptolemais, 56 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines hearing of the valiant acts, and battels which they had archiued, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commandement and went toward Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea, and their were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not off stock of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Iudas & his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, whersoever their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Iudas forth with his brethren, & fought against the childre of Esau in the land toward the South, where he wanne Hebron, and the townes therof, and he destroyed the castle therof, and burnt the towres therof round about.

66 Then removed hee to goe into the land of the strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the cities sliue in the battell, which would fiew their valiantnesse, and went forth to battell without counsell: And when Iudas came to Azotus in the strangers land, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, & tooke away the spoyles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elmais, redreth away of the citizens. 8 He letteth into sicnes and death. 17 His sonne Antiochus made king. 31 He manner to prouoke Elephants to fight. 43 Elephants valiant all. 48 The siege of Sion.

Now when king Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countries, he heard that Elmais in the country of Persia, was a city greatly renowned for riches, silver and gold,

2 And that there was in it a very rich Temple, whereas were coverings of golde, coate armors, and harnesse, which Alexander king of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and hee fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreover, there came one which brought him tidings in the country of Persia, the armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driven away,

6 And that Lysias which went forth first with a great power, was driven away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which hee had set vp vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

8 So when the king had heard these words, hee was astonished, and sore moued: therefore hee laid him downe vpon his bed, and fel sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe, as hee had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saw he must needs die.

10 Therefore hee sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleep is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduerfitie am I come? & into what floods of misery am I fallen now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperity, & greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And now doe I remember the euils that I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and silver that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and behold, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, & his robe, and the ring, & he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp till he might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundredth and forty and ninth yeere.

17 ¶ When Lysias knew that the king was dead, he ordained Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator, 18 Now they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Iraelites round about the Sanctuary, and fought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together and besieged them, in the hundredth and fifti yeere, and made instruments to shoot, and other engins of warre.

21 But certaine of them, that were besieged, gate forth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Irael toynded themselves,)

22 And they went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 We haue been ready to serue thy father, and to goe forward in those things that he appointed, and to obey his commandments.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wherefoere they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely laid hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou dost not prevent them quickly, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angry, and called all his friends, the chieftaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bands that were hired came vnto him, from the kings that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundredth thousand footemen, and twenty thousand horsemen, and two and thirty Elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came thorow Idumea, and drew nere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engines of warre: but they came out and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, and removed the host toward Beth-zacarias ouer against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, and brought the army and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie set themselves in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberries,

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant therestood a thousand men armed with coats of maille and helmets of brass: vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordained fise hundredth horsemen of the best:

36 Which were ready at all times wherefoere the beast was: and whitherfoere the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpo them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast which were fastened theron with instruments, & vpon euery one was two and thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They let also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the tunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spread vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the raling of the harnesse, were astonied: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slew fixe hundred men of the kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar the sonne of Abaron, saw one of the elephants armed with royall harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beaſts, he thought that the king should see vpon him.

44 Wherefore he jeopardized himselfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name.

45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, flaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went hee to the elephants feet, and gaue him vnder him, and slew him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him: and there he died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings armie went vp to meete them toward Ierusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreover the king tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came bout of the city, because they had no vitayles there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested.

50 The king tooke Beth-sura, and let there a garison to keepe it.

51 And, besieged the Sanctuary many dayes, and made instruments to shoot, and other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 ¶ They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitayles: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store.

54 So that in the Sanctuarye were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Now when Lysias heard that Philip (whom Antiochus the king, while he liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be king.)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the kings host with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 He and his halles, and were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe and tell the king, and the captaynes of the hoste, and to others, saying, Wee decreade daily, and our vitayles are but small, and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Now therefore let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, & with all their nation, 59 And grant them to liue after their law, as they did afore: for they bee grieued, and doe all the things, because we haue broken their lawes.

60 So the king and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they received it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an oath vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortreſſe.

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when he saw that the place was well defended, he brake his oath that he had made, and commaunded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all hast, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so he sought againſt him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius the queſt after hee had killed Antiochus and Lysias, & Heracleus the children of Iſrael through the counsaile of certain wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Priests against Demetrius. 41 Iudas kills Balaſar, a ſeruant that made his prayer.

IN the hundred and eightieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the ſea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when hee came into the poſſeſſion of his fathers kingdom, his ſouldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdom,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Iſrael, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the high Priest.

6 These men accuſed the people vnto the king, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue ſlaine all thy friends and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore ſend now ſome man whom thou truſteſt, that he may goe and ſee all the deſtruction which he hath done vnto vs, and to the kings land, and let him puniſh them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king choſe Bacchides a friend of his which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and lent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made his Priest, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Iſrael.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoſte into the land of Iuda, and ſent meſſengers to Iudas and his brethren deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleeged not: their ſaying: for they ſaw that they were come with a great hoſte.

12 Then a company of the gouernours aſſembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreate of reaſonable points.

13 And the Aſideans were the firſt that required peace among the children of Iſrael.

14 For, ſaid they, He that is a Priest of the ſeed of Aaron, is come with this army: therefore hee will not hurt vs.

15 Then he ſpake vnto them peaceably, and ſware vnto them, and ſaid, Wee will doe you no harme, neither your friends.

16 And they beleeged him: but hee tooke of them threeſcore men, & ſlew them in one day according cording to the words that were written.

17 * They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would bury them.

18 So there came a feare and a trembling among all the people: for they said, There is neither truth nor righteousness in them: for they haue broken the appointment and oath that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at || Beth-zecha, where hee sent forth and tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whom he slew and cast into the great pit.

20 Then committed he the country vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthood,

22 And all such as troubled the people, reformed vnto him: insomuch that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Iudas saw all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 He went forth round about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroad in the country.

25 But when Alcimus saw that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the king lent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Israel deadly, & commanded him that he should destroy the people.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying, 28 Let there bee no warre betwene mee, and you: I will come with few men, to see how you doe, friendly.

29 So hee came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuertheless, it was tolde Iudas, that hee came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceived that his counsell was betrayed, hee went out to fight against Iudas, beside || Carphasalama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fise thousand men: so they fled into the citie of David.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Si-on, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuary to salute him peaceably, and to shewe him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But he laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly.

35 And sware in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in Isacrie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 For asmuch as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this house, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

38 Be auenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in || Adasa with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed saying,

41 O Lord, * because the messengers of king Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundredreth, fourscore and fise thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this host before vs to day, that al other may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie saw that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney from Adasa vnto Gadera, blowing alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threw them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyles and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordered to keepe yeerly that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 23 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

Iudas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mighty and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them,

2 And that they were men of great power, and they told him of their battels, and their worth: which they did among the || Galatians, whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

3 And what they had done in the country of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and gold,

4 And that by their counsell, and gentle behaviour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited and giuen great overthrowes to the kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Peres kings of the || Macedonians, and others that arose against them, and how they ouercame them,

6 And how great Antiochus king of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundredreth and twenty elephants, with horsemen and chariots, and a very great army was discomfited by them,

9 Again, when it was told them that the Grecians were coming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a capitaine, which gaue them battell, and slew many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wives and children, and spoiled them and conquered their land, and destroyd their strong holdes, and subdued them to be their bondmen, vnto this day:

11 Moreover, how they destroyed & brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoever had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amity with their owne friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, in such that whoeuer heard of their renowme, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their king-domes, thoſe reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high autho-ritie,

14 Yet for all this that none of them were a crosse, neither was clothed in purple, to bee magnified thereby.

15 But that they had ordeined them selues a counsell, wherein three hundred and twenty men consulted dayly, and provided for the common affaires to gouernethem well,

16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euery yere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred, nor enie among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas chose Eupolemus the sonne of Iohn, the ſonne of Accus, and Iason the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome to make friendship and mutual fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they law that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, & came into the || Senate, where they spake and laide,

20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond offriendship & peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse, and sent to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace, and mutual fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the word, and enemie befrom them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Ro-manes, or any of their friends thorowout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Iewes shall helpe them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart.

26 Also || they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes. but || they shall keepe their covenants, without taking anything of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall bee appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheate be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe their covenant without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points, the one parte or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoever they shall adde or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou these heauie yoke vpon our friends & confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, wee will vsethem iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his army against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slain. 31 Ionathan is put in the stea of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Bacchides and Ionathan. 55 Acimus is put in with the people, and over 68 He cometh vpon Ionathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is overcome. 70 The treace of Ionathan with the Syrians.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor and his hoste had giuen the battelle, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his || chiefe strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Viesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first month of the hundredth fi-tie and two yere, they laid their siege against Ieru-salem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berea, with twenty thousand footemen, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at || Eleasa, and three thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the armie was great, they were fore afraid, and many conueyed themselves out of the hoste, so that there abode no more of them, but eight hundred men.

7 When Iudas saw that his hoste failed him, and that he must needs fight, hee was sore troubled in mind, that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuerthelesse, he laid vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able, but let vs rather saue our liues: tyme backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall we fight against them that are so few?

10 Then Iudas said, God forbid that we should doe vs this thing, to flee from them: if our time bee come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the hoste removed out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troopes, and they that threw with slings, and the archers marched in the fore-ward, and they that fought in the foreward were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew neere on both sides, and blew the trumpets,

13 They of Iudas sode blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noise of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And braket the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto Mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing saw that the right wing was discomfited they followed Iudas behind, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a fore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Ionathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the cite of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, laying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which delivered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Iudas, both the battels and the valiant actes that he did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquity.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselves with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These fought out, & made search for Iudas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Iudas friends together, and said vnto Ionathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Iudas is dead, and there is none like him to go forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs, 30 Therefore this day we chuse thee, that thou mayest be our prince and capitaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Ionathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Ionathan and Simon his brother perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Thecua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Alphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came ouer Iorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Ionathan sent his brother Iohn, a capitaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of ¶ Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke Iohn and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Ionathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great mariage, & brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered Iohn their brother, and went vp, and hid themselves vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, & looked, and beheld, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with timbrels, and instruments of musike, and many weapons.

40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the mariage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melody into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the sabbath day.)

44 Then Ionathan sayd vnto his company, Let vs rite now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behind vs, and the water of Iorden on this side and that side, and the manse, and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore crie now vnto heauen, that yee may bee delivered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Ionathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and reculed.

48 Then Ionathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and swimmied ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe thorow Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ierusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Iericho, and Emmaus and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, ¶ Pharaohoni, and ¶ Tephō, with high walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And let garions in them, that they might vie their malice vpon Israel.

52 Hee fortified also the cite Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitales.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefeest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundred fifty and three yere, in the second month, Alcimus commanded that the willes of the inner court of the Sanctuary should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsey, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides sawe that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a council, saying, Behold, Ionathan, & his company dwell at ease, & without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, & he will take them all in one night,
59 So they went and consulted with him
60 Who arose and came with a great host, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iudea, to take Ionathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowne vnto them.

62 ¶ Then Ionathan and Simon with their company departed vnto || Beth-basin, which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his host, and sent word to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the country, and came with a certaine number,

[Or, Odaras.

66 And slew || Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phabiron in their tents: so hee began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the citie, and burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomforted him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore hee was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the country, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Ionathan had knowledge, hee sent ambassadours vnto him, to intreat of peace with him, and that the prisoners should bee deliuered.

71 Which thing hee accepted, and did according to his desire, & made an oath, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that hee had taken aforetime out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and beganne there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemies and Alexander.

[Joseph. Antig. 13. cap. 2. 3.

IN the hundredth and threecore yere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemas, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, hee gathered an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionathan, with louing words, as though he would prefer him

4 For hee said, Wee will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Else he will remember all the euill that wee haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so he gaue Ionathan leaue to gather an host, and to prepare weapons, and to bee confident with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castle, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Ionathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were foreafraide, because they heard that the king had giuen him license to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Ionathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Ionathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to build and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commanded the workemen to build the wals, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Only at Beth-sira, remained certaine which had forsaken the Law, and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promise that Demetrius had made vnto Ionathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble acts, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He sayd, Might we finde such a man? now therefore wee will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Ionathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordaine thee to bee the high Priest of thy nation, and to be called the kings friend: (and he sent him a purple robe, and a crown of gold) y thou maiest || consider what is for our prouice, and keepe friendship toward vs.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundred & threecore yere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Ionathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, hee was maruelous fory, and said,

[Joseph. Antig. 13. cap. 3.

23 What haue we done, that Alexander hath prevented vs in getting y friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewards, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon hee wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your covenant toward vs, & continue in our friendship, and haue not ioynd with our enemies, wherof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still and keepe fidelity toward vs, and wee will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will releafe you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, & free you from the customes of sale, and the crowne-taxes, and from the third part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne, I will release them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda or of the three gouernments which are added therunto, as of Samaria, and of Galilee, from this day forth for euermore.

31 Ierusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the tenths and tribute.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Ierusalem, & giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may let in in such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover, I freely deliuer euery one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and euery one of them shall bee free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell, 34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and new Moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome, and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme.

35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vex any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Iewes shall be written vp in the kings hofte, and haue their wages payed them, as apperteineth to all them that are of the kings armie: and of them shall be ordeined certaine to keepe the kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shall be set ouer the kings most secret affaires, and their gouernors and their Princes shall be of themselves, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the high Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais & the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Ierusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will giue euery yeere fiftene thousand sicles of siluer of the kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto mee.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not paid for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this the fiftie thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for the entertainment of the Sanctuary thes yeeres passed, eue these things shall be released because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoever they be that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indred to the king for any manner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuary, expences shall be giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and for fortifying it round about, that the houses in Iudea may be built vp, shall also the costs be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Ionathan and the people heard these words, they gave no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembered the great wickedness that hee had done in Israel, and how fore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great host, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that fore battell continued till the sunne went down, & Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadors vnto Ptolemy the king of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and I haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his army is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdom, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I bee thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemy the king gaue answer, saying, Happy be the day wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sitest in the throne of thy kingdom.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meet mee at Ptolemais that wee may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemy went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundredth threescore and two yere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and hee gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Ionathan, that he should come and meete him.

60 So hee went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there hee met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine perfidious felowes of Israel, & wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Ionathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him.

63 And laid vnto his princes, Go with him into the mids of Ierusalem, and make a proclamation that no man complaine against him of any matter, & that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honor according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honor, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, & made him a Duke, and partraker of his dominion.

66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundredth threescore and fiftie yere, came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius from Cetera vnto his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sorry, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gou-gouernour of Cœlœsyrja, who gathered a great hoste and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Ionathan the high Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why dost thou varnt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs in the plaine field, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Alke and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: & they shall tell thee that your foot is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twice chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou bee able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rock, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Ionathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moued in his mind: wherefore he choole ten thousand men, and went out of Ierusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they shue him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Ioppe.

76 Then they foughe against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Ionathan wan Ioppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen, with a great host of footmen, and went ward Azotus, as though he would go forward, and came immediatly into the plaine field, because hee had to many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Ionathan folowed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behind them in ambush.

80 And Ionathan knew that there was an ambushment behinde him: and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood still, as Ionathan had commanded them, till their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselves.

84 But Ionathan set fire vpon Azotus, and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoiles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Ionathan remoued the host from thence, and camped by Aflalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Ionathan and his hoste againe to Ierusalem, with great spoiles.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Ionathan much honour.

89 And sent him a collar of gold, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The difference betwene Ptolemus and Alexander his sonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius requesteth after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Simon is besieged of Ioudan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man assisted him, endeth his arriere againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

And the king of Egypt gathered a great host, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to toyne it vnto his owne realme.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly words, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meet him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meet him, because he was his father in law.

3 Now when he entred into the citie of Ptolemais, hee left bands and garilons in euery citie.

4 And when hee came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee should passe.

5 And they told the king what Ionathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Ionathan met the king with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Ionathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutheris, he turned againe to Ierusalem.

8 So king Ptolemus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 ¶ And sent ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, & I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowne.

13 Then Ptolemus came to Antiochia, where he let two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him.

15 But when Alexander heard it, hee came to warre against him, and Ptolemus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemus.

18 But the third day after, King Ptolemus died: and they that were in the holds, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred threescore and seventh yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Ionathan them that were in Iudea, to lay siege vnto the castle, which was at Ierusalem, and they made many instruments struments of warre against it.

& & instruments

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Ionathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Ionathan that hee should lay no more siege vnto it, but that hee should meet him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neerthelesse when Ionathan heard this, he commanded to be besieged it: hee chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and of the Priestes, and put himselfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell & diuers presents and went to Ptolemais vnto the king, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certain vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessor had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the high Priesthood with all the honourable things, that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Ionathan also desired y^e king, that he would make Iudea free with the three governments, and the country of Samaria, and Ionathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Ionathan writing of the same, containing these words.

30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Ionathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

31 We send you here a copy of the letter which wee did write vnto our cousin Lathenes concerning you, that ye shoud see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lathenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Iudea with the three governments, Apherema, and Lydda, & Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the country of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sit in Ierusalem both concerning the paymer's which the king tooke yearly at omeime, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shalbe reckoned from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, and deliuer it vnto Ionathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, & that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his host euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers host hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he saw that all the host murmured against Demetrius, he went to Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the soane of Alexander, 40 And layd fore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that hee might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Ionathan sent vnto king Demetrius, to driue them out which were in the castle at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Irael.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Ionathan, saying, I will not onely doe the things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee, and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt doe mee a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine army is gone from me.

44 So Ionathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king, wherefore the king was very glad at their coming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundred and twenty thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would haue slaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called vnto the Iewes for helpe, which came to him all together, and went abroad thorow the citie,

48 And slew the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they the Iewes were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ¶ Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie.

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace, & the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, & before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius sat in the throne of his kingdome and had peace in his land.

53 Neerthelesse he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrew himselfe from Ionathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the young childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had leaueed, & they fought against him, who fled & turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the beasts, and wanne Antiochia.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler over the foure governments, that thou mayest be a friend of the Kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leue to drinke in gold, and to wear purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 Hee made his brother Simon also capitaine from the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went soorth, and passed thorow thorow the cities beyond the flood, & all the men of waire of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came to Askalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ionathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostiages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Ionathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cadès, which is in Calile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Ionathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and becomes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold, the hostes of the // strangers met him in the plaine, and had layd ambushments for him in the mountaines.

69 So that when they came against the, the ambushments rose out of their places & skym shod.

70 So that all that were of Ionathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Matathias the sonne of // Abisalomus, and Iudas the sonne of // alphi the captaines of the hoste.

71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after all vnto their tents at Cadès; and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome. 2 and to the people of Sparta, to renewe their conuention of friendship. 24 Ionathan quieteth the princes of Demetrius: 40 Triphon taketh Ionathan by deceit.

Ionathan now seeing that the time was meete for him, chooseth certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.

2 Hee sent letters also vnto the Spartians and to other places for the same purpose,

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Ionathan the high Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should leade them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 ¶ AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Ionathan wrote vnto the Spartians.

6 Ionathan the high Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from // At us, which then reigned among you; that ye would be our brethren, as the copie hereunder written speifieth.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassidor honourably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we need no such writings: for we haue the holy books in our hands for comfort. 10 Neuertheless we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should bee strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other daies appointed, when wee offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And we reioyce at your prosperous estate,

13 And though we haue bene mouined with great troubles and wars, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would wee not bee grieuous vnto you, nor to other of your confederates and friendes in these wars.

15 For wee haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue wee chosen Demetrius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Ialon, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renewe the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commanded to bee shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Now when Ionathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him with a greater hoste then afore, 25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And hee sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe, & told him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore when the Sun was gone down, Ionathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless Ionathan and his company knewe it not till the morning : for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Iona-han followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Iona-han turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoile.

32 He proceeded further al'o, and came vnto Damafcus, and went thorow all the country.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Afcalon, and to the next holds, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For hee heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Iona-han home, & called the elders of the people together, & deuided with them for to build vp the strong holds in Iudea.

36 And to make the wals of Ierusalem higher, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the cite, for to separate it from the cite, that it might bee alone, and that men should neither buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the city: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, & made it strong with gates and barres.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to be crowned when hee had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But hee was afraid that Iona-han would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to rake Iona-han, and to kill him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Iona-han forth against him to the battell with fourty thousand cholen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Iona-han came with so great an host, hee durst not lay hand vpon him, 43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friendes, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to bee as obedient vnto him as to himselfe.

44 And saide vnto Iona-han, Why hast thou caused this people to take such traueile, seeing there is no warre betwene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and comethou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.

46 Iona-han beleued him, and did as he saide, and sent away his host, which went into the land of Iuda.

47 And receined but three thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now assoone as Iona-han entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, & into the great plaine to destroy all Iona-hans company.

50 But when they knewe that Iona-han was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Iona-han, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no capitaine, nor any man to helpe them, therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Iona-han was taken, Simon chose capitaine. 17 Tryphon taking his children, and money for the redemption of Iona-han, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh Iruce in 16 Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn capitaine.

NOW when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great host to come into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it,

2 And saw that the people was in great trembling and teare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Yee know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers haue done for the Lawe and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that wee haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these wordes, the hearts of the people were kindled.

8 So that they cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our capitaine in stead of Iudas and Iona-han thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent hee Iona-han the sonne of Abshalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great army, to come into the land of Iuda, and Iona-han was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at || Addidis vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood vp in stead of his brother Iona-han, and that hee would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Iona-han thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in the kings account: concerning the busines that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of silver, and his two finnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth, he will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuer theles Simon knew that he dissembled in his words: yet commanded hee the money, and children to bee deliuered vnto him, lest he should bee in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue said, Because he sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundred talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but wherefoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castle, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he should make haste to come by the wilderness, & to send them vitayles.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not because of the snow: but hee remooued, and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when hee came neere to Masfama, hee slew Jonathan, and hee was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers cite.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto, of hewen stone behind and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall memorie, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might bee seene of men, sailing in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which hee made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon went forth with the yong king Antiochus he slew him traiterously.

32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe king of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Iudea, and compassed them about with his towres, and great walles, euen with towres, and gates, and barres, and layd vp vitayles in the strong holds.

34 Moreover, Simon chose certaine men & sent them to king Demetrius, that he would discharge the land, for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIUS the king vnto Simon the high Priest, and the friend of kings, and to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and the precious stone that yee sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make steadfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers to releas you of the things wherein we made you free.

38 So the things that wee haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holds which yee haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also wee forgiue the ouersights and faulds committed vnto this day, & the crowne-tax that ye ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them bee written vp, that there may be peace between vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and seuentie yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publike instruments. IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon, the high and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Iewes, 43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approached neere the cite, and beat a towre, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the cite, and there was great trouble in the cite.

45 Insomuch that the people of the cite rent their clothes, and climbed vp vpon the wals with their wiues, and children, and cryed with a loud voyce, beleeching Simon to grant them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the cite, and cleaned the houses, wherein the idoles were, and io entered thereunto with Palmes and thanksgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and ordinated, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth, nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death,

50 Insomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them, which hee granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second month, in the hundred seuentie and one yeere, they entered into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palmetrees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with vioules, and with Palmes, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And hee ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle, where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 So hee alio testified that Iohn his sonne was now a man, he made him captain of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell in Gazaris.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius is overcome of Aspes. 2 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnes in Israel. 3 The continuall friendship with the Romanes amongst the people of Spaine renewed.

IN the hundred seuentie and two yeere gathered King Demetrius his hoste & departed vnto Media, to get him help for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Aspes the king of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went and overcame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Asaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for hee fought the wealth of his nation, therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doo him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an haueu towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreies.

7 Hee gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, and hee had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth Sura, and the castle, which he clemented from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him,

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the common wealth, & the young men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 Hee provided vitales for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious name was renowned vnto the end of the world.

11 Hee made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfect mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the figge trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were overcome.

14 Hee helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: he was diligent to see the Law kept, & he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 Hee be-orned the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Ionathan was dead, they were very sorry.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made his Priest in his stead, and how he had wonne the land againe with the citie in it.

18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Ionathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copy of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their coming,

22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this manner, NUMENIVS the same of Antiochus, and Antipater the sounte of Iafon the Iewes ambassadours, came vnto vs to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be registred in the publike records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copy of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstood, they said, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For hee and his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copy of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the moneth || Elul in the hundredth seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the high Priest.

28 In || Saramel in the great Congregation of the Priestes and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, we would signifie vnto you, that many batels haue bene fought in our countrey:

29 Wherein Simon the son of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) & his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintained, and did their nation eat honour.

30 For Ionathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is layd with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue invaded their countrey, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages:

33 Hee fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Beth Sura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay some time) and set there a garrison of the Iewes.

34 And hee fortified Ioppe, which lieth vpon the sea, and || Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof

35 Now when the people saw the faithfulness of Simon, and to what glory he thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because hee had done all these things, and for the prapriety and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that fought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered wel by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Dauid at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuary, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it for the assurance of the land, and citie, and raised vp the wallies of Ierusalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his high Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours.

41 And that the Iewes, and Priests consented, that Simon should be their Prince, and his Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet.

42 And that he should be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuary, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obeyed of euery man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be be made in his name, and that hee should be clothed in purple, and weare gold,

44 And that it should not be lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or to be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold:

45 And if any did contrary to these things, or breake any of them, he should be punished,

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the capitaine, and the prince of the Iewes, and of the Priestes, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set vp this writing in tables of brasie, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuary in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should be hid vp in the treasure, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon. 12 Tryphon is punished. 15 The Romans write letters vnto kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sought him, breaketh his covenant.

Moreouer king Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the illes of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Containing these words, ANTIOCHVS the king vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting,

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the old estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared shippes of warre,

4 That I may goethorow the countrey, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Now therefore I doe confirme vnto thee all the liberties when of all the kings my progenitors haue discharged thee, and I the payments, whereof they haue receiued thee.

6 And I giue thee leave to coyne money of thine owne stamp within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuary be free, and that all the weapons that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands shall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shall be due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore,

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome, we will giue thee, and thy nation and the Temple great honour, so that thy honour shall be known throughout the world.

10 ¶ In the hundredth and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled, and came to Dora, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For he saw that troubles were toward him, and that hee had for taken him.

13 Then came Antiochus against Dora with an hundredth and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen, 14 So hee compassed the citie about, and the shippes came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by land and by sea, in such that they fastened no man to goe in nor out.

15 In then came Iudas came Numerius, and his company from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and counties, wherein were contained these words.

16 LVCIVS the Cunsell of Rome vnto king Prolemus sendeth greeting.

17 The Ambassadors of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a field of gold weighing a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings & counties, that they should not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them nor their cities nor their countrey, neither to maintain their enemies against them.

20 And wee were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there be any pestilent fellows fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the high Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arfaces,

23 And to all the counties, as to Samphases, and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Minidus, and to Sycon, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lydia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaelis, and to Coos, and to Siden, and to Certina, and to Gnidon, and to Cypius, and to Cyrene, 24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time, euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Neuerthelesse, he would not receiue them, but brake all the covenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrew himselfe from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Yee withhold Ioppe, and Gazara with the callic that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme, 29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed & done great hurt in the land, and haue the government of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which yee haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that yee haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea.

31 Or else giue mee for them five hundredth talents of siluer, & for the harme that yee haue done, and for the tributes of the places other two hundredth talents: if not, we will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupbord of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, hee was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, & said vnto him, We haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which apperaineth to others, but our fathers heritage which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, wee recovered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou requirest Toppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our country, yet wil we giue an hundred talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word, 36 But turned againe angrie vnto the king, and told him all these words, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene; and the King was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orthofias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus capitaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footmen, and horsemen, 39 And commanded him to remoue the hoste toward Iudea, and to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gate, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vex the people, and to invade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, and to slay them.

41 And hee built vp Cedron, where hee left horsemen and garrisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the capitaine of Abubus hoste put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemus the sonne of Antiochus the king and his two sonnes at a banquet. 25 Iohn telleth them that lie in wait for his life.

Then came Iohn vp from Gazara, and told Simon his father, and said Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and said vnto them. I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer for our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and wee haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now old, and yee by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be yee therefore in stead of me and my brother, and geue forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen bee with you.

4 So he chose twenty thousand fighting men of the country, with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great hoste came against them both of footmen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when hee sawe that the people was afraid to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 Then he diuided his men, and set the horsemen in the middes of the footmen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gaue them to the forresse.

9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and thase did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them: to hee returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 ¶ Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus made capitaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For hee had married the daughter of the hie Priest.)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his mind, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorow the cities of the country, & stidied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Matathias, and Iudas his sonnes in the hundredth eleuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth of Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receied them by trea on into a litle hold, called Doctus, which he had built, where hee made them a great banquet, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheare, Ptolemus stood vp with his men and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banquet house, and slewe him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby hee committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemus these things and sent to the king, that he might send him a hoste to helpe him, and to would deliue him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Ierusalem hee sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and told Iohn in Gazara, that his father, & his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and laide handes on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble acts (when in he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes, 24 Behold they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOKE

of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

An Epistle of the Iewes that dwell at Ierusalem sent vnto them that dwell in Egypt, wherein they exhorte them to owe thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of a fire that was kindled in the pit. 24 The prayer of Neemias.

He brethren the Iewes which be at Ierusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Iewes, that are throughout Egypt, send salutation and prosperity.

2 God be gracious vnto you, and remember his covenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants.

3 And giue you all an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his Law, and commandements, and tend you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, & neuer to take you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundreth threescore and ninth yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs in those yeres, after that Iason and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood: then we prayed vnto the Lord, and were heard: we offered sacrifices and fine flour, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe ye the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the moneth Chasseu.

10 In the hundredth fourecore and eight yere, the people that was in Ierusalem and in Iudea, and the Councel and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus King Ptolemus maller, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priestes, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt sendeth greeting and health.

11 In so much as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had overcome the King.

12 For he brought them into Persia by heaps, that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceit of Nanea Priest.

14 For Antiochus, as though he would dwell with her, came thither, hee, and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowry.

15 But when the Priests of Nanea had layd it forth, and hee was entred with a small company within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a priuy doore of the vault, they cast stones as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Whereas we are now purposed to keepe the purification of the Temple vpon the five & twenty day of the moneth Chasseu, wee thought it necessary to certifie you thereof, that ye also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Neemas offered sacrifice, after that hee had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests which fought the honour of God, tooke the fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknown vnto euery man.

20 Now after many yeres when it pleased God that Neemas should be sent from the king of Persia, he sent of the posterity of those Priests, which had hid it to fetch the fire, and as they told vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded he them to draw it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifice were brought, Neemas commanded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things layd thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man maruailed.

23 Now the Priests and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jonathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemas was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art fearefull, and strong, and righteous, and mercifull and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberal, onely iust and Almighty, and euerglasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, & hast cholen the fathers, and sanctified them,

26 Receiue the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserve thine own portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together y are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen, looke vpon them which are despised & abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people again in thine holy place as Moyses hath spoken.

30 And the Priests sang Psalmes thereunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemas commanded the greatnes to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light that shined from the altar.

33 So when this matter was knowne, it was told the king of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, where with Neemas and his company had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king cried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the King fauoured, hee gaue and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Neemas called the same place 2 Ephthar, which is to say, Purification: but many men call it Nephthar.

That is to say, a shining or white called Ephthar, Nephthar, which is a cleansing.

IT is found also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet that he commanded them which were carried away, to take fire as was declared, and as the Prophet commaunded them which were led into captiuitie,

2 * Giving them a law that they should not forget the commaundments of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their minds, whē they saw images of gold and siluer with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commaunded he them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law go out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, how the Prophet by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, and follow him: and when he came vnto the mountain where Moyses went vp, * and law the heritage of God,

5 Ieremias went forth and found an hollow caue wherein he laid the Tabernacle & the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him to marke the place, but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceiued, he reproued them, saying, As for that place, it shall be vnknewen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercie be shewed.

8 Then shal the Lord shew them these things, and the maiestie of $\bar{\text{Y}}$ Lord shall appeare, and the cloud also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as * when Salomon desired, that the place might bee honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that he being a wise man, offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 * And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice, so, when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyses said, Because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in $\bar{\text{Y}}$ writings and registers of $\bar{\text{N}}$ Neemias, and how he made a library, and how he gathered the acts of the kings, and of the Prophets, and the acts of Dauid, & the Epistles of the kings, concerning the holy gifts

14 Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas wee then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye shall doe well if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all, and the kingdom, and the Priesthood, and the Sanctuary, 18 * As he promised in the Law, wil shortly haue mercy vpon vs, & gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saved vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne, 21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Iewes religion! (for though they were but fewe, yet they ranne thorow whole countries, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowned throughout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was merciful vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things, that Iason the Cyrenian hath declared in fise bookes.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficulty that they haue that would be occupied in the hearing all of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue endeouored, that they that would read might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memory, and that whosoever read them, might haue profit.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweate and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commodity, hath no small labour: so we also for many mens sakes are very wel content to vnder take this great labour.

28 Leaving to the author the exact diligence of euery particular, we will labour to go forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that will build a new house, must provide for $\bar{\text{Y}}$ whole building, but he that setteth out the plot, or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof: so Euen so I thinke for vs, that it apperaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse few words, and to auoide those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words before the story, and to be short in the story.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles
6 Simon intercech what treason is in the Temple. 7 heliodorus is sent to take it away. 26 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

VW hat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very well kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe, that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 Insomuch that Seleucus king of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the $\bar{\text{I}}$ iniquity committed in the citie.

5 And when he could not ouercome Onias, he gaue him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraetes, which then was gouernor of Celsyria and Phenice,

6 And told him that the treasury in Ierusalem was full of innumerable mony, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had seen him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with an commandement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus took his journey as though he would visit the cities of Cœlolyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously received of the hie Priest into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the monie, and shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so indeed.

10 Then y^e hie Priest told him that there were such things laid vp by the widowes and fatherles, 11 And that a certeine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sene of Iobias a nobleman, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundred talents of siluer and two hundred of gold.

12 And that it was altogether vnp^ossible to doe this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place and Temple, which is honoured through the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commandement giuen him, said that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasury.

14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priests fel downe before the altar in the Priests garments, & called vnto heauen vpon him, which had made a Law concerning things giuen to bee kept, that they should bee safely preferred for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorrow of his mind.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to the that looked vpon him, what sorrow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the comm^o prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streets, and the virgins that were kept in, ran f^ome to the gates, and f^ome to the wals, and others looked out of the windowes.

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the hie Priests being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that he would keepe safe and sure the things which were laide vp for those that had delinered them.

23 Neuertheless the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as he and his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, hee that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were affrighted at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him most richly barbed, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his forefeete, and it seemed that hee that fate vpon the horse, had handle of gold.

26 Moreover, there appeared two young men, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparell, which f^ollowed by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fel suddenly vnto y^e ground and was c^ou^ored with great darkness: but they that were with him, took him vp, & put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with the great company, and many souldiers into the said treasure, was borne out: for he could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praised the Lord that had honoured his own place: for the Temple which a while afore was full of feare & trouble, when the almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy & gladnes.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the hie Priest considering that the king might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same young men in the same clothing appeared & stood before Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life.

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great voves vnto him, which had granted him his life, & thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto every man of the great workes of God y^e he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meete to see sent yet once againe to Ierusalem he said, 38 If thou hast any enemie or traitour, send him thither, & thou shalt receiue him well: for urged if he escape with his life: for that place, no doubt there is a speciall power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it: and he beareth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

CHAP. liiii.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason the high priest the office of the hie Priest: corrupting the same, and being debarred by like bribing. 54 Onias is haunted cruelly by Angels.

THIS Simon now, of whom we spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was he bound to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the city, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that through one that belonged to Simon, many were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he ther was the gouernour of Cœlolyria and Phenice, did rage, and incited Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuate y and publickly.

6 For he saw it was not possible, except the King tooke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leave off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull means to be high Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundredth and threefore talents of siluer, and of another rent, foure talents.

9 Best he this hee promised him an hundredth and fifty, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, & that they would || name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the superiority, hee began immediately to draw his kinsmen to the customes of the Gentiles,

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes & policies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For hee presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare || ha's.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the manners of the Gentiles and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickedness of Iason, not the high Priest, but the vn godly person,

14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to bee partakers of the wicked expences at the play || after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamity came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the || games that were vsed euery five yeere, were played at Tyrus, the King being present,

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bin Antiochians, which brought three hundred drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they ther: caried them, desired they might not bee bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expences.

20 So he that ent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules but because of this that brought them, they were giuen to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menelaus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of king Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was euill affectioned toward his affaires, he fought his owne assurance, & departed from thence to loppe, and so came to Ierusalem.

22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the citie, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great showings, and so hee went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Threeyeere after ward Iason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires: whereof hee had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundredth talents of siluer more then Iason.

25 So he gaue the kings || letters patents, albeit hee had nothing in himselfe worthy of the high Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Iason, which had deceived his owne brother, being deceived by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gaue the dominion: but as for the money that hee had promised vnto the King, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sosistratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lyfimachus in his stead in the Priesthood, and Sosistratus left Crates, which was gouernour of the || Cyprusians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in all haste to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus aman of authority to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certein vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee sold at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, hee reprobued him, and withdrew himselfe into a sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an other: (howbeit he suspected him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so he slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For the which cause not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the places about Cilicia the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorry in his mind, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modesty & great discretion which that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, & rent his clothes, & commanded him to be led dnt rough out: the citie, and in the same place where hee had committed

|| Or, that he would write to the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem among them.

|| Or, Commandments.

|| Or, buckles in token of manhood as the Gentiles did.

committed the wickednesse against Onias, he was slain as a murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserved.

39 ¶ Now when Lyfimachus had done many wicked deedes in the city through the counsell of Menelaus, & the bruit was spread abroad, the multitude gathered the together against Lyfimachus: for he had carried out now much vessel of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lyfimachus armed about three thousand, and began to use unlawful power, a certaine tyrant being their captain, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they understood the purpose of Lyfimachus, some gave stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust which lay by, upon Lyfimachus men, & those that invaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Church-robber himselfe they killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was laid against Menelaus.

44 And when ¶ king came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now convinced, promised to Ptolomeus the some of Dorimenes much money if he would perswade the King.

46 So Ptolomeus went to the King into a court whereas he was to coole himselfe, and turned the Kings minde, 47 In to much that hee discharged Menelaus from the accusation (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischief) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had told their cause yea, before the Scythians, they should have been heard as innocent.

48 Thus werethey soone punished vniuersally, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickednesse, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authority, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

3 Of the signes and tokens seen in Ierusalem. 6 Of the end and mischiefes of Iafon. 11 The punishment of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoyling of the Temple. 27 Maccabius fleeth into the wilderness.

ABout the same time Antiochus vnderooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem, forty dayes long, horsemen running in the ayre, with robes of gold, and as bands of spearmen,

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, encountering & coursing one against another, with shaking of shields, and multitude of darts, and drawing of swords, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seen, and harness of all sorts.

4 Therefore euery man prayed that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when the e was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had been dead, Iafon took at the least a thousand men, & came suddenly vpon the citie, and they that were vpon the walls being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castle, but Iafon slew his own citizens without mercie, not considering that to haue the advantage against his kinsmen is greatest disadvantage, but thought that he had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his ownenation.

7 Yet he gat not the superiority, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked conuersation, that he was ¶ accused before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gon to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And he that had cast many out vnburied, was thrown out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when these things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kill, and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and old men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgins, and infants were murdered:

14 So that within three daies were slaine fourescore thousand, and forty thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many sold as were slaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide.

16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy vessels, which other Kings had giuen for the garnishing glory and honor of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So haury in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a litle wroth for the finnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not been wrapped in many finnes, hee, sifone as he had come, had suddenly been punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasury.

19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall be set vpon in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eightene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gave him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men faile vpon the die, and to make the vpon the least such an him in the city.

22 But he left deputies to the city.

Or, first up.

rusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that let him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menclius, which was more grieuous vnto the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Iewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruel prince with an armie of two and twenty thousand, whom hee commanded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women and the yonger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee staine peace, and kept him fill vnto the holy day of Sabbath: & then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the shew, and running through the city with his men armed, hee murdered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, and liued there in the mountaines with his company among the beasts, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, least they should be partakes of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the law of God. 2 The Temple desir'd. 3 The women cruelly punished. 4 The grieuous paine of Eleazar.

Or, Antiochus.

NOr long after this, sent the King an olde man of Athens, for to compel the Iewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitalitie.

3 This wicked gouernment was sore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttony of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, & had to do with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keep the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feasts, nor plainly to confesse himselfe to be a Iew.

7 In the day of the kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euery moneth to banquet and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procesion of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.

8 Moreover through the counsell of Ptolemus, there went out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and banqueting should be kept.

9 And who so would not conformance themselves to y manner of Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present misery.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sons, whom when they had led round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breastes) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walls.

11 Some that were run together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered vnto Philpand were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honorable day, they were as aid to helpe themselves.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which read this book, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, that they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom hee visiteth when they are come to the fullnesse of their sinnes:

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercy from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doeth hee neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this bee spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a wellsaured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But hee desiring rather to die gloriously, then to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banker, for that old friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that he would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as he would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice.

22 That in so doing he might bee deliuered from death, and that for the old friendship that was among them, he would receiue this fauour.

23 But he began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haire, whereunto he was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childehood, but chiefly the holy Law made and giuen by God: therefore hee answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayd he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yeere olde and ten, were now gone to another religion,

25 And so through mine hypocricie (for a little time of transitory life) they might be deceiued by mee, and I should procure malediction and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shew my selfe such as mine age requireth, 28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be young, to die willingly and courageously for the honourable & holy Lawes. And when he had said these words, immediatly he went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spokē: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed and said, The Lord that hath so holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly that whereas I might haue bene deliuered from death,

Or, to another manere, life.

Or, nothing of the flesh that was sacrificed.

death, I am scourged, and suffer these sore paines of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren and of their mother.

IT came to passe also, that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the king, against the Law to taste wines flesh, & were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them which spake first, said thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou know of vs? we are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heate pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote,

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slay him, and to cut off the vmoost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be broughte aliuie to the fire, & to frie him in the pan: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doth regard vs, and in deed taketh pleasure in vs, as moyses* declared in the song, wherein he testified of onely, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they broughte the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire out of his head, they asked him, if he would eate, or hee were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and said, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breath, he said, Thou murderer, takest this present life from vs, but the King of y world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of our lasting life.

10 ¶ And after him was the third had in denision, and when they demanded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, & stretched forth his handes boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the king and they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like manner.

14 And when he was now ready to die, he said thus, It is better that we should chenge this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope fro God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also, and tormented him.

16 Who looked vpon the king and said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou bee a mortal man, thou dost what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaaken our nation, 17 But abide a while, & thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy feed.

18 After him also they broughte the sixe, who being at the point of death, said, Deceit not thy selfe foolishly: for wee suffer the things, which are worthy to be wouldest at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was maruelous aboute all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when shee saw her seven sonnes laine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisdom, stirred vpon her many affectiones with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tell how ye came into my wombe for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body.

23 But doublelesse the creatour of the world, which formed the birth of man, & found out the beginning of all things, will also of his own mercie giue you breath and life againe, as ye now regarde not your owne selues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious wordes, while the yongest was yet aliuie, he did exhort him not onely with wordes, but swore also vnto him: y an other, that he would make him rich and wealthy, if hee would forsake the Lawes of his fathers, & that he would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, & exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many wordes, the promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her own language, O my sonne, haue pittie vpon me, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sicke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman: but shew thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While shee was yet speaking these wordes, the yong man said, Whom wait y. for? I will not obey the kings commandment: but I will obey the commandment of the Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For we suffer these things, because of our sinnes,

33 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a little while for our chattering & correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion & most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe vpon vainglorie, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, & likest thine hands against the seruants of God.

* Deut. 32. 36.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a litle paine, are now vnder the diuine coudenit of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body, and life for the lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will foone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that hee is the onely God, 38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, ragged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grievously that he was mocked, 40 So hee also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all, after the sonnes was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be enough spoken concerning the bankers and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathered together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his folowes to confidence. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes give shewes after they haue put their enemies to flight, and diuided apart of the spoiles vnto the fatherlesse, and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

Then Iudas Maccabees, & they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kindefolkes and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled fixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pittie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that hee would haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voice of the blood that cried vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabees had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at vnawares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee vied the nights to make such assaults, inso much that the bruit of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip saw that this man increased by litle and litle, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Colofyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king, of two thousand talents, which the Romans should haue, to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knew of Nicanors coming, hee told them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousness of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other told all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had told them, or euer he came neere them:

15 And though hee would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabees called his men together, about fixe thousand, exhorting them not to be afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the miury that they had vnjustly done to the holy place, & the cruelty done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they said he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a beck can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreover hee admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundred and fourescore and five thousand vnder Sennacherib,

20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon against Galathians, how they came in all to the battell eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were sloughed, the eight thousand slewe an hundred and twenty thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefits.

21 Thus when he had made them bolde with these words, and readie to die for the lawes & the countrey, he deuised his army into foure partes, 22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the army, to wit, Simon, Ioseph, and Jonathan, giuing ech one fiftene hundred men.

23 And when Elazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, ioyned with Nicanor.

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew about nine thousand men, and wounded and maimed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight, 25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they could no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks and praising the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powdered vpon them the beginning of his mercy,

28 And after the Sabbath, * they distributed the spoiles spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, & diuided the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a general prier, they besought the merciful Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward, with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew aboute twentie thousand, and wanne high and strong holdes, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equal portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreover, they gathered their weapons together, and layd them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victory in their country, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little houle: so hee receiued a reward meet for his wickednes.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a shoulard merchants to buy the Iewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord, brought down of them whom he thought as nothing, in so much that hee put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the country like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia with great dishonour, through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus he that promised to pay tribute to the Romans by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

Antiochus willing to spoile Persopolis, is put to flight. 5 As hee perceiues the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The sinners repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus again with dishonour out of the country of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persopolis, and went about to rob the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people came in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight. And Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come to Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to imputo the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charetman to driue continually, and to dispatch the journey: For Gods iudgement compelled him: for hee had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty, and God of Israel, smote him with an incurable & inuisible plague: for assoone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remediless, came vpon him, and sore torments of the inward parts.

6 And that most iustly: for hee had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogance, but swelled the more with pride, breac-thing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commanded to haste the journey: but it came to passe that hee fell downe from the charet that ran swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a little afore thought he might command the floods of the sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) & to weigh the hie mountaines in the ballance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an horse-litter, ceclaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

9 So that the wormes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his annie was grieved at his smell.

10 Thus no man could beare, because of his stinke, him that a little afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue off his great pride, and selfe-will, when he was plagued, and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, he laid these words, It is meet to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would now haue no mercy on him, 14 And said thus, that he would set at libertie the holy citie vnto the which hee made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom he had iudged not worthy to be buried, but would haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the fowles and wilde beasts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas hee had spoiled the holy Temple afore, hee would garnish it with great giftes, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Iew himselfe, and goethorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God, was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, continuing the forme of a supplication.

19 THE KING and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wisheth much ioy and health, and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I giue great thanks vnto God, hauing hee in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet I am mindful of your honour, and good will, for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrie of Persia, and fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common saluete of all,

22 Not distrustful mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickness.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the hie countrys, hee appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grievous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Again.

Or, God shall defend.

Mat. 12. 29.

Or, Antiochus.

25 Again, when I ponder how that the gouernours that are borderers, and neighbours vnto my kingdome, waite for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull vnto me and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle and louing vnto you according vnto my mind.

28 ¶ Thus the murderer and blasphemor suffered most grievously, and as hee had intreated o-ther men, so he died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his bodie, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

1 Judas Maccabeus taketh the cite and the temple. 10 The assault of Eupator. 16 The Jewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 17- moethen immedit: Iudaea, with whom Iudaea ioyously lateth. 29 But men appeare in the ayre to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus: a flame.

Maccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wan the Temple and the cite againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, and chappels, that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense, two yeeres and fixe moneths after, and set forth the lampes and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, & besought the Lord that they might come no more into such troubles, but if they sinned any more against him, that hee himselfe would chasten them with mercie, and that they might not bee deliuered to the blasphemous and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the same day that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, even the five and twentie day of the same moneth which is || Chasseu.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dens like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus, called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Now will wee declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, hee made one Lysias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice and Caelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes, for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitor, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, hee was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee entertained strangers, and made warre oftentimes against the Iewes.

15 Moreover, the Idumeans that helde the strong holds which were meet for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus, made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wan the places, and slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twenty thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all manner of things conuenient to sustaine the siege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Ioseph, and Zacheus also, and those that were with them, which were enow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) and tooke seuentie thousand ^a drachmes, and let some of them escape.

a A drachme is the eighth part of an ounce, which is about threepence.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, hee called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were couit of treason, and immediatly wan the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the wars that he tooke in hand, hee slew in the two castles moe then twenty thousand.

24 Now Timotheus, whom the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iury by strength.

25 But when hee drew neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth.

26 And fell downe at the foot of the altar, and besought the Lord to be mercifull vnto them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and to be an aduersarie to their aduersaries, * as the Law declareth.

* Exod. 23. 29. deui. 20. 4.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the cite, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heed to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victory.

victorie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen hue comely men vpon horses with bridles of gold, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and covered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twenty thousand and sixe hundred, and sixe hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fledde vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company laid siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceeding y, and spake horrible wordes.

35 Neuertheless vpon the iiij fifth day in the morning, twentie yong men of Maccabeus company, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bolde stomacks smote downe those that they met,

36 Others also that climbed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a cave, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apollosanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with Psalmes and thanksgiving, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victorie.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lyfias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8 Simeon is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lyfias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of king Antiochus vnto Lyfias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VERY shortly after this, Lyfias the kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke for displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, became against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourescore elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, and drew neere to Bethsura, which was a castle of defence, five furlongs from Ierusalem, and laid fore siege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus, and his companie knewe that hee besieged the holds, they, and all the people made prayrs with weeping, and tears before the Lord, that hee would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would isopard themselves together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a courageous minde.

8 And as they were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harness of golde.

9 Then they praised the mercifull God altogether, and tooke heart, insonmuch that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruel beasts: and to breake downe wallles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies likelyons, they slew eleuen thousand footemen, and sixteene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lyfias himselfe fled away shamefully, and so escaped.

13 Who as hee was a man of vnderstanding, considered what losse hee had had, and knowing, that the Hebrues could not be ouercome, because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lyfias requests, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lyfias, concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lyfias, containing these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered mee the things that you demanded by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the king himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if ye bechane your felous as friends towards his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour myselfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare you well, the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Diofcorinbus.

22 ¶ Now the Kings letters contained these wordes, KING ANTIOCHUS vnto his brother Lyfias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated to the gods, our wil is, that they which are in our realme, liue quietly, every man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We vnderstand also, that the Iewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne manner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne Lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is, that this nation shall be in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them & grant them peace: that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort and cheerfully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes, sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs, that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, we giue them free libertie, vnto the thirtieth day of the moneth of Panthicus,

31 That the Iewes may vse their owne manner of liuing and lawes, like aforesaid, and none of them by any manner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance, 32 I haue sent also Maclaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romans also sent a letter concerning these wordes, QVINTVS MVMIVS, and Titus Manilius, ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes sent greeting.

35 The things that Lysias the Kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shall report vnto the king, send hither some with speede, when ye haue considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupon as shal be best for you, for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and send some men that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundreth and eight and fortie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

2 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deed of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 4 Iudas is auenged of them. 5 He setteth fire in the haven of Iamnia. 6 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 7 Timotheus is taken and let goe vnto vs. 8 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

When these covenants were made, Lysias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilld their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suffered nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundreth of them.

5 Nowe when Iudas knewe of their crueltie, shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence flew.

7 And when the citie was shut vp he departed as though he would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when hee perceived that the Iammites were minded to do in like manner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came vpon the Iammites by night, and set fire in the haven with the naue, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundreth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, to their iourney toward Timotheus, about fise thousand men of foote and five hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the || Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine || cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should indeed be profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assailed a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with wals and had diuers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of vittails, that they were the slacke in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus fouldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any instruments, or engins of warre, did cast down the walles of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles,

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, insomuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, & came to Characa, vnto the Iewes that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for hee was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dolitheus and Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth and slew those that Timotheus had left in the forereste, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his armie by bands, and went couragiously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twenty thousand men of foote, and two thousand and five hundreth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas coming, he sent the women and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a torrefied callest Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vncasie to come vnto because of the firaies on all sides.)

22 But when Iudas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, insomuch that they fleeing one here, another there, were oftentimes hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and flew new those wicked men: yes, he slew thirty thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fel into the hands of Dositheus and Sosipater, whom he befought with much craft to let him goe with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of some of them, which if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when hee had assured them with many words, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Arragatton, and slew five and twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chafed away and slaine them, Iudas remoued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engines of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slew five and twenty thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth fixe hundred furlongs from Ierusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwell there, testified, that the Scythopolitans dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie, 31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to bee friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the fast of the weekes approached.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went fourth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 And came out with three thousand men of foote, and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine,

35 And Dositheus, one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke & a mighty man, tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man aliu: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into ¶ Marisa.

36 And when they that were ¶ with Elerin, had foughten long, and were weary, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to be their helper, and captain of the field.

37 And then hee began in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loude voyce, insonmuch that straightwaies he made them that were about Gorgias to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his host, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seventh day came, they cleaned themselves: (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessity required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euery one, that was slaine, they found iewels that had bin consecrate to the idoles of the Iammites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Lawe. Then euery man sawe, that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

41 And so euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselves to prayer, and befought him, that they should not vterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, for so much as they saw before their eyes the things which caner to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Ierusalem about two thousand drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly, that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had been superfluous and vaine, to ¶ pray for the dead.

45 And therefore he perceived, that there was great fauour layd vp for those that died godly. (It was an holy and a good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be deliuered from sinne.

¶ From this verse to the end of this Chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certain doctrine can be gathered thereby. Altho it is euident, that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it diuertieth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the authour of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmity, desireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that he should. And it seemeth that this Iulian the Cyrenian, out of whom hee rooke this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben. Gerson, who hath written in Hebrew booke of these matters, and intrating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. chap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, even to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to prove, that women might minister the Sacraments, Exodus 25. or the example of Iudas that one might kill himselfe, whom this authour so much commendeth, Chap. 14. ¶

CHAP. XIII.

The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 1 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, moueth his soldiers vnto prayer. 15 He killeth fourteene thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rodocma the beirger of the Iewes is taken.

In the hundred forty and nine yeere it was told Iudas, that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudea,

1 And Lysias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundred and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and five thousand horsemen, and two and twenty Elephants, and three hundred chariots for with hookes:

2 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the sale of the country, but because he thought to haue been made the gouernour.

3 But the King of kinde moued Antiochus mind against this wicked man, and Lysias informed the king, that this man was the cause of all mischiefe, so that the king commanded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the manner was in that place.

4 Now there was in that place a tower of fittie cubites high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on euery side it rolled downe into the ashes:

5 And there whoeuer was condemned of sacriledge, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

6 And so it came to passe, that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall.

7 For because he had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: hee himselfe also died in the ashes.

8 ¶ Now the king raged in his minde, and came Demetrius moved by Alcimus, sendeth Nicanor to kill the Jewes. 8 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Jewes, 29 which he yet breaketh through the wisdom of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Raxis to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

came to shew himselfe more cruel vnto the Jewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, hee commaunded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should be put from their Law, from their country, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that he would not suffer the people, which a little before began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this all together, & besought the Lord for mercie with weeping, and fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselves ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe forth, afore the king brought his hoste into Iudea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, hee exhorted his fouldiers to fight manfully euen vnto death, for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their country, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his fouldiers for a watchword, The victory of God, hee picked out the manliest yong men, & went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the best foureteenthousand men, and the greatest elephant with all that fate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had tasted the manlikenesse of the Jewes, hee went about to take the holds by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Jewes: but he was chased away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Jewes hoste, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore hee was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and so tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23 But when he vnderstood that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that hee yielded himselfe to the Jewes, and made them an oath to doe all things that were right, and was appeased toward them, and offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentleness to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him capitaine and gouernor from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheless, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieved, they would that he should breake the covenants.

26 Then went Lyfias vp into the iudgement seate, and excused the fact as well as he could, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings journey, and his returne.

After three yeeres was Iudas enformed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and naueie by the haueen of Tripolis,

2 When he had wonne the country, & slaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lyfias,

3 Now Alcimus which had bene the high Priest, and wilfully defiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundreth fiftie and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of gold, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vied tolemnely in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue,

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Jewes leane vnto.

6 To the which hee answered, The Jewes that be called Asideans, whose capitaine is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come hither,

8 Partly, because I was well affectioned vnto the kings affaires, and secondly, because I sought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people through their rashnes are not a litle troubled

9 Wherefore, O King, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the country, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanity, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euill will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire,

12 Who immediately called for Nicanor the ruler of the Elephants, and made him capitaine ouer Iudea,

13 And sent him forth, commaunding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hie Priest of the great Temple

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harme and calamities of the Jewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Jewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselves with earth, and prayed vnto him, which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the capitaine, they remoued straightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Dessan, 17 Where Simon Iucas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheless, Nicanor hearing the manlines of them that were with Iudas, & the bold stomacks that they had for their country, durst not proue proove the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore he sent Pofidonius, || Theodosius, and || Matthias before to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduifement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and confented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: fo when the day was come, they let for euery man his ftoole.

22 Neuertheleffe, Iudas commanded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, lest there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and fo they communed together of the things wherupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee || loued Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 Hee prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: fo he married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betwene them, and vnderstanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius and told him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hand, and ordeined Iudas, a traitour to the realme, to be his successour.

27 Then the king was displeased, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, faying, that he was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that he should lend Maccabeus in all halfe prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came to Nicanor, hee was astonished and fore grieved, that hee should breake the things wherem they had agreed, feeing that the man had committed no wickednesse.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the king, hee fought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding, when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to bee rough vnto him, and that hee intreated him more rudely then hee was wont, he perceiued that such a rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrew himselfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was pre-uented by Maccabeus worthy policie, came into the great and holy Temple and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they were that they could not tell where the man was, whom he fought,

33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an oath in this manner, If ye will not deliuer mee Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes hee departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, faying in this manner,

35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast need of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was clemed, and stop all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis, one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the cittie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man atformes, when the Iewes were minded to keepe themselves vndefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with all constancie, for the religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor, willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent about fise hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him, to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castile, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to bee taken on e-uery side, he || tell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noblest Locke.

43 Notwithstanding, what time as hee missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betwene the doores, hee ran boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themselves lightly away, and gaue place, so that he fell vpon his belly.

45 Neuertheleffe, while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his mind, he rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very fore wounded, yet he ranne thro-row the midst of the people,

46 And gare him to the top of an high rocke:
so when his blood was verely gone, heooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and spirit, that hee would restore them againe vnto him: and thus he died.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day.
2 The blisphemous Nicanor 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, encourage them. 21 The prayer of Macabeus 30 Maccabeus commendeth Nicanors heau and bands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

NOW when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his company were in the cuntry of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheleffe, the Iewes that were compelled to go with him, laid, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honor and sanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lord in the heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they said, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Then he said, And I am mighty vpon earth to command them for to arme themselves, and to performe the kings busines. Notwithstanding, he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, pur-posed to set vp a memoriall of the victory obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lord would helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be daunted at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust now also, that they should haue the victory by the Almighty.

9 Thus hee encouraged them by the Law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, & shewed them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed euery one of them not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholesome words and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to be beleued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision. Hee thought that hee saw Onias (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behaviour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a childe) holding vp his hands towards heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie about him.

14 And Onias spake, and said, This is a louer of the brethren, who praiech much for the people, and for the holy cite, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 Hee thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it, he spake thus,

16 Take this holy sword, a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the aduersaries.

17 And to be comforted by the words of Iudas, which were very sweet and able to stirre them vp to valianesse, and to encourage the hearts of the yong men they determined to pitch no camp, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, & to try the matter hand to hand, because the cite and the Sanctuary and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues and children, and brethren, and kinsfolke, they see lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Again, they that were in the cite, were carefull for the army that was abroad.

20 Now while they all waited for the trial of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the host was set in aray, and the || beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparation of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, held vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victorie cometh not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victory to them that are worthy as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee sayde after this manner, O Lord, ¶ thou that didst send thine Angel in the time of Ezekias king of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slewe an hundred fourescore and sixe thousand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauen, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them bee discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these words he made an ende.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere, with trumpets and shoutings for ioy.

26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies, 27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they praye vnto God, and slew no lesse then five and thirye thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderfully comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstood that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a cry, praying the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called al them of his nation, and set the Priests by the Altar, and sent for them of the castle, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemer, which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud brags.

33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the fowles, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 Hee hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto al of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they should in no case tuffe this day, without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardochews day.

38 Thus far as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the cite in possession. And here will I also make an ende.

39 If I haue done well, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, & then againe water: & as wine tempered with water is pleasant, and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter & lighteth the eyes of the that read the story. And here shall be the ende.

to the diligent Reader.

DEARE Christian Reader, to the intent that thou mightest the better enjoy the benefit of these notes or expositions vpon the New Testament: I thought it not amisse to declare vnto thee the vse of the same. And first, forasmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, containing like phraze or sense, haue bene so placed, that none without great labour could finde out the texts alledged, I haue made this marke *, and haue set it aswel in the margent, as in the text, so that thou mayest easily finde that which thou desirest. For example, in the first worde of the first Chapter of Matthew is placed this marke *: looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou shalt finde Luke 3 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew: and so likewise thou shalt finde in the residue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word, or sentence, the first is onely marked, and those that follow vnmaked, appertaine to the same.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmeticke, as 1. 2. 3. 4. &c. thow rowe ut the Euangelists and Acts, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine contained betweene one of the sayd figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first worde of Matthew vnto the figure 2. in the 18. verse of the same Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the margent in this sort: 1 Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the stocke of David as God promised. And in the Epistles in like sort they declare the methode and arte which the Apostles vse, and how euery argument or reason dependeth one vpon another: these figures are begunne againe at the beginning of euery Chapter.

Lastly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like answering vnto them in the margent, serue to expound and lighten the darke words and phrases immediarly following in them. As in the first line and second worde, the letter, a, being referred vnto a, directly against him in the margent, sheweth that this word, Booke, signifieth A rehearsal as the Hebrewes vse to speake: as Genes. 5. 1. The booke of the generations. These letters beginne at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto z. and so beginning againe with a if there be so many Notes that they do excede in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruit, and giue the prayse to God.

Farewell.

13 ¶ After their departure, behold the Angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, & take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, & there till I bring thee word: for Herod will seeke the babe to destroy him.

14 So hee arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

15 And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ Then Herod seeing that he was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coasts thereof from two yeere old and vnder according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the wisemen.

17 Then was that fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, 18 * In Rhama was a voice heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.

19 ¶ And when Herod was dead, beholde, an Angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then he arose vp, and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reign in Iudea in stead of his father Herod, he was afraid to goe thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dream, he turned aside into the parts of Galile, 23 And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That hee should be called a Nazarene.

3 For this is he of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Elias saying, * The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: ^d make his paths straight.

4 * And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of skinne about his loines: his meate was also ^e locusts and wilde hony.

5 * Then went out to him ^f Ierusalem and al Iudea, and all the region about Iordan,

7 ¶ Now when hee saw many of the Pharisees

8 ¶ Bring forth therefore fruit worthy amendment of life,

9 And thinke not to say ^g with your selues, * We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able enen of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

Then ^a was Iesus led aside of the Spirit into the wilderness, to be tempted of the diuill.

2 And when he had fasted ^b fortie daies and fortie nights, he was afterward hungry.

3 Then came to him the tempter, and said, If thou bee the Sonne of God, commande that these stones be made bread.

4 But he answering, said, It is written, * Man shall not liue by bread onely, but by euery word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the diuel tooke him vp into the holy citie, and set him on a ^c pinnacle of the temple,

6 And said vnto him, If thou bee the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe: for it is written, * that he wil giue his Angels charge ouer thee, and with their hands they shall lift thee vp, lest at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone.

7 Iesus said vnto him, It is written againe, * Thou shalt not ^d tempt the Lord thy God.

Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aske of him.

9 After this maner therefore pray ye, * Our Father which art in heauen, hallowed bee thy Name.

10 Thy kingdome come. Thy will bee done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our daily bread.

12 And forgive vs our debts, as wee also forgiue our debtors.

13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deli-uer vs * from euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen.

14 * For if ye doe forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15 But if ye doe not forgive men their trespasses, no more wil your heavenly Father forgive you your trespasses.

16 Moreover, when ye fast, looke not sowe as the hypocrites: for they f disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, annoynt thine head, and wash thy face,

18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 ¶ Lay not vp treasures for your selues vp-on the earth, where the moth & canker corrupt, and where theues digge through and steale.

20 * But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, & where theues neither digge through nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 ¶ The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shall be dark. Wherefore if the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness?

24 * No man can serue two masters: for either hee shall hate the one, and loue the other, or else he shall leane to the one, and despise the other.
Ye cannot serue God and riches.

25 ¶ Therefore I say vnto you, be not care-full for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth than meate and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they sow not, neither reape, nor carry into the barnes:
yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by taking care is able to add one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the Lilies of the field doe grow: they are not wearing, neither spinne:

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God do clothe the graffe of the field which is to day, & to morow is cast into the oven, shall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drinke: or wherewith shall we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things seeketh the Gentiles) for your heavenly Father knoweth, that ye haue need of all these things.

33 But seeke ye first the kingdome of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morow: for the mo-row shall care for it selfe: the day hath enough with his owne griefe.

Iudge not, that ye be not iudged.

2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, yee shall be iudged, and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured vnto you againe.

3 And why seekest thou the mote, that is in thy brothers eye, and perceiuest not the beam that is in thine owne eye?

4 * Or how sayest thou to thy brother, Suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beam is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 ¶ Giue ye not that which is holy to dogs, neither cast yee your pearls before swine, lest they tread them vnder their teete, and turning a-7 ¶ Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

8 For whoso euer asketh, receiueith: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his son aske him bread, would giue him a stone?

10 Or if hee aske fish, will hee giue him a per-sent?

11 If ye then, which are euill, can giue to your children good gifts, how much more shall your Father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aske him?

12 * Therefore whatsoeuer yee would, that men should doe to you, euen so doe yee to them:
for this is the Law and the Prophets.

13 ¶ Enter in at the strait gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to destruction: and many there be which goe in thereat.

14 Because the gate is strait, and the way narrow that leadeth vnto life, and fewe there bee that finde it.

15 ¶ Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheeps clothing, but inwardly they are rauening wolves.

16 Ye shall know them by their fruites. * Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figs of thistles?

17 So eury good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth euill fruit:
neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 * Eury tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

them.

Then I he entered into a ship; and passed ouer, and came into his owne ciitie.

2 And * Ioe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palse layed on a bed. And Iesus b seeing their faith, sayd to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy finnes are forgiven thee.

3 And beholde, certaine of the Scribes sayd with themselves, This man blasphemeth.

4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy finnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that they may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive finnes (then sayd he vnto the sicke of the palse,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

7 And hee arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authoritie to men.

9 ¶ * 2 And as Iesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man sitting at the custome, named Matthew, and sayd to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, behold, many Publicanes & sinners that came thither, sate down at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharises saw that, they sayd to his disciples, Why eateth your Master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayde vnto them, The whole need not a Physician, but they that are sicke.

13 But goe ye and learne what this is, * I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ * 3 Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? but the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreover, no man pieceth an old garment with a peece of new cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither doe they put newe wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preferred.

18 ¶ * 4 While hee thus spake vnto them, behold, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased: but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall liue.

19 And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

20 (And behold, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yerres, came behind him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For she said in her selfe, If I may touch but his garment onely, I shall be whole.

22 Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, said say, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at that same moment.)

23 ¶ Nowe when Iesus came into the Rulers house, and saw the minstrels and the multitude making noyse, 24 He sayd vnto them, Get you hence: for the maid is not dead, but sleeth. And they laughed him to scorne.

25 And when the multitude were put forth, hee went in and tooke her by the hand, and the maid arose.

26 And this brute went throughout all that land.

27 ¶ And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid haue mercy vpon vs.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus sayd vnto them, Beleuee yee that I am able to doe this? And they sayd vnto him, Yea Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame throughout all that land.

32 ¶ * 7 And as they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumbe man possified with a deuill.

33 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumbe spake: then the multitude marueiled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

34 But the Pharises sayd, * He casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils.

35 ¶ And * Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdome, and healing euery sicknesse and euery disease among the people.

36 ¶ But * when he saw the multitude, he had compassion vpon them because they were dispersed and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepherd.

37 Then sayd he to his disciples, * Surely the harvest is great, but the labourers are few.

38 Wherefore pray the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest.

7 And as they departed, Iesus beganne to speake vnto the multitude, of Iohn, What wert ye out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken with the winde?

8 But what wert ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they that wear soft clothing, are in Kings houses.

9 But what wert ye out to see? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is he of whom it is written,* Behold, I send my messenger before thy face which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verily I say vnto you, Among them which are begotten of women, arose there none greater then Iohn Baptist: notwithstanding, he that is the least in y^e kingdom of heauen, is greater then he.

12 And from the time of Iohn Baptist hitherto to the kingdom of heauen suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force.

13 For all the Prophets and the Law^d prophesied vnto Iohn.

14 And if ye will receiue it, this is* that Elias, which was to come.

15 ¶ He that hath eares to eare, let him heare.

16 ¶ But whereunto shall I liken this generation? It is like vnto little children which sit in the market, and call vnto their fellows, 17 And say, we haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced, we haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.

19 The Sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a glutton & a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicans and sinners: 4 but I wifedome is iustificed of her children.

20 ¶ ¶ Then began he to upbraid the cities, wherein most of his great workes were done, because they repented not.

21 Woe be to thee Chorazin: Woe be to thee Bethsaida: for if the great workes which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

23 And thou Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hell: for if the great workes, which haue bene done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodome, they had remained vnto this day.

24 But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodome in the day of iudgement, then for thee.

25 ¶ At that time Iesus answered, and said, I giue thee thanks, O Father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast opened them vnto babes.

26 ¶ It is so, O Father, because thy i good pleasure was such.

27 ¶ ¶ All things are giuen vnto mee of my Father: and no man knoweth the Sonne, but the Father: neither knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, and he to whom the Sonne will reueale him.

28 Come vnto mee, all ye that are weary and laden, and I will ease you,

A ¶ T^hat time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disciples were an hungred, and began to plucke the eares of corne and to eate.

2 And when the Pharisees sawe it, they sayd vnto him, B^eholde, thy disciples doe* that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.

3 But he sayd vnto them,* Haue ye not read what Dauid did when he was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4 How he entred into the house of God, and did eate the shewbread, which was not law full for him to eate neither for them which were with him, but onely for the Priests?

5 O haue ye not read in the Law, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priests in the Temple * b^e break the Sabbath and are blamelesse?

6 But I say vnto you, that heere is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knew what this is,* I will haue mercie and not sacrifice, ye would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

9 ¶ 2 And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue.

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And he said vnto they, What man shall there be among you, y^e hath a sheep, & if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, doth not take it & li^e it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then said hee to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 ¶ Then the Pharisees went out, and consulted against him, how they might destroy him.

15 But wh^e Iesus knew it, he departed thence, & great multitudes followed him, & he healed the all.

16 And charged them in threatening wise, that they should not make him known.

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Elias the Prophet, saying, 18 ¶ Behold my seruant whome I haue chosen, my beloued in whome my soule delighteth: I will put my Spirit on him, and hee shall shew iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 He shall not strue, nor cry, neither shall any man hear his voyce in the streets.

20 A bruised reede shall hee not breake, and smoking flaxe shall hee not quench, till he^d bring forth iudgement vnto victorie.

21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 ¶ ¶ Then was brought to him one possessed with a deuill, both blind and dumbe, and he healed him, so that hee which was blinde and dumbe, both spake and saw.

21 And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the sonne of David?

22 But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, * This man casteth the devils no otherwise out but through Beelzebub the prince of devils.

23 But Iesus knew their thoughts, and said to them, Every kingdome diuided against it selfe, is brought to nought, and every cite or house diuided against it selfe, shall stand.

24 So if Satan cast out Satan, hee is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

25 Also if I through Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your iudges.

26 But if I cast out devils by the spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you.

27 Elſe how can a man enter into a strong mans house, and spoile his goods, except hee first bind the strong man, and then spoile his house?

28 Hee that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

29 Wherefore I say vnto you, Euery sinne and blasphemie shall be forgiven vnto men: but the blasphemie against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiven vnto men.

30 And whoſoeuer shall speake a word against the sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him: * but whoſoeuer shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

31 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good: or elſe make the tree euill, and his fruit euill: for the tree is knowne by the fruit.

32 70 generations of vipers, how can you speake good things, when ye are euill? For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

33 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: & an euil man out of an euil treasure, bringeth forth euill things.

34 But I say vnto you, that of euery idle word that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

35 For by thy words thou shalt bee iustified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

36 ¶ Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharisees, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

37 But he answered and said to them, An euill & adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be giuen vnto it, saue that signe of the Prophet Ionas.

38 ¶ For as Ionas was three dayes and three nights in the whales belly: so shall the sonne of man be three dayes and three nights in the heart of the earth.

39 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgment with this generation, and condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

40 ¶ The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgment with this generation, and shall condemne it: for shee came from the remotest part of the earth to heare the wisdom of Salomon: and behold, a greater then Salomon is here.

41 ¶ Now when the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

42 Then hee saith, I will returne into mine house from whence I came: & when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept and garnished:

43 ¶ Then he goeth and taketh vnto him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: * and the end of that man is worse then the beginning, Euen so shall it bee with this wicked generation.

44 ¶ While he yet spake to the multitude, he beheld, his mother, and his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him.

45 Then one sayd vnto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stand without desiring to speake with thee.

46 But he answered, and sayd to him that told him, Who is my mother, & who are my brethren?

47 ¶ And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples and said, Behold my mother, and my brethren.

48 For whoſoeuer shall doe my Fathers will which is in heauen, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

¶ The same day went Iesus out of the house, and came by the sea side.

2 ¶ And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the fowles came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprang vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and brought forth fruit, one came an hundred foldes, some sixtie fold, and another thirtie fold.

9 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 ¶ And he answered and sayd vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you to know the secrets of the kingdom of heauen, but to the it is not giuen.

12 ¶ For whoſoeuer hath, to him shall be giuen, & he shall haue abundance: but whoſoeuer hath not, from him shall be taken away euen y^e he hath.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophesie of Esaias, which prophesie sayeth, * By hearing ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceiue.

15 For this peoples heart is waxed fat, & their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, & should returne, that I might heale them.

16 ¶ But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 ¶ For verely I say vnto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, & haue not seene them, and to heare those things which he heare, and haue not heard them.

18 ¶ Hear ye therefore the parable of the Sower.

19 Whensoever any man heareth the word of that Kingdom, and understandeth it not, that shall one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is hee which hath received the seed by the way side.

20 And hee that receiveth seed in the stonie ground, is hee which heareth the word, and incontinently with joy receiveth it.

21 Yet hath he no root in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soon as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And hee that receiveth the seede among thornes, is hee that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he is made unfruitfull.

23 But hee that receiveth the seed in the good ground, is hee that heareth the word, and understandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixtie fold, and some thirtie fold.

24 ¶ Another parable put hee forth vnto them, saying, The kingdom of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seed in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemy and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and sayd vnto him, Master, fowdest thou not good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he said vnto them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants said vnto him, Wilt thou that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But he said, Nay, lest while ye goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and bind them in sheaves to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barn.

31 ¶ Another parable put hee forth vnto them, saying, The kingdom of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seed, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which in deed is the least of all feedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ Another parable spake he to them, The kingdom of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leavened.

34 ¶ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not vnto them.

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, * I will open my mouth in parables, and will utter things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that field.

37 Then answered he, and said to them, Hee that soweth the good seed, is the Sonne of man, 38 And the field is the world, and the good seed are the children of the Kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemy that soweth them, is the deuill, * and the haruest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie.

42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

43 * Then shall the iust men shine as the sunne in the Kingdom of their Father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ Again, the Kingdom of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Again, the kingdom of heauen is like to a merchant man that seeketh good pearles.

46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ Again, the kingdom of heauen is like vnto a draw net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kinds of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world. The Angels shall goe forth, and seuer the bad from among the iust.

50 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

51 ¶ Iesus said vnto them, Vnderstand ye all the things? They said vnto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then said he vnto them, The efore euery Scribe which is taught vnto the kingdom of heauen, is like vnto a householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things both new & old.

53 ¶ And it came to passe, that when Iesus had ended these parables, he departed thence.

54 * And came into his owne country, and taught them in their Synagogue, so that they were astonied, and said, Whence commeth this wisdom and great works vnto this man?

55 Is not this the carpenters sonne? Is not his mother called Marie, * and his brethren James and Iosef, and Simon and Iudas?

56 And are not his sisters all with vs? Whence then hath he all these things?

57 And they were offended with him. Then Iesus said to them, * A Prophet is not without honour, save in his owne country, and in his owne house.

58 And he did not many great workes there, for their vnbelieues sake.

3 * For Herod had taken Iohn, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wife.

4 * For Iohn said vnto him, It is not lawfull for thee to haue her.

5 And when he would haue put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a * Prophet.

6 But when Herods birthday was kept, the daughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleased * Herod.

7 Wherefore hee promised with an oath, that he would giue her whatsoever she would aske.

8 And the being before instructed of her mother, sayd, Giue mee here Iohn Baptists head in a platter.

9 And the king was sorry: neuerthelesse, because of the oath, and them that fate with him at the table, he commanded it to be giuen her.

10 And sent, and beheaded Iohn in the prison.

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the mayd, and shee brought it vnto her mother.

12 And his disciples came, and tooke vp the body, and buried it, and went, and told Iesus.

13 * And when Iesus heard it, hee departed thence by shippe into a desert place apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him on foot out of the cities.

14 * And Iesus went forth and saw a great multitude, and was moued with compassion toward them, and he healed their sicke.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, * his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and buy them vitales.

16 But Iesus sayd to them, They haue no need to goe away: giue ye them to eat.

17 Then said they vnto him, Wee haue heere but fine loaves, and two fishes.

18 And he said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And hee commanded the multitude to sit down on the grasse, and tooke the fine loaves and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed, and brake, and gawe the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelve baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about foue thousand men, beside women and little children.

22 ¶ And straightway Iesus compelled his disciples to enter into a ship, and to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And as soone as hee had sent the multitude away, he went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and * when the euening was come, hee was there alone.

24 * And the ship was now in the middes of the Sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary wind.

25 And in the * fourth watch of the night, Iesus went vnto them, walking on the Sea.

26 And when his disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a * spirit, and cried out for feare.

27 But straightway Iesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort, it is I: be not afraid.

28 4 Then Peter answered him, and said, Master, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he sayd, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to goe to Iesus.

30 But when he saw a mighty winde, he was afraid: and as he began to sinke, he cried, saying, Master, saue me.

31 So immediately Iesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said to him, O thou of little faith, wherefore diddest thou doubt?

32 And as soone as they were come into the ship, the winde ceased.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Sonne of God.

34 ¶ * And when they were come ouer, they came into the land of * Gennezaret.

35 5 And when the men of that place knew him, they went out into all that country round about, and brought vnto him all that were sicke,

Then * came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharisees, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

2 * Why do thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they * wash not their hands when they eat bread.

3 * But he answered and said vnto them, Why do ye also transgresse the commandment of God by your tradition?

4 * For God hath commanded, saying, b Honour thy father and mother: * and he that curieth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, * Whosoever shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by mee, thou mayest haue profit,

8 * This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines, mens precepts.

10 4 Then he called the multitude vnto him, and sayd to them, Heare and vnderstand.

this: whosoener I besow upon the Tempe, it is to thy profit for it is as good as if I. and it is therefore (as the Pharisees of our times say) is to the profit of the church: for these for vnder this colour of religion, they rated all to themselves, although that he that had giuen any thing to the Temple had done the duty of a child. d You made it of no power and authority as much as I say you for other wise the commandment of God shall fall in the Church of God, in despite of the world and Satan. 2 The same can be deni- ed for hypocrites and superstition, because they make the Kingdoms of God to fall in outward things. e I say 20. 14. *A*ND it came to passe, that when Iesus had finished these sayings, he departed from Galilee, and came into the coasts of Iudea beyond Jordan.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 ¶ Then came vnto him the Pharisees tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife vpon euery occasion?

4 And he answered and said vnto them, Haue ye not read, * that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female,

5 And said, * For this cause shall man leaue father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife, and they which were 2 shall be one flesh?

6 Wherefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let no man therefore put asunder that, which God hath coupled together.

7 2 They said to him, Why did then * Moses command to giue a bill of divorcement, and to put her away?

8 He said vnto them, Moses because of the hardness of your heart, stuffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so.

9 I say therefore vnto you, * that whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adulterie: and whosoever marieth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adulterie.

10 Then said his disciples to him, If the matter be so between man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 But he said vnto them, All men cannot receive this thing, save they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are some eunuches, which were so borne of their mothers belly: and there be some eunuches, which be gelded by men: and there be some eunuches, which haue gelded themselves for the kingdom of heauen. Hee that is able to receive this, let him receive it.

13 ¶ Then were brought vnto him little children, that hee should put his hands on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them, 14 But Iesus said, Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come to mee: for of such is the kingdom of heauen.

15 And when he had put his hands on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ And behold, one came and said vnto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And he said vnto him, Why callest thou me good, there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the Commandments.

18 He said vnto him, Which? And Iesus said, * These, Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness:

19 Honour thy father and mother: and, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 The young man said vnto him, I haue observed all these things from my youth. What lacke I yet?

21 Iesus said vnto him, If thou wilt be perfect, goe, sell that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come and follow me.

22 And when the young man heard that saying, hee went away sorrowfull: for hee had great possessions.

23 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto his disciples, Verely I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heauen.

24 And againe, I say vnto you, It is easier for a camel to goe thorow the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?

26 And Iesus beheld them, and said vnto them, With men this is vnpossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ Then answered Peter, and said to him, Behold, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what therefore shall we haue?

28 And Iesus said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his Maiestie, ye which followed me in the regeneration, * shall sit also vpon twelue thrones, and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

*O*r the kingdom of heauen is like vnto a certain householder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And hee agreed with the labourers for a peny a day, and sent them into his vineyard.

3 And he went out about the third houre, and saw other standing idle in the market place,

4 And said vnto them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoever is right, I will giue you: and they went their way.

5 Again he went out about the sixth and ninth houre and did likewise.

6 And hee went about the eleuenth houre, and found other standing idle, & said vnto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They said vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. He said to them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoever is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the master of the vineyard said vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

hour, came and receiued every man a penie.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they should receive more, but they likewise receiued every man a penny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the Master of the house, 12 Saying, These Last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equal vnto vs, which haue borne the burden & heat of the day.

13 And hee answered one of them, saying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: didst thou not agree with me for a peny?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and go thy way, I will giue vnto this last, as much as to thee. 15 Is it not lawfull for mee to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye euill, because I am good?

16 * So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many are called but few chosen.

7 * And Iesus went vp to Ierusalem, and tooke the twelue Disciples apart in the way, and said vnto them,

18 Behold, we goe vp to Ierusalem, and the sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death,

19 & And * shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to scourge, and to crucifie him, but the third day he shall rise againe.

20 * Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.

21 And he said vnto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Grant that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy Kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered, and said, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to be baptized with the bapisme that I shall be baptized with? They said to him, We are able.

23 And he said vnto them, Ye shall drinke indeed of my cup, and shall be baptized with the bapisme, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue: but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 * And when the other ten heard this, they diddaigne at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Ye know that the lords of the Gentiles haue dominion ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authority ouer them.

26 But it shall not be so among you, but whofoeuer will be great among you, let him be your seruant.

27 And whosoever will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruant.

28 * Euen as the sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ranfome of many.

29 * ¶ And as they departed from Iericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And behold, two blind men, sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cried, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should hold their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

32 Then Iesus stood still, and b called them, and said, What wilt thou that I doe to thee?

33 They laid to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus mooued with compassion, touched their eyes, and immediatly their eyes receiued light, and they followed him.

And * when they drew nere to Ierusalem, & were come to Bethphage, vnto the mount of the Oliues, then sent Iesus two disciples,

2 Saying to them, Goe into the towne that is ouer against you, and anon ye shall find an asse bound, and a colt with her loole there, and bring them vnto me.

3 And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath neede of them, & straight way he will let them goe.

4 All this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, saying,

5 ¶ Tell ye the daughter of Sion, behold, thy King cometh vnto thee, meeke, and sitting vpon an asse, and a colt, the foale of an asse vied to the yoke.

6 So the disciples went, and did as Iesus had commanded them,

7 And brought the asse and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and set him thereon.

8 And a great multitude spread their branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 Moreover, the people that went before and they also that followed, cried, saying, ¶ Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid. ¶ Blessed be hee that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Hosanna thou which art in the highest heauens.

10 * And when he was come into Ierusalem, all the City was moued, saying, Who is this?

11 And the people said, This is Iesus that Prophet of Nazaret in Galilee.

12 ¶ And Iesus went into the Temple of God and cast out all them * that sold & bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold doves, 13 And said to them, It is written, * My house shall be called the house of prayer: but * ye haue made it a denne of theues.

14 Then the blind, and the halte came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15 * But when the chiefe Priests and Scribes saw the maruels that hee did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, they diddaigne, 16 And saide vnto him, Hearst thou what they say? And Iesus said vnto them, yes: I reade neuer. * By the mouth of babes and sucklings thou balt made perfite the praise?

17 ¶ ¶ So he left them, and went out of the citie vnto Bethania, and lodged there.

a Christ witnesseth that there shall be a long time between his departure to his Father, and his coming againe to vs, but yet notwithstanding that, he will at that day take an account not onely of the rebellious and obstinate, how they have bestowed that which they receiued of him, but also of his household seruants which haue not through dissimulatione employed those gifts which he bestowed vpon them.*

3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke no oyle with them.
4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.
5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all slumbered and slept.
6 And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meete him.
7 Then all those virgins arose and trimmed their lampes.
8 And the foolish said to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.
9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, lest there will not be enough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sel, & buy for your selues.
10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came, and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.
11 Afterwardes came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.
12 But he answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, I know you not.
13 * Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day nor y^e houre, when the Son of man will come.
14 * 2 For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange cuntry, called his seruants, and deliuered to them his goods.
15 And vnto one he gaue five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his owneabilitie, and straightway went from home.
16 Then he that had receiued the five talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other five talents.
17 Likewise also he that receiued two, hee also gained other two.
18 But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.
19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.
20 Then came hee that had receiued five talents, and brought other five talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me five talents: behold I haue gained with them other five talents.
21 Then his master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: d enter into thy masters ioy.
22 Also hee that had receiued two talents, came, and said, Master thou deliueredst vnto mee two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talents more.
23 His master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.
24 Then he which had receiued the one talent, came, and said, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, which reapst where thou sowdest not, and gatherest where thou strawdest not:
25 I was therefore afraid, and went, & hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.
26 And his master answered, and saide vnto him, Thou euill seruant, and slothfull, thou knowest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.
27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, & then at my coming, I should haue receiued mine owne with vantage.
28 Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.

33 And hee shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left.
34 Then shall the king say to them on his right hand, Come yee blessed of my Father: take the inheritance of the kingdome prepared for you from the foundation of the world.
35 * For I was an hungred, and yee gaue mee meate: I thirsted, and yee gaue mee drinke: I was a stranger, and yee tooke mee in vnto you.
36 I was naked, and yee clothed mee: I was sicke, and yee visited me: I was in prison, and yee came vnto me.
37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or a thirst, and gaue thee drinke?
38 And when saw we thee a stranger, & tooke thee in vnto vs? or naked, and clothed thee?
39 Or when saw we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?
40 And the King shall answer, and say vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as yee haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, yee haue done it to me.
41 Then shall he say to them on the left hand, * Depart from me ye cursed, into euerlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuil and his angels.
42 For I was an hungred, and yee gaue mee no meate: I thirsted, and yee gaue mee no drinke:
43 I was a stranger, and yee tooke mee not in vnto you: I was naked, and yee clothed mee not: sicke, and in prison, and yee visited me not.
44 Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or a thirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee?
45 Then shall he answer them, and say, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as yee did it not to one of the least of these, yee did it not to me.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup cannot passe away from me, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done.

43 And hee came and found them asleepe againe, for their eyes were heauie.

44 So he leit them, and went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came he to his disciples, and said vnto them, sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: behold, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.

46 * Rise, Let vs goe: beholde he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 * And while he yet spake, loe, Iudas one of the twelue came, and with him a great multitude with swords and stauies, from the hie Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and sayde, God saue thee, Master, and kissed him.

50 * Then Iesus sayd vnto him, * Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and layd hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And beholde, one of them, which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and strooke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote of his eare.

52 * Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his place: * for all that thy sword shall perishe with the sword.

53 * Either thinkest thou, that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he will giue me more then twelue legions of Angels?

54 * How then should the * Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre sayde Iesus to the multitude, Yee be come out as it were against a thiefe, with swords and stauies to take mee: I sate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me nor.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled: * Then all the disciples forsooke him, and fled.

57 * ¶ And they tooke Iesus, and led him, to * Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes & the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him as farre off vnto the hie Priests hall, and went in and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 Now the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Councill fought false witness against Iesus to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witness came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witness, 61 And sayde, This man sayde, * I can destroy the Temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayde to him, Answerest thou nothing? * What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I charge thee sweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, if thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no.

64 * Iesus sayd to him, Thou hast sayd it: neuerthelesse I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting * at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, saying, Hee hath blasphemed, What haue wee any more neede of witness? behold, now yee haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke yee? They answered and said, He is guiltie of death.

67 * Then spat they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with rods.

68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

69 ¶ * Peter b late without in the hall and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile:

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when hee went out into the porch, another maide saw him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an othe, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while came vnto him they that stood by, and sayd vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembred the words of Iesus, which had said vnto him, Before the cocke crow thou shalt denie me thrise. So hee went out, and wept bitterly.

76 The chiefe Priests and Elders, and all the whole Councill, sought false witness against Iesus, to put him to death: but they found none, nor could they get any more false witness against him.

77 And they came to the hall of Caiaphas the hie Priest, where they gathered together.

78 And Peter stood without in the porch, and a maide came to him, and sayd, Thou wast with Iesus of Galilee, wast thou not?

79 But he denied, saying, I know not what thou sayest.

suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason peruaded the people that they should aske Barabbas, and should destroy Iesus.

21 Then the gouvernour answered, and said vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose vnto you? And they sayd, Barabbas.

22 Pilate sayd vnto them, What shall I do then with Iesus, which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then sayd the gouvernour, But what euill hath he done? Then they cryed the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 ¶ When Pilate saw that he auailed nothing but that more tumult was made he tooke water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man, looke you to it.

25 Then answered all the people & said, His blood be vs and on our children.

26 Thus let he Barabbas loose vnto them and scourged Iesus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ Then the souldiers of the gouvernour tooke Iesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band.

28 ¶ And they stripped him, and k about him a skarlet robe.

29 And they platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reed in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee, King of the Iewes,

30 And pittied vpon him, and tooke a reede, and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne raiment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 ¶ And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

33 ¶ And when they came to a place called Golgotha, it is to say, the place of dead men, (calsed) 34 ¶ They gaue him vinegar to drinke mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, ¶ They diuided my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lots.

36 And they fate and watched him there.

37 ¶ They let vp also ouer his head his cau-tise written, Tris Is Iesus THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 ¶ And there were two thees crucified w him, one on the right hand & another on the left.

39 ¶ And they that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heads.

40 And saying, ¶ thou that destroyest the Temple, and buidest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: it thou bee the Sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the hie Priestes mocking him, with the Scribes and Elders, and Pharisees, sayd,

42 He saued others, but hee cannot saue himselfe: if he be the king of Israel, let him now come downe from the crosse, & we will beleue in him.

43 ¶ Hee trusted in God, let him deliuer him now, if hee will haue him: for he said, I am the 44 The selfe same thing also the thees which were crucified with him, cast in his teeth.

45 ¶ Now fro the sixth houre was there dark-nesse ouer all the land vnto the ninth houre.

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it sayd, This man calleth Elias, tooke a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke.

15 Christ is buried, not priuily or by stealth, but by the good men's consent by a famous man in a place not farre distant from a new sepulchre, for that it cannot be doubted of his death. ¹ Marke 15. 4. 1. Luke 23. 50. John 19. 38. 1 16 The keeping of the sepulchre is committed to Christs owne murderers, that there might be no doubt of his resurrection.

17 The soldiers of the garrison which were appointed to keepe the tombe, Marie the mother of Iames, and Iosef, and the mother of Zebedee sonnes.

57 ¶ 15 And when the euen was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus discipule.

58 He went to Pilate, & asked the body of Iesus, Then Pilate comanded the body to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body, and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth.

60 And put in his new tombe, which he had hewen out in a rocke, and rolled a great stone to the doore of the sepulchre, and departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, sitting ouer against the sepulchre.

62 ¶ 16 Now the next day that followed the Preparation of the Sabbath, the high Priests and Pharisees assembled to Pilate, 63 And said, Sir, we remember that that deceiver sayd, while he was yet aliue, Within three dayes I will rise.

64 Command therefore that the sepulchre be made sure vntill the third day, lest his Disciples come by night, and steale him away, and say vnto the people, Hee is risen from the dead: so shall the last error be worse then the first.

65 Then Pilate said vnto them, Ye haue a watch: goe, and make it as sure, as ye know.

66 And they went and made the sepulchre sure with the watch and sealed the stone.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The women go to the sepulchre. 2 The Angel, & the women see Christ. 3 He teacheth his Apostles to preach.

Now in the 2^d end of the Sabbath, when the first day of the weeke began to dawne Marie Magdalene and the other Mary, came to see the sepulchre.

2 And behold there was a great earthquake for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sat vpon it.

3 And the countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him, the keepers were astonished, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye see Iesus which was crucified.

6 Hee is not here, for hee is risen, as hee sayd: come, see the place where the Lord was layd.

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that hee is risen from the dead: and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee there ye shall see him: lo, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre with feare and great ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 ¶ 2 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came and tooke him by the feete, and worshipped him.

10 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid. Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galilee, and there shall they see mee.

11 ¶ 3 Now when they were gone, beholde, some of the watch came into the cite, and shewed vnto the hie Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the fouldiers, 13 Saying, Say, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if this matter come before the gouernour to be heard, wee will perswade him, and so will the matter that ye shall not need to care.

15 So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is noised among the Iewes vnto this day.

16 ¶ 4 Then 9 eleuen disciples went into Galilee, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appointed the.

17 And when they saw him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Iesus came, & spake vnto them, saying, All power is giue vnto me, in heauen & in earth.

19 ¶ 5 Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghost.

20 Teaching them to obserue all things, whatsoever I haue commanded you: and lo, I am with you alway vntill the end of the world, Amen.

His beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ the Sonne of God:

2 ¶ As it is written in the Prophets, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 ¶ The voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness, Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 ¶ Iohn did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of amendment of life, for remission of finnes.

5 And all the country of Iudea & they of Ierusalem went out vnto him, & were all baptized of him in the river Iordan, confessing their finnes.

6 ¶ Now Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: and he did eate Locusts and wild hony.

7 ¶ And preached saying, A stronger then I cometh after me, whose shoes I latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe and vnloose.

8 Truth it is, I haue baptized you with water: but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 ¶ 4 And it came to passe in those dayes that Iesus came from Nazareth, a cite of Galilee and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan.

10 And as soon as he was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heuens clouen in twaine, and the holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue.

12 * 6 And immediately the Spirit diueth him into the wilde nesse.

13 And hee was there in the wildernesse fourtie dayes, and was tempted of Satan: he was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 * 7 Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdome of God, 15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the Kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleue the Gospel.

16 * 8 And as he walked by the sea of Galile, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the Sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets and followed him.

19 And when hee had gone a little further thence, hee saw James the sonne of Zebedee, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets, 20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedee in the ship with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 * 9 So they entred into Capernaum: and straightway on the Sabbath day hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonished at his doctrine, for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 * 10 And there was in the Synagogue a man, in whom was an vnclane spirit, & he cried out, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue we to do with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, even that holy One of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vnclane spirit tare him, and cried with a loud voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, for that they demanded of one of another, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for hee commanded them the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 * 11 And alsoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and Iohn.

30 And Simons wifes mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And hee came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, at what time the Sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, & them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole city was gathered together at the doore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and hee cast out many deuils, and 35 And in the morning very early before day, Iesus arose, and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they sayd vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 The he said vnto them, Let vs go into the next towne, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out.

40 * 12 And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeled downe vnto him, and sayde to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make mee cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will be thow cleane.

42 And alsoone as he had spoken immediately the leprosie departed from him, and hee was made cleane.

43 And after he had giuen him a straight commandement, thefeint him away forth with,

44 And sayd vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shew thy selfe to the Priests, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moyses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when hee was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the cite, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

3 and 4 One sicke of the palsey, having his sinnes forgiven him, is healed. 14 Matthew is called. 19 Barings and asseptions are orde. 25 The Disciples plucke the eares of cornes. 26 The scribes bread.

After a few dayes, he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noyced that hee was in the house.

2 And anon many gathered together, in so much, that the b places about the doore could not receive any more: and he preached the word vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palsey, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the sicke, where in the sicke of the palsey lay.

5 Now when Iesus saw their faith, he sayd to the sicke of the palsey, Sonne, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certaine of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? who can forgive sinnes, but God only?

8 And immediately, when Iesus perceived in his spirit, that thus they reasoned with themselves, hee sayd vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palsey, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee? or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 But that ye may know, that the Sonne of man hath authority in earth to forgive sinnes, hee sayd vnto the sicke of the palsey, 11 I say vnto thee, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and get thee hence into thine owne house.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The parable of the sower, 14 And the meaning thereof, 18 Thorne, 21 The canle, 26 Of him that sowed, 28 Then says, 31 The graine of mustard seed, 38 Christ sleepeth in the ship.

And he began againe to teach by the Sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship, and fate in the Sea, and all the people was by the Sea side on the land.

2 And he taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them in his doctrine.

3 ¶ Harken: Behold, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the fowles of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soone as the Sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not root, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yeelde fruite that sprang vp, and grew, and it brought forth, some thirrie fold, some sixtie fold, and some an hundred fold.

9 Then he sayd vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when hee was alone, they that were about him with the twelve, asked him of the parable.

11 And he said vnto them, To you is it giuen to know the mystery of the Kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all things bee done in parables.

12 ¶ That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their finnes should be forgiven them.

13 Again he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should ye vnderstand all other parables?

14 The fower sower the word.

15 And these are they that receive the feede by the wayes side: in whom the word is sowne: but when they haue heard it, Satan cometh immediately, & taketh away the word that was sowne in their heares.

16 And likewise they that receiue the feede in stony ground, are they which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiued it with gladnesse.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time, for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the feede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the deceitfullnesse of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued feede in good ground, are they that heere the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite: one came thirty, an other fixtie, and some an hundred.

21 ¶ Also hee sayd vnto them, ¶ Commeth the canle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlestick?

22 ¶ For there is nothing hid that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 ¶ And he sayd vnto them, Take heed what ye heare, ¶ With what measure ye meate, it shall be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare shall more be giuen.

25 ¶ For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 ¶ Also hee sayd, So is the Kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seed on the ground.

27 And it should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the feede should spring and grow up, he knoweth how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruite of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full cometh the eares.

29 And as soone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 ¶ * Hee sayd moreover, Whereunto shall wee liken the Kingdome of God? with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seed, which when it is sowne in the earth, is the least of all feedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowne, it groweth vp, and is greater of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the fowles of the heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And ¶ with many such parables he preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them: but he expounded all things to his Disciples apart.

35 ¶ * Now the same day when the euen was come, hee sayd vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as hee was in the shippe, and there were also with him other little shipps.

37 ¶ And their arole a great storme of winde, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

AND they came ouer to the other side of the Sea into the countrey of the Gadarens.

2 And when he was come out of the shippe, there met him incontinently out of the graues, a man ^b which had an vncleane spirit:

3 Who had h^e abiding among the graues, and no man could bind him, no nor with chains:

4 Because that when hee was often bound with fetters and chaines, hee plucked the chaines asunder, and brake the fetters in peeces, neither could any man tame him.

5 And alwayes both night and day he cryed in the mountaines, and in the graue, and strooke himselfe with stones.

6 And when he saw Iesus as hee ranne, and worshipped him,

7 And cryed with a loud voyce, and sayde, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the sonne of the most High God? It will that thou sweare to me by God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For hee sayde vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vncleane spirit)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for wee are many.

10 And hee ^d prayed him instantly, that hee would not fend them away out of the countrey.

11 Now there was feeding in the ^e mountaines a great herd of swine feeding.

12 And all the deuils befought him saying, Send vs into the Swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leave. Then the vncleane spirits went out & entred into the swine, and the heard ranne headlong from the high banke into the ^f Sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were choked vp in the Sea.

14 And the Swinherds fled, and told it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the Legion, sit both clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it told them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coasts.

18 And when hee was come into the ship, hee that had bene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shew them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee and how he hath had compassion on thee.

20 So hee departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great thing Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and hee was nere vnto the Sea.

22 ¶ And he beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Tairus, and when he saw him, he fell downe at his feet, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My little daughter lieth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that she may be healed and lue.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him and thronged him.

25 ¶ And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeeres, 26 And had suffered many things of many Physicians, and had spent all that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When shee had heard of Iesus, shee came in the prease behind, and touched his garment.

28 For she said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and shee felt in her body, that wee was healed of that plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, hee turned him round about in the prease, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seeest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for shee knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole truth.

34 And hee sayd to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the Synagogue ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why diseatest thou the Master any further?

36 ¶ Assoone as Iesus heard that word spoken, hee said vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid onely beleene.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him saue Peter and Iames, and Iohn the brother of Iames.

38 So hee came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and said vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the child is not dead, but slepeeth.

40 ¶ And they laugh him to scorne: but hee putte them all out, and tooke the Father, and the mother of the child, and them ^b that were with him, and entred in where the child lay,

41 And tooke the child by the hand and said vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Mayden, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straightway the mayden arose, and walked: for shee was of the age of twelue yeeeres, and they were astonished out of measure.

2 And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, and many that heard him, were afonted, and said, From whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this that is giuen vnto him, that euery such a great works are done by his hands?

5 And hee coud there doe no great works, saue that he laid his hands vpon a few sicke folke, and healed them.

6 And he maruelled at their vnbeliefe, * and went about by the townes on euery side, teaching.

7 ¶ 2 And hee called vnto him the twelue, and began to send them forth two and two, and gaue them power ouer vncleane spirits, 12 ¶ And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their liues.

13 And they cast out many deuils: and they * h anointed many that were sicke, with oyle, and healed them.

14 ¶ 5 Then king Herod heard of him (for his name was made manifest) and said, Iohn Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great * workes are wrought by him.

15 Other said, It is Elias: and some said, It is a Prophet, or as one of those Prophets.

16 * So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn said vnto Herod, * It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife, 19 Therefore Herodias * laid wait against him, and would haue killed him, but he could not:

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him * gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birthday made a banquet to his princes and captains, and chiefe estates of Galilee:

22 And the daughter * of the same Herodias came in, and danced, and pleased Herod, and them that late at table together, the King said vnto the maid, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And hee sware vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdom.

24 * So she went forth, and said to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then she came in straightway with haste vnto the king, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldest giue me euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the king was very sorry: yet for his oaths sake, and for their sakes which late at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediatly the king sent the hangman, and gaue charge that his head should be brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison, 28 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the mayd, and the mayd gaue it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe.

30 ¶ * And the Apollies gathered themselves together to Iesus, and told him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 * And hee said vnto them, Come yee apart into the wilderness, and rest a while: for they were many commers and goers, that they had not leisure to eat.

32 * So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran afoote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34 * Then Iesus went out, and saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepherd: * and he began to teach them many things.

35 * And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desert place, and now the day is farre passed.

CHAP. VII.

Then * gathered vnto him the Phariises, and certaine of the Scribes which came from Hierusalem.

2 And when they saw some of his disciples eate meat with b common hands, (that is to say, vnwashen) they complained.

3 (For the Pharises, and all the Tewes, except they wash their hands oft, eate not, c holding the tradition of the Elders)

4 And when they came from the d market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brassen vessels, and of beds)

5 Then asked him the Pharises and Scribes, Why f walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meat with vnwashen hands?

6 * Then hee answered, and said vnto them, Surely * Esay hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth mee with lips, but their heart is farre away from mee.

7 But they worship mee in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandements of men.

8 4 For yelaw the Commandement of God apart, & obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye doe.

9 5 And he said vnto them, Well, ye reiect the Commandement of God, that yee may obserue your owne tradition.

10 For Moises said, * Honour thy father and thy mother: and, * Whosoever shall speake euill of father or mother, let him die the death.

11 But yee say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by mee, thou mayest haue profit, hee shall be free.

12 So ye vsuffer him no more to doe any thing for his father or his mother,

13 Making the word of God of none autho-ritie by your tradition which yee haue ordeined:
and ye doe many such like things.

14 * Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Hearken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entred into him: but the things which proceed out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when hee came into an houe, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he said vnto them, What are ye with-

IN ^h choſe daies, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eat, Ieſus called his diſciples to him, and ſaid vnto them,

1 I haue compaſſion on the multitude, becauſe they haue now continued with mee three daies, and haue nothing to eat.

2 And if I ſend them away faſting to their owne houſes, they would be faint by the way: for ſome of them came from farre.

3 Then his diſciples answered him, Whence can a man ſatiſſie theſe with bread here in the wildeſſe?

4 And hee asked them, How many loaves haue ye? and they ſaid, Seven.

5 Then hee commanded the multitude to ſit downe on the ground: and hee tooke the ſeven loaves and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his diſciples to ſet before them, and they did ſet them before the people.

6 They had alſo a few ſmall fiſhes: and when he had giuen thanks, he commanded them alſo to beſet before them.

7 So they did as he commanded them, and ſet their bodies.

8 Hee commanded him againe, to ſay, indeed whether hee can doe it or no. 5 Chriſt will not haue his miracles to be ſeparated from his doctrine.

8 So they did eat, and were ſufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meat that was left, ſeven baskets full.

9 (And they that had eaten were about foure thouſand) ſo he ſent them away.

10 ¶ And anon hee entered into a ſhip with his diſciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 ¶ And the Phariſes came forth, and began to diſpute with him, ſeeking of him a ſigne from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then hee ſighed deeply in his ſpirit, and ſaid, Why doth this generation ſeek a ſigne? Verily I ſay vnto you, a ſigne ſhall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 ¶ So hee left them, and went into the ſhip againe, and departed to the other ſide.

14 ¶ And they had forgotten to take bread: neither had they in the ſhippe with them, but one loafe.

15 ¶ And he charged them, ſaying, Take heede and beware of the leauen of the Phariſes, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 ¶ And they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, It is becauſe we haue no bread.

17 And when Ieſus knew it, he ſaid vnto them, Why reaſon you thus, becauſe ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderſtand? haue ye your hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue ye eies, and ſee not? and haue ye eares, and heare not? and do ye not remember?

19 ¶ When I brake the ſeuen loaves among ſixe thouſand, how many baskets full of broken meat tooke ye? vp? They ſaid vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake ſeuen among foure thouſand, how many baskets of the leauings of broken meat tooke ye? vp? And they ſaid, Seven.

21 Then he ſaid vnto them, How can it be that ye vnderſtand not?

22 ¶ And hee came to Bethaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and deſired him to touch him.

23 Then hee tooke the blinde by the hand, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him, If hee ſaw ought.

24 And hee looked vp and ſaid, If ſee men: for I ſee them walking like trees.

25 After that hee put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And hee was reſtored to his ſight, & ſaw euery man a farre off clearly.

26 ¶ And he ſent him home to his houſe, ſaying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 ¶ And Ieſus went out, and his diſciples into the townes of Ceſarea Philippi. And by the way hee asked his diſciples, ſaying vnto them, Whom doe men ſay that I am?

28 And they answered, Some ſay, Iohn Baptiſt: and ſome, Elias: and ſome, one of the prophets.

29 And he ſaid vnto them, But whom ſay ye that I am? Then Peter answered, and ſaid vnto him, Thou art that Chriſt.

30 ¶ And hee ſharply charged them, that concerning him they ſhould tell no man.

31 ¶ And hee ſaid, Some ſay, Iohn Baptiſt: and ſome, Elias: and ſome, one of the prophets.

And hee said vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand heere which shall not taste of death till they haue seene the kingdom of God come with power.

2 * And fise daies after, Iesus taketh vnto him Peter, and James, & Iohn, and carrieth them vp into an high mountaine out of the way alone and his shap was changed before them.

3 And his raiment did shine, and was very white as snow, so white as no fuller can make vp-on the earth.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus.

5 Then Peter answered, and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be heere: let vs make al-three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 Yet hee knew not what hee said: for they were as afraid.

7 And there was a cloud that shadowed them, and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, * This is my beloved Sonne: heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and saw no more any man: Iesus Iesus only with them.

9 * And as they came down from the moun-taine, hee charged them that they should tell no man what they had seene, fawe when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept that matter to themselves, and demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane.

11 * Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes that * Elias must first come?

12 And he answered, and said vnto them, Elias verily shall first come, and restore all things: and
* as it is written of the Sonne of man, hee must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 But I say vnto you that Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoever they would) as it is written of him.

14 * * And when hee came to his disciples, hee saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straight way all the people, when they beheld them, were amazed, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 Then he asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues?

17 And one of the company answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a dumbe spirit:

18 And wherefoere he taketh him, hee * retrench him, and hee foameth, and gnasheth his teeth, and pincheth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, & said, O faithles generation, how long now shall I be with you how long now shall I suffer you? Bring him vnto me.

20 So they brought him vnto him: & alsoone as the spirit saw him, hee tare him, and hee fell downe on the ground wallowing and foaming.

21 Then he asked his Father, How long time is it since it hath bene thus? And he said, O child.

22 And oftimes hee casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst doe any thing, helpe vs and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 And Iesus said vnto him, if thou canst beleeue it, all things are possible to him that beleueeth.

24 And straightway the father of the child crying with teares, said, Lord, I beleeue: help my vnbelief.

25 When Iesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked vnclene spirit, saying vnto him, Thou dumbe and deafe spirit, I charge thee come out of him, & enter no more into him.

26 * Then the spirit cried, and rent him fore, and came out, and he was as one dead, in somuch that many said, He is dead.

17 But Iesus tooke his hand, and lift him vp, and he arose.

28 * And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And he said vnto them, This kind can by no other meane come forth, but by prayer & fasting.

30 * And they departed thence, and i went throughout Galilee and hee would not that any should haue knowne it.

31 * For he taught his disciples, and said vnto them, The sonne of man shall bee delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise againe the third day.

32 But they vnderstood not that saying, and were afraid to aske him.

33 * * After, hee came to Capernaum: and when he was in the * house, he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among you by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselves, who should bee and said to them, If any man desire to be first, he must be last of all, and serue them.

10 And in the houle his Disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And hee sayd vnto them, ¶ Whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another, committeth adulterie ¶ against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband and be married to another, she committeth adulterie.

13 ¶ ¶ Then they brought litle children to him, that he should touch them, and his Disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus saw it, hee was displeased, and sayd vnto them, Suffer the litle children to come vnto me and forbid them not: for of such is the Kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, Whosoever shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a litle child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And hee tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ ¶ And when he was gone out on the way, there came one ¶ running, and kneled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternal life?

18 Iesus said to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good, but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commandments, ¶ Thou shalt not commit adulterie, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not beare false witness, Thou shalt not hurt no man, Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things I haue obserued in my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, and loved him, and sayd vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee ¶ Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, and follow me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But hee was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and sayd vnto his disciples How hardly doe they that haue riches enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words, But Iesus answered againe, and said vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonished, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and sayde, With men it is vnpossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ ¶ Then Peter began to say vnto him, Loe, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

29 Iesus answered and said, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethern, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake, and the Gospels,

20 But he shall receiue an hundred fold, now

f. Euen in the valley of persecuti.

 Matth. 19. 30. Luke 13. 10.*

 Matth. 10. 17. Luke 18. 31.*

6 The disciples are againe prepared to patience, w^{ch} to be overcome by the foretelling to them of his death, which was at hand, and therewith all of life which should most certainly follow.

 Matth. 20. 29.*

7 We must first be here before we triumph.

8 We praye.

at this present, houses, & brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands: with persecutions, and in the world to come, eternall life.

31 * But many that are first shall be last, and the last, first.

32 ¶ And they were in the way going vp to Hierusalem, and Iesus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tooke the twelue againe and began to teache them what things should come vnto him,

33 Saying, Behold, wee goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, 34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, & kill him: but the third day he shall raise againe.

35 ¶ Then Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedee came vnto him, saying, Master, wee would that thou shouldst doe for vs that wee desire.

36 And he sayd vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they sayd vnto him, Grant vnto vs, that we may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus said vnto them, Yee know not what ye aske, Can ye drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they sayd vnto him. We can. But Iesus sayd vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deede of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaine at Iames and Iohn.

42 * But Iesus called them vnto him, and said to them, * Yee know that h they which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shall not be so among you but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ranfome of many.

46 ¶ Then they came to Iericho: and as hee went out of Iericho with his Disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man sat by the way side begging.

47 And when hee heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because he should hold his peace: but he cried much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 Then Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blinde, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloke, and rose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, & said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde sayd vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Goe thy way: thy faith hath saued thee. And by and by he receiued his sight, and followed Iesus in the way.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ marcheth into Hierusalem riding on an asse. 13 The fruites of figge trees cursed. 15 Sellers and buyers are cast out of the Temple. 23 The force of faith. 24 Faith in prayer. 25 The brother of Iesus must be patient. 27 The Priests aske by what authority hee teacheth those things that hee did. 30 Whence Iohn baptismed vs.

And when they came neere to Hierusalem, to Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of Olues, he sent forth two of his disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Goe your wayes into that towne that is ouer against you: and assoone as ye shall enter into it, ye shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe yee this? Say that the Lord hath neede of him, and straightaway he will send him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them that stood there, said vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colt?

6 And they said vnto them, as Iesus had commanded them: So they let him goe.

7 ¶ And they brought the colt to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sate vpon him.

8 And many spread their garments in the way: other cut downe branches of the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cryed, saying, Hosanna: a blessed bee hee that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

10 Blessed bee the kingdom that commeth in the Name of the Lord of our father Dauid: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11 * So Iesus entred into Hierusalem, and into the Temple: and when hee had looked about on all things, and now it was euening, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelue.

12 * And on the morrowe when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry.

13 And seeing a figge tree a farr off, that had leaues, hee went to see if he might finde any thing thereon: but when hee came vnto it, hee found nothing but leaues: for the time of figges was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered, and said to it, Neuer man eate fruit of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15 ¶ And they came to Ierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that folde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the Tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that sold doves.

16 Neither would he suffer that any man should carry a vessel through the Temple.

17 And he taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written * Mine house shall be called the house of prayer vnto all nations? * but you haue made it a denne of theues.

18 And the Scribes and the hie Priests heard it, and sought how to destroy him for they feared him, because the whole multitude was astonished at his doctrine.

19 But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the cite.

35 Watch yee therefore, (for yee knowe not when the master of the houle will come, at euen, or at midnight, or at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning)

CHAP. XIII.

The Priests consecratinge and Christ. 1. The woman pouring oyle on Christs head. 2. The preparing of the Passouer. 3. The institution of the Supper. 4. Christ as moved into the hands of man. 5. Iudas betraeth him with a kisse. 6. Christ before Caiaphas. 66 Petrus denieth.

And ¹ two daies after followed the feast of the Passouer, and of vneleaued bread: and the hie Priests & Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they said, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

3 And when he was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he sat at Table, there came a woman hauing a boxe of oymnt of Spike-nard, very costly, and shee brake the boxe, and powred it on his head.

4 Therefore some disfaigned among themselves, and said, To what end is this waste of oymnt?

5 For it might haue been sold for more then three hundred pence, and benee giuen vnto the poore, and they murmured against her.

6 But Iesus sayd, Let her alone: Why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 For ye haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

8 She hath done that she could: shee came aforehand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verely I say vnto you, where soeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ¶ Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelue, went away vnto the hie Priests, to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would giue him money: therefore he sought how hee might conveniently betray him.

12 ¶ Now the first day of vneleaued bread, when they sacrificed the Passouer, his disciples sayd vnto him, Where wilt thou that wee goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Passouer?

13 Then hee sent forth two of his Disciples, and sayd vnto them, Goe yee into the cite, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And wher soeuer hee goeth in, say yee to the Goodman of the house, The Master sayeth, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Passouer with my Disciples?

15 And he will shew you an vpper chamber which is large trimmed and prepared: there make it ready for vs.

16 So his Disciples went forth, and came to the cite, and found as he had said vnto them, and made ready the Passouer.

17 ¶ And at euen he came with the twelue,

18 ¶ And as they sate at table and did eate, Iesus sayd, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me.

19 Then they began to bee sorowfull and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and sayd vnto them, It is one of the twelue that dippeh with mee in the platter.

21 Truly the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if hee had neuer bene borne.

22 And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, hee brake it and gaue to them, and sayd, Take, eat, this is my body.

23 Also hee tooke the cup, and when hee had giuen thanks, gaue it to them, and they all dranke of it.

24 And he said vnto them, This is my blood of the new Testament which is shed for many:

25 Verely I say vnto you, I will drinke no more of the fruit of the vine vntil that day, that I drinke it new in the Kingdom of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalm, they went out of the mount of Oliues.

27 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto them, All yee shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I will smite the Shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will goe into Galilee before you.

29 ¶ And Peter said vnto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, even in this night before the cocke croweth, thou shalt deny me thrise.

31 But hee said more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also said they all.

32 ¶ After, they came into a place named Gethsemane. then he said to his Disciples, Sit yee here, till I haue prayed.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and James, and Iohn, and hee began to bee troubled, and in great heauinesse, 34 And said vnto them, My soule is very heauie, men vnto the death: tarry here and watch.

35 So he went forward a litle, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

The Greek word signifies that the Passouer was the same as the Pascha, which is the name of the feast. The Passouer was the same as the Pascha, which is the name of the feast. The Passouer was the same as the Pascha, which is the name of the feast.

his doubling of the word was used in hope, when some languages were so much together: for this word, Abba, is a Syrian word, as an horrible example of the flag: glittne of sin, euen in the disciples when Christ hath choise.

36 And he sayd, Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me: I neuertheleffe, nor that I will but that thou wilt be done.
37 11 Then he came and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldst not thou watch one hour?
38 ¶ Watch yee, and pray, that yee enter not into temptation: the spirit indeede is ready, but the flesh is weake.
39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

Math 26. 47. Luke 22. 47. Iohn 18. 3.

40 And hee returned and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heavy: neither knew they what they should answer him.

41 And he came the third time, and sayd vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is ynowgh: the houre is come. behold, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

43 12 And immediately while hee yet spake, came Judas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with swords & staves from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.

44 And he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kille, he it is: take him and leade him away I saie y.

45 And assoone as hee was come, hee went straightway to him, and said, Haile Master, and kised him.

46 Then they layd their hands on him, and tooke him.

47 And one of them that stood by, drewe out a sword, and smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and cutt off his eare.

48 And Iesus answered and said to them, Yee be come out as against a thiefe, with swords and with staves, to take me.

49 I was daily with you, teaching in the Temple, and yee tooke me not: but thus is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they I all forooke him, and fled.

51 13 And there followed him a certaine yong man, clothed in a linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 14 So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came together all the hie Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him a farre off, euen into the hall of the hie Priest, and sat with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.

55 14 And the 14 hie Priests, and all the Councill sought for witnesse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witnesse against him, but their witnesse agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnesse against him, saying, 58 Wee heard him say, 15 I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three daies I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witnesse yet agreed not together.

60 Then the hie Priest stood vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare witness against thee?

61 But hee held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the hie Priest asked him and saide vnto him, Art thou that Christ the Sonne of the blessed?

62 And Iesus sayd, I am he: and yee shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heauen.

63 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, and sayd, What haue we any more neede of witnesses?

64 Ye haue heard the blaphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to bee worthy of death.

65 15 And some began to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beate him with fists, and to say vnto him, Prophecie. And the lergeants smote him with their rods.

66 16 And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the hie Priest.

67 And when the saw Peter warming himselfe, she looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But hee denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 17 When P a maide saw him againe, & began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them, 70 But hee denied it againe. and anon after, they that stood by, said againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 18 Then the second time the cocke crew, and Peter remembered the worde that Iesus had said vnto him, before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie me thrise, and weighing that with himselfe, he wept.

5 But Iesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate maruelled,

6 Now at the feast, Pilate did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomsoeuer they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his felowes that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

14 Mat 27. 17. 15 Luke 22. 66. 16 Mat 18. 19.

17 Christ being bound before the iudgement seat of an earthly iudge, in open assembly is condemned as guilty vnto the death of 18 crosse, not for his own finnes as appeareth by the iudges owne wordes: but for all ours, that we most guiltie creatures being deliuered from the guiltinesse of our finnes might be quitted before the iudgement seat of God, euen in the open assembly of the Angels.

19 It was not lawfull for them to put any man to death, for all causes of life and death were taken away from them. 20 First by Herodes the great, and afterward by the Romanes, whose iurisdictione was the chief of the Temple, and therefore they deliuered Iesus to Pilate. 21 Mat 27. 17. 22 Luke 23. Iohn 18. 35. 23 Pilate voyed to deliuer.

1 Christ going about to take away the sinne of men, who went about to vniuers the throne of God himselfe is condemned as one that hunted after the kingdomes, and mocked with a false hope of a kingdomes, that we on the other side, who shall indeed be eternal kings might receive the crowne of glory at Gods own hand.

2 Math. 27. 32. Luke 23. 26.

3 The ragged the wicked hath no measure, but in the meane season, even the weaknesse of Christ being in paine vnder the heauie burden of the crosse, doth manifestly shew that a lumbe is led to be sacrificed.

4 Math. 27. 32. Luke 23. 33. John 19. 17.

5 Christ is led out of the walls of the earthly Ierusalem into a dead place of foule men carcases, as a man most vncleane, not touching himselfe, but touching our sinnes, which way layd vpon him, to the end that wee being made cleane by his blood, might be brought into the heavenly Sanctuary.

6 Luke 23. 34.

7 Christ hangeth naked vpon the crosse, and as the wickedest cattile that euer was, multiviously repented that wee being clothed with his righteousness and blessed with his curses, and sanctified by his onely oblation, may be taken vp into heauen.

8 Elai. 53. 12. John 8. 19.

9 How angry God was against our sinne, which he punished to our future chastisement, it appeareth by this horrible darknesse.

10 By this word, lud bemeus h. Pal. flum; (o that the fragrance of the wonder is so much, he more is forth in that) as at the feast of the Passouer, and in the full moon, when the sunne shined ouer all the face of the world, as a milky way, that coverd the world, whereas so wicked an all was committed, yet our couered with most grosse darknesse.

desire that he would as hee had euer done vnto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, & said, Will ye that I let loose vnto you the king of the Iewes? 10 For he knew that the high Priestes had deliuered him of enemie.

11 But the high Priestes had moued the people to desire that hee would rather deliuer Barababab vnto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and said againe vnto them, What will ye then that I doe with him whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cryed againe, Crucifie him. 14 Then Pilate said vnto them, But what euill hath he done? And they cried the more feruently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barababab and deliuered Iesus when he had scourged him, that he might bee crucified.

16 Then the souldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band, 17 And clad him with purple, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head, 18 And began to salute him, saying, Haile, King of the Iewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a reede, and spat vpon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reuerence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, & put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.

21 And they 3 compelled one that passed by called Simon o. Cyrene (which came out of the country, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens Cullies.

23 And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with mirre: but he receiued it not.

24 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what euer man should haue.

25 And it was the third houre when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was written above, THAT KING OF THE IEWES.

27 They crucified also with him two theues the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, And he was counted among the wicked. 29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Hee thou that destroyest the Temple, & buildest it in three dayes, 30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse. 31 Likewise also euen the hie Priests mocking sayd among themselves with the Scribes, Hee saued other men himselfe he cannot saue.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel now come downe from the crosse, that we may see, and beleene: They also that were crucified with him, reulied him.

33 Now when the sixth houre was come, & darknesse arose ouer all the land vntill the ninth houre.

34 And at the 7 ninth houre Iesus cried with a loud voyce, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is by interpretation, My God my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, sayd, Behold he calleth Elias.

36 And one ranne, and filled a sponge full of vineger, and put on a reede, and gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs se if Elias will come and take him downe.

37 And Iesus cryed with a lowde voyce, and gaue vp the ghost.

38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome.

39 Now when the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, saw that he thus crying gaue vp the ghost, hee sayd, Truly this man was the Sonne of God.

40 There were also women which behelde asafre off, among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary (the mother of Iames the lesse, and of Iosias Salome).

41 Which also when he was in Galile, followed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Hierusalem.

42 And now when the night was come (because it was the day of the preparation that is before the Sabbath.)

43 Joseph of Arimathea, an honorable counsellour, which also looked for the kingdom of God, came, and went in boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus.

44 And Pilate marueiled, if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him wheether he had bene any while dead?

45 And when he knew the truth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Joseph:

46 Who bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, & wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and layd him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the sepulchre.

And now when the Sabbath day was past, Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of Iames and Salome, bought sweete ointments, that they might come and anoint him.

2 Therefore earlie in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came vnto the sepulchre, when the Sunne was now risen.

3 And they said one to another, Who shall roll vs away the stone from the doore of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one.)

5 So they went into the sepulchre, and saw a young man sitting at the right side clothed in a long white robe: & they were sore troubled.

6 But he said vnto them, Be not so troubled: yee seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen, he is not here: behold the place where they put him.

7 Christ striking mightily with Satan with sinne and with death, all three armed with the terrible curse of God grievously tormented his body hanging vpon the crosse, as a lumbe plunged in the depth of hell yet he hideth himselfe, crying with a mighty voyce: and notwithstanding the wound which he receiued of death in this life, yet he shall be both living againe, & things beneath, by renting of the vaile of the Temple, and by the testimonies wrong out of them which murdered him, hee sheweth evidently vnto the rest of his enemies which are yet obstinate and mocke at him, that he shall be known out of them, and to be conqueror and Lord of all.

Orasmuch as many haue taken in hand to set forth the story of those things wherof we are fully perwaded,

2 As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning saw them their felues, and were ministers of the word,

3 It seemed good also to mee (*most noble Theophilus) as soone as I had searched out perfectly all things, from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point,

4 That thou mightest acknowledge the cer-taintie of those things wherof thou hast bin instructed.

5 IN the time of Herod king of Iudea, there was a certain Priest named Zacharias, of the * house of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabet.

 the Lord, without reproofe.

7 And they had no childe, because that Eli-

8 And it came to passe, as hee executed the Priests office before God, as his course came in order,

9 * According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, * while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, hee was troubled and feare fell vpon him.

13 But the Angel said vnto him, Feare not Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elizabeth shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.

14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnesse, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

17 ¶ For he shall goe before him * in the spirit and power of Elias, to turne the hearts of the fathers to the children, & the disobedient to the wisdom of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

by shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel * that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, & to shew thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumbe, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things bee done, because thou belieuest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in thee for thy unbelief.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that he tarried so long in the Temple.

22 And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumbe.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes his wife Elisabet conceived, and hid her selfe sixe moneths, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the dayes wherein he looked on me, to take from mee my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ And in the first moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a city of Galile, named Nazareth, 27 * To a Virgine affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the house of Dauid, and the Virgins name was Mary.

28 And when shee was in vnto her, and sayd, Haile thou that art freely beloved: the Lord is with thee: a blessed art thou among women.

29 And when shee saw him, shee was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said vnto her, Feare not, Mary: for thou hast found fauour with God.

31 For loe, thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a Sonne, * and shalt call his Name Iesus.

32 He shall be great, and shall bee called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 * And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none ende.

34 Then said Mary vnto the Angel, * How shall this be, seeing I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadowe thee: therefore also that is holy thing, which shall bee borne of thee, shall be called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold thy cousin Elisabet, she hath also conceived a sonne in her olde age: and this is the sixth moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing bee vnpossible.

38 Then Mary said, Beheld the seruant of the Lord: be it vnto mee according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ And Marie arose in those days, and went into the hill country with haste to a citie of Iuda, 40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elisabet heard the salutation of Mary, the babe sprang in her belly, and Elisabet was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to mee, that the Mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, as soon as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioy.

45 And blessed is thee that belieuest: for the things shall be performed, which were tolde thee from the Lord.

46 ¶ Then Mary said, My Soule magnifieth the Lord,

47 And my spirit reioyceth in God my Saviour.

48 For hee hath looked on the poore degree of his seruant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed,

49 Because hee hath in mighty hath done for me great things, and holy is my Name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them that feare him.

51 * He hath shewed strength with his arme: * he hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 * Hee hath put downe the mighty from their seats, and exalted them of low degree.

53 * Hee hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich empty.

54 * He hath vpholden Iudal his seruant, to be minist' of his mercy, 56 ¶ And Marie abode with her about three moneths: after, she returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ Now Elisabets time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, and she brought forth a Sonne.

58 And her neighbours and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they were reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that vpon the eighth day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and said, Not so, but he shall be called Iohn.

61 And they sayd vnto her, There is none of thy kindred that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So he asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marvelled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediatly, and his tongue, & he spake and praised God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dwelt nere vnto them, & all these words were noied abroad throughout all the hill country of Iuda.

And a it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a decree from Augustus Cesar, that all the a world should be b taxed.

2 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed, euery man to his owne cite.

4 And Ioseph also went vp from Galile out of a cite called Nazareth, into Iudea, vnto the city of a David, which is called Bethlem (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)

5 To be taxed with Mary that was giuen him to wife which was with child.

6 And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that she should be delivered,

7 And shee brought forth her first begotten sonne, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and layd him in a cratch, because there was no roome for him in the Inne.

8 a And there were in the same country Shepheards, a abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord a came vpon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid.

10 Then the Angel layd vnto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people, 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the cite of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this a shall be a signe vnto you, Ye shall finde the babe swaddled, and laid in a cratch.

13 And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of heavenly souldiers, praising God, and saying, 15 Glory be to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men good will.

15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepheards layd one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, & see this thing that is come to passe, which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.

16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Ioseph, and the babe laid in the cratch.

17 And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing that was tolde them of that child.

18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were tolde them of the Shepheards.

19 But Mary kept all these sayings, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the Shepheards returned, glorifying and praising God, for all that they had heard and seene, as it was spoken vnto them.

21 a And when the eight dayes were accomplished, that they should circumcise the child, his name was then called a Iesus, which was named a the Angel, before he was conceived in the wombe.

22 a And when the dayes of b her purification, after the Law of Moses, were accomplished, they brought him to Hierusalem, to present him to the Lord,

23 (As it is written in the Law of the Lord, a Euery man childe that b first openeth the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lord)

24 And to giue an oblation, a as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a paire of turtle doves, or two young pigeons, 25 a And behold, there was a man in Hierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the holy Ghost was vpon him.

26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghost, that hee should not see death, before he had seene that Anointed of the Lord.

27 And he came by the motion of the spirit into the Temple, and when the b parents brought in the babe Iesus, to doe for him after the custome of the Law,

28 Then he tooke him in his armes, and prayed God, and sayd, 29 Lord, now I letteth thou thy seruant depart in peace, according to thy a word.

30 For a mine eyes haue seene thy a saluation,

48 So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother said vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? behold, thy Father and I haue sought thee with very heauy hearts.

nour of Iudea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iudæa, and of the countrie of Trachonitis, and Lyfaniat the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 (* When * Annas and Caiaphas were the hie Priests) the word of God came vnto Iohn, the sonne of Zacharias in the wildernesse.

3 * And he came into all the coasts about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of finnes.

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Prophet, which saith, * The voice of him that cryeth in the wildernesse, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled, and every mountaine and hill shall be brought low, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough waies shall be made smooth.

6 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

7 Then said hee to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, * O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruits worthy amendment of life, & begin not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our Father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

9 Now also is the axe laid vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, shall be hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then?

11 And he answered, and said vnto them, * He that hath two coats, let him part with him that hath none: And hee that hath meate, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there Publicanes also to be baptized, and said vnto him, Master, what shall we doe?

13 And he said vnto them, Require no more than that which is appointed vnto you.

14 The soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he said vnto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your wages.

15 ¶ As the people waited, and all men mused in their hearts of Iohn, if hee were not that Christ,

16 Iohn answered, and said to them all, * I indeed baptize you with water, but one stronger then I, cometh, whose shoes I am not worthy to vnloose: he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

17 * Whose fanne is in his hand, and hee will make cleane his floore, and will gather the wheat into his garner, but the chaffe will hee burne vp with fire that neuer shall be quenched.

18 Thus then exhorting with many other things he preached vnto the people.

19 ¶ But when Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked of him, for Herodias his brother Philipps wife, and for all the euils which Herod had done, 20 He added yet this about all, that he shut vp Iohn in prison.

21 ¶ Now it came to passe, as all the people were baptized, and that Iesus was baptized and did pray, that the heauen was opened:

CHAP. IIIII.

1 Of Christ's temptation, and saying. 16 He teacheth in Nazareth the great admiration of all. 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his owne country is contemned. 33 One possessed of the deuil is cured. 38 Peters mother in law healed, 40 and diuers sick persons are restored to health. 41 The deuil acknowledgeth Christ.

And Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was led by that Spirit into the wilderness,

2 ¶ And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuil, and in those daies he did eate nothing, but when they were ended, hee afterward was hungry.

3 ¶ Then the deuil said vnto him, If thou be the sonne of God, command this stone, that it be made bread.

4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, * That man shall not liue by bread only, but by euery word of God.

5 Then the deuil tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the deuil said vnto him, All this power will I giue thee, and the glorie of those kingdomes: for that is ^b deliuered to mee: and to whomsoever I will, I giue it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shall be all thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and said, Hence from mee Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone shalt thou serue.

9 Then hee brought him to Hierusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and laid vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, * That hee will giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee: all 11 And with their hands they shall lift thee vp, leaſt at any time thou shouldest dash thy foot against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, It is said, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the deuil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a little season.

14 ¶ And Iesus returned by the power of the spirit into Galilee: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.

15 For hee taught in their Synagogues, and was honored of all men.

16 ¶ And he came to Nazareth where hee had bene brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood vp to reade.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when hee had opened the booke, he found the place where it was written,

18 ¶ The Spirit of the Lord is vpon me, because hee hath anointed mee, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: hee hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, & recovering of sight to the blinde: that I should set at liberty them that are bound:

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And hee closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and sat downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him, 21 Then he began to say vnto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 ¶ And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then he said vnto them, Ye will surely say vnto mee this prouerbe, Phisition heale thy selfe: whatsoeuer we haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it herelike in thine owne country.

24 And he said, verily I say vnto you, * No Prophet is accepted in his owne country.

25 But I tell you of a truth, many widowes were in Israel in the daies of * Elias, when heauen was shut three yeeres and sixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the land:

26 But vnto none of them was Elias sent saue vnto Sarepta, a citie of Sidon, vnto a certaine widow.

27 Also many lepers were in Israel, in the daies a By this word power, are the kingdomes meant, which Iesus sheweth, and is vpon him by the figure Micah. b That is here, for hee is Prince of the world, yet use as almightie, and as the soveraigne over it, last by suffrance, and say of intrinsie, and therefore to which none can resist, when hee can give it to whom hee will. c One of an high place, which had a goodly chancery, and a country round about it, hee sheweth the situation of all countries. d Their bookes in those daies were rolled up as scrolls upon a roller: and so briefe unrolled, & unfolded it, which is here called a scroll. e Familiaritie causeth Christ to be contemned, and there are oftentimes goeth to strangers. f Appointed those things, which hee spake with common consent and voyce, for this word, witness, signifie the same place, and many other to allow and approve a thing with open confession. f Not only the doctors, but also the common people were present at this conference of the Scripture: and besides that, their mother tongue was used, for his word could the people haue vnderstood. Paul appeared the same order in the Church at Corinth, 1 Cor. 14. g Words full of the mightie power of God which appeared in all his doings, as well as in all his words, as well as in all his doings.

30 But hee passed through the mids of them, and went his way.

31 * And came downe into Capernaum a citie of Galile, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 * And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 * And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an vnclane deuill, which cried with a loud voyce, 34 * Saying, Oh, what haue wee to doe with thee, thou Iesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, then the Holy one of God.

35 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, & come out of him. Then the deuill throwing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.

36 So feare came on them all, and they spake among themselues, saying, What thing is this? for with authoritie and power hee commandeth the foule spirits, and they come out.

37 And the fame of him spread abroad thorowout all the places of the countrey round about.

38 * And he rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entered into Simons house. And Simons wifes mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her.

39 Then he stood ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her, and immediately shee arose, and ministered vnto them.

40 Now at the Sunne setting, all they that had sicke folkes of diuers diseases, brought them vnto him, and he layd his hands on euery one of them, and healed them.

41 * And deuils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Sonne of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be that Christ.

42 * And when it was day, hee departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.

43 But hee said vnto them, Surely I must also preach the Kingdome of God to other citie: for therefore am I sent.

44 And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ teacheth one of the ship. 6 Of the draught of fish. 12 The leper. 16 Christ prayeth in the desert. 28 One like of the paffe. 37 Lewi the Publican. 38 The fallings and assaults of the Apostles as Christ ascended. 39 37. 38. Faith bearded and weak disciples are likened to old bottles and worse garments.

Then * it came to passe, as the people a pressed vpon him to heare the word of God, that he stood by the lake of Genesaret,

2 And saw two ships laded by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and hee sat down and taught the people out of the ship.

4 * Now when he had left speaking, he said vnto Simon, Launch out into the deepe, and let downe your nets to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said vnto him, Master, wee haue trauielled all night, and haue taken nothing: neuerthelesse at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckened to their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sinke.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fel down at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, goe from me: for I am a sinful man.

9 For hee was utterly astonished, and all that were with him, (for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedee, which were companions with Simon. Then said Iesus vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ship to land, they forooke all, and followed him.

12 * Now it came to passe, as hee was in a certaine citie, behold, there was a man full of leprosie, and when he saw Iesus, hee fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediately the leprosie departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that he should tell it to no man: but, go, faith he, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing, as * Moyses hath commanded, for a witness vnto them.

15 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to be healed of him, of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himselfe: part in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 * And it came to passe on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharisees and doctors of the Law sat by, which were come out of euery towne of Galile, and Iudea, and Hierusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him, to heale them.

18 * Then behold, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palfie, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, because of the people, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tiling, bed and all, in the middes before Iesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said vnto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sinnes, but God only?

22 But when Iesus perceived their reasoning, he answered, and said vnto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise vp and walke?

11 Christ by healing the leper with his only touch, and sending him to the Priest, witnesseth that it is free through whom & by whom appokened by faith all we which are vnclane according to the Law, by the witness of Gods himselfe are pronounced to be cleane.

15 Christ by healing him that was taken with a palfie, witnesseth the cure of all sinnes and cleanness.

16 Christ by healing him that was taken with a palfie, witnesseth the cure of all sinnes and cleanness.

24 But that yee may know that the Sonne of man hath authority to forgive sinnes in earth, (he said vnto the sicke of the palfie) I say to thee, Arise: take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

25 And immediately he rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his owne house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse wee haue seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ * 5 And after that he went forth and saw a Publicane named Leui, sitting at the receipt of custome, and aid vnto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose vp, and followed him.

29 Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great company of Publicanes, &c of other that sat at the table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharises among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate ye and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, They that are whole, need not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

32 * I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ * 6 Then they said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, and the disciples of the Pharises also, but thine eate and drinke?

34 And he said vnto them, Can yee make the children of the wedding chamber to fast as long as the bridegrom is with them?

35 But the dayes will come, euen when the bridegrome shalbe taken away from them: then shall they fast in those dayes.

36 Again he saide vnto them also a parable, No man putteth a piece of a new garment into an old vesture: for then the new renteth it, and the piece taken out of the new, agreeth not with the old.

37 Also no man powreth new wine into olde vessels: for then the new wine will breake the vessels, and it will run out, and the vessels will perish.

38 But new wine must bee powred into new vessels: so both are preferred.

39 Also no man that drinketh olde wine, straightwaie desireth new: for he faith, The old is more profitable.

¶ And * 1 it came to passe on a second solemne Sabbath, that he went through the corne fields, and his disciples * plucked the eares of corne, and did eate, and rub them in their hands.

2 And certain of the Pharises said vnto them, Why doe yee that which is not lawfull to doe on the Sabbath dayes?

3 Then Iesus answered them, and said, * Haue ye not read this, that Dauid did when he him selfe was an hungred, and they which were with him,

4 How he went into the house of God, and tooke, and ate the shewbread, and gaue also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the * Priests only?

5 And he said vnto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 ¶ * 2 It came to passe also on another Sabbath day, that he entred into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp.

7 And the Scribes and Pharises watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might find an accusation against him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand vp in the middes. And he arose, and stood vp.

9 Then said Iesus vnto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or to doe euill? to saue life, or to destroy?

10 And he beheld them all in compasse, and said vnto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madnesse, and communed one with another, what they might doe to Iesus.

12 ¶ 3 And it came to passe in those dayes, that he went into a mountaine to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, * hee called his disciples, and of them he chose twelue, which also hee called Apostles:

14 (Simon whom hee named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, Iames and Iohn, Philip and Barthelew, 15 Matthew and Thomas: Iames the sonne of Alphesus, and Simon called Zealous, 16 Iudas Iames brother, and Iudas Iscariot, which also was the traitour)

17 Then he came downe with them and stood in a plaine place with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea, and Hierusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶ * 4 And hee lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdome of God.

21 * Blessed are yee that hunger now: for yee shall be satisfied: * blessed are ye that weepe now: for ye shall laugh.

22 * Blessed are yee when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euill for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce ye in that day, and be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets.

24 * But woe be to you that are rich: for yee haue receiued your consolation.

25 * Woe be to you that are full: for yee shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for yee shall waile and weepe.

26 Woe be to you when all men speake well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the Centurions seruant. 2 The Centurions faith. 11 The multitude of people raised from death. 12 Nain. 13 Iohns seruant disciples in Beth. 33 His peculiar kind of healing. 37 The sinful mans seruant is his selfe.

When * hee had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entred into Capernaum.

And a certaine Centurions seruant was sick and ready to die, which was deare vnto him.

3 And when he heard of Iesus, hee sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that he would come, and heale his seruant.

4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that hee was worthy that hee should doe this for him:

5 For he loueth, said they, our nation, and hee hath built vs a Synagogue.

6 Then Iesus went with them: but when hee was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying vnto him, Lord trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldst enter vnder my roofo:

7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthy to come vnto thee: but lay the word, and my seruant shall be whole.

8 For I likewise am a man set vnder authority and haue vnder me souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

9 When Iesus heard these things, hee marvelled at him, and turned him, and said to the people that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, no not in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.

11 ¶ And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a citie called Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12 Now when hee came neere to the gate of the citie, behold there was a dead man carried out, who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the citie was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her hee had compassion on her, and said vnto her, Weepe not.

14 And hee went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stood still) and he said, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise.

15 And he that was dead sat vp, and began to speake, and hee deliuered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God saying, A great Prophet is risen among vs, and God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumour of him went forth thro-

 1 Christ accompanied the Iewes,
 by iuring before them the example of the Centurion, that for their obedience and reuellion he will goe to the Gentiles.

2 Christ accompanied openly his power ouer death, in Nain as the name of a town in Galilee, which was the place of a certaine seruant of Nain, which Iohns minister was of Galilee.

throughout all Iudea, and throughout all the region round about.

18 And the Disciples of Iohn hewed him of all new things.

19 So Iohn called vnto him two certaine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall wee wait for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they said, Iohn Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee saying, Art thou hee that should come, or shall wee wait for another?

21 And at that time, he cured many of their tickles, and plagues, and of euill spirits, and vnto many blinde men he gaue sight freely.

22 And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Goe your wayes and shew Iohn, what things ye haue seen and heard: that the blinde see, the halt goe, the lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead are raised, and the poore receiue the Gospell.

23 And blessed is he, that shall not be offended in me.

24 And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, he began to speake vnto the people of Iohn, what went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reede shaken with the winde?

25 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in richement? beholde, they which are gorgeously apppareled, and lue delicately, are in Kings courts.

26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet.

27 This is he of whom it is written, Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless he that is the least in the Kingdome of God, is greater then he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes⁴ iustified God, being baptized with the baptisme of Iohn.

30 But the Pharisees and the expounders of the Law despised the counsell of God against themselves, and were not baptized of him.

31 And the Lord said, Whereunto shall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like vnto?

32 They are like to little children sitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and saying, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not danced: we haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wept.

33 For Iohn Baptist came neither eating bread, nor drinking wine, and ye say, He hath the diuell.

34 The Sonne of man is come, and eateth, and drinketh: and ye say, Behold, a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and sinners.

35 But wisdom is iustified of all her children.

36 And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him: and he went into the Pharisees house, and sat downe at table.

37 And behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Iesus sat at table in the Pharisees house, he brought a boxe of ointment.

38 And shee stood at his feet, behinde him, weeping, and began to wash his feet with teares and did wipe them with the haire of her head, and kist his feet, and annointed them with the ointment.

39 Now when the Pharise which bad him, saw this, he spake within himselfe saying, If this man were a Prophet, hee would surely haue knowne who, and what manner of woman this is which toucheth him: for she is a sinner.

40 And Iesus answered and saide vnto him Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he said, Master, say on.

41 There was a certaine lender which had two debtors: the one ought five hundred pence, and the other fifty:

42 when they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both: which of them therefore, tell me, will loue him most?

43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgave most. And he said vnto him, Thou hast truly iudged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest mee no water to my feet: but shee hath washed my feet with teares, and wiped them with the haire of her head.

45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but shee since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feet.

46 Mine head with oile thou didst not anoint: but she hath annointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I say vnto thee, many finnes are forgiven her: for shee loued much, To whom a little is forgiven, he doth loue a little.

48 And he said vnto her, Thy finnes are forgiven thee.

49 And they that sat at table with him, began to say within themselves, Who is this that euen forgiveth finnes?

50 And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath saved thee: goe in peace.

vpe, and bare fruit, an hundred fold. And as hee said these things, he cried, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

9 Then his disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And he said, Vnto you it is given to know the secrets of the kingdom of God, but to others in parables, that when they see, they should not see, and when they heare, they should not understand.

11 * The parable is this, The seed is the word of God:

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that heare: after ward commeth the deuil, and taketh away the words out of their hearts, lest they should believe, and be saved.

13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they haue heard, receiue the worde with ioy: but they haue no rootes: which for a while beleeue, but in the time of temptation goe away.

14 And that which fell among thornes, are they which haue heard, & after their departure are choked with cares and with riches, & voluptuous liuing, & bring forth no fruit.

15 But that which fell on good ground, are they which with an honest & good heart heare the worde, & keepe it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 ¶ * 2 No man when he hath lighted a candle, couereth it vnder a vessell, neither putteth it vnder the bed, but setteth it on a candlestick, that they that enter in may see the light.

17 * For nothing is secret, that shall not beee evident, neither any thing hid, that shall not beee known, and come to light.

18 3 Take heed therefore how ye heare: for * whosoever hath to him shall be given: & whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken, even that which he seemeth that he hath.

19 ¶ * 4 Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come nere to him for the presse.

20 And it was told him by certaine which sayd, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But hee answered and sayd vnto them, My mother and my brethren are these which heare the word of God, and doe it.

22 ¶ * 5 And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and hee said vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake, and they lancht forth.

23 And as they sailed, hee fell a sleepe, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and they were filled with water, and were in jeopardy.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then hee said vnto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, & wondered among themselves, saying: Who is this that commandeth both the winds and water, and they obey him.

26 ¶ * So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galilee.

27 ¶ And as hee went out to lande, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and hee wore no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues.

28 And when he saw Iesus, he cried out, and fell downe before him, and with a lowde voice, sayd, What haue I to do with thee, Iesus the sonne of God, the most High? I beseech thee, torment me not.

29 For hee commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times hee had caught him: therefore he was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bands, and was caried of the deuil into wildeernes.)

30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and hee said, Legion, because many deuils were entered into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to goe out into the deepe.

32 And there was there by an herd of many swine feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that hee would suffer them to enter into them. So hee suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd was carried with violence from a slope downe place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the herdsmen saw what was done, they fled: & when they were departed, they told it in the citie and in the country.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, sitting at the feet of Iesus, clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what meanes he that was possessed with the deuil, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the country about the Gadarenes, besought him that hee would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and hee went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man out of whom the deuils were departed, besought him that hee might bee with him: but Iesus let him away saying:

39 Returne into thine owne house, and shew what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached throughout all the citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe, when Iesus was come againe that the people receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ * 7 And beholde, there came a man named Iairus, and hee was the Ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feet, and besought him that hee would come into his house.

42 For hee had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and she lay dying (and as he went the people thronged him).

43 And a woman hauing an issue of blood, twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon Physicians, and could not be healed of any:

45 Then Iesus said, Who is it that hath touch'd me? When every man denied, Peter said, and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and layd thou, Who hath touch'd me?

46 And Iesus said, Some one hath touch'd me: for I perceive that virtue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and fell down before him, and told him before all the people, for what cause she had touch'd him, and how he was healed immediately.

48 And he sayd vnto her, Daughter, bee of good comfort: thy faith hath saved thee: go in peace.)

49 While hee sayd these, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead, discomfite not the Master.

50 When Iesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Feare not: beleeue onely, and shee shall be saved.

51 And when hee went into the house, hee suffered no man to goe in with him, save Peter, and James and Iohn, and the father and mother of the maide.

52 And all wept and sorrowed for her: but he said, Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepech.

53 And they laugh't him to scorne, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maid, arise.

55 And her spirit came againe, and shee arose straightway: and he commanded to giue her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonied: but hee commanded them that they should tell no man what hee had done.

cause that it was said of some, that Iohn a wise-sen againe from the dead:
8 And of some, that Elias had appeared: and of some, that one of the old Prophets was risen againe.
9 Then Herod sayd, Iohn haue I beheaded: who then is this of whom I heare such things? and he desired to see him.
10 ¶ 3 And when the Apostles returned, they told him what great things they had done.
* Then hee tooke them to him, and went aside into a solitary place, nere to the City called Bethsaida.
11 But when the people knew it, they followed: and heerecruied them, and spake vnto them of the kingdome of God, and healed them that had need to be healed.
12 * And when the day began to waere away, the twelue came, and said vnto him, Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meate: for we are heere in a desert place.
13 But he sayd vnto them, Giue yee them to eate. And they sayd, We haue no more but five loaves and two fishes, except we should goe and buy meate for all these people.
14 For they were about five thousand men.
Then hee sayd to his disciples, Canne they sit downe by fifties in a company.
15 And they did so, and caused all to sit downe.
16 Then hee tooke the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, & blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to sit before the people.
17 So they did all eate, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate.
18 ¶ 4 And it came to passe, as hee was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?
19 They answered, and said, Iohn Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen againe.
20 And he said vnto them, But whom say yee that I am? Peter answered, and said, That Christ of God.
21 And he warned and commanded them that they should tell that to no man, 22 5 Saying, * The Sonne of man must suffer many things, and be reprocued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and bee slaine, and the third day rise againe.

24 * For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it.
25 * For what aduantageeth it a man, if hee win the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?
26 * For whosoever shall be ashamed of mee, and of my words, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when hee shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

28 * And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and Iames, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glittered.

30 And beholde, two men talked with him, which were Moles and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glory, and tolde of his departing, which he should accomplish at Hieru-salem.

32 But Peter & they that were with him were heavy with sleepe, & when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moles, and one for Elias, and wist not what he said.

34 Whiles he thus spake, there came a cloude and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were entering into the cloude.

35 * And there came a voice out of the cloude saying, This is that my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Iesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and tolde no man in those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 ¶ And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 * And behold, a man of the company cryed out saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my sonne: for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he cryeth, and he reareth him, that he someth, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath beruiled him.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered and said, O generation faithlesse, & crooked, how long now shal I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And while he was yet comming, the deuil rent him, and tare him, and Iesus rebuked the vncleane spirit, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father.

43 ¶ And they were all amazed at the mighte power of God: & while they all wondered at things which Iesus did, he said vnto his disciples,

44 I Marke these wordes diligently: * for it shall come to passe, that the sonne of man shal be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they understood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not per-ceiue it: & they feared to aske him of that word.

46 ¶ * Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 When Iesus sawe the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a litle childe, & set him by him.

48 And said vnto them, whosoever receiueth this litle childe in my Name, receiue me: and whosoever shall receiue mee, receiue me: that sent me for he that is least among you all, he shall be great.

49 ¶ * And Iohn answered and said, Master, we lay one casting out deuils in thy Name, & wee forbade him, because he foloweth thee not with vs

150 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Forbid ye him for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 ¶ 11 And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that he should be receiued vp he ascended him selfe fully to goe to Hierusalem.

52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entered into a towne of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receiue him, because his behaviour was as though he would go to Hieru-salem.

54 ¶ 12 And when his disciples, Iames and Iohn sawe it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that wee command, that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as Elias did?

55 But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what spirit ye are.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another towne.

57 ¶ 13 And it came to passe that as they went in the way, * A certain man said vnto him,
I will follow thee, Lord, whither soeuer thou goest.

58 And Iesus sayd vnto him, The Foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen nest, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lye his head.

59 ¶ But hee said vnto another, Follow mee
And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.

60 And Iesus said vnto him, Let the dead bury of their dead: but goe thou, and preach the kingdome of God.

61 ¶ 15 Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let mee first goe bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

62 And Iesus said vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe, is apt to the kingdom of God.

9 And I say vnto you, aske and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 For every one that askeeth, receiveth: and he that seeketh, findeth: & to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

11 If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will he giue him a stone? or if hee aske a fish, will he for a fish giue him a serpent?

12 Or if hee aske an egge, will he giue him a scorpion?

13 If ye then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them that desire him?

14 ¶ Then hee cast out a deuill which was dumbe, and when the deuill was gone out, the dumbe spake, and the people wondered.

15 But some of them sayd, * He casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

17 But hee knew their thoughts, and said vnto them, * Every kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be desolate, and an house diuined against an house, shall fall.

18 So if Sathan also be diuided against himselfe how shall his kingdome stand, because ye say that I cast out deuils * through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudges.

20 But if I by the finger of God cast out deuils, doubtlesse the kingdome of God is come vnto you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, the things that hee possesseth, are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then hee, commeth vpon him, and ouercometh him: hee taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and diuiderh his spoiles.

23 He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 ¶ When the vnclene spirit is gone out of a man he walketh through drie places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none he saith, I will returne vnto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when he commeth, he findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth hee, and taketh to him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwell there: * so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

27 ¶ And it came to passe as hee sayde these things, a certaine woman of the company lifted vp her voyce, and sayde vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But hee sayde, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 ¶ And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them; but the signe of * Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a signe to the Nineuites: so shall also the Sonne of man bee to this generation.

31 * The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for shee came from the vtmost parts of the earth to heare the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they * repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 ¶ No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priuite place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 * The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be euill, then thy body is darke.

35 Take heede therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkened.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, euen as when a candle doth light thee with the brightnesse.

37 ¶ And as hee spake, a certaine Pharise belought him to dine with him: and he went in, and ate downe at table.

38 And when the Pharise saw it, he marvelled that he had not first washed be ore dinner.

39 And the Lord sayd to him, In deede yee Pharisees make cleane the outside of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickednesse.

40 Ye fools, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, giue almes of thote things which you haue, and behold, all things shall be cleane to you.

42 But woe be to you, Pharisees for ye ethe the mynt and the rew, and * all manner herbs, and passe ouer iudgement and the loue of God: these ought ye to haue done, and not to haue let the other vndone.

43 ¶ Woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye loue the vppermost seates in the Synagogues, & greetings in the markets.

44 ¶ Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites: * for ye are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceive not.

45 ¶ Then answered one of the Lawyers, and sayd vnto him, Master, thus saying thou putt'st vs to rebuke also.

46 And hee sayd, Woe be to you also, yee lawyers: * for ye lade men with burthens grievous

Matth. 10. 34.

But rather seeke ye after the kingdome of God, and all these things shall bee cast vpon you.

32 Feare not, little flocke: for it is your Fathers pleasure to gine you the kingdome.

33 Sell that ye haue, and gine it almes:
make you bagges which waxe not old, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe commeth, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts bee also.

35 Let your loines bee girded about,
and your lights burning.

36 And ye your selues like vnto men that wait for their master, when hee will returne from the wedding, that when he commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when hee commeth shall find waking: verely, I say vnto you, hee will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth and serue them.

38 And if hee come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall find them so, blessed are those seruants.

39 Now therefore stand, that if the good man of the house had knowne at what houre the thiefe would haue come, he would haue watched, and would not haue suffered his house to bee dig-ged thorow.

40 Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when yee thinke not.

41 Then Peter said vnto him, Master, tellest thou this parable vnto vs, or vnto all?

42 And the Lord said, who is a faithfull steward and wise, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his household, to gine them their portion of meate in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when hee commeth shall find to be doing.

44 O a trueth, I say vnto you, that hee will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

45 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doth deferre his coming, and shall begin to smite the seruants, and maidens, and to eate and drinke and to be drunken.

46 The master of that seruant will come in a day when hee thinketh not, & at an houre when hee is not ware of, and will cut him off, and gine him his portion with the vnbelieuers.

47 And that seruant that knew his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But he that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes: for vnto whom soeuer much is giuen, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they aske.

49 I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptism, and how am I grieved, till it be ended?

51 Think ye that I am come to gine peace on earth I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall bee fire in one house diuided, three against two, and two against three.

53 The father shall be diuided against the son, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 Then said he to the people, When yee see a cloud rise out of the West, straightway ye say, A shewe commeth: and so it is.

55 And when yee see the South wind blow, ye say, that it will be hote: and it commeth to passe.

56 Hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discern ye not this time?

57 Yea, and why iudge ye not of your selues what is right?

58 While thou goest with thine aduersarie to the ruler, as thou art in the way, gine diligence in the way, that thou mayst bee deliuered from him, lest he draw thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the payler, and the payler cast thee into prison.

59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast payed the vtmost mite.

dially she was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus had healed on the Sabbath day, and said vnto the people, There are fixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in this therefore come and bee healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then anwered him the Lord, and sayd, Hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath day loote his ox or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, loe, eighteen yeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he said these things, all his aduerfaries were ashamed: but all the people reioyced at all the excellent things that were done by him.

18 ¶ Then said hee, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?

19 It is like a graine of mustard seed, which a man tooke and sowed in his garden and it grew and waxed a great tree, and the fowles of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof.

20 ¶ And againe he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke, & hid in three pecks of flowre, till all was leauened.

22 ¶ And he went throy all cities and townes, teaching, and iourneying towards Hierusalem.

23 Then said one vnto him, Lord, are there few that shall bee saved? And he sayd vnto them, 24 ¶ Strue to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and yee begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and hee shall answere and say vnto you, I know you not whence ye are,

26 ¶ Then shall ye begin to say, We haue eaten and drunke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes.

27 ¶ But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, al ye workers of iniquitie.

28 ¶ There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when yee shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Iacob, and all the prophets in the Kingdome of God and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shall come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the Kingdome of God.

30 ¶ And behold there are last which shall bee first, and there are first, which shall bee last.

31 ¶ The same day there came certaine Pharisees, and sayd vnto him, Depart and goe hence: for Herod will kill thee.

32 Then said he vnto them, Goe yee and tell that foxe, Behold, I cast out demils & will heale still: to day, and to morrow, and the third day I shall be perfected.

33 ¶ Neuertheless I must walke to day, and to morrow, & the day following: for it cannot be that a Prophet should perish out of Hierusalem.

34 ¶ O Hierusalem, Hierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her brood vnder her wings, and ye would not!

35 Behold, your house is left vnto you desolate: and verely I tell you, ye shall not see me vntill the time come that ye shall say, Blessed is hee that commeth in the name of the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The droppe healed on the Sabbath. 8 The chiefe places at banquets. 12 The parable of the leued bread. 16 Of whois heere were to be the great supper. 23 Some compelled to come in. 28 Onebought to build a tower.

And it came to passe that when hee was entered into the house of one of the chiefe Pharisees on the Sabbath day, to eate bread, they watched him:

2 And beholde, there was a certaine man before him, which had the dropsie.

3 Then Iesus answere, spake vnto the Lawyers and Pharises, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then he tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe.

5 And anwered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they could not answere him againe to those things.

7 ¶ He spake also a parable to the ghefts, when he marked how they chose out the chiefe rooms, and laid vnto them,

8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefe place, lest a more honourable man then thou bee bidden of him.

9 And he that bade both him and thee, come and sit to thee, Give this man room, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest room.

10 ¶ But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest room, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, he may say vnto thee, Friend sit vp higher: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ¶ For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shall be brought low, and hee that humbleth himselfe shall be exalted.

12 ¶ Then said he also to him that had bidden him, ¶ When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinemen, nor thy rich neighbours, lest they also bid thee againe, and a recompensie be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blinde.

14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they can not recompensie thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the iust.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that sate at table heard these things, hee said vnto him, Blessed is hee that eateth bread in the kingdome of God.

16 Then said hee to him, ¶ A certaine man made a greatesupper and bad many,

17 And sent his seruants at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 ¶ But they all with one minde beganne to make excuse. The first saide vnto him, I haue bought a farme, and I must needs goe out and see it, I pray thee haue me excused.

19 And another sayd, I haue bought five yoke of oxen, and I goe to prooue them: I pray thee haue me excused.

1 Word for word the next: now the brood of chickens is, the wiffe.

1 The Lawe of the very Sabbath ought not to hinder the offices of charitie.

2 Either one of the Elders whom they called the Sanhedrim, or one of the chiefe of the Synagogs: for altho the Pharisees were not chiefe men of the Synagogs, John 9. 28. for the word Pharise was the name of a sect, though it appeare by this whole historie that the Pharisees were in great credit.

3 The reward of pride is ingomy: and the reward of true modestie is glory.

* Prov. 15. 34.

* Chap. 18. 14. matth. 23. 12. 3 Against them which lauish out their goods either ambitiously, or for hope of recompensie, whereas Christian charity respecteth only the glorie of God, and the profit of our neighbour.

* Prov. 3. 27. 10. 4. 7. * Mat. 12. 1. 2. 2. 1. 9. 9.

4 The most part came out of them to whom God hath revealed himselfe are so mad, that they helpe at they haue received of God, they willingly turne into lets and hindrances. b. As of our posses, and a thing agreed upon before, for though they alledge (as all compass) yet all of them agree in this, that they haue their excuseth: that they may not come to supper.

20 And another said, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that seruant returned, and shewed his Master thesethings, Then was the Goodman of the house angry, and said to his seruant, Goe out quickly into the streets and lanes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

22 And the seruant aid, I Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet ther is room.

23 Then the Master said to the seruant, Goe out into the high wayes, and hedges, and compeell them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

24 For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were Lidden frall taste of my Supper.

25 Now there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and said vnto them, 26 * If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his owne life also, he cannot be my discipule.

27 * 6 And whosoever beareth not his crosse, and commeth after me, cannot be my discipule.

28 For which of you minding to build a tower, sitteth not downe before, and counteth the cost, whether hee haue sufficient to performe it,

29 Lest that after he hath layed the foundation, and is not able to performe it, all that behold it, begin to mocke him,

30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to make an end?

31 Or what king going to make war against another King, sitteth not downe first, and taketh counsell, whether he be able with ten thousand to meete him that commeth against him with twenty thousand.

32 Or else while he is yet a great way off, hee sendeth an ambassage, and desireth peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever he be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot bee my discipule.

34 * 7 Salt is good: but if sale haue lost his savor, wherewith shall it be salted?

35 It is neither meete for the land, nor yet for the dunghill, but men cast it out. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

CHAP. XV.

4 The parable of the lost sheepe, 8 Of the great, 11 And of the prodigall sonne.

Then I resorted vnto him all the Publicanes and sinners to heare him.

2 Therefore the Scribes and Pharises murmured, saying, He receiveth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 * What man of you hauing an hundred sheepe, if hee loose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wilderness, and goe after that which is lost, vntill he finde it?

5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when he commeth home, hee calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioyce with mee: for I haue found my Sheepe which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for ene sinner that converteth more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing ten groats, if she loose one greate, doth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till shee finde it?

9 And when shee hath found it, she calleth her friends and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with mee: for I haue found the groat which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that converteth.

11 ¶ He said moreover, A certaine man had two lionnes.

12 And the yonger of them said to his Father, Father, giue mee the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So hee diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So not many dayes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, hee tooke his iourney into a farre countrey, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 Now when hee had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout all that land, & he began to be in necessitie.

15 Then he went and claue to a citizen of that countrey, and he lent him to his farme, to feede swine.

16 And he would faine haue filled his bellie with the huskes that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

17 Then he came to himselfe and sayd, How many hired seruants at my Fathers house haue bread enough, and I die for hunger?

18 I will rise and go to my Father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, 19 And am no more worthy to be called thy sonne: make me as one of thy hired seruants.

20 So hee arose and came to his Father, and when hee was yet a great way off, his Father saw him, and had compassion, and ran and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 And the sonne sayd vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

22 Then the Father said to his seruants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand and shooes on his feete.

23 And bring the fatted calfe, and kill him, and let vs eate, and be merry:

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost but he is found, and they began to be merry.

25 Now the elder brother was in the field, and when hee came and drew neere to the house, he heard melodie, and dancing.

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he said vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatted calfe, because he hath receiued him safe and found.

28 Then hee was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his Father out, and intreated him.

29 But he answered & said to his father, I tooke these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake I at any time thy commandment, and yet thou neuer gauest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the fteward as vsed to his mafter. 13 To ferue two Mafters. 16 The Law and the Prophets. 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

ANd he faid alfo vnto his Difciples, * There was a certain rich man, which had a fteward and he was accufed vnto him, that he wafted his goods.

2 And he called him, and faid vnto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an accounts of thy ftewardfhip: for thou mayft bee no longer fteward.

3 Then the fteward faide within himfelfe, What fhall I doe? for my mafter taketh away from me the ftewardfhip, I cannot digge, and to begge I am afhamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the ftewardfhip, they may receiue me into their houfes.

5 Then called hee vnto him euery one of his mafters debtors, and faid vnto the firft, How much oweft thou vnto my Mafter?

6 And he faid, An hundred measures of oile, And hee faid to him, Take thy writing, and fit downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then faid he to another, How much oweft thou? And hee faid, An hundred measures of wheate. Then he faid to him, Take thy writing, and write fourefcore.

8 And the Lorde commended * the vnluft fteward, becaufe he had done wifely. Wherefore the children of this world are in their generation wifer then the children of light.

9 And I fay vnto you, Make you friends with the riches * of iniquitie, that when ye fhall want, they may receiue you into euerlafting 4 habitations.

10 * H: that is faithfull in the leaft, he is alfo faithfull in much: and he that is vnluft in the leaft, is vnluft alfo in much.

11 Ifthen yee haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will truft you in the true treafure?

12 And if ye haue not bene faithfull in another mans goods, who fhall giue you that which is yours?

13 * No feruant can ferue two Mafters: for either he fhall hate the one, and loue the other: or els he fhall lue to the one, and defpife the other: Ye cannot ferue God and riches.

14 All thefe things heard the Pharifes alfo, which were couetous, and they * cofted at him.

15 4 Then hee fayd vnto them, Yee are they, which iuftifie your felues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly elieemed among men, is abomination in the fight of God.

16 * 4 The Law and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and fince that time the Kingdome of God is preached, and euery man preafeth in to it.

17 * Now it is more eafie that heauen and earth fhould pafle away, then that one titule of the Law fhould fall.

18 * 4 Whofoeuer putteth away his wife, and marieth another, committeth adultery: and whofoeuer marieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 * 4 There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layed at his gate full of fores, 21 And defired to be refreshed with the crumbes that fall from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his fores.

22 And it was fo that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams bofome. The rich man alfo died, and was buried.

23 4 And being in hell in tormentes, I hee lift vp his eyes, and faw Abraham a farre off, & Lazarus in his bofome.

24 Then hee cryed, and faid, Father Abraham, haue mercy on me, and fend Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham faid, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receuedft thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Befides all this, betwene you as vs there is a great gulfe bet, fo that they which would go from thence to you, cannot neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 4 Then hee fayd, I pray thee therefore Father, that thou wouldeft fend him to my fathers houfe, 28 (For I haue five brethren) that he may teftifie vnto them, left they alfo come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham faid vnto him, They haue Moifes and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And hee faid, Nay father Abraham: but if I come vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then hee fayde vnto him, If they heare not Moyses and the Prophets, neither wil they be perfwaded, though one rofe from the dead againe.

5 ¶ And the Apostles said vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, If ye had faith, as much as a graine of mustard seed, and should say to this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the roots, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you.

7 ¶ Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing or feeding cattell, would say vnto him by and by, when he were come from the field, Goe, and sit downe at table?

8 And would not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may sup, and gird thy selfe, and serue me, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drinke thou?

9 Doeth he thanke that seruant, because hee did that which was commaunded vnto him? I trow not.

10 Soe likewise ye, when ye haue done all those things, which are commaunded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: we haue done but our duty to do.

11 ¶ And so it was when he went to Hierusalem, that he passed through the middes of Samaria and Galilee.

12 And as hee entred into a certaine towne, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood a farre off.

13 And they lift vp their voyces, and said, Iesus, Master, haue mercy on vs.

14 And when he saw them, he said vnto them, ¶ Goe, shew your selues vnto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 Then one of them, when he saw that hee was healed, returned back, and with a loud voyce praised God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feet, and gaue him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Iesus answered, and saide, Are there notten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to giue God praise, saue this stranger.

19 And hee said vnto him, Arise, goe thy way thy faith hath saved thee.

20 ¶ And when he was demaunded of the Phari'se, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation.

21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold the kingdom of God is within you.

22 And he said vnto the disciples, the daies will come when ye shall desire to see one of the daies of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 ¶ Then shall they say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but goe northither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things, and be reprooued of this generation.

26 ¶ And as it was in the daies of Noe, so shall it be in the daies of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wives, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 ¶ Likewise also it was in the daies of Lot. They ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.

30 After these examples shall it bee in the day when the sonne of man is requiled.

31 ¶ At that day he that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come down to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behind.

32 ¶ Remember Lots wife.

33 ¶ Whosoever will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, shall e get it life.

34 ¶ I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be left.

35 Two women shall be grinding together, the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.

36 Two shall be in the field: one shall be receiued, and the other shall be left.

37 ¶ And they answered, and said to him, Where, Lord? And he said vnto them, ¶ Whosoever the body is, thither shall also the eagles bee gathered together.

And hee spake also a parable vnto them, to this end, that they might alwayes to pray and not to waxe faint,

2 Saying, there was a iudge in a certaine city, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widow in that city, which came vnto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine aduersary.

4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward he said with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,

5 Yet becau' this widow troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last she come and make me weary.

6 And the Lord said, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge saith.

7 Now shall not God avenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him: yea, though he be slow long for them?

8 ¶ I tell you he will auengethem quickly: but when the sonne of man cometh, shall he finde faith on the earth?

9 ¶ He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselves that they were iust, and despised other:

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray:

and is a smother rebuke of the pharisees, who leaue their sinnes out of their hearts: so that they that are vnrighteous hate the iudges: can they cry out, euen with their mouths? d. the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publican.

11 3 The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thank thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vnjust, adulterers, or euen as this Publican.

12 I fast twise in the weeke: I giue tith of all that enter I possesse.

13 But the Publican standing e a farre off would not lift vp so much as his eyes to heauen but smote his brest, saying, O God, be mercifull vnto me a sinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed from his house, iustified rather then the other: for euey man that exalteth himselfe shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himselfe shall be exalted.

15 ¶ They brought vnto him alio babes that he should touch them. And when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 But Iesus called them vnto him, & said, Suffer the babes to come vnto mee, & forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

17 Verily I say vnto you, Whosoener receiue the kingdome of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I to do, to inherite eternall life?

19 And Iesus said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good, save one, euen God.

20 Thou knowest the commandments. Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness: Honour thy Father and thy Mother.

21 And he said, All these haue I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Iesus heard that, hee said vnto him, yet lackest thou one thing, Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come follow me.

23 But when he heard those things, he was very heauy: for he was maruillous rich.

24 And when Iesus saw him very sorrowfull, he said, With what difficulty shall they that haue riches, enter into the Kingdome of God!

25 Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then said they that heard it, And who then can be saved?

27 And he said, The things that are vnpossible with men, are possible with God.

28 ¶ Then Peter said, Loc, we haue left all, and haue followed thee.

29 And he said vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods sake, 30 Which shall not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life everlasting.

31 ¶ Then Iesus took vnto him the twelue, and said vnto them, Behold, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and all things shall be fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he shall be deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and shall be spitefully intreated, and shall be spit upon.

33 And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: but the third day he shall rise againe.

34 But they vnderstood none of these things, and this saying was hid from them, neither perceived they the things which were spoken.

35 ¶ And it came to passe, that as he was come neere vnto Iericho, a certaine blinde man sat by the way side, begging.

36 And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they said vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then he cryed, saying, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid haue mercy on me.

39 And they which went before, rebuked him that he should hold his peace, but hee cryed much more, O Son of Dauid haue mercy on me.

40 And Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee.

43 Then immediately he receiued his sight, and followed him, praying God: and all the people, when they saw this, gaue praise to God.

1 Zachheus the Publican, 13 Temples of money delivered to servants to occupy withall, 29 Iesus went into Hierusalem, 41 hee sought for the destruction of the citie with scowes, 45 hee sought the fathers cove of the Temple.

Now when Iesus entred and passed through Iericho.

2 Behold, there was a man named Zachheus which was the chiefe receiuer of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Iesus, who he should be, and could not for the prease, because he was of a low stature.

4 Wherefore he ranne before, and climed vp into a wilde figge tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, he looked vp and saw him, and said vnto him, Zachheus come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

6 Then hee came downe hastily and receiued him ioyfully.

7 And when all they saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone into lodge with a sinfull man.

8 3 And Zachheus stood forth, & said vnto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by forged cauillation, I restore him fourfold.

9 Then Iesus said to him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as he is also become the sonne of Abraham.

10 For the sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost.

11 And while they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because he was neere to Ierusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdome of God should shortly appeare.

12 He said therefore, A certaine noble man went vnto a far countrey, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

5 There are three sorts of men in the Church: the one for fall from Christ whom they see not: the other which according to their vocation

which they have received of God, to his glory with great paines and diligence: the third licidly, and doe no good.
As for the first, die
Lord when hee commeth, will justly punish them in his time: the other hee will bless, according to the paines which they have taken: and as for the douthfull and idle persons, hee will punish them as the first.

John 19. 14.

13 And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pieces of money, and said vnto them, Occupie till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an am-bassage after him, saying, Wee will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when he was come againe, and had receiued his kingdom, that hee commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his money, that hee might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, 4 thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said vnto him, Well, good seruant:
because thou hast bene faithful in a very little thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy pieces hath increased fise pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler ouer fise cities.

20 So the other came, and said, Lord, Behold, thy piece which I haue layd vp in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straite man: thou takest vp that thou laydest not down, and reapest that thou diddest not sow.

22 Then hee sayd vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill feruant. Thou knewest that I am a straite man, taking vp that I layd not downe, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gauest thou my money into the banke, that at my coming I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And hee said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces)

25 (And they said vnto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.

26 * For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shall bee giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall bee taken from him.

27 Moreover, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, he went forth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem.

29 * 7 And it came to passe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, hee sent two of his disciples,

30 Saying, Go ye to the towne which is before you, wherein assoon as ye are come, yee shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man sat: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had sayd vnto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said vnto them, Why loose yee the colt?

34 And they said, The Lord hath need of him.

35 ¶ So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come neere to the going downe to the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, and to praise God with a loud voyce, for all the great works that they had seene.

38 Saying, Blessed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places.

39 * Then some of the Pharisees of the company said vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said vnto them, I tell you, that if they should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

41 ¶ And when he was come neere, he beheld the citie, and wept for it,

42 saying, O if thou haddest euen knowen at the least in this thy day those things, which belong vnto thy peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keepe thee in on euery side,

44 And shall make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leave in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knewest not that season of thy visitation.

45 ¶ Hee went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought,

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, * Mine house is the house of prayer, * but ye haue made it a denne of theues.

47 And hee taught dayly in the Temple, and the high Priests and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people fought to destroy him.

48 But they could not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hanged vpon him when they heard him.

CHAP. XX.

4 From whence Iohn Baptist came. The wickednes of the Priests is hereby the parallel of the vineyard and the husband-men. 21 To goe within to Cesar. 27 See cometh the Sadowes denying the resurrection. 41 How Christ is the same of David.

And * it came to passe, that on one of those daies, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the high Priests and the Scribes came vpon him, with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tel vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is hee that hath giuen thee this authoritie?

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I allow ask you one thing: tell me therefore,

4 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then beleueed ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they bee perswaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus said vnto them, Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I doe these things.

9 ¶ * Then began he to speake to the people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard,

8 When they linger which ought terlocutors of the narily in despite and let it forth vnto husbandmen, and went into a strange cuntry for a great time.

10 And at the time conuenient hee sent a seruuant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husband-men did beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 Again hee sent yet another seruant: and they did beat him, and foule entreated him, and sent him away empty.

12 Moreover hee sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will find my beloued Sonne: It may bee that they will doe reuerence when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe vnto them?

16 Hee will come and destroy these husband-men, and will giue out his vineyard to others.
But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And hee beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, * The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

19 Then the high Priests, and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay hands on him (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 ¶ And they watched him and sent forth bishops, which shouldaine themselves iust men, to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and authority of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, wee know that thou sayest and teachest right, neither doest thou accept of mans person, and teachest the way of God truly.

22 Is it lawfull for vs to giue Cesar tribute or no?

23 But he perceived their craftinesse, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew mee a penie: Whose image and sipercription hath it? They answered, and said, Cesars.

25 Then he said vnto them, * Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cesars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people, but they marueiled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 ¶ Then came to him certaine of the Sad-duces (which denie that there is any resurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, * Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed to his brother.

29 Now there were seven brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and hee died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and hee died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her, and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all, the woman died also,

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them,
The children of this world marry wives, and are married,

35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, since they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen
* Moses shewed it besides the bush, when hee said,
The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.

40 And after that, durst they not aske him any thing at all.

41 ¶ * 5 Then said hee vnto them, How say they that Christ is Dauids sonne?

42 And David himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, * The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand,

43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy foot-stool.

44 Seeing David calleth him Lord, How is he then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he said vnto his disciples,

46 ¶ Beware of the Scribes, which willingly goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, and the highest featers in the assemblies, and the chiefe rooms at feasts:

47 Which deuoure widows * houses, and in they all.

4 For they all haue of their superfluous cast hath cast in all the liuing that she had.

5 ¶ Now as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones, and with consecrated things, he said, bee left vpon a stone, that shall not beethrown

3 * Then entred Satan into Iudas who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelue.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the hie Priests, and captaines, how he might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to giue him money.

6 And he consented, and fought opportunity to betray him vnto them, when the people were b away.

7 ¶ Then came the day of vnleavened bread, when the Passouer c must be sacrificed.

8 And he sent Peter and Iohn, saying, Goe and prepare vs the d Passouer that we may eat it.

9 And they said to him, Where wilt thou, that we prepare it?

10 Then he said vnto them, Behold, when ye be entred into the citie, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that he entred in,

All this saith I by way of an allegorie, as he said, O my friends, and fellow sojourners, you have lived hitherto as it were in peace: but there is a wrath prepared against you, as it were to be fought, and therefore you must lay all other things aside, and shinke yourselues in your selues in armour.*

20 Likewise also after supper he tooke the cup, saying, This cup is for the new Testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

21 * 6 Yet behold, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the Table.

22 And truly the Sonne of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe to that man by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to enquire among themselves which of them it should be, that should doe that.

24 * 7 And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should seeme to be the greatest.

25 But he said vnto them, The Kings of the Gentiles reigne ouer them, and they that beare rule ouer them, are called ^k bountifull.

26 But yee shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefest as he that serueth.

27 For who is greater, he that sitteth at table, or he that serueth? Is not he that sitteth at table? And I am among you as he that serueth.

28 And yee are they which haue continued with me in my tentations.

29 Therefore I appoint vnto you a kingdome, as my Father hath appointed vnto me, 31 * 10 And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, * Satan hath desired you, 1 to winnow you as wheat.

32 * 11 But I haue prayed for thee, that thy faith faile not: therefore when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren.

33 * 12 And he said vnto him, Lord, I am ready to goe with thee into prison, and to death.

34 But he said, I tell thee, Peter, the cocke shall not crow this day, before thou shalt thrise denie that thou knowest me.

35 * And he said vnto them, * When I sent you without bag, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thing? And they said, Nothing.

36 * 13 Then he sayd to them, But now hee that hath a bagge, let him take it, and likewise a scrip: and he that hath none, let him sell his coate, and buy a sword.

37 For I say vnto you, that yet the same which is written, must be performed in me, * Euen with the wicked was he numbered for double the those things, which are written of me haue, an end.

38 And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords. And he said vnto them, It is enough.

39 * 14 And he came out, and went (as he was went) to the mount of Oliues: and his disciples also followed him.

40 * 15 And when he came to the place, hee said to them, Pray lett ye enter into tentation.

41 * 14 And he was drawne aside from them about a stones cast, & kneeled downe, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, if thou wilt, take away this cuppe from mee: neuerthelesse, not my will but thine be done.

43 And there appeared an Angell vnto him from heauen, comforting him.

44 But being in an agony, hee praied more earnestly: & his sweat was like drops of blood, trickling downe to the ground.

45 * 15 And he rose vp from prayer, and came to his disciples, & found them sleeping for heauines.

46 And he said vnto them, Why sleepe ye? rise and pray, lett ye enter into tentation.

47 * 16 And while hee yet spake, behold, a company, and he that was called Iudas one of the twelue, went before them, and came neere vnto Iesus to kisse him.

48 And Iesus said vnto him, Iudas, betrayest thou the Sonne of man with a kisse?

49 * 17 Now when they which were about him, saw what would follow, they said vnto him, Lord shall we smite with sword?

50 And one of them smote a seruant of the hie Priett, and strooke off his right eare.

51 Then Iesus answered, and said, Suffer them thus farre: & he touched his eare, & healed him.

52 * 18 Then Iesus said vnto the hie Priests, and captains of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Bee ye come out as vnto a thiefe with swords and staves?

53 When I was daily with you in the Temple, ye stretched not forth the hands against me: but this is your very houre, and the power of darkenesse.

54 * 19 Then tooke they him, and led him, and brought him to the hie Priests house. 19 And Peter followed a farre off.

55 * 20 And when they had kindled a fire in the middes of the hall, and were set downe together, Peter also sat downe among them.

56 And a certaine maid beheld him as he sate by the fire, and hauing well looked on him, said, This man was also with him.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And a fter a little while, another man saw him, and said, Thou art also of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not.

59 And about the space of an houre after, a certaine other affirmed, saying, Verely, euen this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean.

60 And Peter said, Man, I know not what thou saiest. And immediately while hee yet spake, the cocke crew.

61 Then the Lord turned backe, and locked vpon Peter: and Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said to him, * Before the cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 * 20 * And the men that held Iesus, mocked him, and strooke him.

47 ¶ Now when the Centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a suretie this man was iust.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things that were done, smote their breasts, and returned.

49 And all his acquaintance stood a far off, and the women that followed him from Galile, beholding these things.

50 ¶ And he beholde, there was a man named Ioseph, which was a counsellour, a good man, and a iust.

51 He did not consent to the counsell and deed of them, which was of Arimathea, a citie of the Iewes: who also himselfe waited for the kingdom of God.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath ⁴ drew on.

55 And the women also that followed after which came with him from Galile, beheld the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned and prepared odours, and ointments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

1. The women come to the sepulchre, 2. They report that which they heard of the Angels, unto the Apostles, 3. Christ doeth accompany two going to Emmaus, 4. He expoundeth the Scripture vnto them, 5. He offereth himselfe to his Apostles as he himselfe, 6. He promyseth the holy Ghost, 7. He is carried up into heauen.

NOW the first day of the weeke early in the morning, they came vnto the sepulchre, and brought the odours which they had prepared, and certaine women with them.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre,

3 And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Iesus.

4 And it came to passe, that as they were amazed thereat, beholde two men suddenly stood by them in shinning vestures.

5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said to them, Why seeke ye him that liueth among the dead?

6 He is not here, but is risen: remember ¹ how he spake vnto you, when he was yet in Galile,

7 Saying, that the sonne of man must be delivered into the hands of sinfull men, and be crucified, and the third day rise againe.

8 And they remembered his words,

9 And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things vnto the cleuen, and to all the remnant.

10 Now it was Mary Magdalene, & Ioanna, & Mary the mother of Iames, & other women with them which told these things vnto the Apostles.

11 But their words seemed vnto them as a taunted thing, neither beleueed they them.

12 ¶ Then arose Peter, and ran vnto the sepulchre, and looked in, & saw the linnen clothes layd by themselves, and departed wondering in himselfe at that which was come to passe.

13 ¶ And beholde two of them went that same day to a towne which was from Hierusalem about threecore furlongs, called Emmaus.

14 And they talked together of all these things that were done.

15 And it came to passe, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Iesus himselfe drew neere, and went with them, 16 But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.

17 And hee said vnto them, What manner of communications are these that yee haue one to another, as ye walke, and are said?

18 And the one (named Cleopas) answered, and said vnto him, Art thou onely a stranger in Hierusalem, and hast not knowne the things which are come to passe therein in these dayes?

19 And he said vnto them, What things? And they said vnto him, Of Iesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mightie in deed and in word before God, and all the people, 20 And how the chief Priests, and our rulers deliuered him to bee condemned to death, and haue crucified him.

21 But wee trusted that it had benee he that should haue deliuered Israel, and as touching all these things, to day is the third day, that they were done.

22 Yea, and certaine women among vs made vs altonied, which came early vnto the sepulchre

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seene a vision of Angels, which said, that he was aliue.

24 Therefore certaine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it euen so as the women had said, but him they saw not.

25 Then he said vnto them, O fooles and slow of heart to beleuee all that the Prophets haue spoken!

26 Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things and to enter into his glory?

27 And hee began at Moyses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures, the things which were written of him.

28 And they drew neere vnto the towne which they went to, but he made as though hee would haue gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with vs. for it is towards night, and the day is farre spent. So he went in to tary with them.

30 And it came to passe as hee sat at table with them, he tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake

7 The glory which he sheweth of here, is that manifestation of Christ his maiestie, which was as it were layd open before our eyes when the Sonne of God appeared in flesh. 2 This word (as) doth not in this place take a likenesse to the truth of the matter, for in meaning in this, that we saw him, as he shewed, and was meete for the only begotten Sonne of God, who is Lord and King over all the world. 3 Hee was not only a partaker of grace and truth, but was full of the very substance of grace and truth. 4 John is a faithfull witness of the excellencie of Christ. 5 That is, I see before whom I am sent to prepare him the way. 6 That these wordes are referred to the time of his calling and not of his age, for John was five monethes older then he. c This sentence

* Coloss. 1. 19 and 29. 9 Christ is the most plentiful fountain of all goodness, and when hee powered on his gifts most bountifully, when as hee exhibed and shewed him selfe to the world. 10 That is, grace upon grace, as man would say, grace beheaded one upon another. 11 The true knowledge of God proceedeth only from Iesus Christ. * 1 Tim. 6. 16. 1 John 4. 13. 2 Who is meete to be his Father, or oneness that is betwene them, whereby the Father and the Sonne are one. 3 Re-uerent him and shewed him vnto vs, whereas before hee was hid vnder the shadowes of the Law, by that the quicknesse of the sight of our minde was not able to perceiue him:

for hee was flesh him, (saith the Father also). 10 John is neither the Messiah, nor like to any of the other Prophets, but is the herald of Christ, who is now present.
8 Hee did acknowledge him and spake of him plainly and openly. 9 This rebearing of one and the selfe same thing sheweth in diuers words, is used much of the Hebrewes, and is hath great force: for they use to speake one thing, yet set it out more certainly and plainly. * Acts 1. 15. 11 The Jewes thought that Elias should come againe before the auncient Moyses, and they take the ground of that their opinion out of Malachi 4. 5, which place is to be vnder stood of Iohn. Math. 11. 14. And yet Iohn doeth not that he is Elias, as for as touching his mode according as they taught. 12 They require of some great Prophet, and not of Christ, for Iohn denied before that hee is Christ, for they thought of some great Prophet should be like vnto Moyses, Writing to such purpose a place of Deut. 18. 15, which is to be vnder stood of all the company of the Prophets and Ministers, which haue bene and shall be to the end, and especially of Christ, who is the head of all Prophets. * Iffay. 43. 3. mat. 2. 2. Luke 3. 4. 12 Christ is the author of baptisme and not Iohn, and therefore the force thereof consisteth not in Iohn, who is the minister, but wholly in Christ the Lord. 1 Heretofore we may 21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he said, I am not, Art thou that Prophet? And he answered No.

22 Then said they vnto him, Who art thou, that we may giue an answer vnto those that enquire vs? What sayest thou of thy selfe?
23 He said, I am the voice of him that cryeth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as saith the Prophet Elias.
24 ¶ 12 Now they which were sent, were of the Pharisees.
25 And they asked him, and sayde vnto him,
Why baptizest thou then, if thou bee not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?
26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one among you, whom yee know not.

27 ¶ Hee it is that cometh after me, which was before me, whole those latched I am not worthy to vnloose.
28 These things were done in Bethabara, beyond Iorden, where Iohn did baptize.
29 ¶ 13 The next day Iohn seeth Iesus com-ming vnto him, and saith, Beholde that Lambe of God, which taketh away the sinne of the world.
30 This is he of whom I said, After mee commeth a man which was before mee: for hee was better then I.
31 And I knew him not: but because hee should be declared to Israell, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.
32 ¶ 14 So Iohn bare record faying, I beheld that Spirit come downe from heauen like a dowe, and it abode vpon him, 33 And I knew him not: but he that sent mee to baptize with water, hee sayd vnto mee, Vpon whom thou shalt see the spirit come downe, and tary still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.
34 And I saw and bare record that this is that Sonne of God.
35 ¶ 15 The next day Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples.
36 ¶ 16 And he beheld Iesus walking by, & said, Behold that Lambe of God.
37 ¶ 17 And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.
38 Then Iesus turned about, and sawe them follow, and sayd vnto them, What seeke yee?
And they sayd vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) where dwellest thou?
39 And hee sayd vnto them, Come and see.
They came and sawe where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the tenth houre.
40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.
41 The same found his brother Simon first, and said vnto him, We haue found that Messias, which is by interpretation that Christ.
42 And he brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, & sayd, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation a stone.
43 ¶ The day following, Iesus would go into Galilee, and found Philip, and said vnto him, Follow mee.
44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter.
45 ¶ 18 Philip found Nathanael, and sayde vnto him, Wee haue founde him of whom Moses did write in the Lawe, and the Prophets, Iesus that Sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth.
15 Iohn gathered disciples, not to himselfe, but to the first gathering of the disciples we haue shewed vnto vs, that the beginning of saluation is from God, who calleth vs vnto his Sonne by the ministry of his thou hereaft the found thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth, fo is eury man that is borne of the Spirit.

9 Nicodemus answered, and said vnto him, How can theſe things be?

10 Ieſus answered, and ſayd vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Iſrael, and knoweſt not theſe things?

11 Verely, verely I ſay vnto thee, We ſpeake that we know, and teſtifie that we haue ſene: but ye receiue not our witneſſe.

12 Iſwhen I tell you earthly things, ye beleene not, how ſhould ye beleue, if I ſhall tell you of heavenly things?

13 For no man ſcended vp to heauen, but he that hath deſcended from heauen, that Sonne of man which is in heauen.

14 * And as Moſes liſt vp the ſerpent in the wildeerneſſe, ſo muſt that Sonne of man be liſt vp.

15 That whoſoeuer beleuech in him, ſhould not periſh but haue eternall life.

16 * For God ſo loued the world, that hee hath giuen his only begotten Sonne, that whoſoeuer beleuech in him, ſhould not periſh, but haue euerlaſting life.

17 * For God ſent not his Sonne into the world, that he ſhould condemne the world, but that the world through him might be ſaued.

18 Hee that beleuech in him, is not condemned: but hee that beleuech not, is condemned already, becauſe hee hath not beleueed in the Name of that only begotten Sonne of God.

19 * And this is the condemnation, that the light came into the world, and men loued darkeneſſe rather then that light, becauſe their deedes were euill.

20 For eury man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither cometh to light, left his deedes ſhould be reprobued.

21 But he that doeth trueth, cometh to the light, that his deedes might be made maniſt, that they are wrought according to God.

22 ¶ After theſe things came Ieſus and his diſciples into the land of Iudea, and there taried with them and * baptizd.

23 And Iohn alſo baptized in Water beſides Salim, becauſe there was much water there: and they came and were baptized.

24 For Iohn was not yet caſt into priſon.

25 * Then there aroſe a queſtion betwene Iohns diſciples and the Iewes, about purifying.

26 And they came vnto Iohn, and ſayd vnto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Iordan, to whom thou baſt wiſneſſe, behold, hee baptizeth, and all men come to him.

27 Ieſus answered, and ſayd vnto her, If thou knoweſt that gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Giue me drinke, thou wouldeſt haue asked of him, & he woulde haue giuen thee water of life.

28 The woman ſaide vnto him, Sir, Thou haſt nothing to draw with, and the well is deepe: from whence then haſt thou that water of life?

29 Art thou greater then our father Iacob, which gaue vs the well, and hee himſelfe dranke of it.

30 Ieſus answered, and ſayd vnto her, If thou knoweſt that gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Giue me drinke, thou wouldeſt haue asked of him, & he woulde haue giuen thee water of life.

31 Ieſus answered, and ſayd vnto her, If thou knoweſt that gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Giue me drinke, thou wouldeſt haue asked of him, & he woulde haue giuen thee water of life.

32 The woman ſaide vnto him, Sir, Thou haſt nothing to draw with, and the well is deepe: from whence then haſt thou that water of life?

33 Art thou greater then our father Iacob, which gaue vs the well, and hee himſelfe dranke of it.

27 Iohn answered, & ſaid, A man can receiue nothing, except it be giuen him from heauen.

28 Yee your ſelues are my witneſſes, that I ſayd, I am not that Chriſt, but that I am ſent before him.

29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegrome: but the friend of the bridegrome which ſtandeth and heareth him, reioycech greatly, becauſe of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioy therefore is fulfilled.

30 He muſt increaſe, but I muſt decreaſe.

31 He that is come from an he, is aboue all: he that is of the earth, is of the earth, and ſpeaketh of the earth: hee that is come from heauen, is aboue all.

32 And what hee hath ſeene & heard that hee teſtifieth: but a no man receiuech his teſtimony.

33 He that hath receiued his teſtimony, hath ſealed that God is true.

34 For he whom God hath ſent, ſpeaketh the words of God: for God giueth him not the Spirit by meaſure.

35 The Father loueth the Sonne, and hath giuen all things into his hand.

36 * Hee that beleuech in the Sonne, hath euerlaſting life, and he that obeyeth not the Sonne, ſhall not ſee life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

CHAP. III.

¶ Ieſus being wearie, ſitteth drinke of the woman of Samaria. 2c Hee teacheth the true worſhip. 3c Hee conſeſſeth that hee is the Meſſias. 3c Hee ſaith, 3c The Samaritanes ſhould be baptized. 4c Hee ſaith the Rulers Ioune.

Now when the Lord knew, how the Phariſies had heard, that Ieſus made * and baptized moe diſciples then Iohn,

2 (Though Ieſus himſelfe baptized not: but his Diſciples.)

3 Hee left Iudea, and departed againe into Galile.

4 And he muſt needs goe thorow Samaria.

5 Then came he to a city of Samaria called Sychar: neere vnto the poſtillion that * Iacob gaue to his ſonne Iofeph.

6 And there was Iacobs Well. Ieſus then wearied in the iourney, ſate * thus on the Well: it was about the b fixt houre.

7 There came a woman of Samaria to drawe water. Ie ſaid vnto her, Giue me drinke.

8 For his Diſciples were gone away into the cite, to buy meate.

9 Then ſaid the woman of Samaria vnto him, How is it, that thou being a Iewe, aſked drinke of mee, which am a woman of Samaria? For the Iewes c meddle not with the Samaritanes.

10 Ieſus answered and ſayd vnto her, If thou knoweſt that gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Giue me drinke, thou wouldeſt haue asked of him, & he woulde haue giuen thee water of life.

11 The woman ſaide vnto him, Sir, Thou haſt nothing to draw with, and the well is deepe: from whence then haſt thou that water of life?

thereof,

beene diseased eight and thirty yerres.

6 When Iesus saw him lie, and knew that hee now long time had beene diseased, he sayd vnto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The sicke man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the poole: but while I am comming, another steppeth downe before me.

8 Iesus said vnto him, Rise: take vp thy bed, and walke.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed, and walked: and the same day was the Sabbath.

10 The Iewes therefore sayd to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: * it is not lawfull for thee to carry thy bed.

11 He answered them, He that made me whole he said vnto me, Take vp thy bed, and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which said vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Iesus had conueyed himselfe away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Iesus found him in the Temple, and sayd vnto him, Beholde, thou art made whole: sinne no more, lest a worse thing come vnto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed, and tolde the Iewes that it was Iesus which had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Iewes did persecute Iesus, and sought to slay him, because hee had done the things on the Sabbath day.

17 But Iesus answered them, My father workech hitherto, and I worke:

18 * Therefore the Iewes sought the more to kill him: not only because hee had broken the Sabbath: but sayd also that God was his Father and made himselfe equall with God.

19 Then answered Iesus, and sayd vnto them, Verily, verily I say vnto you. The Sonne can do nothing of himselfe, save that hee seeth the Father doe: for whatsoever things he doeth, the same things doeth the Sonne in like manner.

20 For the Father loveth the Sonne, and sheweth him all things, whatsoever he himselfe doeth, and hee will shew him greater works than these that ye should marvell.

21 ¶ For likewise as the Father raiseth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Sonne quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father giudgeth no man, but hath committed all iudgement vnto the Sonne.

23 Because that all men should honour the Sonne, as they honour the Father: kee that honoureth not the Sonne, the same honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.

24 ¶ Verily, verily I say vnto you, he that heareth my word, and beleueth him that sent mee, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death vnto life.

25 ¶ Verily, verily I say vnto you, the houre shall come, and now is, when the dead shall heare the voyce of the Sonne of God: and they that heare it shall liue.

26 For as the Father hath life in himselfe, so likewise hath he giuen to the Sonne to haue life in himselfe.

27 And hath giuen him power also to execute iudgement, in that he is the Sonne of man.

28 ¶ Maruell not at this: for the houre shall come, in the which all that are in the graues, shall heare his voyce.

29 ¶ And they shall come forth: * that have done good, vnto the resurrection of life: but they that haue done euill, vnto the resurrection of condemnation.

30 ¶ I can doe nothing of mine owne selfe: as I heare, I iudge: and my iudgment is iust, because I seeke not mine owne will, but the will of the Father, who hath sent mee.

31 ¶ If I should beare witness of myselfe, my witness were not true.

32 ¶ There is another that beareth witness of me, and I know that the witness, which hee beareth of me is true.

33 ¶ Yee lent vnto Iohn, and he bare witness vnto the truth.

34 But I receiue not the record of man: neither these things I say, that ye might be faued.

35 He was a burning and a shining candle: and yee would for a season haue reioyced in his light.

36 But I haue greater witness than the witness of Iohn: for the workes which the Father hath giuen me to finish the same workes that I do, beare witness of me, that the Father sent me.

37 And the * Father himselfe, which hath sent me, beareth witness of me. Ye haue not heard his voyce at any time: neither haue yee seene his shape.

38 And his word haue ye not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye beleue not.

39 ¶ Search the Scriptures: for in them ye thinke to haue eternall life, and they are they which testifie of me.

40 But yewill not come to me, that ye might haue life.

41 I receiue not the praise of men.

42 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

43 I am come in my Fathers name, and yee receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

44 How can ye beleuee, which receiue * honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

45 ¶ Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses in whom ye trust.

46 For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: * for he wrote of me.

47 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my words?

48 ¶ I receiue not the praise of men.

49 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

50 I am come in my Fathers name, and yee receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

51 How can ye beleuee, which receiue * honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

52 ¶ Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses in whom ye trust.

53 For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: * for he wrote of me.

54 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my words?

55 ¶ I receiue not the praise of men.

56 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

57 I am come in my Fathers name, and yee receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

58 How can ye beleuee, which receiue * honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

59 ¶ Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses in whom ye trust.

60 For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: * for he wrote of me.

61 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my words?

62 ¶ I receiue not the praise of men.

63 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

64 I am come in my Fathers name, and yee receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

65 How can ye beleuee, which receiue * honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

66 ¶ Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses in whom ye trust.

67 For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: * for he wrote of me.

68 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my words?

69 ¶ I receiue not the praise of men.

70 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

71 I am come in my Fathers name, and yee receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

72 How can ye beleuee, which receiue * honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

73 ¶ Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses in whom ye trust.

74 For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: * for he wrote of me.

75 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my words?

76 ¶ I receiue not the praise of men.

77 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

78 I am come in my Fathers name, and yee receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

79 How can ye beleuee, which receiue * honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

80 ¶ Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses in whom ye trust.

81 For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: * for he wrote of me.

82 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my words?

83 ¶ I receiue not the praise of men.

84 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

85 I am come in my Fathers name, and yee receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

After these things, Iesus went his way a-over the Sea of Galilee, which is Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, which he did on them that were diseased.

3 Then Iesus went vp into a mountaine, and there he sate with his Disciples.

4 Now the Passouer a * kist of the Iewes, was neere.

5 ¶ Iesus lift vp his eyes; and seeing that a great multitude came vnto him, he said vnto Philip: Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eate?

6 (And this hee sayd to proue him: for he himselfe knew what he would doe.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundreth peni-worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that they every one of them may take a litle.

8 Then sayd vnto him one of his Disciples,
Andrew, Simon Peters brother,

9 There is a litle boy here which hath five barley loaves, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Iesus said, Make the people sit downe.
(Now there was much grasse in that place) Then the men sate downe, in number about fye thousand.

11 And Iesus tooke the bread, & gaue thanks, and gaue to the disciples, and the Disciples to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 And when they were satisfied, he said vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meate which remaineth, that nothing be lost.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the five barley loaves, which remained vnto them that had eaten.

14 Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, said, This is of a truth that Prophet that should come into the world.

15 ¶ When Iesus there fore perceived that they would come, and take him to make him a king, hee departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.

16 ¶ When euen was now come, his Disciples went downe vnto the Sea,

17 ¶ And entred into a ship, and went ouer the sea, towards Capernaum: and now it was darke, and Iesus was not come to them.

18 And the Sea arose with a great winde that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about fye and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they saw Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing nere vnto the ship:
so they were afraid.

20 But he said vnto them, It is I be not afraid.

21 Then willingly they receiued him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.

22 ¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the Sea, saw that there was none other ship there, save that one, wherein to his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone.

23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thanks.

24 Now when the people saw that Iesus was not there, neither his Disciples, they also tooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Iesus.

25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they saide vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 ¶ Iesus answered them and said, Verely, ve-rely, I say vnto you, Yee seeke me not, because yee saw the miracles, but because yee ate of the loaves, and were filled.

27 ¶ Labour not for the meate which perisheth, but for the meate, that endureth vnto euerslasting life: which the Sonne of man shall giue vnto you: for him hath * God the Father * sealed.

28 Then said they vnto him, What shall wee doe, that we might work theſe works of God?

29 ¶ Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, ¶ This is the worke of God, that yee beleue in him, whom he hath sent.

30 ¶ They said therefore vnto him, What signe shewest thou then, that we may see it, and beleue thee? what doest thou worke?

31 Our fathers did eate Manna in the desert, as it is * written, He gaue them bread from heauen to eate.

32 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto them, Verely, verely
I say vnto you, Moses gaue you not ^b that bread from heauen, but my Father giueth you that true bread from heauen.

33 For the bread of God is hee which commeth downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto
the world.

34 Then they said vnto him, Lord euermore giue vs this bread.

35 And Iesus said vnto them, I am that bread of life: he that cometh to me, shall not hunger, and he that beleueth in me, shall neuer thirst.

36 But I said vnto you, that yee also haue seene me, and beleue not.

37 ¶ All that the Father giueth me, shall come to me: and him that cometh to mee, I cast not away.

38 For I came downe from heauen, not to do mine owne will, but his will which hath sent mee.

39 And this is the fathers will which hath sent me, that of all which hee hath giuen mee, I should lose nothing, but should raise it vp againe, at the last day.

40 And this is the wil of him that sent me, that euery man which seeth the Sonne, and beleueth in him, should haue euerslating life: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

41 ¶ The Iewes then murmured at him because he saide, I am that bread, which is come downe from heauen.

42 And they said, * Is not this Iesus that

8 And againe he stouped downe, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out, one by one, beginning at the eldest euen to y^e last: Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the mids.

10 3 When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and saw no man, but the woman, hee said vnto her, Woman where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man Lord. And Iesus said, Neither doe I condemne thee: goe and sinne no more.

12 4 Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, * I am that light of the world: hee that followeth me, shall not walke in darkenes, but shall haue that light of life.

13 5 The Pharisees therefore said vnto him, Thou bearest record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 * Iesus answered, & said vnto the, b Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh: I iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true, for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Law, * that the testimonie of two men is true.

18 d I am one that beare witness of my selfe, & the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.

19 e Then said they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor that Father of mine. If ye had knowne me, ye should haue knowne that Father of mine also.

20 f The words spake Iesus in the e^r treasure, as he taught in the Temple, & no man laid hands on him: 7 for his houre was not yet come.

21 g Then said Iesus againe vnto them: I go my way, and ye shall seeke me, and shall die in your sinnes. Whither I go, can ye not come.

22 Then said the Iewes, will he kill himselfe, because he saith, Whither I go, can ye not come?

23 And he said vnto them, Yee are not from beneath, I am from above: yee are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except ye beleue that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 9 Then said they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus said vnto them, Euen ^h the same thing that I said vnto you from the beginning.

26 i I have many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent me, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those I speake I to the world.

27 k They vnderstood not that hee spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall ye know that I am hee, and that I doe nothing of my selfe, for the Father is in me, and the Father is sending me. 6 No man can know God but in Christ only. e This was the place appointed for the gathering of the offering. 7 Wee live and dye at the pleasure of God, and not of men: therefore this one thing remieth, that we goe forward constantly in our vocation. 8 Because that men doe naturally abhorre heavenly things, no man can be a disciple of Christ, vntill hee the spirit of God frame him: in the meane season notwithstanding, the world must of necessity perish, because it refletteth the life that is offered vnto it. 9 Hee shall at length know who Christ is, which will diligently heere what hee saith. f That is, I am Christ, and the Sonne, for I told you from the beginning that I was. 10 God is the reuenger of Christs doctrine despised. 11 Euen the contempt of Christ maketh to his glory: which thing his enemies shall feele at length to their great iudgment.

but as the Father hath taught mee, so I speake these things.

29 For he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I do alwaies those things that please him.

30 q As he spake these things, many beleued in him.

31 12 Then said Iesus to the Iewes which beleued in him, If ye continue in my word, ye are verily my disciples, 32 And shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33 h They answered him, We be Abrahams seed, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, that whosoever committeth sinne, is the e^r servant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.

37 i I know that ye are Abrahams seed, but ye seeke to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which ye haue seene with your Father.

39 They answered and said vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus said vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But now ye goe about to kill mee, a man that haue told you the truth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye doe the workes of your father. Then said they to him, Wee are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus said vnto them, If God were your father, then would ye loue me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why doe ye not vnderstand my k^l talke? because ye cannot heare my word.

44 * Ye are of your father the deuill, and the lusts of your father ye will doe: he hath bene a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the n^l truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh hee of his o^r owne: for he is a liar, and the p^r father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the truth, ye beleeue me not.

46 l Which of you can rebuke me offsinne? and if I say the truth, why doe ye not beleeue me?

47 * He that is of God heareth Gods words: ye therefore heare them not, because ye are not o^r God.

48 15 Then answered the Iewes, and said vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a deuill?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me. 50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one that seeketh it, and iudgeth.

12 The true disciples of Christ continue in his doctrine, that professing more & more in the knowledge of the truth, they may be delivered from the most grievous burden of sinne, into the true libertie of righteousnesse and life.

word of God was giuen, and the Scripture cannot be broken, 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest because I said, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the workes of my Father, beleeue me not.

38 But if I doe, then though yee beleeue not me, yet beleeue the workes, that yee may know and beleeue that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 ¹ Again he went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands,

40 And went againe beyond Iordan into the place where Iohn first baptized, and there abode, 41 and many resorted vnto him and said, Iohn did no miracle: but all things that Iohn spake of this man were true.

42 And many beleeued in him there.

And ¹ a certaine man was sicke named Lazarus of Bethania, the ² towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that * Marie which annointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feet with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou louest is sicke.

4 When Iesus heard it, he said, This sicknesse is not vnto ^b death, but for the glory of God that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Now Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 2 And after he had heard that he was sicke yet abode hee two daies still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, said he to his Disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

8 The disciples said vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately fought to * slone thee, and doest thou goe thither againe?

9 Iesus answered, Are there not ^c twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake hee, and after, hee said, vnto them, Our Friend Lazarus ^d sleepech: but I goe to wake him vp.

12 Then said the Disciples, Lord, if hee sleepe, hee shall be safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then said Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that yee may beleeue: but let vs goe vnto him.

16 Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellow disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure daies already.

18 (Now Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fiftene furlongs off.)

19 4 And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when shee heard that Iesus was comming, went to meet him: but Mary fate still in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

22 But now I know also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus said vnto her, Thy brother shall ^e rise againe.

24 Martha said vnto him, I know that he shall rise againe * in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus said vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: * he that beleeueth in mee, though he were dead yet shall hee liue.

26 And whoeuer liueth, and beleeueth in me shall neuer die: beleeuest thou this?

27 She said vnto him, yea, Lord, I beleeue that thou art that Christ that sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so said, shee went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arole quickly, and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house and comforted her, when they saw Marie, that she rose vp hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, Shee goeth vnto the graue to weepe there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and saw him, shee fell downe at his feet, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 5 When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, hee ^f grieved in the spirit, & was troubled in himselfe.

34 And said, Where haue ye laid him? They said vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then said the Iewes, Behold, how hee loued him.

37 And some of them said, * Could not hee which opened the eyes of the blinde, haue made also that this man should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe grieved in himselfe and came to the graue. And it was a cane, and a stone was laid vpon it.

39 Iesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said vnto him, Lord hee stinkech already: for he hath bene dead foure daies.

40 Iesus said vnto her, said I not vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleeue, thou shouldst see the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was laid. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and said, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me alwaies, but because of the people that stand by, I said it, that they may beleeue, that thou hast sent me.

43 As hee had spoken these things, hee cryed with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead came forth bound hand and foot with bands, & his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus said vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

45 ¶ Then many of the Iewes, which came to Mary, and had seene the things, which Iesus did, beleeded in him.

46 ¶ But some of them went their way to the Phariseis, and told them what things, Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the hie Priests and the Pharisees a council, and said, What shall wee doe for this man doth many miracles.

48 ¶ If we let him thus alone, all men will beleue in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and the nation.

49 ¶ Then one of them named Caiaaphs, which was the hie Priest that same yere, said vnto them, Ye percene nothing at all,

50 ¶ Nor yet doe you consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 ¶ This spake he not of himselfe: but being hie Priest that same yere, he prophesied that Iesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 ¶ Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes Pasfouer was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem before the Pasfouer, to purifie themselves.

56 Then fought they for Iesus, & pake among themselves, as they stood in the Temple. What thinke ye, that he cometh not to the feast?

57 Now both the high Priests and the Pharisees had given a commandment, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

¶ Chap. 12. 14. 8 Christ doth sometime to cure the tongues, even of the wicked, that even in cursing, they blesse.

¶ For they were not gathered together in one countrey, at the Iewes time, but to be gathered from all quarters, from the East to West. ¶ Wee may give place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient to doe so, but yet in such sort, that wee warne not from Gods vocation.

CHAP. XII.

1 ¶ At Christ is supper with Lazarus. 3 Mary anointeth his feet. 5 Iudas Iscariot faileth with her. 7 Christ saith to her, to the Priests wouldst Lazarus to death. 12 At Christ cometh to Hierusalem. 18 The people meet him. 20 The Greekes desire to see him. 43 The chief priests desire to kill him, but for feare doe not conspise him. 44 hee exhorteth to faith.

¶ Chap. 12. 7. 10. 14. 31 An horrible example in Iudas of a man blinded with conceales, & yet pretending godlinesse.

¶ Chap. 12. 19. 21 This extraordinary anointing which was for a signe, it so allowed of God that hee witnessed how hee will not be worshipped with outward pompe, or costly service, but with almes.

1 Then ³ Iesus, six daies before the Pasfouer, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper, and Martha served: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.

3 Thenooke Mariah pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and annointed Iesus feet, and wiped his feet with her haire, and the house was filled with the fauour of the ointment.

4 Then said one of his Disciples, euen Iudas Iscariot Simons sonne, who should betray him

5 ¶ Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and giuen to the poore?

6 Now hee said this, not that hee cared for the poore, but because he was a thiefe, and had the bagge, and a bare that which was giuen.

7 ¶ Then said Iesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burning thee keape.

8 For the poore ye haue alwaies with you, but me ye shall not haue alwaies.

9 ¶ Then much people of the Iewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake onely but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also,

11 Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleued in Iesus.

12 ¶ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus should come to Hierusalem, 13 Tooke branches of palme trees, and went forth to meet him, and cryed, Hosanna, Blessed be the king of Israel that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Iesus found a yong asse, and late thereon, as it is written, 15 ¶ Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on an asse colt.

16 But his disciples vnderstood not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, they remembered they that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that he called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also because they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 ¶ And the Phariseis said among themselves, Perceiue ye how ye perauile nothing? Behold the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certaine Greekes among them that came vp to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, wee would see that Iesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and againe Andrew and Philip told Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 ¶ Verily, verily I say vnto you, Except the wheat come fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 ¶ Hee that loueth his life shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world shall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 ¶ If any man serue mee, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall also my seruant be: and if any man serue me, him will my Father honour.

27 ¶ Now is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, glorie mee from this houre: but therefore come I vnto this houre.

28 Father, glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voice from heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then said the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other said, An Angel spake to him.

30 ¶ Iesus answered and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

¶ Chap. 12. 31. 34. 36 ¶ Whiles Christ went about to suffer all the punishment which is due to our finnes, and while his dislike did not yete these his misdeeds, and power to take as his satisfaction might be thoroughly wrought, now when he is stricken with the great feare of the curse of God, he crieth out and praith, and desireth to be released: yet notwithstanding hee preferreth the will and glory of his Father before all things, whose obedience the Father alloweth even from heauen, c. 70.

27 And after the fop, Satan entred into him, Then said Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickly.

28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he pake it vnto him.

1 Hee comforteth his disciples, 2 ¶ declaring his diuinitie and the fruit of his death. 16 promising the comforters, 17 vnto the holy Spirit. 26 whose office bee Ierusalem. 27 Hee promisseth his peace

1 ¶ Er not your heart be troubled: ye beleeeue in God, beleeeue also in me.

2 In my fathers house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, I would haue told you: I goe to b prepare a place for you.

3 And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I will come againe, and receiue you vnto my selfe, that where I am, there may ye be also.

4 And whither I goe, yee know, and the way yee know.

5 Thomas said vnto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can wee then know the way?

6 ¶ All this I haue told you so plainly. 6 ¶ All this I haue told you so plainly. 6 ¶ All this I haue told you so plainly.

1 ¶ Hee beleeeueth in God that beleeeueth in Christ, and there is no other way to continue our mindes in great diffidence. 2 ¶ That if it were not so, I tell you, to wit, yee should there were place enough not only for me, but for you also in my Fathers house. I would not thus deceiue you with a vaine hope: but I would haue told you so plainly. 6 ¶ All this I haue told you so plainly.

6 Iesus said vnto him, I am d that Way, and that Truth, and that life. No man cometh vnto the Father, but by me.

7 ¶ If yee had knowne me, yee should haue known my Father also: and from henceforth yee know him, and haue seene him.

8 Philip layd vnto him, Lord, shew vs thy Father, and it sufficeth vs.

9 Iesus layd vnto him, I haue bene so long time with you, and hast thou not knowne mee, Philip? hee that hath seene mee, hath seene my Father: how then sayest thou, Shew vs thy Father?

10 ¶ Beleuest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The words that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the workes.

11 Beleeeue me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me: at the least, beleeeue mee for the very workes sake.

12 ¶ Verely, verely, I say vnto you, he that beleeeueth in me, the workes that I doe, he shall do also, and d greater then these shall hee doe: for I goe vnto my Father.

13 ¶ And whatsoever yee aske in my Name, that will I doe, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne.

14 If yee shall aske any thing in my Name, I will doe it.

15 ¶ If ye loue me, keepe my commandments.

16 And I will pray the Father, and hee shall giue you another Comforter, that hee may abide with you for euer.

17 ¶ Even the Spirit of truth, whom the Father will send, because hee seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him: for hee dwelleth in you, and shall be in you.

18 I will not leaue you fatherlesse, but I will come to you.

19 Yet a little while, and the world shall see mee no more, but yee shall see me, because I liue, ye shall liue also.

20 At that day shall yee know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 Hee that hath my commandments, & keepeth them, is he that loueth me: and hee that loueth me, shall be loued of my Father: and I will loue him, and will shew mine owne selfe to him.

22 ¶ Iudas sayd vnto him (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt shew thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world?

23 Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, If any man loue mee, hee will keepe my word, and my Father will loue him, and wee will come vnto him, and will dwell with him.

24 Hee that loueth mee not, keepeth not my words, and the word which ye heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which sent me.

25 ¶ These things haue I spoken vnto you, being present with you.

26 ¶ But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I haue told you.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest mee, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the world, that they might haue my joy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I haue giuen them my word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepest them from euill.

18 As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the * truth.

20 I pray not for these alone, but for the alſo which shall beleue in me, through their word.

21 That they all may be one, as thou O Father, art in me, and I in thee: men that they may be also one in vs, that the world may beleue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gauest me, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as we are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, & hast loued them as thou hast loued me.

24 * Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with me euen where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast giuen me: for thou loudest me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I haue known thee, and these haue known, that thou hast sent me.

26 * And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued mee, may be in them, and I in them.

2 And Iudas which betrayed him, knew also the place: for Iesus oft times referred thither with his Disciples.

3 * Iudas then, after he had received a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharisees, came thither with lanterns & torches, and weapons.

4 Then Iesus, knowing all things that should come vnto him, went forth and said vnto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am he. Now Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 As soone then as he had said vnto them, I am hee, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whom seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am hee: therefore if yee seeke me, let these goe their way.

9 This was that the word might bee fulfilled which hee spake, * O them which thou gauest me, haue I lost none.

11 Then sayde Ie vs vnto Peter, Put vp thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?

12 Then the band and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus and bound him,

13 And led him away to * Annas first (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere.)

14 * And Caiaphas was he, that gaue counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 ¶ Now Simon Peter followed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was known of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest:

16 But Peter stood at the doore without, which was known vnto the other disciple, which was known vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then said the maid that kept the doore, ynto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the seruants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coales: for it was colde, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 ¶ (The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world, I euer taught in the Synagogue, and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou mee? aske them which haue heard what I said vnto them: behold, they know what I said.

22 When hee had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witness of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

24 ¶ Now Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest.)

25 * And Simon Peter stood and warmed himselfe, and they sayd vnto him, Art thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.

26 One of the seruants of the high Priest, his cousin whose eare Peter smote oft, sayd, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediately the cocke crew.

28 ¶ 10 Then led they Iesus from ^a Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be ^a defiled, but that they might eate the Pascheouer.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and sayd, What accusation bring you against this man?

30 They answered & said vnto him, If he were not an euill doer, wee would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then sayd Pilate vnto them, Take ye him, and iudge him after your owne Law. Then the Iewes sayd vnto him, ^b It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death.

32 ^c It was that the word of Iesus ^a might bee fulfilled which he spake, ^c signifying, what death he should die.

33 ^a So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and sayd vnto him, Art thou the King of the Iewes?

34 Iesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iew? Thine owne nation, & the hie Priests haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done?

36 ^a Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would fyerly fight, that I should not bee deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome nor from hence.

37 Pilate then said vnto him, Thou art a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witness vnto the truth: euery one that is of the truth, heareth my voyce.

38 ^a Pilate said vnto him, ^a What is truth? And when he had sayd that, ^b he went out againe vnto the Iewes, and sayd vnto them, I find in him no cause at all.

39 ^a But you haue a custome that I should deliuer you one loofe at the Pascheouer: will ye then that I loofe vnto you the King of the Iewes?

CHAP. XIX.

1 Pilate, when Christ was scourged, 2 and crowned with thorne, 3 was desirous to let him loose. 4 But being overcome by the counsaile of the Iewes, 5 hee deliuereth him to be crucified. 6 Iesus committeth his Mother to the Disciple. 7 Heeuing tasted vinegar, hee dieth: 34. and being dead, his side was pierced with a spear. 40. He is buried.

¶ Then ^a Pilate tooke Iesus, and ^a scourged him.

2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment.

3 And said, Haile King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rods.

4 ^a Then Pilate went fourth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I find no fault in him at all,

5 Then came Iesus fourth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate said vnto them, Behold, hee the man.

6 Then when the hie Priests and officers saw him, they cried, saying, ^a Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate sayd vnto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a Law and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ 3 When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid.

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, W hence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answer.

10 Then said Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore hee that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cæsars friend: for whoseuer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cæsar.

13 ¶ 4 When Pilate heard this word, hee brought Iesus forth, and fate downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the paucement, and in Hebrew, ^b Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Pascheouer, and about the sixt houre: and hee sayd vnto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cryed, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him, Pilate sayd vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The hie Priest answered, We haue no King but Cæsar.

16 ^a Then deliuered he him vnto them, to bee crucified. ^a And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the mids.

19 ¶ 6 And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then said the hie Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not the King of the Iewes, but that he said, I am King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ 7 Then the ^a souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seame wouen from the top thorowout.

24 ¶ 8 Therefore they sayd one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, ^a They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the Souldiers did these things in deede.

25 ¶ 8 Then stood by the crosse of Iesus, his mother,

^a They will haue him crucified, whom by old custome of theirs, they should haue stoned: and hanged by account of blasphemy: but they desire to haue him crucified after the manner of the Romanes. 3 Pilates confidence fighteth for Christ, but straight way it yieldeth, because it is not upholden with the singular vertue of God.

4 Pilate condemneth himselfe first, with the same strength wherewith he afterward condemneth Christ. 6 Gabbatha signifies an high place, an iudgement seate arr.

21 * Then said Iesus to them againe, Peace be vnto you: as my Father sent me, so send I you.

22 And when hee had said that, he breathed on them, and said vnto them, Receiue the holy Ghost.

23 ¶ Whoſeuer ſinnes yee remit, they are remitted vnto them: and whoſeuer ſinnes yee retein, they are retained.

24 ¶ 7 But Thomas one of the twelue, called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came.

25 The other diſciples therefore ſayd vnto him, We haue ſene the Lord: but hee ſaid vnto them, Except I ſee in his hands the print of the nayles, and put my finger into the print of the nayles, and put mine hand into his ſide, I wil not beleue it.

26 ¶ And eight dayes after, againe his Diſciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus, when the doores were ſhut, and ſtood in the mids, and ſaid, Peace be vnto you.

27 After ſaid hee to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and ſee mine hands, & put forth thine hand, and put it into my ſide, and be not faithleſſe, but faithfull.

28 Then Thomas answered and ſaid vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29 ¶ Iesus ſaid vnto him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſene me, thou beleueſt, bleſſed are they that haue not ſene, and haue beleued.

30 ¶ 9 And many other ſignes alſo did, Iesus in the preſence of his diſciples, which ſare not written in this booke.

31 But theſe things are written that yee might beleue, that Iesus is that Chriſt that Sonne of God, and that in beleueing yee might haue life through his Name.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iesus appeareth to his diſciples at they were by a fiſhing, & 7. whom ſheweth by a miraculouſ draught of fiſhes. 11 ſee cometh the charge of the ſheepes Peter, 13 and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

After theſe things, ¶ Iesus ſhewed himſelfe againe to his Diſciples at the ſea of Tiberias: and thus ſhewed he himſelfe:

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the ſonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his Diſciples.

3 Simon Peter ſaid vnto them, I goe a fiſhing. They ſaid vnto him, Wee alſo will goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a ſhip ſtraightway, & that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Iesus ſtood on the ſhore: neuertheleſſe the diſciples knew not that it was Iesus.

5 Iesus then ſaid vnto them, Sirs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No.

6 Then he ſaid vnto them, Caſt out the net on the right ſide of the ſhip, and ye ſhal find ſo. So they caſt out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fiſhes.

7 Therefore ſaid the diſciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his ſcoat to him (for he was naked) and caſt himſelfe into the ſea.

8 But the other diſciples came by ſhip, (for they were not farre from land, but about two hundred cubites) and they drew the net with fiſhes.

9 As ſoone then as they were come to land, they ſaw hote coales, and fiſh layd thereon, and bread.

10 Iesus ſayd vnto them, Bring of the fiſhes, which ye haue now caught.

11 Simon Peter ſtepped forth and drew the net to land, full of great fiſhes, an hundred fifty and three: and albeit there were ſo many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Iesus ſayd vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the diſciples durſt aſke him, Who art thou, ſeeing they knewe that hee was the Lord.

13 Iesus then came and toke bread and gaue them, and fiſh likewiſe.

14 This is now the third time that Iesus ſhewed himſelfe to his diſciples, after that he was riſen againe from the dead.

15 ¶ 1 So when they had dined, Iesus ſayd to Simon Peter, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loueſt thou me more then theſe? He ſayd vnto him, Yea, Lord thou knoweſt that I loue thee. He ſayd vnto him Feede my Lambes.

16 He ſaid to him againe the ſecond time, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loueſt thou mee? Hee ſaid vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knoweſt that I loue thee. He ſayd vnto him, Feede my ſheepe.

17 He ſayd vnto him the third time, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loueſt thou me? Peter was forrie becauſe he ſaid to him the third time, Loueſt thou me? and he ſayd vnto him, Lord, thou knoweſt all things: thou knoweſt that I loue thee. Iesus ſaid vnto him, Feede my ſheepe.

18 ¶ Verily, verily I ſay vnto thee, When thou waſt yong, thou girdedſt thy ſelfe, and walkedſt whither thou wouldſt: but when thou ſhalt be olde, thou ſhalt ſtretch forth thine hands, and another ſhall gird thee and leade thee whither thou wouldſt ¶ eor.

19 And this ſpake hee ſignifying by what death he ſhould gloriſie God. And when he had ſayd this, he ſaid to him, Follow me.

20 ¶ Then Peter turned about, and ſaw the diſciple whom Iesus ſo loued, following, which had alſo ¶ leaned on his breaſt, at ſupper, and had ſayd, Lord, which is hee that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore ſaw him, he ſayd to Iesus, Lord, what ſhall this man doe?

22 Iesus ſaid vnto him, If I will that hee tarrye till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou mee.

23 Then went this word abroad among the brethren, that this Diſciple ſhould not die. Yet Iesus ſayd not to him, Hee ſhall not die: but If I will that hee tarrye till I come, what is it to thee?

24 ¶ 5 This is that diſciple, which teſtiſieth of theſe things, and wrote theſe things, and wee know that his teſtimony is true.

25 ¶ Now there are alſo many other things which Iesus did, the which if they ſhould be written every one, I ſuppoſe the world could not contein the bookes that ſhould be written. Amen.

¶ Iesus ſayd to him, I ſuppoſe the world could not contein the bookes that ſhould be written. Amen. ¶ Iesus ſayd to him, I ſuppoſe the world could not contein the bookes that ſhould be written. Amen. ¶ Iesus ſayd to him, I ſuppoſe the world could not contein the bookes that ſhould be written. Amen.

2 Peter by his triple confeſſion is reſtored into his former degree from whence hee fell by his triple deniall: and therefore ſhall be aduanced, that he is indeed a Paſtor, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe. ¶ It was meete that he ſhould be denied himſelfe ſhould confeſſe himſelfe to be a Paſtor, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe. ¶ It was meete that he ſhould be denied himſelfe ſhould confeſſe himſelfe to be a Paſtor, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe.

¶ It was meete that he ſhould be denied himſelfe ſhould confeſſe himſelfe to be a Paſtor, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe. ¶ It was meete that he ſhould be denied himſelfe ſhould confeſſe himſelfe to be a Paſtor, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe. ¶ It was meete that he ſhould be denied himſelfe ſhould confeſſe himſelfe to be a Paſtor, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe.

4 The publiſhing of the ſingularitie of ſinnes of faith in Chriſt, and the ſetting forth and denouncing the worth of God in retaining the ſins of the vnbeleueers, is the ſumme of the preaching of the Goſpel.

7 Chriſt draweth out of the vnbeleue of Thomas, a certaine and true teſtimonie of his reſtored.

8 True faith dependeth vpon the mouth of God, and not vpon ſenſible eyes.

9 To beleue in Chriſt the Sonne of God, and our onely Saniour, is the end of the doctrine of the Goſpel, and eſpecially of the hiſtorie of the reſurrection.

11 In that, that Chriſt here is not ſenſibly preſent, but alſo eateth with his diſciples, he giueth a moſt full ſatisfaction.

¶ It was meete that he ſhould be denied himſelfe ſhould confeſſe himſelfe to be a Paſtor, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe.

8 Repentance and remission of sin in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel, and therefore of our salvation: and they are obtained by the promises apprehended by faith, and are ratified by baptism, wherewith is joyed the virtue of the holy Ghost.

a The words that are here, quicken us to understand that it was a free gift.

9 He is truly joyed to the Church which separateth himself from the wicked.

10 A notable example of the virtue of the holy Ghost: but such are of age, are not baptized before they make confession of their faults.

11 The marks of the true Church, are the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charity, the pure & simple administration of the Sacraments, and true innocency of all the faithful.

12 Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charity, as is shewed afterwards.

13 So by breaking of bread, they understood that living together, and the banquet which they offer to Christ, they tried to celebrate the Lords Supper, which was in whole to be kept, as Paul saith in 1 Cor. 11. 17.

14 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient the visible sign of the sacrament that the Church may be planted, and have some refreshing.

15 Christs make all things common concerning the life, according as necessity requireth.

16 The faithful came together at the beginning with great faith, not only to the hearing of the word, but also to meat.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts and said vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe?

38 Then Peter said vnto them, Amend your liues, and bee baptized every one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of finnes: and ye shall receive the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the promise is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are affare off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, laying, Sauer your selues from this forward generation.

41 Then they that gladly received his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules.

42 And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and fellowship, and breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 And feare came vpon every soule: and many wonders and signes were done by the Apostles.

44 And all that belseed, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions, and goods, and parted them to all men, as every one had need.

46 And they continued daily in one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meat together with gladnesse and singleness of heart, 47 Praying God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saued.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter going into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple 3 To the people gathered in: sheweth the miracle 4 hee pouereth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 5 accusing their ingratitude, 6 and requiring their repentance.

Now Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe was caried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the Temple called Beautiful, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into the Temple, desired to receive an almes.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with Iohn, said, Looko on vs.

5 And he a gaue heed vnto them, trusting to receive somthing of them.

6 Then said Peter, Silver & gold haue I none, but such as I haue, that giue I thee: In the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.

7 And he tooke him by the right hand, & lift him vp, and immediately his feete and anke bones received strength.

8 And he leaped vp, stood, and walked, and entered with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walke, and praising God.

10 And they knew him, that it was he which sat for the times at the Beautiful gate of the Temple: and they were amazed, and fore astonished at that, which was come vnto him.

11 And as the creeple which was healed, held Peter and Iohn, all the people ran amazed vnto them in the porch, which is called Solomons.

12 So when Peter law it, he answered to the people, Ye men of Israel, why marraile you at this? or why looke yee so steadfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlinesse, we had made this man goe?

13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, & Iacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Iesus, whom yee betrayed, & denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had iudged him to be delinquent.

14 But yee denied the Holy one, and the Iust, and desired a murderer to be giuen you, 15 And killed the Lord of life, whom God hath raised fit the dead, whereof we are witnesse.

16 And his Name hath made this man found, whom yee fee and know, through faith in his Name: and the faith which is by him, hath giuen to him this perfect health of his whole bodie in the presence of you all.

17 And now brethren, I know that through ignorance yee did it, as did also your gouernours.

18 But those things which God before had shewed by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your liues therefore and turne, that your sins may be put away, when the time of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.

20 And he shall send Iesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you, 21 Whom the heauen must containe vntill the time that all things bee restored, which God hath spoken by the mouth of his holy Prophets since the world began.

22 For Moyses said vnto the Fathers, The Lord your God shall raise vp vnto you a Prophet, even of your brethren, like vnto me: ye shall heare him in all things whateuer he shall say vnto you, 23 For it shall bee that every Per son which shall not heare that Prophet, shall bee destroyed out of the people.

24 Also all the Prophets from Samuel, and thenceforth as many as haue spoken, haue I likewise foretold of these daies.

25 4 Ye are children of the Prophets, and of the covenant, which God hath made vnto our fathers, saying to Abraham, * Euen in thy seed shall all the kunnreds of the earth be blessed.

26 First vnto you hath God raised vp his Sonne Iesus, and him hee hath sent to bless you, in turning every one of you from your iniquities, ly perish.

27 To the people gathered in: sheweth the miracle 28 hee pouereth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 29 accusing their ingratitude, 30 and requiring their repentance.

34 And Iohn, 35 hee pouereth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 36 accusing their ingratitude, 37 and requiring their repentance.

37 And Iohn, 38 hee pouereth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 39 accusing their ingratitude, 40 and requiring their repentance.

46 And Iohn, 47 hee pouereth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 48 accusing their ingratitude, 49 and requiring their repentance.

b Eiferous, because they, who had healed him, were because they feared that they should be persecuted of the people, b should be persecuted.

c Iudges are appointed to the conscience, and therefore they doo wickedly about them, who standing amazed either at the miracles themselves, or at the instruments and means which it pleases God to use, take an occasion to establish an idleness and superstition by the which God hath provided for the knowledge of his true worship, that is, Christiaritie.

d Chap. 5. 20. c Who haue life in himselfe, & giue life to others.

e Because hee was raised from the dead, and thus hee is the life of the world.

f It is befall of us to receive Christ, for soe as he is offered vnto vs: but such a benefit through mans weakness, haue yet repented for a meane.

g For the designe of the life, we haue to see a gainst that, the decree & purpose of God, foretold by the Prophets of Christ, how that first or all he should be crucified here vpon earth: & then he should appeare from heauen: the iudge and collector of all things that hee should be saued, and all who beleeue in him.

CHAP. VI.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconship 5 to Steuen chosen man. 8 Of whom Steuen is testified, where 12 He is taken. 13 and accused as a trafficker of Moses Law.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 2 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built. 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordained according to the heavenly Pattern. 14 The Jews gushing their teeth, 59 stone him.

1 Steuen is admitted to plead his cause, but to this end and purpose, that vnder a cloak and colour of law he might be condemned.

1 When Satan hath all the Church without, and that to small purpose and in vain, he assaileth it within, with civil dissention and strife betwixt themselves: But the Apostles take occasion thereby to enter into the Church.

And in those dayes, as the number of the disciples grew, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians towards the Hebrewes, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministring.

2 Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples together, and said, It is not meete that we should leaue the word of God, to serue the tables.

3 Wherefore brethren, looke you out among you seven men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisdom, which we may appoint to this businesse.

4 And we will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministracion of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antiochia, 6 Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and layd their hands on them.

7 And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the faith.

8 ¶ Now Steuen full of faith & power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 Then there arose certaine of the Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which said, Wee haue heard him speake blasphemous wordes against Moses, and God.

12 Thus they moued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Council, 13 And for forth false witnesses, which laid, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the Law.

14 For wee haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that sate in the Council looked stedfastly on him, they saw his face, as it had beene the face of an Angel.

Then said the chiefe Priests, Are these things so?

2 And he said, Ye men, brethren, and fathers, hearken. That God of a glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran.

3 And said vnto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall shew thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him forth thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell.

5 And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no not the breadth of a foot: yet he promised that hee would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child.

6 But God spake thus, that his seed should bee a sojourner in a strange land: and that they should keepe it in bondage; and entreat it euill four hundred yeeres.

7 But the nation to whom they shalbe in bondage, will I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth, and serue me in this place.

8 He gaue him also the covenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate Isaac, and circumcised him the eighth day: and Isaac begate Jacob, and Jacob the twelve Patriarkes.

9 And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, sold Joseph into Egypt: but God was with him,

10 And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and gaue him fauour and wisdom in the sight of Pharaos king of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when Iacob heard that there was come in Egypt, he sent our fathers first:

13 And at the second time Ioseph was knowne of his brethren, and Iosephs kindred was made knowne vnto Pharaos.

14 Then sent Ioseph and caused his father to bee brought, and all his kindred, euen threefcore and fiftene soules.

15 So Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he died, and our fathers,

16 And were remooued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promise drew neere, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt.

1 Steuen is admitted to plead his cause, but to this end and purpose, that vnder a cloak and colour of law he might be condemned.

1 Steuen witnesseth vnto the Iewes, that he acknowledged the true Father, and the onely true God, and sheweth moreover, that they are more ancient then the Temple, with all their ceremonies appointed by the Law, and therefore ought not to lay another foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free conscience, that God made with the Fathers.

b. In the following of others according to their will.

c. The office of preaching the word, and dispensing the goods of the Church are different one from another, and not truly to be ioyned together, as the Apostles doe here institute: And the Apostles doe not chuse so much as y Deacons without the content of the Church.

c. It is false to say, as we may in this case, as it is said, 10. But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

d. By the name of Libertines, other offices are also named, which are annexed to it, such as pertaine to the care of the people.

e. In choosing of Deacons (and much more of Ministers) there must be examination both of their learning and manner of life.

g. Excellent and singular gift. f. Scholmes and Vniuersities were of old time ad to false pastors, and were the instruments of Satan to blowe abroad and defend false doctrines.

b. Of the company and Cadege as it were. f. False teachers, because they will not bee overcome, flee from disputations to manifest and open bandering and false accusations.

i. Hereby it appeared that Steuen had an excellent and good conscience, having a quiet and settled minde, a good conscience and pure perswasion that his cause was iust: for seeing hee was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes might be persuaded and amended.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them and when hee was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widowes stood by him weeping, and shewing the coates and garments, which Dorcas made, while hee was with them.

40 But Peter put them all forth and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and said, Tabitha, Arise. And she opened her eyes, and when he saw Peter, late vp.

41 Then he gaue her the hand, and lift her vp, and called the Saints and widowes, and restored her aliae.

42 And it was known throughout all Ioppa, and many beleeued in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe, that hee taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

CHAP. X.

3 Cornelius, 4 at the Angles commendation, 5 sendeth for Peter. 11 Who also by a vision, 15. 20. is taught not to despise the Gentiles: 34. Hee preacheth the Gospell to Cornelius and his household: 45. Who hauing receiued the holy Ghost, 47. are baptizet.

¶ Furthermore there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captain of the band called the Italian band.

2 A devout man, and one that feared God with all his household, which gaue much almes to the people and prayed God continually.

3 Hee saue in a vision evidently (about the ninth hour of the day) an Angel of God coming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraide, and said, What is it, Lord? And hee said vnto him, Thy prayers and chine almes are come vp into remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 Hee lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the Sea side: hee shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius was departed, hee called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And tolde them all things, and sent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morrow as they went on their iourney, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vpon the house to pray, about the sixth houre.

10 Then waxed hee an hungred, and would haue eaten: but while they made some thing ready, he fell into a trance.

11 And hee saw heauen opened, and a certaine vessell come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheete, knit at the foure corners, and was let downe to the earth.

12 Wherein were all manner of foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes and creeping things, and fowles of the heauen.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter: kill and eate.

14 But Peter said, Not so, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted, or vn-cleane.

15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

16 This was done thrise, and the vessell was drawen vp againe into heauen.

17 ¶ Now while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which he had seene, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons house, and stood at the gate, 18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit sayde vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and gone with them, and doubt nothing: for, I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and sayd, Behold, I am hee whom yee seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy words.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after they entred into Cesarea. Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and speciall friends.

25 ¶ And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he sayd vnto them, Ye know that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iewe, to company, or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed me that I should not call any man polluted, or vn-cleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for: I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius said, Four dayes agoe, about this houre, I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing, 31 And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and chine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 ¶ Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter, (hee is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the Sea side) who when hee commeth, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediately, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are wee all here present before God to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 ¶ Then Peter opened his mouth, and sayd, Of a truth I perceiue, that God is no acceptor of persons.

1 Doe not thou hold them as vn-cleane.

3 Religious adoration or worship agreeth only to God: but civill worship is giuen to the Ministers of the world, although not without danger.

m Hee meaneth not the selfe same house but like that, above name of the other day, as it was then nine when hee spake to Peter.

4 Cornelius faith shewed forth in selfe by prayer and fasting.

5 As faith commeth by hearing, so it is nourished and groweth vp by the same.

6 Distinction of nations is taken away by the coming of Christ: and it is evidently leene by faith and righteousness, who is agreeable to him, or whom hee accepteth.

35 But in every nation hee that * feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.
36 Ye know the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Ie-sus Christ, which is Lord of all :
37 ¶ Even the worde which came through all Iudea, * beginning in Galile, after the Baptisme which Iohn preached :
38 ¶ To wit, how God anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, & with power : who went about doing good, & healing all that were oppressed of the devil : for God was with him.
39 And wee are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hieru-salem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.
40 Him God raised vp the third day, and caused that hee was shewed openly :
41 Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses chosen before of God, ¶ even to vs which did eat & drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.
42 And he commanded vs to preach vnto the people, & to testify, that it is hee that is ordained nesse, that through his Name all that beleue in him, shall receive remission of finnes.

44 ¶ 8 While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fel on all them which heard the word.
45 So they of the circumcision, which beleeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.
46 For they heard them speake with tongues, and manifest God. Then answered Peter, 47 ¶ Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which haue received the holy Ghost as well as we ?
48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to

CHAP. XI.

1 Peter being accus'd for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth him selfe. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, 26 where the disciples are called Christians: 28 and there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

NOW the Apostles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.
2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,
3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.
4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying, 5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I saw this vision. A certaine vessel com-ming downe as it had bene a great sheete, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me,

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, & saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

7 Also I heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Arise,
Peter : slay and eate.
8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and al were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 Then behold, immediately there were three men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cefarea vnto me.

12 And the Spirit layd vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreover, these fixe brethren came with me, and wee entred into the mans house.

13 And he shewed vs, how he had seen an Angel in his house, which stood & said to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 Hee shall speake words vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shall be saved.

15 And as I beganne to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, * euen as vpon vs at the beginning.

16 Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, * Iohn baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 For as much then as God gave them a like gift, as hee did vnto vs, when wee beleueed in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God ?

18 ¶ When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

19 ¶ 3 And they which were * scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steeuen, went throughout til they came vnto Phenice, and Cyprus, and ¶ Antiochia preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes only.

20 ¶ 4 Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleueed and turned vnto
the Lord.

22 ¶ 5 Then tidings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, & they sent forth Barnabas, that hee should goe vnto Antiochia.

23 Who when he came and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, & much people ioyned themselves vnto the Lord.

25 ¶ 6 Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul :

26 And when he had found him, he brought him vnto Antiochia and it came to passe that a whole yere they were cōuersant with the Church, and taught much people, in so much that the duplices were first called Christians in Antiochia.

27 7 In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia.
28 And there flood vp one of them named Agabius, & signified by the spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Caesar.
29 8 Then the disciples euery man according the Elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

CHAP. XII.

2 Herod killeth James with the sword. 4. and imprisoneth Peter
8. wherupon the Angel delivereth him. 20 Herod being offended with thine of Tyra, 21. is perswaded: 22. And taking the honour due to God for himselfe, 23. he is eaten with wormes, and iustly.

Now about that time, 2 Herode the King stretched forth his hands to vex certain of the Church,
2 And he killed James the brother of Iohn with the sword.

3 And when hee saw that it pleased the Iewes he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vneleauened bread)
4 And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, intending after the Pasouer to bring him forth to the people.

5 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of y Church vnto God for him.
6 And when Herod would haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slepe Peter betweene two souldiers, bound with two chains, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.

7 And behold, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and a light shined in the c house, and hee smote Peter on the side, and rayfed him vp saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel sayd vnto him, Gird thy selfe, and binde on thy sandales. And so hee did.
Then he said vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened vnto them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one freete, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Now I knowe for a trueth, that the Lord, hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for
of the people of the Iewes.

12 And as hee considered the thing, hee came to the house of Mary, the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together and prayed.

13 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide came forth to hearken, named Rhode.

14 But when he knew Peters voice he opened the entrie doore, for gladnesse, but ranne in, and told how Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they sayd vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and law him, they were astonished.

17 7 And he beckned vnto them with the hand to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he sayd, God sheweth these things vnto Iames and to the brethren: and hee departed and went into another place.

18 ¶ 8 Now as soone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had fought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, & commanded them to be led to bee punished. And he went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 9 Then Herode was angry with them Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, & perswaded Blautus the kings Chamberlane, and they desired peace, because their country was nourished by the Kings land.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arrayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sat on the iudge-ment seate, and made an oration vnto them.

22 10 And the people gaue a shout, saying,
The voyce of God, and not of man.

23 11 But immediately the Angel of the Lord smote him because hee gaue not glory vnto God, so that he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

24 12 And the f word of God grew and multiplied.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and tooke with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

rated vnto him. 6 At Paphos, 8 Elymas the sorcerer, 11 standing them.

There were also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certaine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called N ger, and Lucius of Cyrene, & Manahan (which had bene brought vp with Herod the Terrach) and Saul.

2 Now, as they b minister to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost sayd, Separate mee Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue called them.

3 Then fasted they and prayed, & laid their hands on them, and let them goe.

4 And they after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto 4 Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had also Iohn to run minister.

16 God sheweth the faults of his servants to the profit and building of his Church, yet we haue to take heed even in the best manners, that we open not measure in our hearts.

17 They were in great heats: but herein we haue to consider the force of Gods command, for by this measure it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospel was extended in many places.

37 And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.

38 But Paul thought it not meet to take him vnto their companie, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 Then were they so stirred, that they departed alimder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke and sayled vnto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And hee went throught Syria and Cilicia, establishing the Churches.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul having circumcised Timotheus, 22 being at Philippi, 24 instructed Lydians in the faith, 16 The spirits of divination, 18 by him cast out: 20 an ill for that cause, 21 they are whipped, 22 and imprisoned, 26 Through an earthquake, 27 the prison doors are opened, 31, 32 The Gaoler receiveth the faith.

Then came hee to Derbe and to Lystra: and beholde, a certaine discipule was there, named Timotheus, a womanes son, which was a Jewe, and beleued, but his father was a Grecian.

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, b reported well.

3 Therefore Paul would that he should goe forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of the Jewes, which were in those quarters: for they all knew y his father was a Grecian.

4 And as they went throught the cities, they deliuered them of the decree to keepe, ordeined of the Apostles and Elders which were at Ierusalem.

5 And so were the Churches established in the faith, and increased in number dayly.

6 ¶ Now when they had gone throught Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden of the holy Ghost, to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia and foughte to go into Bithinia: but the spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed throught Mysia, and came to Troas.

9 Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 And after hee had seene the vision, immediately we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preach the Gospel vnto them.

11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis.

12 And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came fro Rome to dwell there: and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 And on the Sabbath day we went out of the citie, besides a riuer where they were wont to pray: and we sat downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.

14 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.

15 And when shee was baptizied, and her household, she besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithfull to the Lord, come in to mine house, and abide there: and these constraints vs.

16 And it came to passe that as wee went to prayer, a certaine maid hauing a spirit of diuination, met vs, which gate her masters much vantage with divining.

17 She followed Paul and vs, & cryed, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shew vnto you the way of saluation.

18 And this did shee many dayes: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and said to the spirit, I command thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

19 Now when her masters saw that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas and drew them into the market place vnto the Magistrates.

20 And brought them to the gouernours, saying, These men which are Iewes trouble our citie, 21 And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

22 The people also rose vptoegether against them, and the gouernours rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them fore, they cast them into prison, commanding the Gaoler to keepe them surely.

24 They hauing receiued such commaundement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete fast in the stocks.

25 ¶ Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.

27 Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when hee saw the prison doores open, he drew out his sword and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had bin fled.

28 But Paul cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Doe they selfe no harme: for we are all here.

29 Then hee called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas.

30 And brought them out, and sayd, Syrs, what must I doe to be saved?

31 And they sayd, Beleeue in the Lord Iesus Christ & thou shalt be saved, and thine household.

32 And they preached vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house.

33 Afterward hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptizied with all that belonged vnto him straightway.

34 And when hee had brought them into his house, he set mate before them and reioyced that hee with all his household beleued in God.

35 ¶ And when it was day, the gouernours sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

9 An example of a godly huius, 10 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angel of light, and coueteth to enter by vnderstanding, 11 Paul openly correcteth him, and casteth him out.

12 This is a prayer note of Apolos, which was wont to giue answers to them what asked him.

13 Paul made no haste in this miracle, for he did all things which were led by the spirit.

14 Conscience of lucre and gaine is an occasion of persecuting the truth. In the meane season God spiring Timotheus, called Paul and Silas as the strong-gees to battle.
